Trunk Shows Are Dated

"Careers Girl, Office Girl, College Student" will be the theme of informal trunk shows according to Ted Yeager, Fashion representative for Adele Martin.

The trunk show will include a complete collection of spring and summer dresses.

Ruth Solman, buyer for the Union, will assist Yager in the presentation.

Trunk showings at the Union's suburban stores are scheduled for Lane Avenue, Wednesday, Mar. 23; Graceland with informal modeling, Thursday, Mar. 24; Town and Country, Friday, Mar. 25, and Northland, Saturday, Mar. 26.

Results of the first year's analysis of Mississippi River silt by the U.S. Department of Agriculture show that pesticides applied to crops have not resulted in a significant amounts of residue in the silt.

A LIGHT IN THE DARK . . .
When disaster strikes, you can always count on your Red Cross to be on hand, nursing the injured, comforting the sick, feeding the hungry, renewing the glow of hope for those caught in crisis.
This unselfish dedication in times of emergency deserves our unselfish attention in times of need. The Red Cross needs your help and generosity now. Send your contributions, large and small, to your local Red Cross chapter and know that this light will remain aglow.

Look Forward . . . Look Spectator

Another Year, Another Flight, Another Record

By The Spectator's
MAGGI DONALDSON

Not many family arguments end up with a brand new successful internationally-acclaimed career.

But that's what happened when Jerri Mock and her husband had a disagreement two years ago.

After a slight spat, husband Russell said, "why don't you get in your plane and fly somewhere—maybe Chicago."

"What would I do in Chicago?" Jerri asked.

"Well what about New York?" suggested Russell.

"Oh, why not take a trip around the world," said Russell kiddingly—and that's exactly what she did—two years ago this month she flew around the world, broke a record (the first woman to do it) and won international acclaim.

Now Bexley's "flying housewife" is at it again. She's put in an extra supply of groceries for adexecutive husband Russell and five-year-old Valerie, (her teenage sons are in college) she's packed a toothbrush, dressing gown and one change of clothing into a peanut-sized overnight bag (it measures about 5 by 19 inches) —jumped into her Super Skylane Cessna, dubbed "Miss CBU" after Columbus Business University, one of her sponsors, and is off (or about to be) to break another world's flying record for women.

This time she will attempt to break the record for distance in a straight line for women. The record is currently held in Russia and at one time was held by Amelia Earhart.

Recently she was finishing up last-minute details here before taking off for Wichita where huge cabin gas tangs, holding 450 gallons, would be installed — then she'll head for "somewhere in the mid-Pacific," said husband Russell.

No one is quite sure where she'll start the flight—perhaps from Wake Island. Details have to be worked out in these next few days but she hopes that good tailwinds will bring her right back to Columbus. The trip will entail about 10,000 miles over water, including the trip to the starting point (wherever it is) first, and during that time the diminutive Jerri will be flying strictly by compass.

She expects to be in the plane 40 to 45 hours nonstop, and has stocked the tiny craft with nu-v food bars (they look like chocolate bars but contain no chocolate — only vitamins and minerals), which taste like dried apricots.

But doing the unusual is usual for Jerri. For the last two years she's been assembling a cookbook from the Washington Embassies (another hobby — flying is a hobby started about 10 years ago for the 41-year-old pilot).

She's won prizes for her cooking; produced an operatic radio program and education TV show. "Whatever she does she does well," husband Russell continued.

The last-minute press conference was scheduled for 9:30 a.m. On arrival reporters asked for Mrs. Mock at 9:30 a.m. The reply was "we've never known her to be early—but we've never known her to be very late either." And that's the way she flies. She runs a tight ship and has usually arrived 'on schedule.'

Meet Jointly

A demonstration on flower arranging at the Connell Florists was enjoyed by the Red Fox Garden Club and its guests, the Four Seasons Garden Club. Refreshments in a St. Patrick's day theme were served; a short business meeting held. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert Ausen, Mrs. Sol Cantor and Mrs. Maria Scheetz.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Tony Scudere on Tuesday, Apr. 5.

LET'S KNIT A SPORTY SUIT

By The Spectator's
URSULA duBOIS

The garment features a simple slit neckline.

URSULA

All sizes are included on one pattern.

Send 15 cents extra for first-class mail and special handling.

Please print plainly your name, address, pattern number and zip code.

From Spectator Area News Sources

Dem Raps Opponent

A Democratic candidate in the 12th congressional district sharply criticized Reynoldsburg Mayor George Twyford (also running for the Democratic nod in the 12th) for declining an appearance at the Worthington Democratic Club. Robert Shamansky, a Bexley resident, called Twyford's decision not to appear before the Worthington group "harmful to a forthright development of issues." The Worthington club had asked Twyford to schedule a debate with Shamansky. Twyford allegedly turned down the offer because of a "busy schedule." "This refusal to debate certainly cuts the ground out from any demand you (Twyford) might make of the do-nothing Congressman (evidently referring to Republican opponent Samuel Devine) should you win the nomination," Shamansky said in a letter to Twyford. The Bexley candidate has scheduled an appearance in Worthington in April.

Saturday Hours Given

Whitehall city auditor and tax commissioner Walter Helber announced this week that the tax office in the municipal building will be open Saturday during the month of April, in addition to normal weekday hours, to assist residents in filling out their Whitehall income tax reports. Saturday hours are from 8:30 a.m. to noon.

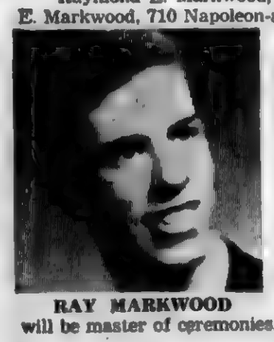
Carriers To See Show

All Spectator newspapers carriers will get a chance to see a gigantic Batman movie (15 reels of the caped crusade.), courtesy of the Drexel Theater, 2254 E. Main-st. Each Spectator newsboy supervisor and the Circulation Department at 2465 W. Broad-st has free passes to four and one-half hours of the Dynamic Duo. The free tickets are good for the special showing Saturday, Apr. 9, at 9 a.m.

$50 For A Name

Names submitted by students for the proposed joint vocational school will be narrowed down to five Friday The screening will be done when presidents of the student councils from the five school districts (Canal Winchester, Groveport, Reynoldsburg, Whitehall and Jefferson) meet at Whitehall with press representatives and Tom Quick and James Spadafore of the county office. The entries making the finals will be turned over to the Joint Vocational Board and the name selected as the most appropriate will be worth a $50 saving bond to its author.

A Lily In Your Lapel



Barbara Turner of Walnut Ridge High School will serve as assistant co-general chairman when hundreds of volunteers from Y-Teen clubs join to sell lilies Saturday, Apr. 2. Local area chairmen include Shirley Walters from Bexley High, Joan Perkins from East, Deejah Sherman from Eastmoor, Glenna Henson from Whitehall and Carol Purpura from Walnut Ridge. Sale of the little lapel flowers is part of the annual Easter Seal program which makes possible therapy, clinics, schooling, camp and other direct help for crippled children through the Frank-

Will Present Musical

Frank Loesser's musical comedy, "Guys and Dolls," will be presented by the speech and music departments of Gahanna-Lincoln High School from Mar. 31-Apr. 2 at the junior high auditorium at 8 p.m. Director of the production is Donald Henson, speech and dramatics teacher. Steve Farst, choir director at the school, is vocal music director and Robert Kessler will conduct the orchestra. Cast includes grades nine through 12.

DeMolay To Install

Raymond E. Markwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Markwood, 710 Napoleon-av, will be installed as master councilor of Whitehall Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Apr. 2 at 8 p.m. at Rickly Masonic Temple. Other officers to be installed include Keith Ward, senior councilor and Richard Moling, junior councilor. Installing officer will be Robert E. Markwood, past-master councilor of the chapter, and "Dad" Ed Carpenter, chapter advisor, will be master of ceremonies. A reception will follow.

BEXLEY PREPARES FOR EGG HUNT

FERG THEIBERT, 3668 Columbus, president, Bexley Celebrations Association, receives instructions from the "Easter Bunny's helpers," Mimi, at left, and Libby Gray, on areas where eggs, candy and colored, should be hidden. Starting time for the hunt will be 3 p.m., Saturday, Apr. 9 at Jeffrey Mansion. Bexley youngsters, pre-school age to 10-years-old, will participate in the 19th annual event.

By The Spectator's
JANE ROBINSON

This was made clear when the steering committees of the school districts participating in the Southeast Joint Vocational District met recently to hear Dr. Byrl Shoemaker, director of the division of Vocational Education for the Ohio Department of Education.

The question of the lack of direct support from the Columbus Chamber of Commerce and of the reluctance of industry to endorse the proposed program (except "off the record") came up.

Crabbs stated he felt it high time all realized that "living in the shadow of a great city" is no bed of roses.

He indicated that pressures exerted by officials of both the City of Columbus and the Columbus Public Schools are responsible for this attitude.

"Tom Quick is a gentleman and a scholar and won't pinpoint the blame," Crabbs stated. "But since I am neither, I can and will."

Dr. Shoemaker was equally frank when he lashed out at parents who stand in the way of their children taking advantage of vocational training.

"These parents are condemning their children to a lifetime of menial jobs by using them as pawns in the adult world of status-seeking!" he exclaimed. (This was in the reference to evidence that some children are steered into courses which they will never use because it suits Mom and Dad better to contend Junior is readying himself for college.)

Shoemaker was also emphatic about the fact that jobs of today are for those "who know something and can do something" and not for those who think they can earn a living "with their backs."

"And furthermore," he added, "being merely a bright young man cuts little ice."

The educator quoted the statistics resulting from a Ford Foundation survey of 10,000 academic students without college preparation with 3,000 students receiving vocational training.

Eleven years later, the student with actual know-how had gotten a job more quickly, had fewer periods of unemployment, and possessed the greater earning power.

Almost equally important was that no difference could be determined in conversational habits, the leisure interests and the social and civic activities of one group from another.

Harping back to the theory that it is ridiculous for 81 percent of high school students to study toward professions which can absorb only 7.6 percent of the labor force, Shoemaker scoffed at a world where we "honor the poor philosopher and ignore the good plumber."

"With this attitude," he said, "neither the pipes or the theories will hold water."

GAHANNA: EAST AREA GERMAN VILLAGE?

THE NEW BRIDGE ON MILL-ST
. . . some of the ladies didn't like it

By The Spectator's
JIM BRUNEY

"The Town with the Forward Look and the Backward Glance."

That's the motto of an organization that has pledged itself to the task of making Gahanna the German Village of eastern Franklin County.

Formed in March of 1965, the Gahanna Historical Society decided to take advantage of the wealth of historical facts available about the community. The predominately-female group hopes to change the hands of the Gahanna clock back to about 1860.

The idea, as stated by one member of the society, is to provide all the modern conveniences of a progressive community, while retaining a certain amount of 19th Century quaintness.

City Planning-Zoning Department Plan Aired

By The Spectator's
BETTY DAFT

Protest and praise of legislation that would change the structure of Columbus municipal government were sounded, for the most part on principle only—with little or no basis of fact—by most of the 50 persons on hand when the ordinance was aired at a public hearing Friday afternoon.

Some of the officials who would be most affected by the measure to create a new city department, as well as citizens, gropingly discussed the matter "they didn't know what they were talking about." Legal checks and resulting late changes on the voluminous ordinance delayed delivery of copies until adjournment time. Consequently its exact content was unknown during the meeting.

Establishment of the proposed Department of Planning and Development would combine the functions of city planning, zoning, urban renewal and development under one administration, as well as create a new division to recruit industry and promote city development.

The Commission on Urban Renewal — one of two departments that would be reduced to division status in the new structure — was unable to draft a resolution on the matter at its Friday morning meeting because the ordinance was not ready at that time, and its contents were unknown.

Councilman M. E. Portman, sponsor of the ordinance, invited to attend the meeting and advise the commission

State Is Facing Serious Shortages In Personnel

By The Spectator's
JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Critical shortages existing in the state's employment picture indicates that Governor James Rhodes may have robbed Peter to pay Paul in his austerity efforts.

Charles Ream, the state's chief of personnel, told The Spectator this week that the number of state workers is "critically low" — the lowest in the history of the state in many job areas.

A report issued in Feburary from Ream's office shows a total employment figure for last month of 43,748 in various state civil service positions. The number is 44 less than the employment total in January.

According to Ream, the major reason that Ohio is falling behind in employment is low salaries paid to civil service workers here.

> "We don't have a shortage of people but we have a shortage in some skills. There's ample manpower if we train it."
> —Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz

"We can't hope to compete salary-wise with other states — or, with private industry — when it comes to getting skilled personnel," Ream says.

The majority of state workers, the Ream report shows, are employed in the field of mental hygiene and correction! Nearly 15,000 hold jobs in this field.

The second highest employment field in the state is in the highway department where 10,158 have found jobs. An additional 1991 are employed in a field labeled "highway safety."

Ream indicated that the figures are not high enough — that Ohio is ranking "fourth or fifth" in the country in state employment.

"The shortages have become more pronounced in the last year," Ream added. He said he hoped a downward trend in state employment doesn't continue.

Where is the biggest shortage of state workers? Unlikely enough, it's in the field of state liquor store clerks and managers.

"We may have to go out on the street and recruit to fill these positions," Ream said. "We'll even start hiring women for these jobs if we have to."

WILLIAM S. WHITE: Deep In The Heart Of Taxes

WHITE

WASHINGTON — The blowtorch heretofore directed within the Cabinet almost exclusively at Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara is now turning its highest flames upon Secretary of the Treasury Henry Fowler.

Though Rusk and McNamara are, of course, still sweating quite enough over the war in Viet Nam, Fowler is for the first time at the center of the blast. Now it is the matter of tax policy.

Again, as in the Viet Nam issue, the real source of heat is from Democratic and not Republican members of Congress. Again, too, a deep issue is raised concerning the proper division of both legal power and practical responsibility and savvy within the American government.

The Viet Nam critics have in truth been seeking more than simply to fulfill their constitutional role to advise with the executive department on foreign policy. Instead, they want to seize control of that policy. And Fowler's new critics are seeking not partnership with the executive on tax policy but rather immediate and direct domination of that policy.

To be sure, there is one basic difference between these two situations. The right of the executive department to be the chief initiating and implementing force in foreign policy is undebatably clear in the Constitution itself. Congressional intrusion in this area, therefore, has been traditionally, and rightly, undertaken only on soft feet.

They are demanding now that the Secretary of the Treasury come out instantly for a general tax increase this year, as a cold press upon what they see as a super-heated economy likely to produce inflation.

Fowler's view is expressed in the old saying that there is a time to keep one's shirt on and that such a time is now. The view of his Democratic critics in Congress is that it is now time not only to take off the shirt, but also to set its tails afire.

Fowler thinks they have taken a wrong turn here because they are trying to compare an apple with a pear. For it was necessary at the time of Korea to put on certain brakes which are simply not required now.

Then, the United States military establishment had shrunk to a skeleton and money had to be poured out of barrels to build it up. Now it is a vastly muscled thing that does not even remotely require frantic emergency expenditures. Thus, there is now nothing like the relative amount of dangerously hot money that was running around then. — Copyright, 1966, by United Features.

BARRY GOLDWATER: Clay Feet And Statesmanship

GOLDWATER

Both Lyndon Johnson and Charles de Gaulle command the majority of votes in their respective countries. Both are considered successful politicians, and both have rather noticeable feet of clay when it comes to world statesmanship.

Gen. De Gaulle has just tried to put the finishing touch to our most important free world alliance, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He has done it out of a combination of injured pride, distrust of America and isolationist concern for French security.

But most of all he has done it, in all probability, in reaction to President Johnson who instinctively shies from foreign policy matters and who faces up to the challenge of communism on a crisis-to-crisis basis rather than with a broad view and a strong plan.

In Viet Nam, President Johnson says, we are at war with communism. It is a war that is being fed by Communists everywhere, not just Chinese Communists. Yet, in almost the same breath, the President calls for increased trade with the Soviet Union. He studiously ignores Communist conflict everywhere else in the world and permits his secretary of defense to pursue a policy of clear-cut one-sided disarmament.

To Europeans, this muddled state of affairs means that they must attend to their own safety without as much reliance on America as in the past.

In Viet Nam, there is increased speculation that Robert Kennedy's proposal for a coalition government, including Communists, is a sort of trial balloon for the kind of peace that would be acceptable to President Johnson after a face-saving lapse of time. This would mean a Communist political triumph that could never be won militarily. And it means more confusion for Europeans who see American anti-communism shifting like sand.

One result is isolationism, as exemplified now by De Gaulle and his promise to have all troops in France out of NATO control and under French control by 1969. Another is French determination to have her own nuclear defenses.

Such an independent force never would have been needed had not President Johnson deliberately let NATO go to pot. In order to avoid a campaign issue he stymied all efforts to give NATO the sort of dependable nuclear defense force that would make it unnecessary for individual nations to build their own.

I cannot in any way condone Gen. De Gaulle's persistent efforts to finish what Lyndon Johnson started — the destruction of NATO. But I cannot, in conscience, say that the blame is De Gaulle's alone. Much of the blame can be traced directly to U. S. foreign policy — rather, the lack of such policy under this administration.

Ever since the White House became the center for global ward-heeling rather than the center of freedom's drive against tyranny, as it was under Dwight Eisenhower and John Kennedy, the grand alliances of free men have been crumbling.—Copyright 1966, Los Angeles Times.

Governor Rhodes is to be congratulated for his recent clear-cut stand in support of President Johnson's policies in Viet Nam.

The governor reportedly personally drafted a resolution adopted by fellow governors at a recent White House briefing by the President.

The resolution read, in part, "It is the unanimous opinion of the governors here assembled that the policies being followed by the President in pursuit of our national objectives in Viet Nam are sound and the only rational policies to be followed under the circumstances."

Rhodes is to be particularly congratulated for taking a position in the forefront in view of his usual policy of avoiding public positions on any matter of controversy.

The Spectator reserves the right to disagree with Governor Rhodes and it urges him to take public positions on controversial issues of state government, as well as national affairs, so that the people of Ohio will be able to assess the substance instead of merely the image of the man.

The USO Needs Help

One of the largest and most meaningingful civilian war efforts — the United Servicemen's Organization — now finds itself in need of assistance for the first time in many years.

Betty H. Agler, associate director of the USO Council of Columbus, has issued an "urgent appeal" to local groups to give "immediate" help to the organization and staffing of the USO in this city.

To give you some idea of how great the need is, consider these figures:

An average of 40 men are leaving the Columbus Induction Station daily for basic training. Some 400 to 500 military personnel pass through Columbus weekly. Nearly 14,000 military men and dependent families are stationed in this area.

Daily "farewell" parties for inductees at Fort Hayes are now being held each day at 3:30 p.m. Workers are needed for this project.

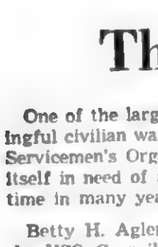
More volunteers are needed for the current USO program at Lockbourne Air Base and the USO has announced plans to begin a USO club in downtown Columbus.



If you've ever been a serviceman away from home you know how welcome the USO club was. This is your chance to return the smiles of greeting and the good fellowship.

An Old Friend

By The Spectator's
TED BEARDSHEAR

It was late. There was a knock on the door. I opened it to find a friend I hadn't seen for a time so I let him in. He seemed upset.

Little sparkles of liquid were in his eyes. Slowly, and with difficulty, he made his way to the kitchen table. I fixed him a cup of coffee which he let cool undrunk on the red-checkered table cloth.

BEARDSHEAR

"What's wrong?"

His story was filled with the idiocies of logic that happen in most emotionally charged situations. Now and then was a calm and lucid insight. But it was all scrambled like the white and the yolk of a beaten egg.

What help I offered was useless as he rebuffed every suggestion. The only thing was to listen.

His conflict was duty versus freedom.

The ambivalence was his mixed feelings about both situations. He could choose neither one without the other beckoning ever so strongly in the opposite direction. He was a man on a rack.

Finally, as the evening wore on, he told me his solution. "I will meet death as an old friend," he said. It was said in passing. I paid it no attention. I thought it an expression of his agony.

But as he talked, I sensed nothing interested him. The problems which could have been solved by a simple solution so colored his view that his life had lost meaning. There was no excitement, no vitality, no sense of wonder. He dismissed any passion that keeps most men alive with a faint wave of his hand.

It was obvious. He wanted nothing but death.

What does one say to a man who does not want to listen? What does one say to a friend who rejects any intrusion into his own assessment of things?

Nothing.

One listens. One makes oneself available.

And one hopes.

I saw him rarely after that night. He never knocked again. I later heard he killed himself.

He said he would meet death as an old friend.

I suppose he did. He had already given up on life.

They Said It

"Any large-scale strike today is much more than a matter between employer and employes. Strikes increasingly are directed against the public. Thousands of people and often hundreds of businesses are affected indirectly, but damagingly. This is a principal reason why the whole structure of our labor law needs review." — New York Herald Tribune.

"Go!—But You May Hold Your Umbrella Over Me From A Distance"

MARQUIS CHILDS: Quackery Or Cure?

WASHINGTON — The hope that springs eternal in the human breast is subject to no more tragic frustration than in the scourge of cancer. Each year an estimated 300,000 Americans die of this disease in all its sinister forms.

Out of the cycle of hope and despair that so many sufferers go through has come a drama still stirring the deepest passions. Four promoters in Chicago, including a noted physiologist, brought out a cancer remedy called Krebiozen.

CHILDS

Is it quackery for profit or is it, as its promoters and advocates claim, a beneficial medicine that the "doctors' trust" in the American Medical Association is determined to drive out? The answer to that question has been subject to fierce pulling and hauling, including one of the longest Federal court trials on record.

Banned from interstate commerce by the Food and Drug Administration, Krebiozen is still sold in Chicago. The new, aggressive head of FDA, Dr. James L. Goddard, says Krebiozen is merely mineral oil, and he is determined to keep it out of interstate trade even though he can do nothing about the hundreds of cancer victims who pay $9 a day for a dose.

At the trial of the four promoters—for fraud and conspiracy — lasting nine months in Chicago, evidence showed that $1,000,000 from the sale of Krebiozen had been put in Swiss and Canadian banks. Shortly after the trial ended, Dr. Stevan Durovic, developer of the remedy, was indicted for evading nearly $1,000,000 in federal income tax. He left for Paris just before the indictment was returned.

Massive evidence was introduced at the trial to prove that the promoters had made big business of Krebiozen, defrauding innocent victims by the thousands.

Out for six days, the jury was at first reported divided six to five for conviction of one or more of the defendants. Finally the verdict was for acquittal of all four defendants. The Department of Justice has now started an investigation into jury tampering.

A repeated accusation of Krebiozen advocates is that the Food and Drug Administration refuses to test Krebiozen.

One of the striking facts about the controversy is the political support Krebiozen has enlisted. Even since the trial the White House has been so importuned, notably by a mass appeal from a mother who believes her daughter will die if she cannot obtain Krebiozen, that FDA was called on for still more documentation.

In 1964 when he was a Senator, Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey asked the then Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, Anthony J. Celebrezze, if he could not lift the interstate commerce ban. Celebrezze said no.

Those who followed the trial, in its labyrinthine course saw a pattern reflecting a growing public attitude — down with government, put the bureaucrats in their place, the "doctors trust" is part of the stranglehold of "big government." This conveniently ignores the fact that the American Medical Association has been the stoutest enemy of Medicare and government intervention in medicine.

It also ignores the increasing magnitude of research into cancer supported by the federal government. The amount for this purpose in 1940 was $370,000. This year it is $163,768,000. That could be the answer to the scourge and to those who seek in desperation any remedy — Copyright 1966, by United Features.

Letters To The Editor

What's Indebtedness Figure?

To The Spectator:

It appears there is a big discrepancy in the newspaper reports on Ohio's Bonded Indebtedness as of date. On Mar. 3, a downtown evening daily had a write-up saying it was $1.9-million less than when the present Governor took office. It was followed to state that the bonded indebtedness on Jan. 31, 1962, was $369-million. Deduct $1.9-million off that amount which means the present figure would be $368-million.

But, the morning daily newspaper on Mar. 19 said the total was $461,200,000 according to State Treasurer John D. Herbert. That's $3,210,000 higher than the afternoon paper's figure — a paper which cleverly said "These are (State Finance Director Richard) Krabach's figures."

I believe that every citizen in Ohio should know the proper amount of the bonded indebtedness as well as the interest we are presently paying on the total indebtedness.

A news report Mar. 22 said the state sold $50-million more bonded indebtedness notes which really put the present administration "on top" for all time.

J. A. S.

Frebis-av
Columbus, O.

(ED. NOTE: Malcolm H. Galbraith of the State Auditor's Office says the bonded indebtedness in the 1965 report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1965, was $451,210,000. The interest rate is not constant because of the varying rates of the bond issues.)

Letters for publication must bear the writer's name and address. The editors, at their discretion, may permit use of initials or pseudonyms if this is requested for a good reason. In general, preference will be given to writers willing to take responsibility for their views. Letters should be kept as short as possible. All letters are subject to editing.

Likes Penta Pattern

To The Spectator:

They say imitation is the sincerest form of flattery and I'm sure that's the case with the Franklin County School Board.

I read, with delight, your report from Toledo, O., about County School Board representatives going to the Penta County area to view the successful vocational school set-up there (Spectator, Mar. 23).

Many of us realize that not all children are going to go to college and definite steps have to be taken to insure their future.

BLUE STARS TO MEET

Columbus Chapter 6, Blue Star Mothers of America, Inc., will meet Monday, Apr. 4, in room 201, Veterans Memorial, at 7:30 p.m. with Mrs. Frank Thompson presiding. Delegates will be elected for the Department of Ohio convention which will be held at the Commodore-Perry Hotel, Toledo, Apr. 25-27.

HERE'S HOW THE NEW $2.5 MILLION ROYAL CROWN PLANT WILL LOOK . . . 110,000 square foot facility will be in operation by early fall.

Royal Crown Bottling Facility Underway

Construction of the new $2.5 million Columbus Royal Crown bottling plant at 950 Stelzer-rd has begun.

At recent groundbreaking ceremonies Lt. Gov. John Brown and Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, represented the state and the city.

Harold Schottenstein, president of Schott Enterprises Inc., bottlers of Royal Crown Cola, Diet-Rite Cola, Cinch, Diet Cinch, Canada Dry, Suncrest and Dad's Root Beer, said the new 110,000 square foot facility will be one of the most modern operations of its kind in the world.

The company now employs 100 at its 446 E. Livingston-av plant. Schottenstein said this will increase to more than 150 once the Stelzer-rd facility is in operation.

Dedger Jones of Arrow Construction Co., has been awarded the sub-contract for steelwork and masonry construction.

Huntington National Bank and Trust Co. has construction financing with the major loan committment being assumed by Equitable Life Assurance Co., according to Schottenstein.

More than 50 flavors and sizes are currently being bottled at the 70,000 square foot Livingston-av plant.

Harold S. Schofield of Gahanna, achitect and general contractor, said he hopes to have the bottling plant completed with bottling operations in full swing by early fall.

Most of the equipment is to be automatic and located on one level. A balcony from which visitors can watch operations is a particular point of interest, Schottenstein said.

TO MEET

Crestview Welfare Club will meet Wednesday, Apr. 6, for a 12:30 p.m. salad luncheon at the Crestview Presbyterian Church.

TO MEET

The Central Ohio Aquarium Society is having its regular monthly meeting Tuesday, Apr. 5, in the City National Bank Building at 3100 W. Broad-st at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be served and the public is invited.

Buckeye Federal Certificates Earn 4¾% Interest

A new rate on savings certificates at Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan Assn. will become effective Apr. 1, according to William S. Guthrie, president.

On 12-month savings certificates, Buckeye Federal Savings will pay 4¾ percent. To earn this rate the deposit must be $1,000 or more, in multiples of $1,000, and remain on deposit for one year.

If held less than one year, Buckeye Federal savings certificates will earn the regular passbook savings dividend rate of 4¼%, compounded quarterly.

Buckeye Federal savings certificates will earn at the new rate from date of purchase. Their increased dividend rate will also apply to all current savings account certificates, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1966.

Christian Scientist To Give Public Talk

Man's potentialities for developing "spiritual perception" will be explored at a public lecture coming to Columbus Tuesday, Apr. 5, under local Christian Science auspices.

MARTIN H. HEAFER

Martin N. Heafer, C.S., a recognized Christian Science practitioner from Houston, Tex., will be the speaker. His lecture will examine in detail the elements of spiritual perception, its relation to Christianity, and how it develops in the life of an individual. Title of the lecture is "Open Your Eyes."

All Churches of Christ, Scientist of Columbus are sponsoring the event. It will take place at 12 noon in the Neil House.

Heafer is a graduate of Southern Methodist University in mathematics, served in the United States Army Air Corps during World War II, and in 1957 withdrew from a business management position to go into the full-time practice of Christian Science healing.

He is currently on tour as a member of the Board of Lectureship of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Forecast: 36% Increase In Convention Income

More than $22 million, finding its way into Columbus business tills, provided a healthy assist to the city economy in 1965.

And this total, spent by delegates to the more than 1000 conventions held here, will be raised to an impressive $30 million this year, or an increase of 36 percent, if officials' expectations for an even bigger convention year are justified.

Now in its 25th year of active participation in the profitable convention business, Columbus is fast becoming one of the leading contenders in this part of the country for large meetings.

Among conventions being held here for the first time in '66 is the Central Division U.S. Ski Association to meet in Columbus Apr. 1-3, with 1000 delegates from states east of the Mississippi.

Hotels and motels, restaurants and retailers benefit directly from the convention business, and the capital's economy booster by the money is a boon to everyone.

CROP Seeks $500,000

The Church World Service-CROP Department of the Ohio Council of Churches announced today that it is launching a "Combat World Hunger" campaign to raise at least $500,000 for economic development, self-help programs, population control and necessary food relief in India, Africa, and Brazil this year. The major thrust of the campaign will be during the Thanksgiving season through community appeals of the churches.

A Conference on World Hunger to be held Tuesday, Apr. 12 in Columbus, will be the state-wide launching of the "Combat World Hunger" program. Persons attending will represent the various denominations, county CWS-CROP committees, Councils of Churches, Ministerial Associations, United Church Women and other interested persons.

CONFERENCE SET

The seventh annual pediatric conference, sponsored by the Ohio State University College of Medicine, will be held Mar. 30 and Apr. 1 at Children's Hospital.

Outdated Drafty House Windows Are Replaced By Low-Cost Nu-Sash

Doing something about those old-fashioned, drafty, hard-to-wash house windows that cause high heating bills has been a vexing and costly problem for homeowners who want to modernize. However, a handsome new product now provides an easy, inexpensive solution.

The product — Nu-Sash — is an aluminum double-hung unit specifically designed to replace old house windows. What's more, the cost, including installation, is approximately 40% less than any other method of updating old windows. They can be purchased with no down payment and modest monthly installments.

Despite the low cost, Nu-Sash windows are packed with outstanding features not found in windows used in many new homes being built. For example:

Stretching and straining on tipsy ladders or sills to wash outside window glass is completely eliminated. Nu-Sash lift out easily for convenient cleaning inside the home.

Painting, puttying and almost all other maintenance is completely eliminated, since Nu-Sash are constructed entirely of aluminum and rigid vinyl. An anodized protective coating keeps the aluminum finish bright and new-looking indefinitely.

Coil spring balances raise and lower the sash smoothly, effortlessly, without binding or sticking. Sash cords and weights are eliminated.

BEFORE:
Old window is unsightly, hard to wash, is difficult to open, and lets in wind and cold.

AFTER:
Nu-Sash replacement window is attractive, seals tightly, lifts out for easy cleaning.

One of the reasons Nu-Sash is much less expensive than other methods of replacing old windows is the unique manner in which they are installed. There is no costly construction work. Inside plaster and woodwork is never disturbed.

Expert mechanics merely remove the old sash, insert jamb liners and snap the Nu-Sash into place. The usual window can be converted in just 20 minutes.

The product can be used to replace all types of house windows — oriel, double-hung, casement, stationary, and in-swinging French type. A picture window model also is available to replace single-pane fixed windows, as well as double and triple units found in older homes. The picture window features a large center section flanked by double-hung or sliding sash for ventilation.

Nu-Sash has been tested under rigid laboratory conditions. Results show it is superior to standards for air leakage set by FHA for new house windows. Savings in heat alone should pay a large share of Nu-Sash cost.

A heavy-duty model window also has been designed for schools, apartments, factories, and commercial buildings at a comparably low cost. Detail drawings and estimates available.

P-Z Department—

on the measure, said that he had informed the person who called him that he would "probably not be able" to be on hand, because of earlier commitments.

The fate of the housing code enforcement division, now part of the safety department, was an expessed concern of the Urban Renewal Commission who viewed it as the backbone of urban renewal. And the hopes that it would be included in the new department, along with urban renewal, were dashed at the hearing Friday afternoon.

It will remain in the safety division, it was announced, because the building inspectors involved also perform services that are administered by the safety department.

However, Portman said later, "eventually it would be moved.

"Need of an effective approach to render better service in planning, zoning, urban renewal and redevelopment . . . in a city that has grown at a tremendous rate with even more physicial development foreseen . . ." are the reasons outlined for the proposed new department.

The need to coordinate the related planning and development functions for better service and to eliminate overlap, delay and lack of cohesive purpose, was recognized in other major cities, Portman said, and the trend to administer them in a similar matter was "a serious challenge in all major cities."

Planning, headed by Harold Buchanan, is the other city department, along with Urban Renewal, which would become a division in the Planning and Development Department, if approved.

Zoning control would be made into a division and the housing division would be moved from the safety department.

The development division, to be created within the new department, is seen by Portman as important to Columbus' development, and will be concerned with attracting new industry into the city and working with all areas of industrial development.

Finance Director John P. Stanley has been selected by the mayor to be acting head of the proposed department, and deputy directors would head each division.

Gahanna—

side of the fence appeared when the club first formed.

Contracts had already been let for the new bridge on Mill-st downtown, now near completion. No formal protest filed, but at that time a number of society members voiced their dissatisfaction with the cement-and-steel structure.

But the group has gained locally in popularity since that time, and despite rumors that some local citizens are not in favor of the program, a club spokesman said the mayor and village officials have been "very cooperative."

The society has approached incoming businesses, asking them to get a "head start" by adhering to society specifications in building construction. They have received pledges of cooperation from several.

Plans call for the "dating" of the village appearance to begin downtown and move out to other parts later.

A plot of ground has been secured at the corner of Mill-st and Granville-rd, in the center of town, which will become a "city square." The society has also begun arrangements for a future tour of homes, similar to the one in Worthington.

Some time this spring, the society will hold an open public meeting, at which they will present their complete master-plan package to the community.

Some local Doubting Thomases have expressed fears that the Gahanna Historical Society may "get out of hand," and dominate too completely the affairs of the town. Others predict that the plan of the society may conflict with the Gahanna Master Plan, now being completed by village officials.

As to whether the "forward look" and "backward glance" factions will ever split Gahanna down the middle, only time will tell.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals will be received by the Clerk of the Board of Education of the Reynoldsburg Local School District at his office until 12:00 Noon (EST), April 6, 1966, for the furnishing of all labor, equipment and materials necessary to fully execute the plans and specifications for the construction of Reynoldsburg Senior High School Additions and Remodeling as prepared by Joseph Baker and Associates, Architects, 180 Hudson Avenue, Newark, Ohio, which documents will be on file at the office of the Architect, at the plan rooms of the F. W. Dodge Corporation and Builders Exchange, Columbus, Ohio, and at the office of the Clerk. They are open to public inspection during all reasonable office hours until the time fixed for the closing of bids. At that time the bids will be publicly opened, read and tabulated.

A copy of plans and specifications for individual use may be secured at the office of the Architect upon the deposit of $30 cash. All plans and specifications must be returned to the Architect within seven days after the Bid Date and, if they are in good order, a Full refund of the deposit, minus any shipping costs, will be made to all who submit a Bonded Bid. For all others, and for extra sets a refund of $30 will be made. Selected sheets are available at cost of $2 each, not refundable.

Separate proposals will be received for the General, the Electrical, the Plumbing, and the Heating and Ventilating Contracts, although combined bids will be considered. Any contractor submitting a proposal combining bids for more than one contract in one bid shall also enter his bid for each of the contracts in the space provided on the proposal form.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a bid bond or a certified check payable to the Board of Education in the amount not less than ten percent (10%) of the amount of all items bid upon. Bidders agree that the check or bond shall become the absolute property of the said Board of Education in lieu of damages if the bidder refuses, fails or neglects to enter into a contract and furnish the required one hundred percent (100%) Contract Bond within ten days after notice of acceptance of his proposal. A satisfactory Performance and Payment Bond will be required, guaranteeing the performance of the work and payment of all bills. No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for the receipt of bids for at least thirty (30) days. The Owner reserves the right to waive informalities in the bidding. Time of completion shall be a valid consideration in determining lowest and best bid.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Published by the order of the Board of Education

IN & AROUND TOWN

EDITED BY ROLAND SUNKER

A guide to performers and performances in the Columbus area this week

Cuddle Up To The Cuddl-Upps

The Cuddl-Upps, with Dolly Morgan on vocals and drums and Dottie Vee at the 88's and vocalizing are currently performing at the Olentangy Inn cocktail lounge. Not only do they sing well individually, but harmonizing produces an interesting sound.

Dolly is an entertainer in every sense of the word. She has a happy effervescent personality and plenty of enthusiasm and knows how to sell a song. Comedy is another of Dolly's talents. Her clowning and crazy antics are natural. She is funny without really trying. A cute, pixie singer is Dolly.

On the black and whites, Dottie Vee is a virtuoso of the piano. She plays a clean and crisp swing, jazz and all of the old standards. While Dottie is not a song belter like Dolly, her voice is pleasing and enjoyable.

Both of these girls are experienced entertainers, together they are explosive. Th Cuddl-Upps show great promise as a new act. They are fun and entertaining.

THE CUDDL-UPPS, Dottie Vee and Dolly Morgan, are currently performing nightly in the cocktail lounge of the Olentangy Inn. This dynamic duo is seen from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturdays.

"The Gibson Man"

Merle Lemon is one of America's leading young guitarists. His lifelong desire was to be a piano player, and this has caused him to take a uniqueiy effective approach to guitar styling. Self-taught, Merle performs with true artistry in all forms of music . . . rock and roll, bluegrass, country-western, jazz, folk and popular.

Merle's professional background includes extensive radio and television work, as well as cross country tours with long runs in many of the leading night spots. His wife Susan, has been a professional partner in all of his endeavors, combining beauty with talent as a drummer and a vocalist.

A talented guitarist, a fine looking young man . . . the husband of a pretty drummer-vocalist . . . an impressive list of attributes to be sure. But Merle Lemon, "The Gibson Man," is much more. He is a "walking, talking, breathing, demonstrating, encyclopedia of guitar artistry."

Merle Lemon will be at Van's Music Sales, 3504 North High-st, Friday, Apr. 1 at 8 p.m. An evening of guitar artistry is free to the public.

Try Sir Loin—Some Knight

The Sir Loin Steak House in Hilliard is a perfect place to take a wife or sweetheart for candlelight and a romantic atmosphere. The music played by the John Horst Trio is just about the best around town for listening and dancing. It's soft and sweet, arranged with a dancing rhythm. If you are a rock and roll fan, you won't enjoy this group. The old standards and popular tunes of the day are their musical menu.

With Dick Kemp and Red Heflin on saxophone and drums and John Horst on electric organ, this trio plays music, real live, old fashioned, pretty music. Hear them some Friday or Saturday night.

Appearing nightly at the Sir Loin is Toni Brockman in the piano lounge. This is a talented lass who is sure to please. Another feature of the Sir Loin is the gourmet menu, offering all types of gourmet food. It is the finest.

IN WEST VARIETY CAST

SHRINE CIRCUS UNDER WAY

THE ANGELOS is one of 27 acts appearing in the greatest Shrine Circus to ever play Columbus. Circus Director Richard E. Goudy announced that tons and tons of elephants are booked for the show, as well as many wild animal acts and the best aerial artists in the country. Emanuel Zacchini's X-15 Gemini Twin Flight Missile will rocket two human projectiles. Performances are at 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. daily and at 10 a.m., 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturdays. There is no show Sunday. Prices are the same as they were 16 years ago

Cedar Point To Open

The new $100,000 Silver Dollar Restaurant going up at Cedar Point indicates that people yearn for the days of yesteryear.

The old Silver Dollar that seated 150 has been razed and the new one will accommodate 300.

The Gay 90 atmosphere will be continued including the sawdust - covered floor, The ancient player piano and college-boy waiters wearing sailor straws and checked shirts.

Opening is set for May 28.

Children's Play Slated

By JACK WITTENMEIER

With ten lettermen back and only a two-point deficit to make up at the 1966 Franklin County League Meet (May 4 at Canal Winchester), first-term Reynoldsburg track mentor Bill Borland could hardly have picked a better time to step into the cinder picture.

That's not to say Borland won't have his problems this spring.

"AS I SEE IT the team to beat is St. Mary, which has a fine athlete by the name of Mike Hodge (won four FCL firsts last spring,)" says Borland.

"Canal Winchester (defending champs) will be strong in the sprints and 440. To be considered in the running we must become stronger in the field events.

"We didn't score in the discus or shot put last spring and we'll have to work very hard in this area," concluded the Raider cinder boss.

IT'S UNLIKELY anyone would like a repeat of '65's heart-stopping loop finish where Winchester (51 pts.) edged the runnerup Raiders (49½) and St. Mary (49).

Borland's concern with his Raiders' field department is magnified with the graduation of standout high and broad jumper Joel Gibson.

Also gone are Bruce McClelland (distance events) and Denny LeMaster and Mike Cracraft (middle distances), three more '65 Raider point getters.

ANOTHER veteran middle man — senior Bob Hanko — is still recuperating from a head injury and will not be able to compete this spring.

Heading that department is senior sprinter John Manifold, FCL Meet 220 champ in '65 (:23.3) and runnerup in the 100 (:10.1).

MANIFOLD also joined Gibson, LeMaster and senior returnee Steve Hague to set a school record in the 880 relay last season (1:38).

Joining the returnees in that event this spring will be newcomer (from DeSales) Bill Davis and prospect Steve Fisher — this foursome already clocked at 1:40.4 this season.

RETURNING junior letmen are: Monty Hayes (a :54.4 440 - man and pole vaulter), hurdler Steve Martin, Terry Miller (5'10" high jumper and hurdler) and Rick Jago (19' 1" broad jumper, sprints and 440).

Top prospects who should provide the Raiders with plenty of depth are juniors Glen Turner (distance), Jim Wilcoxon (distance), Gary Bussey (high jump), Bob Matunas (distance), John Grayem (440), Don Rollins (distance), Gary Stepp (hurdles) and Bob Gerdeman (weights) and spohomores Don Fadler (440), Mike Rodgers (sprints, 440) and Dave Lacey (distance).

SENIOR transfer (from Miller High) Bill Parham should also lend more depth to the sprint department.

Like the baseball team, Reynoldsburg's cindermen will compete in two league meet's this spring — the above - mentioned FCL Meet and the first - ever Metropolitan League Meet (May 18 at Worthington).

Sprinters Put On Spot In Lion Track Outlook

By JACK WITTENMEIER

Bexley's cindermen will have to "do it" in the sprints this season.

That's the word from Lion thin mentor Russ Owen who was greeted by 10 returning vets on the opening day of track practice this spring.

"OUR SPRINTERS will have to carry us," Owen relates. "Outside of discus, we are weak in the field department. We've been spending most of our practice time trying to develop those events.

"And we've been hit with more injuries this spring than ever before," Russ adds, with vets Mac McCloy, Larry Ringer and A. J. Myers nursing bad knees.

But the ten vets and five good looking prospects should give Bexley a good, sound working nucleus by the time the Lions play host to the first Buckeye Athletic Conference cinder meet May 18.

Weber will go in the 100 (:10.1), 220, 440 (:53), broad jump and, on occasion, on the 880 and mile relay quartets.

Davis finds himself in a new role this spring after turning in one of the most successful dash seasons for a Lion runner last spring.

"WE NEEDED some help in the half-mile so we've asked Paul to move over to that event," Owen commented. Apparently the transition has been smooth with Davis clicking off a 2:12 effort in his first try last week.

Pacing junior returnees is Myers, who set a new Bexley mark of 4:40.5 in the event last spring.

Senior vet Sam Williams looks like Owen's 440 man, stepping off a :54 practice dash last week.

One half of the mile relay foursome that cracked another school mark last season (Weber, Shultz) is back but the other half (Davis moving to 880) and graduated captain Dan Vogel (a :51 440 man) is not.

Another key graduation loss was Mac Albin, a plus 20' broad jumper who also ran 220 and a leg of the Lions' 880 relay.

AMONG non-lettermen Owen, is highest on seniors, Brent Blackshaw (shot put) and John Simpson (two-mile), sophomores Bill Reynolds (hurdles) and Tom Carr (two mile) and freshman disc man Ralph Pariser.

Carr has already turned in an 11:30 two-mile — not bad for a sophomore this early in the season, according to Owen

Espie, Shot Stars, Sophs Could Boost Tigers To '66 City Title

By JACK WITTENMEIER

If you were a high school track coach and had lost the school's best-ever hurdler, half an 880 relay quartet who breezed along at a 1:29.9 clip last season and a broad jumper who set school, city and district records last spring, could you be optimistic about '66?

Well, if your name's Lee Williams and if you were head cinder mentor at East High, you could.

WILLIAMS has eight lettermen back this season, two of whom hold school marks and another a defending state champ.

But Lee would rather discuss 10 sophomore prospects who might just dovetail with that experience to pull the Tigers up farther this spring than third-place finishes last year at both District and State meets.

BUT EAST looks blessed in that department this year —especially in the quarter mile where Williams lists eight "real good" prospects, providing the best depth in that event in five years.

The Bengals' strength in the shot and discus departments is easy to understand with seniors Willie Jackson and Grady Bobo back there.

Both defending City champs in the shot event, the pair also hold the school mark of 55' 2¾" while Jackson is only seven feet shy of the school discus mark at 160'.

ANOTHER shot returnee is junior Phillip Cousins.

A pair of City Meet finalists last spring — seniors Rod Jones and Jim Lake—return for the hurdles, both capable of under :15 in the highs and under :20 in the lows.

Senior vet Solomon Espie, state champ in the 100 and third-placer in the 220, returns to pace the sprint department.

ESPIE, 60-YARD dash winner at the recent Indoor Meet (where East placed third), will compete in the 100 (:09.7), 220 (:21.7), broad jump (22') and both 880 and mile relay events this spring.

WILLIAMS IS highest on: sprinters Charles Warren, Tom Watson and Clifton Houpe, Eugene Harmon (shot), Eugene Hadden (440, 880), Reginald Good (880), Daryl Cochrane (sprints, hurdles), Wilson Callihan (440), Dale Allen and Ernie Osborne (latter two sprinters and broad jumpers).

Williams hopes Allen and Osborne can take up some of the slack created with the departure of Don Washington who broad jumped 24' 1" last spring for the Tigers.

That other key loss was Kent Schoolfield in the high (:14.5) and low (:19.1) hurdles.

DESPITE losing half that swift 880 quartet, the Tiger mentor looks for better times this spring with Cochrane and Houpe joining returnees Espie and Taylor in the event.

Also expected to be real strong is East's mile relay team (Cochrane, Espie, Hadden and Rod Jones). That foursome set a new fieldhouse record (3:29.7) in the event at the Indoor Meet.

Williams sees South, West and maybe Eastmoor as his Tigers' top competition for the '66 City Meet title. East placed second last season missing first via a costly disqualification.

ACV Loop Needs Teams

The Alum Creek Valley Little League (fast) is seeking teams for the '66 season. Call Doine Trout (471-0910) for information.

Pitching Key To Ram 'Metro' Hopes; Five Soph Starters Likely At East

By BOB WHITMAN

Many of the City League baseball mentors are dipping deep into the font of talent this spring and coming up with huge handfuls of sophomores to put on their diamond rosters.

Whetstone's Paul Eckelberry has 19 on his roster of 28, Marion Franklin's Charlie Maloney lists 12 on his team of 18, North's Dick Eaton mentions four starting 10th graders and East's Paul Pennell plans on using five or six sophomorec as regulars this season.

THE EAST diamondmen have six returning letter winners from last season's 5-11 team to go along with the slick six underclassmen.

The sophomores include Mike Phillips, Erkie Byrd, Larry Fields, William Britford, Joe Smith and Carl Austin.

PENNELL SINGLES out his 1966 edition as one "green but eager and that will come late."

He has the same lament as the other coaches using sophomores regularly "that the inexperience will tell early in the season."

Of the newcomers to high school baseball, Phillips is listed as a pitcher and switch-hitter while Bryd hurls and bats left handed.

* * *

John Peters, first year Whitehall Ram tutor, has seven returning letter winners to enter into the new Metro League.

The Rams will join Reynoldsburg and the four South Suburban members . . . Teays Valley, Pleasant View, Hamilton Township and Franklin Heights . . . to start, action in the new league this spring.

Peters feels that pitching will be the key to the Rams' success as "the defense and hitting should be fair."

"If the pitching comes through we should be among the top," he added.

The pitching staff is headed by returning regular Dildine. Also listed on the Ram hurling roster is Hitselberger, Steve Aller and Fleming.

12 Vets To Spearhead Hartley 'Repeat' Charge

By BOB WHITMAN

Bishop Hartley's 12 returning cindermen letter winners have a big slice of work cut out for them this season to successfully defend their 1965 Central Catholic and Diocesan track crowns.

This year Palmer is pinning his hopes on the 12 returnees plus four freshmen runners to repeat as crown bearer.

LETTERMEN returning are John Ucker, Jim Farrell, Andre Preneveau, Tim Coontz, Mike Federer, Steve Grier, Craig Wingo, Rick Marcum, Tim Burchfield, Larry Irwin, Fowle and John Carrillo.

The four frosh are Greg Wolford, Mike Owens, Paul Jones and Jim Bobulski. Wolford and Jones are sprinters while Owens is a half-miler and Bobulski tosses the shot put.

"We lost a lot from last year's team," Palmer said, "but the ones we have back, have a lot of desire."

PALMER, NOW in his second season as track tutor, feels that his returnees have the experience needed in several of the events.

The Hawk thins are healthy in field events with Coontz and Burchfield doing pole vaulting, Federer tossing shot and discus, Fowle high jumping and Marcum working in the broad jump pit.

Ucker handles the 440 chore (best time last year 54.8) along with Preneveau's 57 flat). Farrell, Irwin and Carrillo are the returning long distance men.

Cochran Tryouts Set

Cochran Drugs of the Alum Creek Valley League will open practice Friday at Montrose School. All boys 10 to 12 years of age, living in the Montrose School iDstrict, are invited to try out for the team.

New Neighbor League Honors Mrs. Art Decker

Mrs. Arthur Decker was recently selected as the New Neighbor of the Year from the New Neighbor League Club of Columbus. Mrs. Decker's name will be submitted to the national headquarters, Dayton, for competition in the National New Neighbor of the Year Award contest.

Mr. and Mrs. Decker, with their two daughters, Gail, 10, and Lynne, 13, reside at 644 Beautyview-ct.

Mrs. Decker has been active in the local club since her arrival here two years ago from Berea, O. She served as telephone caller, garden group chairman, first vice-president on the board, and as president. She has also given coffee and Christmas teas. She is an assistant city hostess.

The Deckers attend St. Mark's Episcopal Church and Mrs. Decker is room mother at Marburn Elementary School and has an active interest in the Girl Scouts.

* * *

Runner-up in the local contest for New Neighbor of the Year was Mrs. Clifford Powell, 2145 Eastcleft-dr, who moved here three years ago with her husband from Chicago.

Mrs. Powell, like Mrs. Decker, was also a former president of the Columbus chapter, served as a telephone caller, held many prospective member coffee and Christmas teas and served as membership chairman. She was past president of the Charlotte, N.C., New Neighbors League Club. Here in Columbus she is also active in Tri-Village Welcome Neighbors and Gray Lady work for the American Red Cross.

FILM DATED

The East Columbus Christian Church, 3147 E. Fifth-av, will show the film classic, "The King of Kings," 7 p.m., Apr. 3. Admission is free.

Each of us is great insofar as we perceive and act on the infinite possibilities which lie undiscovered and unrecognized about us. — James Harvey Robinson.

Mrs. Schmidt To Be Hostess

Mrs. Theodore H. Schmidt, 2845 Maryland-av, will be hostess Saturday, Apr. 2, at a dessert tea at 1:30 p.m. for members of the Saturday Study Group, Columbus Chapter, Brandeis University National Women's Committee.

The group is studying the golden age of Jews in Spain. Everyone is welcome.

SUSAN MARY SPANGLER

TO WED APRIL 16

DR. AND MRS. Michael E. Spangler, 3149 Whitehead-rd, announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Mary, to Mr. Paul Eugene Adolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Adolph, 2777 Castlewood-rd. Miss Spangler graduated from Bishop Ready High School and is attending Franklin University. She is employed by the State Auto Mutual Insurance Co. Her fiance graduated from Aquinas High Schoo and is also attending Franklin University. He is a deputy recorder for the Franklin County Court House. An open church wedding is planned for Saturday, Apr 16 at 10 a.m. in St. Mary Magdalene Church.

PFEIFER WANTS YOUR VOTE

Herbert J. Pfeifer
Dem. for State Senate

Dear Voter:

My name is Herbert Pfeifer. I am a candidate for the Ohio Senate from the 15th Senatorial District on the Democratic Party ticket.

I want your vote because it is the only means you have of showing the political bosses of the Democratic Party that you want a voice in selecting the party's candidates.

I want you vote because I want to represent you and not the special interests which permeate our party.

I know and I understand the problems the people of the 15th District have.

I want your vote because the both of us—you the voter and I the candidate—can accomplish good for the district, the city, the county and the state, to me, your voice has authority. It will serve to command me and my actions as your representative.

Only a forward looking senator can best serve the needs of this district.

This is not the time for the 15th Senatorial District to be represented by a possible "yes man" or the "front man" who will do the bidding of only the political bosses.

Our problems are many. Prime among these is the need for a better understanding of the fundamental needs of our children in primary and secondary schools. The incumbent state government has not attempted to solve the problem. Nor have the political bosses, yet the problem can be solved—and without adding new taxes to the already burdened property owner.

It takes guts to honestly represent a district like ours because the problems are many.

I feel the people of this district want honest representation. That's why I am in the race. It is hard to believe the honest people of the 15th Senatorial District will buckle down under the fists of the political bosses who are trying to control the vote.

Vote for Herb Pfeifer in the May 3rd Primary for Democratic State Senator, for it is you I wish to serve. If you have any suggestions to better our community or questions you would like to ask regarding my stand on particular issues, write Pfeifer for Senate, 91 Hamilton Park, Columbus, Ohio, and I will answer your questions in the next week's edition of this paper.

Sincerely,
Herbert J. Pfeifer

THE SPECTATOR SUPPLEMENT

LIVE WIRE

LIVE WIRE solves problems and cuts red tape. It gets answers, investigates, complains and stands up for your rights. Call LIVE WIRE at BR. 4-1155 from 1 to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Or, write LIVE WIRE, The Spectator, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus, O.

BR. 4-1155

Maybe LIVE WIRE can settle the old "seashore or mountains" vacation dilemma. What do the experts say about the best vacation spot these days?—Mrs. L.M., Columbus.

Local travel experts say, emphatically, that Mexico is now THE place in the sun for vacation-goers. Fishing at Puerto Vallarta or sightseeing in Guadalajara, Mexico, is the choice of many Americans and the trend is growing.

I thought that maybe LIVE WIRE could get in touch with Batman and get his views on why we cannot win the war in Viet Nam. Since Batman is a respected national figure, I though that he might have the latest word on the action. President Johnson might even be interested in his comments — Donald Stewart, Pleasant View High.

Donald, when the combined minds of the top leaders in this country fail to come up with a solution how can you expect one man — even with Batman's capabilities — to find an answer? Besides, Gotham City gives him all the trouble he can handle.

It is the general impression that the Ohio State Fair 1965 operated at a large loss. I think all citizens of the state should be appraised of the financial ending of the Fair — J. A. Spain, 297 Frebis-av.

A LIVE WIRE connection with Jeff Keirns, manager of the Ohio Expositions Center, says the 1965 state fair operated at a profit of $46,729.31.

I'm having an argument with my buddy about the length of the racing track at Sebring, Fla. By

First, a check with Les Keiter, one of the nation's top sportscasters, confirms that the Sebring, Fla., race track is 5.2 miles. Racing dying? Nonsense. Last year, for example, 400-million Americans bought tickets for auto racing events.

As an expectant mother, I'm concerned about rubella—commonly known as German or three-day measles. Much has been written about it lately but is there any research being done in this country to cure it?—Mrs. G. H., Hilliard.

There are steps toward research right here in Columbus. The Children's Hospital Research Foundation has been awarded a three-year, $67,000 Ohio Department of Health grant for establishment of a rubella research and diagnostic laboratory. Henry G. Cramblett, M.D., and Vincent V. Hamparian, Ph.D., will head the laboratory.

How do you get people to keep their cats at home? We're made to keep dogs tied up — why not cats, too?—Pauline, Columbus.

Laws for cats are non-existent because they are unenforceable. At least this is the opinion LIVE WIRE learned from Reynoldsburg's city council which had a real cat-fight before declining to legislate Tom's rovings. There are cat repellants on the market. They're inexpensive — and, often effective.

Is there still a national investigations committee on aerial phenomena in existence as there was in 1960? — Wayne Carver, 4985 Vanderbilt.

Yes, Wayne, there is. The committee was founded in 1956 and is still listed in operation at 1536 Connecticut-av, N.W., Washington 6, D.C. Donald P. Kayhoe is the director.

I live on W. Mound-st. We want sidewalks out here from Wayne-west. How can we get them when many blocks on Mound do not have property owners facing the street? — Mrs. Geraldine Schott, 792 N. Ogden.

LIVE WIRE contacted the Division of Engineering and Construction in Columbus. They furnish free permits for individual sidewalk construction. That would fix things in front of your house. However, getting sidewalks all along Mound-st is a more complicated procedure. Abutting property owners must petition City Council. (Even if the homes do not face Mound-st, property owners of corner lots must help finance the streets they face and the street alongside their homes.) The City assumes two percent of the overall cost. The assessment can be placed on the tax duplicate to be paid in 10 semi-annual installments.

"A three-bid doesn't mean more STRENGTH! It only shows some LOUSY length!"

This is where a partner who hears the bid, gets almost as excited as the bidder who opens with a "short" club! Your partner does get the message, though, if he passes, knowing he himself has no opening bid! Remember, you never open at THREE, when you can open at ONE! I'll tell you lots more, later, about that interesting "short" club bid. That short club, always makes them flub their dub!

Vinyl Makes Rainwear News

A PRETTIER YOU

By MARIANNE TOMLINSON
Spectator Fashion Editor

April showers may bring May flowers but they also bring what-to-wear problems.

Don't let this dampen your spirits and make sure that you're prepared for the rainy days ahead with some new fashions designed specifically to keep you dry and happy.

Why look drab on gloomy days when manufacturers are making water-proofed garments better looking than ever before?

Invisible water proofing that makes coats and capes pleasant to wear even on sunny days are being featured this season.

Taking the country by storm (excuse us!) right now is the Vinyl raincoat. It's bright and shiny and is available in gay, floral prints, solids, plaids, animal stripings and dots of all dimensions.

It's a fun look — but, also a practical one that is guaranteed to keep you dry. It needs no waterproofing and you can just wipe it clean.

And, if you're a homesewer, you'll find the same bright Vinyl in the fabric departments. You can design your own raincoat . . . plus a hat, handbag and gaiters, and even outfit the small fry in posies and polka-dots that you clean with soap and water.

In contrast to the modern look of the Vinyl coats there are many classic styles available too. One such line of raincoats is called "Misty Harbor." We were introduced to their fine features at the "Lamp Post" in London, O.

They are classically styled in what they call "posh" Poplin. They have other thoughtful additions, too, like extra buttons, an identification label, an inside pocket and even a hanger in the neckline that says: "Wear in good health."

If you're in the market for some new rainwear you have a "rainbow" selection from which to choose.

Lazarus Details Plans For Eastland Branch Opening In '67

185,000-sq. ft. structure to be opened in August, 1967.

Lazarus' newest branch to open in August, 1967 in Eastland at Hamilton and Refugee-rd, will form the anchor of a first for Central Ohio—an air-conditioned mall shopping center.

Overlooking the mall will be a 150 seat restaurant on the second-floor level.

With 183,000 square feet of floor space, the new three-level branch (which will include a separate tire center) will rival Northland in size.

Merchandise assortment will include apparel for men, women and children, major appliances, notions, sporting goods, home furnishings, drugs, housewares, books and garden supplies.

Tully and Hobbs, Columbus architects, worked with the famed design firm of Raymond Loewy — William Snaith to plan the new center. General contractors for the project is Altman-Coady of Columbus.

STUDENTS GIVE CHECK

DOLLARS AND COINS from 10 students added up to a $12.88 check for CARE. Spearheading the movement was 12-year-old Addie Vorys, Gahanna school student who wrote her reasons for collecting contributions from fellow students to CARE field director Judy Johnson. "Because I love children," she explained. Donations ranged from three cents to $3.57 each. From left, standing: Caroline Donnan, Lucy Vorys, Webb Vorys and Robby Smith. Sitting Addie Vorys and Judith Johnson, CARE director.

Connell's To Have Annual Open House

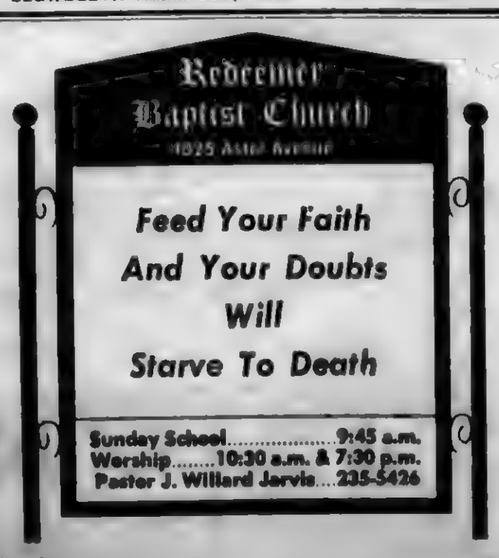
Connell's Bexley Greenhouses at 2385 E. Main-st, will have its annual Easter open house from 1 to 6 p.m. Palm Sunday, Apr. 3.

A six-foot Easter bunny will be present to greet the children with balloons and favors. Light refreshments will be served.

Connell's will boast one of Ohio's largest displays of Easter lilies, tulips, hydrangeas, hyacinths and other Spring blooming flowers.

Also on display willl be a large selection of Easter corsages.

There will be demonstrations of floral arrangements and talks on the care of flowers at home.



Photography fans are welcome to bring cameras.

On Apr. 16, a dance will be held for the senior high group from 7 to 10 p.m. and the Argonnes have been engaged to play. Membership cards are necessary to gain admittance to both of these dances.

Elementary

The recreation programs at the elementary schools during April will feature dodgeball, kickball, softball, basketball and relays. In addition, there will be trampoline at Etna Road Apr. 5 and at Kae Avenue Apr. 13 and 20.

Senior Citizens

The Senior Citizens have potluck dinners scheduled Apr. 14 and 28. In addition, this group bowls each Tuesday and Thursday afternoon at Holiday Lanes. A general meeting will be held Apr. 21 which will include the showing of a movie and playing cards.

Barnett

Adult Knitting

Barnett Recreation Center is taking registration now for a new class in beginning knitting. Instruction will be given by Judy Kerr. The class will meet Monday from 8:30-10 p.m. One may register by phone or come to class.

Adult Painting

There are still openings at Barnett Center for adults in the painting classes. They are open to beginners or more advanced students. There is a $3 charge which covers the cost of materials. The painting classes meet Mondays or Wednesdays from 7:30-10 p.m. Mrs. Cape is the instructor.

Senior Citizens

Barnett Recreation Center is organizing a club for senior citizens. This is for adults age 60 and over. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Mar. 23, at 1 p.m. For more information call Miss Kinsel at 235-1005.

Teen Modeling

The Teen Modeling Class is also beginning a new term. The class includes hair care and styling, make-up and fashions. Posture, speech and dating will be other topics of discussion and emphasis. Meeting time is 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. Mrs. Crowley is instructor.

Dancing

A new class in folk and square dancing will be offered for elementary age children Wednesday from 4-5 p.m.

Free Exercise

A new course in free exercise will be offered at Barrett Center for junior girls, age 8-12, Mondays from 4-5:30 p.m. Miss McDaniel is the instructor.

Trompoline

Trampoline will be offered to teen boys and girls Wednesdays. Girls may attend from 7-8:15, boys from 8:30-9:45 p.m.

Adult Table Tennis

There is an adult Table Tennis Club being formed at the center. It will meet Fridays at 7 p.m. in Room 6. A league composed of two men's teams will be started. Anyone interested should contact Don Sapp or Jeff Forster at the center. Beginners are welcome.

Talent Show

Barnett Recreation Center will sponsor a talent show on Friday, Apr. 15. Elementary tryouts are Wednesdays from 3:30-6 p.m. and teens may tryout Mondays from 7-8:30 p.m. and Thursdays from 7-9:45 p.m.

Two 4-H Clubs Form

Two new 4-H Clubs were formed in the area recently. The Young Farmers 4-H will hold its second meeting tomorrow, Mar. 24, at 8 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Haenszel, 5921 Johnson-rd. The other group is the Green Berets 4-H. Their second meeting will be Mar. 28 at the home of Joe Weaver, 3985 Schirtzinger-rd, at 7:30 p.m.

Gahanna Schools Book Drive Scheduled To Begin In April

A drive to collect several thousand books for the Gahanna public schools will be conducted during the period Apr. 11 to 23, according to an announcement by Mrs. Robert Seeds, chairman.

Cooperating with the Heritage Civic Association, sponsors of the drive, are the school PTA's, Jaycees, Royal Manor Civic Association and the Gahanna Lincoln High School Student Council. Any other organizations wishing to help may do so by calling Mrs. Seeds at 471-4475 after 5 p.m.

Information on how books may be donated to the committee will be announced at a later date, but Mrs. Seeds urged everyone to "start looking now."

Danny Qualls Aboard Globe Circling Ship

Seaman Danny E. Qualls, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Qualls of 1232 Franklin-av, is aboard the salvage ship USS Opportune.

The ship, which will return in April to Norfolk, Va., her homeport, will have circumnavigated the globe.

This will be a first for any Atlantic Fleet Service Force ship since World War II, and is believed to be the first for any salvage ship.

Opportune departed Norfolk in late September.

Jerome Stone Aboard Carrier Back From Viet

Aerographer's Mate First Class Jerome A. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius D. Stone of 452 N. Cassady-rd, has reported for duty aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany, homeported in San Diego, Calif.

Wit 'N' Wisdom

By JACK WITTENMEIER

Spectator Sports Editor

Sources in Hollywood have finally leaked out the signing of Dodger holdout pitchers Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax to movie contracts.

It seems the pair of LA hurlers are pretty sore about not getting that $1-million package and are going to take it out on baseball in general in a new "007-type" production.

Wittenmeier

THE CELLULOID will be called "From Buzzie" With Love" and will center around the Dodger front office's dastardly attempts to sign their star hurlers.

The part of the devious Bavasi will be played by Casey Stengel in his first major comedy role since retiring as field manager of the New York Mets.

The movie will be shot on location at Drysdale's humble $50,000 home in Beverly Hills and the studio is promising an outstanding cast of supporting actors.

Just for starters, Ted Williams will play the role of a mild-mannered LA sportswriter and Jonathan Winters will play the entire Philadelphia Phillie infield in what the studio tabs "a masterpiece of cinematography."

The plot, a thriller from beginning to end, exploits baseball's signup problems.

EASILY THE most exciting scene is the one in which Koufax is trapped in a recreation center steam room in his field uniform and told to sign or strangle to death as his diamond togs shrink.

In another classic, Drysdale is warned that if he doesn't sign, the leftfield fence at Dodger Stadium will be reduced to 127 feet.

Probably the most poignant scene unfolds in the closing minutes of the film when Koufax is asked to autograph a baseball for little Joey Cough, sickly son of ole' Pete, the peanut vendor at Portal Seven in the Stadium's upper deck (both played by Jonathan Winters).

THE COVER of the ball is an ingeniously disguised 35-year contract but we can't tell you how Sandy gets out of this one.

Dodger fans are urged not to miss this film. It's probably the only way you'll get to see your mound heroes, this baseball season.

ABOUT 15 YARDS WORTH!

TRYING TO to weave his way through two of the NFL's best Saturday night was Howard Clendenin (8) of Reynoldsburg's Super Church All-Stars during a benefit game with the Cleveland Browns. Called for "unnecessary roughness" on the play were Brown defenders Jim Houston (left) and Tom Hutcheson (87). Pro cagers downed Church five, 72-71, in overtime after Thursday All-Stars clobbered Tuesday night counterparts in prelim, 80-50. (Staff photo by Jack Witteameier).

MAVERICK

With Muddy Shoes

By RICHARD L. PAUGH

While enjoying the big game fishing off Florida's west coast, I received an invitation to visit the new sportsman's complex known as River Ranch Acres.

It is situated just about dead center in Florida on the bass-packed Kissimmee River. I was pleasantly amazed when I arrived to find everything the outdoorsman could wish for in both the hunting and fishing accommodations.

PAUGH

THE CENTER of the ranch is the beautifully appointed lodge, complete with guest rooms, lounges, a trading post and a terrific restaurant. Out back is the campground nestled amongst gigantic moss-draped trees.

To the immediate west is the quarter-mile track and and spotless horse barns. Past that is the most complete kennel I have ever seen, to house "loaner hounds" or — if you bring your own — accommodations for traveling dogs.

To the east of the lodge is the great Kissimmee River and the River Ranch Marina with tackle shop, boat livery and lounge. There is a picnic ground and playground for the children and horse drawn surreys for the lookers.

HUNTERS MIGHT well remember River Ranch for this fall, the back pasture has over 13,000 acres complete with deer, wild hog and quail like I've never seen in Ohio.

The brushlands abound in such exotic varmints as armadillos and gators and the fishermen have the aforementioned Kissimmee River to try.

Seven-pound bass are common and the biggest lunker recorded topped 14 pounds. Also among the living are crappies, speckled perch, shellcrackers and chain pickerel.

HOWARD ANGELL, the genial marina manager took me out for a try but the unseasonal flooding turned it into a pleasurable morning cruise.

I talked with the natives along the shore and their tales of piscatorial paradise turned me green with envy.

The second day of my hurry-up stay was spent on horseback (ouch). My hosts — General Manager John MacDonald and his assistant, Cy Oemler — squired me across the vast hunting preserve on a trip I'll never forget.

We rambled through flat lands of palmettos that house countless explosive coveys of quail and the prehistoric-looking armadillos.

THESE armor-bound rodents would make the craziest varmint hunt ever conceived. They would be very hard to stop with a handgun and their tough shells and deceptive speed could cause an Ohio hunter to swear off the sport.

Way out back, along the banks of Kissimmee, there is a perfect oasis where the guests are hay-waggoned to in the starlight for combination steak barbecues and folk sings. Like Mac says "something for everyone!" Deer and wild hog signs were everywhere.

Cy had just returned from a two-week course at Winchester's Gun Club School in Connecticut where he gathered plans for a soon-to-be-started trap and skeet club.

THIS ADDED venture would just about complete the picture of River Ranch. If you are planning a trip to Florida, make it a part of your plans to stop by and meet these far-sighted folks who are experts in the field of outdoor recreation.

River Ranch is just west of Sunshine State Parkway at Exit 17. This is a prime example of what can be done by private enterprise in a country that was founded on the principle of individual initiative.

Last year industrial friends of 4-H provided over four million copies of educational publications and other materials to aid 4-H'ers in their projects.

Kegler's Korner

By NORMA KIRKENDALL

Readers of "Junior Bowler" will see articles on attire by Columbus' Helen Latham.

Finally met a bowler who actually went the hypnosis route to try to improve his bowling. It seemed to work for one series with about 20 pins over average—but had to be repeated before each session and never seemed to have a carry-over.

WHAT IT seemed to achieve was relaxation—so it looks like a bowler could do it better for himself if he's got a strong enough "relaxer" attitude.

Bowling is still the only sport where a healthy young man can have plenty of trouble beating his grandmother.

Maxie Kosof, originator of the World Endurance Classic has come up with a World Singles Classic — but you'll have to go to Ogden, Utah, to try for the $16,000 prize possible to top bowler in a 20-gamer challenge.

AND IF you are a traveler — visit Edison, New Jersey's 112 - lane Edison Lanes on Apr. 30 - May 1 to see the Eastern Championship of the BPAA 24th annual National Men's Doubles Match Games.

The flu bug has succeeded where rival pro bowlers failed—in knocking Dick Weber temporarily out of the money race of PBA.

Want some attractive league banquet souvenirs? Write John Mazey, AMF Bowling, Westbury, N. Y. 11590, for free lapel pins or tie tacks in quantity you need.

THE STARTING POINT: The beginning bowler determines his starting point by placing his heels two inches from the foul line with his back to the pins. He then takes four and a half brisk walking steps. (The extra half-step is for the slide).

After determining the starting point, turn around and try it several times. If you feel cramped, lengthen the approach slightly.

If you feel you are stretching your steps to get to the foul line, shorten the approach.

QUOTE FROM 1918 ABC-souvenir program: "This tourney . . . will bring together . . . prominent women bowlers of the Middle West. It is confidently expected that this assembling of the ladies interested in bowling will result in a bowling boom in the popularity of this healthful recreation among the members of the fair sex."

How's that for a prophecy?

Spend some time in the local display rooms of trophy houses and see the new and definitely beautiful 1966 trophy lines. In spite of pins, medals, rings, plaques and belt buckles, the trophy remains the favorite award (besides cash, of course).

WONDER who has the biggest collection in the city? Or who has the oldest trophy?

Sporting Chances

When the Scarlet and Gray Cup Series is contested at Scioto Downs the week of August 22nd, 164 two and three year old trotters and pacers will be eligible for the Early Closing series named in honor of former athletic greats at Ohio State.

One entry from Columbus should prove to be a real "hunch bettor's" delight. She is Miss Buckeye Time, a daughter of Ohio Time, owned by Don Pontius of 1465 Georgesville-rd.

* * *

Some walleyes are being taken with night crawlers and shysters. With the continued warm weather, the walleye bonanza should start at any time.

The 1966 edition of the Columbus Jets' Sketch Book is off the press and available to the public.

The new Sketch Book can be obtained at any of the 25 banking offices of the Ohio National Bank or at Jet Stadium.

The book includes information on each International League squad and complete information on Columbus baseball.

Spectator Renews Its 'No-Hit' Club

With "spring training" just about wrapped up and the 1966 high school baseball season just around the corner, The Spectator announces the resumption of its "No Hit Club."

The club, which began last spring, honors each Spectator-area schoolboy pitcher who twirls a no-hit game during the baseball season.

Eight members were admitted to the club last spring: South's Keith Bugos, Hartley's Scott French, DeSales' Jim Bower, Watterson's Gene Rogers, Central's Pete Eyer, Reynoldsburg's Craig Shade and Rosary's Charles Masterson and Mike Shaffer (combined on no-hitter).

"No Hit Club" members are mailed a certificate (via their school) recording their no-hitter and entering them in the Spectator's club.

LET'S KNIT

MOHAIR JACKET

By The Spectator's
URSULA duBOIS

Admiring glances will follow any woman that is attired in this glamorous mohair mink jacket.

URSULA

Surprisingly enough, this stunning jacket uses a minimum amount of yarn, as well as time. Naturally large needles help towards its fast completion. Be a "femme fatale" when wearing this garment which embodies all the caressing features of a real mink jacket.

This garment is a one-needle item and any beginner can fashion it! A knit one row, purl one row technique is the only know-how required.

Ursula deBois
Spectator Newspapers
2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus, O., 43204.

Send 15 cents extra for your first class mail and special handling. Please print plainly your name, address, pattern number and zip code number.

Last Week To Help The Dynamic Duo!

This is Batman speaking . . .

Thanks to the fine support given me by the good citizens of Columbus and the Dynamic Spectator, the color has returned to my uniform.

"The Bleacher," however, still has Robin, the Boy Wonder, in his spell and now turn all of your efforts to help him.

This is the final week of the contest. The deadline for this entry is midnight Wednesday, Apr. 6.

And, watch for your name in my official Batman column.

In case you're not familiar with the contest, every entry with a $3.50 subscription gets a 45 rpm record of the Batman and Robin themes delivered in person by the official Batman representative in the Columbus, O., area.

He'll come to your house, complete with his Batman uniform, and shake hands with you and hand you one of my fine records.

Each week, one lucky boy or girl will be named the winner of a gigantic long-playing record delivered by Batman. The album contains a free color picture of the Dynamic Duo.

The Batman column contains more details.

Good-bye, citizens of Columbus — until we meet again.

OFFICIAL BATMAN CRIME-FIGHTING SPECTATOR SUBSCRIPTION

Please enter my entry in the Batman coloring contest and begin a one-year subscription to the official Batman newspaper, the dynamic Spectator. This entry blank entitles me to a 45 rpm "Batman Theme" record delivered, in person, by Batman's official representative.

The Bat Column

This is the Batman speaking.

The third week of the five-week long Batman March-Against-Crime contest brought fantastic results. All of Gotham City is aglow talking about the dynamic Spectator.

The big winner in the third week's Batman coloring contest is:

DAVID KAVE, 3089 Ruhlsv, Bexley. He gets a big Batman long-playing album.

Other entries rallying to the support of Batman and Robin include:

Ken Schoenfeld, 918 Varsity; Marilyn Radcliff, 2771 Vanderberg; Carl Finkes, 3210 Paxton-dr, Hilliard; Robert W. Morse, 1928-B Spruce-dr, Lockbourne Air Base.

If you have sent in your $3.50 subscription to the Batman Spectator, then the caped crusader himself will visit your house with a 45 rpm record.

If you haven't sent in your subscription money, do so immediately so Batman can set-up a time to visit your house.

(If you already subscribe a $3.50 subscription is required which will take effect as soon as your present subscription expires.)

If you choose to center the contest more than one week during March, an additional subscription for each entry is needed.

See you next week, citizens of Columbus!

Group Aids Local Foreign Visitors

The Central Ohio Council for International Visitors, Inc., COCIV, which held its first annual meeting recently, is organized to arrange activities for short-term foreign visitors to Central Ohio.

Visitors sent to the community by such governmental agencies as the Bureau of Education and Cultural Affairs, the Agency for International Development, Department of Labor, Commerce, Agriculture, Interior or Health, Education and Welfare, or non-governmental agencies and institutions, are treated to such activities as their particular case requires.

For example, The Central Ohio Council's first visitor was a woman journalist for a newspaper in Hiroshima, Japan. Her main interest was in women's affairs. In Ohio, she wanted to learn more of home and family life, how housewives combined home and club activities. She was also interested in housing for the elderly.

The four-day visit to Columbus was part of a two-month tour of the United States, financed by a United States Department grant through the Leaders and Specialists program.

Individuals, representatives of organizations and businesses interested in objectives of the council can choose from a number of different membership programs. For more information, call Richard S. Phalin, 2432 Nottingham-rd, at 486-0365 or Mrs. Nina E. Addison, 2689 Charing-rd, at 488-7319.

Knapp Brothers To Open Second Shoe Outlet

Knapp Brothers Shoe Manufacturing Corporation of Brockton, Mass., will open its second retail store and direct selling service center in Ohio at 1250 Morse-rd, Thursday, Mar. 31, at 9 a.m.

The company is the largest direct selling shoe manufacturer in the United States and ranks tenth in dollar volume out of 1,000 manufacturers in the shoe industry.

Knapp has 11,000 "shoe counselors" throughout the United States selling to consumers directly at their homes or places of business. There are 676 Knapp "shoe counselors" in Ohio.

According to Robert Grady, manager, retail sales, Knapp Shoes, the new Columbus store will carry 235 shoe styles for men, women and boys. Sizes are from 5 to 18, AAA to EEEE and most prices range from $10.50 to $25.95.

Paul Martin has been named by Knapp Shoes as manager for the new Columbus store in the Woodward Park shopping area. A free gift will be given with shoe purchases during the grand opening.

Ask a librarian to help plan a list of books to suit reading interests.

Pfeifer Raps Dems

"The Franklin County Democratic Party leadership is attempting to dodge its responsibilities in the May 3rd primary campaign," Herbert J. Pfeifer declared recently

Pfeifer said that by failing to provide all candidates with an opportunity to discuss their campaigns with the grass roots party workers and voters, the leadership is asserting "selective control over the candidates."

PTA Festival Planned

The Columbus PTA Council is sponsoring its 30th Annual Music Festival entitled "Curtain Going Up," 8 p.m. Friday, Apr. 15, at St. John Arena. The festival, which is for the public, is the group's big project for the year. Funds will be used to sponsor PTA scholarships. Tickets are available from any Columbus Public School or PTA member. Price is 80 cents. According to Mrs. Lewin Little, publicity chairman, some 3,500 boys and girls from 154 Columbus schools will participate.

Gets State V-P Post

James E. Garrison, 291 Hamilton-rd, Gahanna, was elected State Jaycee vice-president from the Ninth (Central Ohio) District at the spring district meeting Saturday, Apr. 2, in Worthington. Of the 15 chapters which make up the district, balloting was done by 13 present at the meeting. Garrison, one of 25 district vice-presidents in the state, moved to Gahanna in June of 1965 from West Virginia, where he was active in Jaycees. He was instrumental in forming the Gahanna chapter, which received its charter in December.

GARRISON

Names Proposed

A group of press representatives and student leaders sent three names to the Franklin County Board of Education last week — one of which is to be chosen for the proposed vocational high school. Picked for final selection by the board were the names Artisan United, Eastland Vocational and Vohio Union. Voter approval for the school will be sought in the May primary. The school will serve vocational students from Gahanna, Whitehall, Reynoldsburg, Groveport and Canal Winchester. The three choices for names were narrowed down from 19 submitted by students at the five high schools involved.

Wants Answers

Philip Q. Zauderer, candidate for the House of Representatives from the 60th District, lashed out against what he called a "concerted effort by public officials to avoid the interested public from being informed with respect to their activities in conjunction with the Grange Mutual Casualty Company." Specifically Zauderer questioned the recommendation of J. Otis Ford as advisor to Grange Mutual saying: "We cannot help but wonder whether the close friendship Mr. Ford enjoys with Governor Rhodes and his loyalty to the Republican Party did not take precedence in the director's consideration at the time these recommendations were made." And finally, "There are questions, the answers to which every policy holder of Grange Mutual Casualty Company is entitled, as well as every citizen interested in good government."

WHITEHALL DECA GROUP 'GOES AFTER THE BIG ONE'

WHITEHALL-YEARLING HIGH "may have a winner" according to its Distributive Education coordinator, William Ruth. Whitehall's DECA club took first place honors in the state recently, and will go on to the national finals Apr. 28 to May 1 in Chicago. Club representatives who will make the trip are, from left, Larry Snyder, state winner in the "Oil Industry Study" category; Bob Bickle, chapter project chairman; coordinator Ruth; Bob Hofmann, state winner in "Area of Distribution" study and Dan Thompson, "Outstanding Male DE Student" in Ohio. The manual in the center, a record of the year's activities, will be scrutinized by judges at the national contest.

Charter Campaign Begins

The campaign to get a "home-rule" charter for the city of Whitehall was formally opened last Thursday, when Mayor Paul Haytcher called a meeting of the 17 men who filed for election to the 15-man charter commission.

The meeting, held in city council chambers, was called primarily to explain to commission candidates the scope and importance of the creation of a charter, should they be asked to do so by Whitehall voters.

One commission candidate told The Spectator this week that in his opinion the main product of the meeting was "the general agreement that people cannot vote intelligently unless they have been informed about the charter."

The candidate added that he believes the current attempt to frame a charter will be a successful one. "The city has reached a point of maturity, and certainly deserves the opportunity for a measure of self-government," he said.

After a meeting between a few candidates and Bill Patterson, News Director of WTVN-Radio, it was announced that a live program will be broadcast from council chambers Sunday, Apr.

Young Backs Twyford

YOUNG

U.S. Senator Stephen M. Young has announced his support of the Democratic Party-endorsed candidate for 12th District Congressman, George W. Twyford.

Sen. Young's intentions to support Twyford, in the May 3 primary campaign against Columbus attorney Robert Shamansky, were included in a letter made public by Twyford this week.

The letter states, in part:

"At the moment I do not know just when I shall be able to be in the Franklin County area, but I am hoping and expecting to arrange matters to enable me to attend one or more meetings some time in April, and also speak out on radio in support of you.

"You have every qualification to be an outstanding Congressman."

Looking beyond the May primary to the November general election, Young wrote:

"I hope very much that you will be nominated and elected to Congress. On the basis of what Ive heard, your prospects are excellent . . . I'll do everything I can to help you."

Traffic Safety Promotion Important Part Of Police Work

The "long arm of the law" is an educational-public relations project which stretches out to some 150 of the city's public and parochial elementary schools.

Ptl. Steve McDonald, 50, in his 23rd year with the Columbus Police Department, and Ptl. Don Gallagan, 35, on the force for 11 years, speak to some 3000 elementary school children each week to promote traffic safety.

"Children are the best boosters that police officers have," says Ptl. McDonald, who worked with juvenile offenders for 11 years before being tapped for the safety job in the Police Public Information Bureau in 1954.

"If we get children safety-minded," he said, "they can help educate their parents."

Tht two officers point out that adults often undo much of their children's safety training when carelessly parking on opposite sides of busy streets around schools and then waving impatiently for children to hurry to the car.

Ptl. McDonald takes some 70 schools in the East and South Sides of Columbus, while his counterpart, Gallagan, is responsible for a like number of schools on the North and West Sides.

Also important in traffic safety education is information on "the stranger — beware of the stranger with candy in his hands or the one offering a ride to a boy or girl when classes are over — or on the way to school."

Most adults include warnings to their children when discussing phases of sex education," says McDonald. "We think it is better presented and more objective if children are cautioned about rides during the traffic safety instruction."

Traffic safety officers work closely with the Columbus Auto Club which invests $30,000 a year in safety belts, flags, capes, patrol badges and other materials to keep the Safety Patrol program going.

Russell H. Campbell, secretary-manager of the Columbus Auto Club, and a members of Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner's Traffic Officials Coordinating Committee, calls the program "A good investment if it saves the life of one child . . . and

Humane Society Pooh-Poohs Dog-Napping Reports

By The Spectator's
JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Unhappy pet owners hinted to The Spectator this week that the Franklin County Humane Society is "unfairly doing away with stray dogs" picked up on streets here

A Humane Society spokesman, however, indicated telephone reports were all smoke and no fire—largely prompted by recent national publicity given to dog-nappers.

Richard Sensenbrenner says the mayor's office has had "numerous" reports and complaints recently about the Society but that the city had "no legal control" over the Groveport-pk operation.

Actually, there seems to be no control at all on city, county or state levels as to what the society does with dogs picked up in Franklin County.

The workers there wear badges that say "Franklin County — Police." They are given so-called "police powers" by the County Probate Court and yet, the Society says, they are not answerable to county officials.

To complicate matters, the Society says it operates under Ohio law and yet the state seems to have no power over the operation.

Azaren Children To Appear In Troy Ice Show

Judy and Kent Azaren, children of Mr. and Mrs. David Azaren of 1562 Peace-pl, will take part in the "Fantasy On Ice" show to be held 8 p.m. Apr. 15 and 16 at the Hobert Arena in Troy, O.

Judy, 17, a senior at Eastmoor High School, will be a mermaid in an underwater sketch.

Peggy Fleming, national and world's figure skating champion, will appear as a guest at the show.

Twyford Reaffirms Support Of Levies

In a letter addressed to the Reynoldsburg School Board this week, Mayor George W. Twyford answered the attack made upon him by Robert N. Shamansky, his opponent in the May 3 primary race for Democratic nomination to the 12th District Congressional seat.

Shamansky had sent a letter to Franklin County Democratic Party Chairman Jerry Ryan, criticizing Twyford for "opposing . . . the vitally-needed and clearly-justified school operating and vocational school levies."

After the text of the letter was made public early in the week, Twyford answered the charge in a letter to the school board, which reads as follows:

Gentlemen:

This letter will confirm my discussions held over the past several weeks with Board Member Dr. John King, Superintendent Robert Heischman, and Mr. Fred Walters representing the local school teachers.

In my meetings with the above mentioned persons, I had offered my personal support to the currently-proposed school levies.

I know that my position was made known to you by these representatives, however, I am confirming by letter since an uninformed political outsider has seen fit to erroneously state my position publicly.

While I recognize the urgent need for passage of the proposed levies, I nevertheless reserve the right, as always, to question how our tax dollars are and will be spent. Although school matters are outside the scope of my control in the administration of municipal affairs, I feel a responsibility to speak when the welfare of our children and the expenditure of tax dollars are involved. I shall continue to be a liberal in assessing the needs of people, but shall remain conservative in the expenditure of tax dollars to meet those needs. Fiscal responsibility, not politics, dictates my actions since I believe that good government is good politics.

Respectfully,
George W. Twyford
Mayor

DEM CLUB OFFICERS SWORN IN

Jewish Center To Have Second Pool Ready Soon

A new swimming pool complex will be available for use on Decoration Day, it was announced by Leon Friedman, president of the Jewish Center on the project. Friedman indicated, which will include the complete rehabilitation of the present pool and the construction of an additional pool, 60x82½ feet, west of the existing pool.

The idea of a two pool complex was conceived and developed by the swimming pool committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Marvin Rose. Operation of the two pools will enable the center to greatly expand its instruction program and more adequately serve the membership during open swim periods.

It has been the center's goal to provide every child and adult with the opportunity to learn proper skills in swimming and water safety. On three occasions, the center has received an award from the Red Cross for the best all-around instructional program in the city.

The diving area has also received special attention with an increase in depth to 13½ feet. Two new Duraflex boards, mounted on cantilever stands, will provide for olympic standards of competition. The added depth was considered particularly important from a safety standpoint.

Under water lights will enhance the performance of the center's synchronized swim group which last year staged a biblical panorama.

The new pool was designed and is being built by James A. Patterson and Associates, specialists in the construction of steel swimming pools. The work is being done under the supervision of the center's building committee, David Roth, chairman. Other members of the committee are: Leo Eichenbaum, Myer Hausman, Harold Kayne, Morrey Mattlin, Norman Meizlish, Melvin Rackoff, Stanley Skilken, Ernest Stern and Emil Wasserstrom.

Plans for a summer program will be announced shortly by Edward Ghitman, chairman of aquatics for the Jewish Center.

ON THE SIDE OF THE ANGELS
We love the gentle softness of unexpected little curls and short-short hairdos that are fashion-decreed this season for the very young who want to look grown-up. During the day they look and behave like militant angels but at candle-light time, with the mere swish of a wiglet attached to the top or the back of the head these sometimes irritating noisemakers suddenly put on the looks and behavior of Regina Coeli herself.
Between adult and adolescent is a wonderful, fearful, make-believe world that requires what we call "Either-Or" hair-styling. If you live in that in-between world come in and see what we mean.

COCKTAILS ANYONE?
We call our special "Pick-You-Up Service" our "Cocktail Art". It's absolutely essential for that special occasion when you are crowned Queen of England or someplace, or your husband is taking a new position like President of The United States, or something. It consists of a relaxing facial, an eyebrow arch (and we get rid of unsightly face hairs too, if you have any), and then a hairdo and a makeup planned to be exactly right for the occasion. Try it once and we're sure you'll be back for more — sometimes without an occasion.

GENTLEMEN MUST BE WARNED
The new, washed, baby-face look is loaded with dynamite! Elegant, soft, smooth and distractingly sensuous. — about describes the new fashion look for makeup and hair. Come in and try it on. You'll love yourself that way. (Don't tell the man on target until afterwards. Let him live dangerously.)

OUR SOMETHING NEW IS SOMETHING OLD
Back in the 1920's we were watching these same style trends, but somehow, today they seem more graceful . . . more versatile and suitable for all ages.

WILLIAM S. WHITE: Looking For A Place To Stand

WHITE

WASHINGTON — The young and ambitious politicians who are attacking the hard-line stance in Viet Nam are making a profound mistake in not consistently disassociating themselves from the excesses of the extremists on their side.

The point is not especially applicable to the older advocates of giving in to attempts of the Communist Viet Cong to shoot their way into the South Vietnamese government. For Senators like William Fulbright of Arkansas and Wayne Morse of Oregon have little chance to rise further in their careers.

But such Democrats as Sens. Robert Kennedy of New York and Vance Hartke of Indiana and such Republicans as Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon and Mayor John Lindsay of New York are walking on minefields.

Those politicians who do not come through loud and clear against plainly subversive forms of "protest" will be asking for deep trouble in the future.

For example, Hatfield, whose position on Viet Nam is not miles away from that of Morse, could not possibly be nominated for Vice-President unless a GOP convention repudiated a policy in Viet Nam strongly supported by former President Eisenhower and the entire Republican leadership of Congress.

Nor could Lindsay without taking firm action to stop the use of New York streets by marchers identified with the Communist cause in Viet Nam.

Again, even without this complicating factor, Sen. Robert Kennedy could never be chosen for President by the Democrats without a convention repudiation of the last three Democratic Presidents—Harry Truman, John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

Hartke could not reach the goal said by some of his friends to be in the back of his mind — the eventual Democratic leadership in the Senate — unless at least four-fifths of its Democratic membership suddenly confessed total error on Viet Nam.

The unalterable truth is that the commitment to halt armed Communist assault in Viet Nam is far bigger than merely Democratic and Republican. It is a historic national credo not to let armed communism shoot its way forward anywhere in the world.

It is a policy backed by four Presidents. It began with Truman's decision not to allow Greece and Turkey to be overrun by another "war of liberation." It carried over in Eisenhower's firmness, first in Lebanon and then in Viet Nam. And so it went, through the Administrations of John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

In all our history, the right to dissent has been qualified by the accepted obligation not to give aid and comfort to an enemy actually killing American soldiers. That American extremists are giving that aid and comfort is being exultantly broadcast even now by the controlled press in both North Viet Nam and Red China.—Copyright, 1966, United Features.

BARRY GOLDWATER: As High As An Elephant's Eye

GOLDWATER

Pretend the problem doesn't exist and blame the trouble on somebody else.

That is precisely what top Democrats are doing about the growing fact of inflation.

I say "fact" of inflation because the shrinking of the dollar in the past year is well established. If the administration won't admit it, the average American can judge for himself. He has only to check the prices on his grocery list, read about the other price increases in the newspapers, watch the interest rates go up or keep an eye on frantic White House efforts to stave off price increases in basic industries.

Inflation spells political trouble for the Democrats in this year's congressional elections, so they're looking for a suitable scapegoat to absorb the blame.

President Johnson already has singled out the nation's business community for the honor. His skillful, well-publicized viewing with alarm every price increase proposed by major industries gives the subtle impression that greed of the nation's corporate giants for still greater profits is the root of the inflation problem.

Because the rising cost-of-living is on the minds of all Americans, especially those who work on a family budget, the topic receives prominent attention in the press. Republican leaders for the same reason have devoted attention to the subject and recommended that the government take remedial fiscal measures to counteract the trend.

These two developments have provided Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield with a new scapegoat. He has charged the press and Republicans with "trying to talk the economy into a non-existent inflation."

He did not mention the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the American Bankers Association or the countless other responsible groups in the nation which claim inflation is here and growing.

It might help if the Democratic leader would explain the controversy now raging within the administration over the proper timing for a move to raise income taxes as an anti-inflationary move.

While Sen. Mansfield accuses the press and the Republicans of talking the economy into inflation, he is actually trying to talk away a growing nightmare brought on by uncontrolled and exorbitant government spending in a time of war. Government is the real culprit in inflation with the irresponsible fiscal policies it has foisted on the nation.

Mansfield and other Democrats, particularly those up for election this year, can be expected to use every smoke screen in the book to obscure the obvious relationship between government spending and the increase of prices in the market and everywhere else Americans shop for the necessities of life. But the truth is bound to emerge, especially since the administration is making no effort to halt the overabundant flow of government cash into the economy.—Copyright 1966, Los Angeles Times.

THE SPECTATOR

OHIO'S LARGEST WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

"An Informed Citizen Is The Cornerstone Of Democracy"

Robert Burdock, Publisher · Don R. Bucknam, Advertising Director · John Auble, Jr., Managing Editor · R. H. Rogers, Business Manager

Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday, April 6, 1966

Politics And Booze

Last week, The Spectator carried a story telling of serious personnel shortages in state jobs. Most critical of these shortages, according to the state's Chief of Personnel Charles Ream, are in the liquor department.

The telephone started ringing. Calls came from men who said they had devoted many years to the liquor department. They said they are registered Democrats and that they were asked to resign from their $200 to $600 a month jobs because of their party affiliations.

One man, a 63-year-old who gave nine years to the liquor department, said he even asked for a demotion if he could stay. He was managing a liquor store. The state reduced him to a clerk (hoping, he feels, to discourage him). When that didn't work, they shuffled him from store to store. Finally, he was asked to resign.

Perhaps there is politics at all levels. It's hard to understand, however, why a state official would cry about personnel shortages when even one qualified man is turned away because of his party affiliation.

There's Still Time

Sunday, Mar. 27, hundreds of volunteer workers canvassed Columbus and Franklin County in the 1966 Easter Seal Parade.

Many contributed. Many did not.

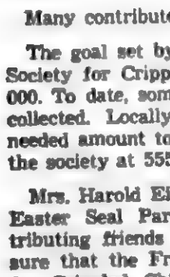
The goal set by the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children is $100,000. To date, some $61,737.99 has been collected. Locally, we lag behind the needed amount to continue the work of the society at 555 S. Monroe-av.

Mrs. Harold Eibling, chairman of the Easter Seal Parade, said: "Our contributing friends and neighbors can be sure that the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children will take every possible step to maintain and develop the direct services that give practical hope to crippled children."

And Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson said in a letter to the Easter Seal Society: "In be interested aand devoted to our youth is an inherent part of our democracy. The design of our democracy today is to utilize to the fullest the talents of each individual. For nearly half a century, your organization has served the youth who need help most."

The Spectator joins these two women in asking for support for this worthwhile campaign.

The 1966 drive continues until Easter Sunday, Apr. 10.



There is still time to send contributions to: Crippled Children, Post Office Box 2118, Columbus, O., 43216.

Little Lapses

By The Spectator's
TED BEARDSHEAR

The old adage about the absent-minded professor must have some truth to it.

After all, if one watched closely, those same traits attributed to the teacher can be found anywhere.

BEARDSHEAR

For example, three times this week one of the workers has left his desk to get a pack of cigarettes from the cigarette machine. And all three times, this poor soul has plopped 35 cents into the coffee machine instead.

There was once a psychologist who was expert in placing personal problems in a historical framework. In fact, he could lecture for hours about the evolution of a particular oddity, frequently going back to ancient Egypt for openers.

He was, however, incapable of remembering where he parked his car in the morning and frequently I had to help him search for it after work.

One medical man had difficulty keeping track of keys and small items. Since he was getting on in age, he worried about his lapses as a sign of "slowing down." But while searching frantically for a writing implement to scratch out a prescription, he could recall with pinpoint accuracy what medicine and what dosages he had given me three years before.

Then there was this friend in college. He was extraordinarily gifted intellectually, yet in introducing his fiancee to a family friend one evening he actually forgot her name. He later married her. He had to. It was the easiest way to remember her last name.

We once had a staff photographer who left to take a series of important pictures for an entire spread we had planned. He diligently went through the assignment, clicking off shot after shot at a variety of settings. He had, of course, forgotten to load the camera with film.

One day after a particularly hard time at work during which I had struggled manfully with a front page story, I stepped into the street. I was immediately accosted by a young man with a sack full of papers.

Thinking it was a competitor, I purchased it to see how bad we had scooped him.

You're right. I bought a copy of our very own paper. It had my nameline on the front page and I stood calmly in the busy street reading the story I had spent the afternoon writing.

They Said It

"A newspaper ad is more than cold type. More even than cold type carrying a message. To the businessman, a newspaper ad is the adrenalin that make a tired sales curve spring to life and shakes a sleepy economy awake." — Warrensburg (Mo.) Star-Journal.

"Watch That Carpet, Fella"

MARQUIS CHILDS: Poor, Poor Chi-Chi

WASHINGTON — A rare example of East-West coexistence, and hopefully even cohabitation, offers a ray of relief in the grim flow of the news. Chi-Chi, the London Zoo's female giant panda, has been flown to Moscow to be introduced to An-An, the Moscow Zoo's male panda.

A footnote to the rigidity of America's China policy is recorded in Chi-Chi's earlier wanderings. She was originally to come to the United States, the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago having offered $50,000 for her to the Swiss animal dealer who had brought her from China to Europe.

CHILDS

Chi-Chi was one of two giant pandas outside China where the species in the great bamboo forests in the Province of Szechwan is said to be increasingly rare. This was, then, a coup for the American zoo. Everyone was presumably happy, including Chi-Chi, whose owner was exhibiting her in European zoos at a special fee.

But at this point the United States Treasury intervened and what followed was a farcical bureaucratic hassle. Was not Chi-Chi really a produce of Red China? And didn't she, therefore, come under the ban of the trading-with-the-enemy act, dating from World War II, which prohibits any commerce with Communist China? It appeared that the United States would lose one of the two pandas outside the bamboo curtain.

An appeal was taken to Dr. Theodore H. Reed, director of Washington's National Zoo. He was asked if he could not help find a legitimate loophole to let Chi-Chi in. Maps were consulted. Wasn't it possible that she had strayed from the mountain fastness of Szechwan into Bhutan or even through Tibet into Nepal before she was captured? For three days Chi-Chi's fate hung in the balance.

Finally the ruling was negative, Chi-Chi was denied admission, having been found beyond a doubt to be a product of Communist China. In the fall of 1959 the London Zoo snapped up the prize.

It is the inflexibility of the American position, as shown once again in the hearings before the Fulbright committee, that puts the United States in a striking contrast with the Western Allies. They not only buy from China but sell in increasing volume from year to year, although the total is nothing like as large as the trade of Western Europe with the Soviet Union.

West Germany has trade relations with Peking, although Bonn does not formally recognize Red China. The French last year put on a big trade fair in mainland China's capital and sent high-ranking representatives to preside over it. Britain entered into a deal to sell Viscount planes to China.

The trading-with-the enemy ban was applied to China in 1950 and has apparently never been re-examined as part of American policy. The same ban applies to North Korea and North Viet Nam.

With only two pandas outside of China — there are said to be a half-dozen in Chinese zoos — Chi-Chi on her mission to Moscow will be given tender, loving care in the hope that her union with An-An will be fruitful. She has been notably depressed in the spring and the fall and, a curator at the London Zoo put it with typical British understatement, this is ascribed to the inadequacy of her sex life.

The offspring, if any, will plainly have a very high value in the zoo world with bids from everywhere. But for Washington it presents a problem that the Treasury may already be brooding over. Chi-Chi was born in China, lived in Britain, had a honeymoon in Moscow where her young may be born. The Treasury must decide whether her cubs will carry any of this taint. — Copyright 1966, United Features.

Letters To The Editor

Slums And Inner Values

To The Spectator:

I have read articles in The Spectator that presented a grim picture of "life in the ghetto," as it is now fashionable to call the slums of big cities like Columbus.

The public has been fed the idea that one group of Americans — the slum-dwellers — are virtually captives imprisoned in tenement cages.

It is tragic that serious problems should be reduced to melodrama and grossly sentimentalized.

Let's not forget that slums are made by the people who live in them. Millions of us live in houses that are old. But, we take care of them. We go to the dime store and buy a can of paint and we fix a window when it is broken. We spend money on real needs, not on liquor or on flashy items we can't afford.

To eliminate slums, the slum-dwellers themselves will have to improve their own deficiencies of character. Today's slum dwellers, if they are ever to amount to anything, must look inside themselves for help, not to the Great Society. One thing Washington can't give away is character.

Letters for publication must bear the writer's name and address. The editors, at their discretion, may permit use of initials or pseudonyms if this is requested for a good reason. In general, preference will be given to writers willing to take responsibility for their views. Letters should be kept as short as possible. All letters are subject to editing.

Easter Cruelties

To The Spectator:

Easter often becomes one of sadness for many children who have received live baby chicks, ducklings or rabbits as Easter gifts. Many of these babies, through unintentional neglect, and mishandling, become ill and die.

I urge parents to refrain from giving such baby animals as gifts during the Easter season. These baby animals are not pets and certainly should not be considered as toys.

Give stuffed, mechanical or candy animals instead. We have had the unfortunate task of putting many baby chicks, ducklings, and rabbits to sleep because of illness resulting from malnutrition or injuries during this time of year.

Violence For Sale

To The Spectator:

This is the age of the Protest. Everybody's protesting something. I'd like to lead a campaign to get manufacturers to cutback in their manufacturing of toys of violence for youngsters.

I saw a toy rack in a supermarket here. One plastic bag was labeled "Bring Your Child A Smile." It contained toy hand grenades.

Columbus: City 'Face-Lifting' Building Progress Ready For Review

A busload of top civic leaders, businessmen and industrialists, members of the Development Committee for Greater Columbus, will view housing code inspection areas, renovated neighborhoods and downtown building programs Thursday.

Similar tours, with souvenir programs, are available to church, school, PTA, service clubs, professional and business organizations, and may be arranged by calling Robert Pendergast, Urban Renewal information officer, 469-6102, any week day.

Tomorrow's tour will include the near West Side from the freeway to Central-av and the near East Side from Parsons to Wilson-avs, where 22 months ago the city's first systematic enforcement of the housing code was undertaken with the help of neighborhood organizations.

Since then, more than 7000 dwelling units have been inspected in the areas, and more than 50 percent of the repairs have been made.

Inspections centered on violations of health, safety and general welfare and revealed such hazards as faulty wiring and monoxide conditions, weeds, junk autos and rat-filled garages.

Following the morning trip through the housing code areas and Market-Mohawk Renewal area, the group will preview the new East Freeway—an $11 million facility which will open up the fast-growing East Side, scheduled to be officially open in July.

Lunch will be eaten at Willard's Restaurant in Bexley, and the tour will resume at 1:30, covering Children's Hospital, Bolivar Arms, Ohio State University, North, Dennison Conservation Area and Thurber Village.

Thursday's 34-mile tour of the inner city will begin at the Sheraton Plaza.

Commentary will be by William Colwell, project coordinator; Milous Keith, neighborhood worker for Gladden Community House; Charles Wilburn, chief housing inspector on the East Side; Jean Willis, executive secretary for Russell Taylor, director of Columbus Metropolitan Housing Program; Dayton Robbins, chief engineer for the city freeway program, and Robert Pendergast.

The tour will be under the direction of Patrick Phelan, Urban Renewal director, and William Moore, assistant director Development Committee. Accompanying the group will be Theodore Kauer, Development Committee director.

Suburban Press Elects Officers For Fiscal Year

A Los Angeles suburban newspaper publisher will spearhead the development program of the Suburban Press Foundation during its fiscal year Feb. 28, 1966 - Mar. 1, 1967.

Oran W. Asa, Northeast Los Angeles Publishing Company, publisher of six Los Angeles area newspapers, was elected president by the foundation board, following the annual membership meeting held in Chicago in late February.

Elected vice-president was Carl Tucker, Jr., publisher of "Patent Trader," Mount Kisco, N. Y., a Westchester County suburban newspaper. Tucker has been a member of the Foundation's Board for three years and also serves as membership chairman.

Re-elected to the post of secretary-treasurer was Robert Y. Paddock, vice-president, Paddock Publications, Arlington Heights, Ill. Paddock was the foundation's first president upon its organization in 1960.

The SPF annual membership meeting was the concluding event of a two-day national publishers' seminar, a workshop-conference held each February by the foundation. This year's seminar broke all records for attendance, attracting some 45 suburban newspaper publishers and members of their advertising and business staffs, for a total registration of more than 125.

A highlight of the annual meeting was the affirmative vote by members authorizing the foundation to accept an invitation from Northen Illinois University for cooperation in establishing a suburban pres research and service program, with the University's School of Journalism serving as headquarters for the project.

IN & AROUND TOWN

EDITED BY ROLAND SUNKER

A guide to performers and performances in the Columbus area this week

A 'Spectacular Extravaganza'

Peanuts, popcorn, clowns, pretty girls, elephants, trapeze performers and high wire artists are only parts of the 16th annual Shrine Circus. From Joe Frisco and his wild animals to the flying human missiles all three rings keep you on the edge of your seat. This year's show is truly a "spectacular extravaganza."

An exciting and unusual act is Joe Frisco's wild animal act, Lions, tigers and bears perform in the same cage. A real spine tingler is the Angelos, riding a motorcycle on a narrow platform high above the sawdust while excuting tricks on a trapeze attached to the motorcycle. The final stunt is one of the most death-defying and daring you will ever see.

With an exquisite, fashionable wardrobe, Gerald Soules and his Poodles of Paris have a cute and highly trained animal act. These poodles are really showmen. Soules has spent many hours training these dogs.

These are just three of 27 top acts in the circus that are sure to please all kids from five to 90. There is still plenty of time to enjoy this year's show, with two performances every day and three on Saturday. Go and be young again, at least for two and a half hours.

Benefit For New Theatre

The Ohio State University Players are producing the classic melodrama, "The Drunkard," this spring on the OSU campus.

Proceeds from the production are to go toward a new treatre to be built within the next two years.

"The Drunkard," one of the most famous of all melodramas, is a temperance play. It contains the stock hero, heroine, and, of course, the evil villain who holds the mortgage to the heroine's home.

It is full of fun and laughter and the audience should come prepared for a hilarious evening of theatre.

The show will be given in Derby Hall for five performances, Apr. 22, 23, 25, 26, with a matinee on the 23rd.

Tickets are $1.25. No reserve seats are available.

Lincoln Lodge Swinging

Last Saturday night was the closing of the Noels at Lincoln Lodge. Not only were there many friends to see them off, but a couple of well-known musicians stopped by to sit in. First to join the Noels was Alfred Gallodoro with his saxophone and clarinet. Saturday night he backed up his reputation. Also stopping in was Merle Lemon, one of America's leading guitarists. For those of you who missed the action, all I can say is that this had to be one of the best collections of talent in town that night. The music lovers who were present heard some terrific sounds.

E. G. Marshall To Star In Finney Play

"This Winter's Hobby," the Jack Finney play, brings E. G. Marshall back to the stage for the first time in seven years. The last four years Marshall has portrayed Lawrence Preston in television's top rated series, "The Defenders."

Playing a very ordinary middle-aged man who works in a real estate office, Marshall accidentally kills a man in a barroom brawl and the strange blackmail that follows makes for one of the most bizarre plays in a long, long time.

Marshall was long noted as one of Broadway's most distinguished actors. His work in "The Ice Man Cometh," "The Skin of Our Teeth" and "The Crucible" established him as a top performer.

Major Theatrical Event

An event of major theatrical importance, the presentation of Eugene O'Neill's great play, "Long Day's Journey Into Night" will take place on Apr. 12, at the University Hall Theatre on the OSU campus. The production will continue through Saturday, Apr. 16, with a matinee on that day at 2:30 p.m.

The story is simply one day in the life of a family of four and the action has been described as "not forward but inward." Both publication and production go against the expressed instructions of the playwright. It is frankly autobiographical. The intensely personal story he tells is veiled only by the family name. Substitute O'Neill for family name in the play and you have one of the most tortured family histories ever put on the stage.

IPC Names Director

Paul Morris of Columbus has an impressive list of credits to qualify him as musical director of the Independent Players. The club, now in its 45th year, is currently rehearsing "The Most Happy Fella" to be presented at the Veterans Memorial Hall Apr. 29 and 30. Morris has a fine tenor voice himself and has appeared in such operatic roles as "La Boheme," and "Street Scene." He has been with IPC since 1961 and his able baton has helped him mold his club into one of the finest non-professional music theatres in the country.

Tickets are available from all club members or by calling AM. 2-8709 or GA. 1-8535.

Good Friday Concert

Tickets for the Columbus Symphony's Good Friday performance at First Community Church are now available at the church switchboard or at the symphony box office. The Symphony Orchestra and Chorus will present Bach's "Passion Accoding to St. John" at 8 p.m. in the church sanctuary. Cost of the tickets is $2.50.

Cancer Society Benefit Planned

This Saturday from 9 p.m. until midnight at the Golden Bull, 4784 N. High-st, the fabulous Electrons are playing for dancing A Go-Go. All teenagers are invited. For your parents information, there will be adult supervision. While there is no admission charge, a small donation will be required. All donations are to be given to the American Cancer Society for the fight against cancer. So benefit yourself and the American Cancer Society, be sure to be at the Golden Bull this Saturday. The Electrons are a well-known group and this sounds like a swinging evening.

Joe Pyne Show Splits

WRFD's hour-long "Joe Pyne Show" has been divided into two half-hour programs daily Monday through Friday. The program is now heard at 1 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. each, day, with one of Pyne's guests being interviewed on each show.

The change comes as a result of growing listener demand to air the program in part during a time when working people could listen.

Batman, Robin Star At Drexel

"An Evening With Batman and Robin" opens today at the Drexel Theatre for one week only.

The famous multiple-chapter film has been assembled into one continuous presentation to meet audience demand.

Husky Lewis Wilson plays Batman. Douglas Croft, a typical American boy, appears as Batman's inseparable pal, Robin, the Boy Wonder.

There are continuous shows from 7 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday there are shows from 2 p.m. at the Drexel Theatre, 2254 E. Main-st.

BILL WILLIS, ex-Cleveland Brown All-Pro griddler who was guest speaker at Whitehall's basketball-wrestling banquet last week, joined grappler Mike Case for an impromptu test of strength after banquet ceremonies. Case and Ram mat teammate Dave Graff (standing, center) were named "most improved" grapplers at the banquet while cagers Harvey Eader (left, standing) and Mike Tarleton were honored as Whitehall's "most valuable" and "most improved" respectively.

Four High School Leagues Open Flag Drives This Week

By BOB WHITMAN

That familiar call, "Play Ball," echoes around the area diamonds this week as the school boy sluggers unwind for the first full week of baseball.

But the way things shape up, the action looks more like end of the season title bids.

Dick Eaton's North bunch faces Whetstone in a game that will show sophomores on the firing line as will Marion - Franklin's clash with Eastmoor (all City) League games on Tuesday).

IN A TOP Franklin County League game, a pair of last season runners-up — West Jefferson and Dublin— are matched tomorrow night.

The Franklin Heights-Reynoldsburg match will end a week of baseball for Ed Lewis' Falcons.

Four straight diamond wars are on the agenda for Franklin Heights starting with Walnut Ridge (tonight), Arlington (Thursday), Lancaster (Friday) and topped off with a double dip against Worthington on Saturday.

READY'S BUD TRAPP has a similar situation but not as plentiful. The Silver Knights meet a trio of City Loop foes — Eastmoor (tomorrow), South (Monday) and North (Wednesday).

Trapp's Knights, the defending Central Catholic League Champs, handled the City teams last year, going unharmed in pre-loop play.

The new Metro League is christened Tuesday with three games, Reynoldsburg at Franklin Heights, Whitehall at Pleasant View (defending South Suburban League champions) and Teays Valley at Hamilton Township.

WEST WILL work the revenge angle against the Central Pirates, for the gritty Cowboys are still smarting from last year's 1-0 shiner that the Bucs hung on them.

For South and coach Bob Nolan, the Brookhaven game will be the one.

"They (Brookhaven) are the team to beat in the City League this spring." Nolan said, "their pitching is as strong as any other team's."

SATURDAY THE Mid-Eight League gets under way with doubleheaders on all fronts.

Westerville battles Mifflin twice, Grove City travels to Bexley, Hilliard goes to Groveport and out-of-towners London and Marysville meet.

Cavalier, Card Relays Pace Cinder Docket

By JACK WITTENMEIER

The schoolboy cinder season kicks off strongly from the starting blocks this week with one of season's top state attractions set for Cincinnati and a prime local plum ready for Worthington's oval.

Cincinnati Purcell plays host to some 40 Ohio teams Friday and Saturday for the fourth running of the Cavalier Relays at Cincy's Traecher Stadium.

THREE LOCAL schools are entered for the all-relay event — Upper Arlington (defending '65 champ), plus City League strongboys East and West.

Also included in the lineup will be all Cincinnati and Dayton schools, four from the Cleveland area and an additional seven from Toledo.

So big is the event, in fact, that Cincy's Sheraton-Gibson Hotel has donated some $2000 worth of housing to teams traveling more than 125 miles to the Queen City.

EAST COACH Lee Williams sees Dayton Dunbar, Dayton Roosevelt, Cleveland East Tech, Arlington and his Tigers as likely prime contenders for the '66 Cavalier laurels.

"The field will be stronger this spring," Williams relates, "because the timing is better. Last year the Cavalier running conflicted with the Mansfield Relays and the top state teams were torn between the two big meets."

MOST TEAMS will join the field Saturday, however, when both field and running events get under way at 10 a.m. Finals are set for 1:30 p.m.

The Cavalier running will be strictly a relay event with two-man teams representing their respective schools in the field category.

Relay events include: four-mile, two-mile, mile, 880, 440, sprint-medley, distance medley and shuttle hurdles. Field events will be: shot put, discus, pole vault, broad and high jumps.

Wit 'N' Wisdom

By JACK WITTENMEIER
Spectator Sports Editor

The place — A major Army training center somewhere in the USA.

The time — A few months hence.

"Excuse me, sir—but it's about Private Clay again."

"I thought you had gotten him settled."

"Not exactly sir. It seems he found out a couple of the fellows in his barracks were from Illinois. I guess he's pretty touchy about—"

Wittenmeier

"FIRST it was Maine, now Illinois. Did you work out the arrangements with the chaplains?"

"Yes, sir. He gets the chapel right after the Catholic services."

"Did you tell him we've voted him captain of the base boxing team?"

"HE CLAIMS he is the base boxing team, sir."

"Don't you have any progress to report?"

"Oh, yes sir! He's taken very well to marching and the base dentist claims his checkup was the quickest in Army history. Doc says he never closed his mouth once."

"THE PROBLEM at hand is placing him in a specialty. Where do we have the most slots to fill?"

"We could place him nicely in recruiting, sir."

"Please, sergeant! I haven't had my lunch yet."

"HOW ABOUT our space program, sir! I understand we're pretty close to landing a man on the moon."

"Too close. They think now they'll be able to get him back to Earth."

"How about Viet Nam, sir?"

"The UN says no. They claim it would be too soon after that mess with the tear gas."

THE OFFICER reached for his phone. "There's just one other chance. My friend Admiral Seagoing owes me a big favor."

There was a slight pause as the call rushed toward Annapolis.

"Hello, John? Harvey here. John, I was wondering if we could make a little swap. I have a young man here who — John? John?

THE SERGEANT was silent for a moment and then he frowned. "It doesn't seem exactly fair, does it sir? I mean; after all, we did take Presley, didn't we?"

E-M Basball Hops Based On Mound Staff

By BOB WHITMAN

It's another young team for the City League this season as Eastmoor will have only four seniors on the 22-man Warrior roster.

But age isn't bothering Eastmoor coach Jim Ferrell too much, because the first year Warrior varsity mentor is banking on three sturdy pitching arms to carry the young players over the rough humps of the schedule.

A rough spot for the Warriors comes up mighty quick, like the first six games, and Ferrell figures "If the pitching can come along strong enough until the sophomores and juniors mature we will do all right."

THE EASTMOOR coach also said that "it won't surprise me if these boys come through but we might be a year away."

"So far this season he hasn't had any trouble," Ferrell said.

FERRELL has a pair of hard-throwers ready when Cooper isn't on the mound. John Wymer and southpaw Bob Farus will also face opponents' hitting talent this spring.

SEASON YOUNG BUT . . .

Raiders Lead League In 'Sore Flipper' Dept.

By JACK WITTENMEIER

There's an old baseball expression that runs, "Some you win, some you lose and some are rained out."

Reynoldsburg won its '66 diamond opener last week (beat St. Mary, 8-4) and lost pitching ace Greg Murray (slipped vertebra) possibly for the entire season.

AS FAR as the rain goes, Raider coach John Thompson admittedly will be praying for the wet stuff if his mound staff doesn't shake a rash of sore flippers by a week from Friday (Whitehall).

Distressed with that latter malady are Dave Herrmann and Kevin Turner or roughly two-thirds of Reynoldsburg's remaining pitching staff.

That leaves "iron man" Gary Shade, who'll probably toe the mound both Friday (FCL game vs. Canal Winchester) and Tuesday (Metropolitan League opener at Franklin Heights).

OTHER than the sore arm dilemmas, Thompson figures his Raiders are ahead in most departments this spring.

"We've gotten in more practice games this spring than in past years and our hitting is ahead. We seem to be a little behind in defense."

Thompson figures Friday foe Canal Winchester "should be improved" with eight returning lettermen back this spring.

THE INDIANS dropped their opener last week to Rosary, 5-4, on Mike Shaffer's fine two-hit job, but "one game doesn't make a season," Thompson reminded.

The Falcons returned 11 vets this spring, including all-South Suburban League infielders Ray Malone and Jeff Wiler.

F-H COACH Ed Lewis, who commented before the season that he doubted if his Falcons could improve on a 13-12 '65 mark, is obviously going to get plenty of help from West High transfer Mickey Pless, who operates

RAIDER VETS CARRY BIG STICKS

East's Byrd One-Hit Dublin

Byrd's mound job paced Paul Pennell's Tigers over Dublin, 7-0. Mike Phillips led East hitters with a four bagger.

Eastmoor's Bill Komives was the only Warrior to touch Pless as the Falcons gained a 7-0 win.

Prout permitted only five hits, chalking up 14 strike outs.

Hartley opened its 1966 baseball season with a split at Westerville. The Hawks bowed in the opener, 2-1 and came back to take the nightcap, 13-5. Hartley scored 13 runs on eight hits.

AREA JUNIOR HIGH CAGE 'MVPS'

Bexley Tops Raiders

Bexley trimmed Reynoldsburg in the first thin outing of the season for both teams, 78½ to 48½.

Cinder Standouts

Rick Weber, Bexley sprinter, who helped pace the Lions' 78½ to 48½ track win over Reynoldsburg last week with firsts in both the 100 and 220 events.

East's shuttle hurdle quartet (Rod and John Jones, Dale Allen and Jim Lake), who tied the event record (:58.8) as Tigers won Brookhaven's Fairweather Relays last week.

JIM BROWN, Marion-Franklin hurdler, who won both high and lows event last week — despite Red Devils' 81-46 dual meet loss to Lancaster.

Jewish Center Sports Roundup

In the final game of the Jewish Center Adult League Anchor Lighting defeated Burger Boy, 57-49, to become champions of the 1965-66 season.

Before taking Burger Boy in the championship game, Anchor Lighting had to play a playoff game for the first round against Ming's Far East Restaurant. After a very close and highly disputed game, A-L defeated Ming's in overtime, 66-59.

Leading the Anchor offense against B-B were Frank Kass (19), Bob Grad (17) and Ron Golden (11). The runner-ups were led by Sandy Pollock (17), followed by Sandy Solomon and Bernie Weston who scored 12 and 10 points respectively.

Millard Justice Gets Viet Billet

Army Pfc Millard M. Justice, son of Mrs. Mollie Justice, 1737½ E. Main-st, Columbus, was assigned to the 71st Artillery in Viet Nam.

Justice, a supply specialist in Headquarters Battery of the 71st Artillery's Sixth Battalion, entered the Army in March 1965, completed basic combat training at Ft. Gordon, Ga., and was last stationed at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

Area Students To Attend Confab

Four area residents are among participants in the 13th annual Columbus Diocesan Council of Catholic Youth Convention May 21 and 22 at the Ohio Exposition Center.

They are Cheri Manns, 2988 Brownlee-rd, Martie Smith, 2777 Wellesley-rd; Judy Douglas, 595 Robinwood-av, and Marty Irwin, 1429 Byron-av.

"LOOK OF 30'S" IS NEWS IN 1966 DECORATING TRENDS

By MAGGI DONALDSON

Bare floors, shrouded only here and there with shaggy white or off-white rugs, bare walls — (often in white) decorated with 'clusters of pictures' or occasionally with one hung singly and matted in coolest green — the sound of water tinkling in a garden room fountain — blues and greens mixed deftly with black wrought iron — these are the looks and signs of spring and summer 1966 in your home.

At least these are the looks that Columbus interior designer Timothy Neese, AID, of Lazarus, sees for your home.

According to Mr. Neese, there is a return to the 'look of the 30's' in interior design. Jean Harlow and Myrna Loy movies seen on TV may have inspired the trend.

"Designers this year are in a transitional period," he observed, after strolling through the new spring-summer model rooms in Lazarus Downtown.

"Furniture from all parts of the world may be mixed in a room," he explained, as he pointed out one room that had an Italian bed, a Hong Kong wicker chest, a Greek goatskin white rug and antique-looking chairs. Summer coolness was reflected in his choice of blue-green beaded 'curtains' drawn tight over green - shuttered windows. The open fireplace was filled with bushy white flowers and the floor - length white bedspread was flowered in blues and greens.

The wicker-look was again repeated in rush chair seats of another room (as was the green) which was so traditional that similar furniture might well be found in any Columbus home of the 30's.

The Chinese - inspired rug of beige wool was patterned in soft green, picking up the predominant color of the flowered sofa and drapes. If the room were larger, he pointed out, the same fabric could be used again for wing-chairs.

This time the wide fireplace was shuttered in soft green and several pots of flowers graced one side of the rough mantel.

Another '66 look room was inspired by a Victorian (iron) fireplace. News in this room dates back to the 1900's when wallpapers were lushly flowered (this time in soft yellow and white) — 'the look' — called 'art neauveau' was also seen in the movie 'My Fair Lady', he declared.

Filmy white curtains were pulled back at different levels over the French doors and a cool green shag rug offset the yellow silk (overstuffed) sofa. Accessories of matching yellow and a small crystal chandelier added a cooling effect.

Another room voiced the French influence in being ultra - subtle in its muted wall - covering, floor - length skirted tea-table, soft blue velvet 'overstuffed' chairs and painted Indian screen.

The last room of the group — inspired by a Venetian courtyard, perhaps, again featured blues and greens, this time with black wrought iron — a 'Palm Beach' domed ceiling and black scrolled iron panels in the curved windows. Silver, looking especially cool again the blues, greens and glass-topped coffee table, was chosen as the accessory 'color' for summer here.

Lighting was subdued in all the rooms and definitely a part of the decor.

While chatting, Mr. Neese pointed out that eight out of 10 husbands these days show a greater desire than even their wives for a beautifully-appointed house. He also observed that the famous homes in America, such as Jefferson's Monticello, had been built by men — and inspired by them.

Newest in California, he said, is the trend to 'carpet' the patio. New materials are being introduced for this purpose.

Woven vinyl fabric is also being used as overhead sunshades for patio or garden rooms. One was displayed in the department store and could be drawn across the ceiling by cords running parallel with the ceiling—much the way one would cover plants in a greenhouse.

It is interesting to note that no particular style in furniture is dominant this season. Mirrors are enjoying a comeback in popularity, the Empire look is newsworthy, and colors, as always are an individual choice. Mr. Neese never refers to color by name —but rather in describing a color notes the different shades that go into making it.

"That's because of my 'art background'," he chuckled. A graduate of Ohio State University with a masters degree in fine arts Mr. Neese is well qualified for the title he enjoys — that of 'Columbus' decorator'.

THE NAVY LOOK — A popular treatment of the new Spring Rugged look is the Navy Pea jacket with insignia anchor buttons and authentic 14-button sailor pants. These soft cottons are accessorized with the French sailor hat and Poorboy T-shirt, along with "wide open" shoes.

THE WESTERN LOOK — This feminine cowboy suit features yoked jacket and pants of new schubbed denim — soft and velvety and lady-like! The sheer, feminine Western style shirt is typical of the small scale prints for young swingers. The shirt and jacket lining match.

What's New? The "Rugged Look"!

By MAGGI DONALDSON

Maybe it's because of all those westerns and railroad stories on television these past years that the newest look for casual spring - summer wear is "the rugged look."

That's "the look" according to fashion authorities at Lazarus this year.

But women won't look as "masculine" as it sounds—for "the rugged look" has really gone feminine — that is — sports clothing, although masculine in toto, will really be very feminine —and "a woman's a woman for "aw that."

Most important look within 'the rugged look' is 'the western look' stolen from the American cowboy. Also considered big is the "navy look" lifted from the sailor. Carried out from head to foot, they do have some very feminine touches.

• • •

For example, a western outfit might include cowboy-looking yoked pants and jacket — but the fabric is the new scrubbed denim with a very soft, velvety touch. The western theme is also carried out in blouses, with a western print, but feminized through sheerness of fabric and color.

For lounging around, the Columbus "western" migh t choose a tough denim shirt with rawhide drawstrings, lean, tapered jeans in stretch denim and a ten-gallon hat.

Femininity comes to the fore with small - scale floral prints (so big for spring). Even more feminine are fringed denim skirts that stop short of the knees, again worn with a sheer, colorful, small scale floral print shirt. Or, add a tight cotton T-shirt in a bright print.

• • •

More feminine additions to the navy look wardrobe are the new tank top, the outrigger jacket, dinky jacket and sea jumper.

• • •

Another "look" within the 'rugged look' is that of the workman. It includes railroader denim pants and jacket with tablecloth check shirt.

Accessories include a railroader hat and neckerchief. Again, the denim is the new scrubbed denim. Easily included in the 'workman look' are the fashionable new T-shirts — feminine versions of men's athletic and undershirts.

These include the French poorboy, the GI T-shirt, the French bicycle shirt and the tank top. All are usually worn tucked-in and very tight — to prove a woman is a woman is a woman.

"Breadwinners And Homemakers" Seminar Is Set For Apr. 30

Representatives of leading area women's organizations last week heard plans for a unique seminar for women to be held in Columbus next month.

Some 30 women were luncheon guests of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., at the Sheraton-Columbus as plans for the "Breadwinners and Homemakers Seminar" on Saturday, Apr. 30, were revealed by Miss Margaret Divver, Boston, second vice-president of the Hancock, and William J. Bird, San Francisco, vice-president, western division of the company.

The Columbus seminar, the sixth the company has sponsored, will feature some of America's most outstanding career women discussing subjects of importance to home management, family responsibilities, finance and career training. Other seminars have been held in Chicago, Los Angeles, Phoenix, Honolulu and St. Louis.

"This all-day meeting is specifically tailored for women of the Central Ohio area who have the dual responsibility of home and family and career," Miss Divvenr said. "The discussions and talks are planned to help women combine these responsibilities with greater ease."

Seminar participants include: Mrs. Marie T. Mills, associate superintendent, and director of Instruction, Mt. San Antonio College, Walnut, Calif.; Mrs. Charlotte Montgomery, contributing editor, Good Housekeeping Magazine, Westfield, N. J.; Mrs Julia Montgomery Walsh, general partner, Ferris and Company, Washington, and also a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Mrs. Frances L. Feldman, associate professor, Social Work, University of Southern California, Los Angeles; Miss Jane A. Howell, C.L.U., sales director of women agents, western division, John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co., San Francisco.

Vice Admiral John L. McCrea, U.S.N., (Ret.), vice president, Client Relations, John Hancock, Boston, Mass.

Mr. Bird will serve as moderator of the forum and Miss Divver is scheduled to address the morning session of the seminar which is expected to attract more than 300 Central Ohio Women.

Miss Divver also stressed that the forum will be presented without charge. Invitations will be mailed early in April. Advance reservation forms may be obtained by writing or calling the John Hancock general agency office, 42 E. Gay-st, CA. 4-5246.

Also on the Apr. 30 schedule is a "No-Host" luncheon at the hotel and a 4 p.m. reception which will give those attending an opportunity to meet and talk individually with seminar participants.

Plan Luncheon, Auction

CAPITAL UNIVERSITY MOTHERS' Club members meet Friday, Apr. 15, to finalize plans for their annual Spring Luncheon and Silent Auction Friday, May 13, in Troutman Hall. Four committee members from left are: seated, Mrs. Lloyd Shupe, Sr., membership; Mrs. Luther Beck, social; standing—Mrs. John Allison, publicity, Mrs. Harold Poth, program. Mrs. Eldon Cooperrider is ways and means chairman. Officers will be elected at the April meeting and Professor Alice Schimpf will speak on "Dialogue and Religion at Capital."

Enjoy Chapeau Show

The Wyandot Chapter, American Business Women's Association, enjoyed a Champagne Chapeau Luncheon in the Lancaster Country Club recently, which featured a chapeaux show with creations by Miss Dorothy Hutton, 4652 N. High-st.

Proceeds will aid the chapter's scholarship fund.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arnold Kendall, 687 S. Brinker, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Lou, to Mr. Walter H. Wilke, Jr., son of Mrs. Richard Disbro, Sarasota, Fla., and Mr. Walter H. Wilke, Sr., 812 S. Waverly.

Miss Kendall is a graduate of West High School and Nationwide Beauty Academy. She operates the Parasol Beauty Salon.

Mr. Wilke is a graduate of Eastmoor High School and is associated with the Ohio Packing Co.

The Rev. Donald H. Grandahl will officiate at the open church wedding Sunday, May 1, at 3:30 p.m. in Bethlehem Lutheran Church.

Viet Nam Women Visit

Two top South Vietnamese women diplomats were here yesterday to help the Ohio Collegiate Association On World Affairs and Columbus Business University call attention to International Day.

Mrs. Tran Thi Thu Van, second secretary, and Miss Nguyen The Loc, third secretary of the Embassy of Viet Nam, Washington, D.C., addressed a joint Convocation of CBU and OCAWA at the Chittenden Hotel Ballroom.

Their visit marks the first time any ranking women diplomats from Viet Nam have visited in the City of Columbus.

International Day is Tuesday, Apr. 19, here.

Lutheran Women List April Meets

Christ Lutheran Church Women has set the following dates for Circle meetings.

They are: Monday, Apr. 11, Circle 1, 8 p.m. in the church; Circle 2, 8 p.m. west transept; Tuesday, Apr. 12, Circle 3, 9 a.m. church lounge; Circle 4, 8 p.m., church lounge; Wednesday, Apr. 13, Circle 5, 9 a.m., church lounge; Circle 6, 1 p.m., church lounge.

Is Pledged

Miss Patty Middleton, daughter of Sr. M/Sgt. and Mrs. Robert Middleton, 3851 Elbern-av, Whitehall, has been pledged to Epsilon Kappa Tau (Arbutus) sorority at Otterbein College.

A 1964 graduate of Whitehall Yearling High, Miss Middleton now is a sophomore at Otterbein where she is majoring in elementary education and seeking a B.S. in Ed. degree.

Will Speak

Dr. Simon Dinitz, sociology professor, Ohio State University, will address Temple Israel Sisterhood members Thursday, Apr. 14 at 12:30 p.m. in the Temple's social hall. Program chairman is Mrs. Jack Feinstein.

Dr. Dinitz will speak on "Social Problems — Are We Immune?" A special "Welcome to Spring" luncheon will be served.

Church Women's Day Is Next Wednesday

Miss Brenda S. Stringer, 1966 Miss International of Ohio and a young Columbus Business University coed, will be the guest at the 12:15 p.m. luncheon when United Church Women meet for Church Woman's Day, Wednesday, Apr. 13, at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st, at 9:30 a.m.

As part of International Understanding Day, Miss Stringer will bring greetings and a brief message from her recent goodwill mission to Washington, D. C., representing the Ohio Collegiate Association on World Affairs in preparation for the local observance of International Day Tuesday, Apr. 19. While in Washington, Miss Stringer laid a wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier and President Kennedy's grave, called on Senator Dirksen, and was Honorary Press Secretary to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson.

The afternoon program, "What is Europe," will present another phase of International Understanding through the eyes, hands, and hearts of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Riley and their illustrated talk.

The morning will be devoted to business led by Mrs. H. Richard Hahn, president, and a panel on Ohio's New Housing Law.

Luncheon reservations must be made through the local representative by Sunday, Apr. 10.

CAPPED

CONSTANCE TURNER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Turner, 806 College-av, was one of 38 freshmen "capped" recently at Mercy School of Nursing, Hamilton. Constance is a 1965 graduate of Bexley High School and member of Christ the King Church.

Faith Lutheran Sets Sunrise Service

Easter sunrise services at Faith Lutheran Church will be held at 6:45 a.m. and will include holy communion and an anthem by the Youth Choir.

The services at 8:30 and 11 a.m. will include anthem by the Junior Choir and Senior Choir, respectively. Sunday School is to be at 9:45 a.m.

Pfeifer Wants Your Vote

QUESTION:

You speak of equal opportunity and equal education! Explain, JoAnn.

Herbert J. Pfeifer

ANSWER:

Dear JoAnn,

If we here in Ohio are really sincere when we say we want every child to have an equal opportunity, then the time for assistance is now—by providing better school facilities and more realistically trained teachers, and not trained for ideal situations as it is taught in the universities, but there has to be some coordination between classroom and the actual situations they meet in the schoolroom. It is important for the teachers to know the "Positives" and "Values" of our children and their needs.

Equal opportunity can only be through education, as 4,000 men are replaced by machines per week, while thousands of youth look for work. Our juvenile delinquent cases have increased about 50% over the past five years; however, the State statistics show that approximately $480.00 is being spent per year per child for education, of which approximately 73% or more goes directly to the teaching staff. Still some classrooms have 35 to 40 pupils per teacher, and in some instances the teacher receives less than $5,000 per year, which, in my opinion, represents less than $150.00 per child per year for education. I certainly do not believe any child can be properly trained to compete in our vast world on this type of education.

Our problems can be solved without increasing the already burnened local propert tax, but by taking a hard look at the tax structure and readjusting our distribution, and additional Federal and State funds, plus progressive leadership to seek funds from the anti-poverty bill of 1964, and other sources within the State.

Sincerely,
HERBERT J. PFEIFER

Congress acted requiring warning labels on cigarette packs. Is it working? Is anyone still carrying the banner to snuff out cigarettes?—A Non-Smoker, Reynoldsburg.

The banner is still being carried. The government has created the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health — 20 people who have united to stamp out smoking. The Surgeon-General's office tells LIVE WIRE that they estimate that there are now about 18,000,000 ex-cigarette smokers in this country. They added that the number of physicians who smoke has declined 30 percent. The American Cancer Society is going after the teenage market with a comic-book pamphlet "Where There's Smoke . . ." that's available for high-schoolers.

I want to rent a judge's chair. I tried calling the court house and theatrical companies but no one can help me. I know judges must wear them out — where can I get one?—Carole, Columbus.

According to Columbus Municipal Court Judge Tom Moody a "judge's chair" is a furniture term and not used strictly in connection with judges. LIVE WIRE learned that it's merely an overstuffed, swivel and tilt type chair with a high back that comes above the head. Most are leather or vinyl covered and used by business executives, too. Try an office supply house, Carole. They'll be able to help you.

Food is so expensive, would it be less expensive

The Franklin County Co-Operative Extension Service disagrees with you, Mary. They say statistics bear out that food costs have not risen as fast as other things we buy and that only 18.5 percent of income is spent for food in this country. They do not believe that food is THAT expensive. As for the ready-made mixes, in many cases already prepared food is cheaper. For example, instant potato flakes are less expensive than raw potatoes due to savings in transportation and storage costs. And when one considers the time savings involved in ready-mixes the extension service feels that a smart food shopper can save more money by buying wisely than she ever could by spending more time in the kitchen.

Why should I pay a $50 fee to file for bankruptcy? What the heck, if I had 50 bucks I wouldn't be bankrupt.—R. K., Columbus.

Actually, the initial fee is $40 for court costs according to John Nerny in the office of Columbus Federal Bankruptcy Referee D. J. Kelleher. An additional $10 is asked if a trustee is appointed. Other $10 fees can be tacked on for such items as orders of disclaimers. If you are that hard up, the Government has a nice, easy credit plan. Just sign a poverty affidavit and they give you three months to come up with the dough. No carrying charges, either.

Our school days were brightened by putting frogs in the teacher's desk. Are the days of the good, old, wholesome prank gone forever?—M.R., Grandview.

They don't make ink wells anymore for pig-tail dipping. Pranks are still here, though. Just last week LIVE WIRE learned that many of the students at South High showed up with alarm clocks — all set to go off at 11 a.m. sharp. Principal Harold Washburn got wind of the idea and gave it the old gong. The frustrated students rang back, however, with a cafeteria strike.

It seems that some bridge players have a flair for rehashing hands so recently theirs! To me this is almost as boring as watching a bunch of women bowling (and I'm one of them). A PRETTIER YOU

By MARIANNE TOMLINSON
Spectator Fashion Editor

Wigs are the big fashion newsmakers today. If you're looking for one—or, if you'd like to learn to care for the wig you have—you can be taught all kinds of styling tricks at the Lazarus Wig Fashion School Apr. 18-21.

The school is a complete two-hour course in wig selection, styling and care, according to Conrad Cady, nationally-famous wig authority who'll conduct the school in the Sixth Floor Assembly Center.

Class times are 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. each day of the school with special sessions at 6 p.m. on Monday and Thursday.

The Lazarus Wig School is the first of its kind to be held in the United States. Instruction will be offered in both human hair and the new R and M Living Wigs of modacrylic fibre.

Wig Fashion School classes will be open to women who do not own wigs on a first-come, first-served basis. There is no charge.

Cady and his staff of wig experts will instruct the women on such subjects as: How to select a wig to complement skin coloring; how to brush and style a wig like the professionals; how to care for a wig at home; how to put on and remove a wig without mussing the style. I was especially pleased to note they will also teach how to use wiglets, half-wigs and chignons.

The latter instruction should be beneficial because it has long been my contention (from purely personal experience) that a hairpiece is a mighty handy thing to own. They are easy to manage, are comfortable to wear and can produce many versatile hair styles.

According to Mr. Kenneth, the much publicized hair stylist of New York, "Ladies are getting away from the ultra-short severe hair-do that looks as if it were drawn on with a pencil. My clients are asking for hair with more freedom to it. For evening I am drawing the hair back with the fullness behind."

What has this to do with wigs and hairpieces? Quite a lot.

Short haircuts are great for daytime because they are easy to care for and look marvelously uncluttered under hats. Then if you go hatless, add a hairpiece or a wig and you're all set without a trip to your hairdresser.

You can even look like you came from Mr. Kenneth's (or the local equivalent) simply by smoothing the hair back from your face and adding fullness in the back via your hairpiece.

Whatever your stage of fashion . . . bouffant or sleek . . . you'll have plenty of opportunity to try your hand at the Lazarus Wig Fashion School. Get your reservations in early. Classes are open to the public at no charge but tickets are necessary. Tickets can be obtained at Lazarus second floor wig and millinery counter, or the wig counter at Lazarus Northland and Lazarus West.

If you're in the market for a wig, you might be interested to know, 95 percent of all ladies buy a shade close to their own hair coloring. Of course if you want to find out if blondes have more fun, go ahead and try it.

WATERSHED WINS TOP PRIORITY

The flash-floods for which Blacklick Creek is infamous may become a thing of the past.

Hopes for the end of the flooding came with news that the application of the Blacklick Creek Water Shed Committee has been given top priority rating by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

According to Jim Bates of Reynoldsburg, chairman of the steering committee, this means a study to determine the feasibility of such a water shed can be started this year.

However, once feasibility is established, the plan has a long way to go.

Planning must be completed, congressional appropriation made, judicial and voter go-ahead obtained, contracts let and the actual work begun.

The most optimistic can not forecast any tangible results before 1970.

The program, made possible under Public Law 566, has a four-fold goal.

It involves flood control, soil conservation, development of recreation areas and low-flow augmentation.

Although the first three of these benefits are of interest to property owners in the 62 square miles included in the proposed conservancy district, the fourth is of particular future interest to Reynoldsburg.

The municipality empties its effluent into Blacklick, and in summer months when the flow is decreased, water polution presents a problem.

Only with adequate flow can the treated sewage be diluted to the degree that a health hazard isn't imminent.

Another long-range possibility of the program is increased water supplies for the municipalities through which the creek runs.

Although wells now furnish Reynoldsburg, Brice and Groveport with water, it is conceivable that these sources could become inadequate.

Of more immediate concern is the flood threat which has brought creek waters to the Reynoldsburg Post Office steps and within a foot of the sewage treatment plant and evacuated persons in Blacklick Estates from their homes.

As Bates pointed out, residential construction and completion of Interstate 70 in the east will accelerate runoff and add to a situation already endangering life and property.

When the study is complete, three courses may be taken to get the project under way. It could become an autonomous branch of the now inactive Scioto Conservancy District, it could be financed by county appropriations under the Ohio Drainage Law or the committee can file for the formation of a new conservancy district.

It is this last course which is most probable.

This would involve approval by the judges of the probate court of Franklin, Fairfield and Licking counties. Property holders in the district would also be called upon to grant the power to levy taxes for costs not borne by governmental agencies (such as the purchase of land easements.)

Although costs for a project of this scope are envisioned as extremely low, it is never-the-less realized voter education will be necessary to assure the public the tab is in line with the benefits.

Serving on the committee which has the backing of all government entities involved are Ray Belfridge of Lancaster, Pete Ashton and James Kiggins from Fairfield County, Charles Fishpaw of Reynoldsburg, C. Holmes Hummell of Brice, Fred Tussing of Truro Township, Tom Wycoff of Blacklick and Mayor Twyford of Reynoldsburg.

WHERE CREDIT IS DUE . . .

SAFETY AT LEAWOOD SCHOOL — Ptl. Steve McDonald, Miss Vicki Crites, school safety teacher, and Mrs. Kathleen Trueblood, principal, observe safe crossing habits of some 300 of the nearly 800 youngsters at Leawood Elementary School on Hamilton-rd at Keeler-av. The 300 youngsters cross at the busy Hamilton-rd crossing, which is now within the shadow of Columbus Outerbelt construction work.

Safety—

I am sure that it may save the lives of many during the course of a school year."

Both safety officers also function as traffic engineers, making recommendations to the city for improvements in sidewalks, streets and areas existing safety facilities.

Leawood Elementary, Hamilton-rd at Keeler-av, just south of Livingston, is an illustration of problems in a growing school area.

Opened six years ago with 400 children, today the volume of students exceeds adjoining schools where the school population has more than doubled and next year, Mrs. Kathleen Trueblood, principal, expects many more.

"The school crossing at busy Hamilton-rd, just one block north of construction work on the southeast Outerbelt exit, presents a challenging traffic problem," McDonald explained.

"But we have organized an alert group of patrol youngsters," he continued. "Just a year ago one patrol girl who has now gone on to Walnut Ridge Junior High, pulled a first grader from in front of a construction truck."

To Show Park Plans

Roger Wells, of the Division of Parks and Forestry, will present plans for developing a park to be located between Livington-av and Main-st along Big Walnut Creek at the Apr. 12 meeting of the Southeast Community Council. The meeting will be held at Barnett Recreation Center at 8 p.m. Public is invited.

East shot puter Grady Bobo topped his field last year (55') as did Don Washington (not out this spring) in the broad jump (22'11") but the Tigers had to settle for second place via the two-man scoring system.

• • •

MID - EIGHT powerhouses Hilliard and Gahanna plus host Worthington look like early favorites Saturday in the Cardinals' Relays — the top local cinder attraction of the week.

Host coach Les Eisenhart has introduced two new events —the distance medley (quarter mile, half mile, three-quarter mile) and medley relay (quarter mile, two 220's, half mile) — into the 15-event meet.

OTHER TRACK events include: two mile run (lone non-relay event), four-mile, 440-yd, shuttle hurdles, mile, sprint medley, two-mile and 880-yd relays.

Field events (three - man teams) will include: shot put, discus, pole vault, high and long jump.

Two junior high events — the 440 and 880 relays — will also be run.

ALL RUNNING (and one field) events saw new records set last spring. The longest standing mark belongs to Gahanna in the discus throw —the 1960 Lion trio combining for 412 ft., 4½ in.

The Cardinals won their own Relays last spring although Brookhaven paced the record - breakers (three). Worthington edged the Bearcats, 51-42½.

Raiders—

Pless put down Eastmoor (7-0) last week on a one-hitter for openers.

"They're (F-H) supposed to be one of the best in the area. They play a lot of games (six this week) and I think this will be one of our toughest games," Thompson added.

HERMANN is Thompson's pitching choice against the Falcons — if that sore arm clears up.

The St. Mary win last weekend was literally a "comedy of errors" — the Rams guilty of nine bobbles.

Three of those goofs came in a six-run Raider second when Reynoldsburg collected all the tallies it needed.

THREE RUNS rode home on boots while Bob Britt singled home two more and Denny Spires plated the sixth with a double.

Winning pitcher Britt twirled a five-hitter in his four-frame stint while reliefer Shade allowed no safeties in three innings, fanning seven of the nine batters he faced.

Spires paced the hitters with two hits in four at-bats.

Kegler's Korner

By NORMA KIRKENDALL

Tom Dern and Ron Spohn are making news again — their doubles achievements are appearing in ads for Master Bowling Controls.

MANY BOWLERS complain of splits — but imagine the plight of Dr. Glyndon Rowe of Detroit who in 1964 had 12 consecutive splits in ABC play.

The Amos Imperial Doubles Classic league has had a run of 700's for several nights. Consistently rolling them are Jim Shaw, Ron Beach and Ed Thomas. The last count was 53 series of 700 or better in this league.

Ohio's Governor Rhodes is an avid booster of bowling and was on hand Apr. 2 at the finals of the $100,000-Firestone PBA Tournament of Champions in Akron — bowling in the Celebrity Pro-Am.

THE FASCINATION of bowling derives probably from the sheer fun of knocking things down. One expert thus explains the game's remarkable gains in this country.

Another suggests, on the same theory, that cavemen, with roughly spherical stones, were the first bowlers.

At any rate, there seems to be no doubt that persons in widely varied circumstances enjoy letting go with a ponderous missile that can cause havoc — and noisy, splendidly visible havoc — among conventionalized wooden soldiers.

AND THERE is more to to it than that. Bowling is a safe exercise and a good conditioner. More big firms promote bowling among employes than any other activity. Unlike football, it is a game for players, not spectators.

It is truly a family diversion; father can cope on a par with his robust sons, whose mother will have a good chance, too.

It is thoroughly democratic, and a "leveler of men" in that the average score of the champions is never much greater numerically than that of the fairly good player.

SHOULDER ANGLE: The bowler's shoulders always are at a right angle to the line he intends his ball to follow. For example, if a bowler is trying to get a strike from an angle other than a straight line perpendicular to the foul line, he should assume that angle with his shoulders.

Also, on spares such as the seven pin or 10 pin conversion, he should approach the foul line at an angle.

Jungle Jim Looks Great, Even At 60

Johnny (Jungle Jim) Weissmuller was in Columbus Sunday and he says he'll take on heavyweight champion Cassius Clay any day of the week.

"Just give me 10-feet of water," he said, his sun-tanned face breaking into a smile.

At 60, the most famous Tarzan of them all packed them in at Swimco, Inc., 2155 Riverside-dr, to see the swimming pool that bears his name.

There hasn't been much change in the guy over the years. He still looks like a milk-fed quarterback and it's hard to believe he has a 24-year old son who's 6'6" and who plans to star in more Jungle Jim adventures.

But right now Johnny has bigger things on his mind than swinging from vines. He's engaged in the swimming pool business with Gold Medal Pools—one of which is called the Johnny Weissmuller.

The Swimco people are handling the pool here. And, it's a beauty. Every Weissmuller pool is furnished complete with an efficient filter system, pump and motor, automatic surface skimmer, pool accessories and chrome-plated fittings.

"Every home should have one," Johnny said. "Swimming is the greatest exercise in the world." He says he swims everyday at his Chicago home and that's the reason he looks like a man of 20.

Weissmuller has spent most of his live in water. He holds 67 world swimming records, 52 national championships and five Olympic gold medals —three of which he earned in the 1924 Olympic games.

He was selected "Greatest Swimmer of the First Half Century" by the sportswriters of America in 1950.

'NOW PLAYING RIGHT FIELD—KING KONG!'

Despite the fact that it's one of the prettiest parks in the Cactus League, Cleveland Indian outfielder Leon Wagner isn't too happy about playing ball at Phoenix's Papago Park, spring training home of the SF Giants.

It seems the park is close to the Phoenix Zoo and that brings back memories for Wagner.

WHILE PLAYING right field for the Giants several years ago in Grand Junction, Colo., Wagner noted a menagerie of animals close behind the retaining wall as he jogged out to his position.

"About the fourth inning," "Wags" recalls, "the cheering of the fans upset a few of the animals, and when I went out to right in the fifth I could see the gorilla trying to get out of his cage.

"Then the lions and tigers started roaring, and I called time — just to collect myself.

"MAN, that was a rough afternoon. I kept looking over my shoulder to make sure they didn't break out."

All of us who are worth anything, spend our manhood in unlearning the follies, or expiating the mistakes of our youth. — Percy Bysshe Shelley.

MAVERICK

With Muddy Shoes

By RICHARD L. PAUGH

What causes a fish to strike at a bait? If we ever get the complete answer to that one, we'll ruin the joy of fishing.

There are, of course, several facets to the subject size of lure, color, speed, shape, etc.

AFTER THIRTY years of day dreaming on creek banks, I have come to believe the action of a lure has more to do with pleasing or displeasing a fish than all the other features put together.

PAUGH

Each lure or bait has an optimum speed at which it works the best. Slow it or speed it up and the action goes wrong. I am convinced that fish are almost color blind but that the lightness and reflection of surface light has a bit to do with the visibility underwater.

The farther away a fish can see a lure, the farther he can be seduced. I believe movement attracts the eye much more than color or shape both in and out of the water.

NONE OF MY theory applies to the bottom feeders. To entice them, you simply throw their natural food out and let it sink to the bottom. If they drive by while they are hungry, they will hit the bait.

This is a big problem in correctly running a trout contest. The biggest ones usually come from a pay lake and the only way to take them is to throw a ball of worms out and let them sink.

Sooner or later the captive trout will strike. To get around this easy entry, most contests do not allow entries from pay lakes.

EARLY IN the spring the first waters to start giving up bass are the farm ponds. They clear up and warm up first. They are usually only about a half acre in size and the bass don't have a great deal of running room but plenty of food fish.

It is from these ponds that the lunkers have been coming in recent years.

The Outdoor Writers of Ohio are the keepers of the record fish in Ohio.

THEIR LISTINGS show the largest largemouth bass to be taken in Ohio is nine pounds, four ounces, measuring 24½ inches. It was taken by Rick Sage of Cincinnati on Apr. 19, 1963, from a Hamilton County farm pond.

If you take a sizeable fish in Ohio by fair means, here is the way to enter it in the Outdoor Writers records. Within six months of the date it is caught, send the weight, length, girth and a photo (signed by two witnesses) to Dick Widman, P.O. Box 104, Upper Sandusky, Ohio 43351.

He is co-chairman of the Fish Committee for 1966. I'm sure that many fine species have been taken and not reported.

THIS IS A shame for the record holders are presented with a beautiful certificate denoting that their catch was a record when it was caught.

I have a limited number of beautifully printed OHIO RECORD FISH charts that I will send out free to those who will send me a stamped, self-addressed large size envelope. Mail your requests to the MAVERICK, P.O. Box 6353, Columbus, Ohio 43224, and I'll rush them back to you.

I MIGHT add that several categories are still open—no fish reported at all. They are: sunfish, bowfin, blue cat, gar, paddlefish and white perch.

In the special bowfishing division remaining open are: bowfin, gar and sucker. If you take any fish in these categories, rush the proof in to us and you'll reign supreme—until someone beats you.

LET'S KNIT . . .
A SHELL AND STOLE

the knitting needles "knit-it-yourself fans" can extend greetings to the arrival of spring.

The two items are an easy to fashion stole No. 78 which can either be knitted or crocheted and a knitted leaf sequin shell No. 24.

With merry clickings of

URSULA

To achieve that extra touch of fluffy elegance, the stole when finished receives a vigorous brushing. Illustrated instructions for the stole come in one size.

The shell can also be fashioned by anyone that can knit or purl a stitch. Perhaps you may wish to knit the shell in a plain stockinette stitch and after completion give your own decorative embroidery abilities free reign. Illustrated instructions for the shell are written in sizes 10 through 16.

To obtain pattern No. 78 or No. 24, send 50 cents for each pattern in coin, check, or money order to:

The Status Of Women

By MAGGI DONALDSON, Spectator Society Editor

"In spite of the fact that opportunities have never been greater, statistics show that women are not preparing for, or accepting their place in the professional or academic ranks, or in positions of leadership in other fields."

So said Mrs. Kathryn A. Moore, state chairman, Status of Women Committee of the American Association of University Women, when she spoke to state leaders of 41 women's organizations and agencies at the Neil House Thursday, Mar. 31. At that meeting women voted unanimously to establish an Ohio Citizen's Committee—making a total of three committees on the status of Ohio women.

Stating that the 20th century is dominated by change in social, political, economic and technological fields which offer great opportunities to women — the danger lies in that "we just talk about it and do nothing positive about it.

"Women comprise more than half the population and the female population continues to increase faster than the male group; there are now 100 females for every 96.4 males. However, in the U.S. House of Representatives women's membership is about 2.5 percent; of physicians only six percent are women, and of lawyers 2.6 percent. Some 17 million women in a month are full time workers. There are a total of 23 million working women. The 1970 forecast is for 30 million.

"Women's ancient function of caring for her home and children still stands but with the possibility of 30 years of employment (she may go back to work when her children are in school) a totally different emphasis must be placed on various aspects of her development and the entire employment pattern must be changed.

"Freedom of choice of occupation is limited by economic considerations but one of the most persuasive limitations is the social climate in which we prepare ourselves for what we wish to do," she continued.

The newly-formed continuing committee will offer aid and cooperation to the new Governor's Committee and the Legislative Services Commission committee. Mrs. William Langley was named president of the new committee, and Mrs. Henry Grinsfelder, secretary. New officers will appoint a steering committee of 20 to establish policies and procedures. Membership on the committee is open to any interested individual or organization.

It was hinted that one of the first acts of the new committee was to urge the governor to appoint a Negro and Jewish representative to his group.

ART SERIES POPULAR

Continuing Education Women's Classes Filled

Avant-Garde artists of the late 19th and early 20th century were thought "ash can artists" by the American public of that time, declared Professor Jerome Hausman, director of OSU's School of Art. These artists included Monet and Van Gogh.

The statement was made at the first meeting of the fourth in a series, sponsored by the University's division of Continuing Education for Women held each Tuesday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. from Mar. 29 through May 24.

More than 40 applicants for the art series had to be turned away because of limited facilities, stated Dr. G. Robert Holsinger, division dean.

"Art shows the problems men have faced in their time and is often the mother of our emotions — therefore art principals of the past fail and reach only similarity in form since the artist has not 'lived that experience,' Prof. Hausman continued.

"Today's art is an act unto itself and today's artists view the canvas as an arena for action for its own sake — today's paintings are not pictures but an event," he continued.

He explained that pop art was the "taking of ordinary articles out of context in order to see them in a new light." Op art, he said, is the dynamics of pure vision and depends on precise control of its elements.

The division inaugurated the first non-credit program for women in January 1965 when a 10-week series on "Modern Drama" was offered. "Problems of American Foreign Policy in the Nuclear Age" was offered for the Spring Quarter 1965 and the Winter Quarter 1966 offered — "Population and World Problems" and "Avant-Garde Theatre."

The demand for such programs has been so great we hope to enlarge our facilities as soon as possible Dean Holsinger, proclaimed.

No Women Head Depts. At OSU

"Of the 400 adult education students attending Ohio State University classes, approximately 50 percent are women," stated Dean G. Robert Holsinger of OSU's Division of Continuing Education, during a chat regarding the new Governor's Committee. No one from the university has been asked to serve on it as far as he knew.

"On the non-credit side of the program we can't keep up with the demand," he continued, speaking of the interest of women in higher education. "However, I know of no women administrators on campus outside of the Dean of Women."

Thursday and Friday, June 16 and 17, his department is offering a residential workshop, "Your Opportunities Through Education," for women interested in degree or credit work.

Academic curriculum, updating of interest areas and placement opportunities will be discussed. Strong emphasis will be placed on service available to mature women students.

Clean, flameless electric ranges are preferred 2 to 1 for better baking.

Go flameless...put on a happy face!
Women do prefer electric ranges for baking. That's a fact. The reasons are very simple. Best baking results depend on accurate heat control. And electric ovens give perfect heat control because they are precise, electronic instruments. Set the dial at the temperature you want and that is the exact temperature you'll get! Another thing, electric ovens are completely insulated. This keeps the heat in the oven where it belongs. Bakes better, keeps kitchens cooler . . . two thoughtful reasons for going flameless. For more information on the merits of clean, flameless electric ranges . . . call the ELECTRIC company.

PROPOSAL FOR SCHOOL EQUIPMENT

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education of the Madison Local School District, Groveport, Franklin County, State of Ohio, at the Office of the Clerk of said School Board, Groveport, Ohio, until 12:00 noon, May 2, 1966, for the purchase of equipmen and furniture to be delivered and installed at the Groveport-Madison Junior High School, Hamilton Road, Groveport, Ohio and the Asbury Elementary School, 5127 Harbor Blvd., Columbus, Ohio. The bids will be opened and read aloud on the above named date at 12:00 o'clock P.M. Purchase of equipment will be made within two weeks after bids are opened.

Specifications are on file at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools. Copies of said specifications may be obtained from either office.

Equipment for which proposals are to be received includes library furniture and miscellaneous loose equipment.

Separate proposals shall be received for the two library groups and for the total equipment as noted on the bid form, which will be provided.

All proposals shall be made in conformity with the General Code of Ohio, and on blanks furnished by the Board of Education and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope and addressed to the Board of Education, Madison Local School District, Groveport, Franklin County, State of Ohio, and endorsed Proposal for Equipment Contract showing date and hour of opening on the outside of the envelope

Each bid must contain the name of each and every person interested therein, and shall be accompanied by a bid bond with corporate surety thereon, authorized to do business in the State of Ohio and satisfactory to the Board of Education, or by certified check on a solvent bank located in the State of Ohio, in an amount equal to ten per cent (10%) of the total amount of the bid, conditioned that if the bid be accepted, a contract will be entered into, and the performance thereof properly secured by a performance bond in accordance with the law.

Said bonds or certified check shall be made in favor of the Board of Education of Madison Local School District, Franklin County, State of Ohio, and shall be made payable to Charles I. Dean, Clerk-Treasurer of said Board.

The bond or certified check shall be forfeited if said bidder fails to enter into a contract and secure the performance thereof, within ten (10) days after notice of acceptance of the bid. A performance bond, with corporate surety thereon satisfactory to said Board in an amount equal to one hundred per cent (100%) of the aggregate bid price, conditioned in accordance with law will be required.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any, part of any, or all bids.

By order of the Board of Education of Madison Local School District, Franklin County, State of Ohio.

The Bat Column

This is Batman speaking.

The fourth week in the Batman's March - Against - Crime brought fine, freedom-loving results. Gotham City is pleased with the effort being made by Columbus citizens.

The big winner in the fourth week's Batman coloring contest is:

JAMES CONNER, 206 Derror-rd. He gets a big Batman long-playing album.

Other entries rallying to the support of Batman and Robin include:

If you've sent in your $3.50 subscription to the Batman Spectator, then the caped crusader himself will visit your house with a 45 rpm record of the Batman and Robin themes.

If you haven't sent in your subscription money, do so immediately so Batman can set-up a time to visit your house.

(Incidentally, if you already subscribe, a $3.50 subscription is required which will take effect as soon as your present subscription expires).

And, a final word. Be patient. Even Batman cannot possibly get around to all his crime-fighters right away. Response to his fight with the "Bleacher" has been overwhelming. So, if I haven't been to your house yet I will be . . . you can be sure of that. Batman does not let any of his friends down.

See you next week with our final Bat Column, citizens of Columbus!

New "Power-Vac" From Bogens Gives Gale-Force Furnace Cleaning

Arthur D. Bogen, general manager of Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, announced today the arrival of their brand new furnace cleaner — Power-Vac.

"In 45 years we have seen and tested many furnace cleaners," Mr. Bogen said, "But this is the first one we believe in; the one we have approved! This cleaner is definitely superior, and never before have we seen anything so efficient, economical and powerful as Power-Vac!"

Mr. Bogen continued. "Power-Vac, for the first time, cleans the entire heating system . . . cleans places never before reached, including all piping as well as the vent pipe and chimney. This machine produces a 70 mile per hour gale force cleaning power, and sucks in 12,000 cubic feet of air per minute through a line attached to the home heating system."

Mr. Bogen explained that the main spreader of dirt in the home is the furnace. He pointed out the fact that the average furnace works 8 months out of the year. For greater heating efficiency, as well as a cleaner home, every furnace, unless it has an electronic air filter, should be cleaned thoroughly once a year. He said Power-Vac challenges embedded dirt, dust, pollen and air pollution in the home. This is the very first really complete furnace cleaner that actually makes Spring cleaning worth while, he added.

"The best time to have your furnace cleaned is now, after the long, hard heating season," said Mr. Bogen, "and right before Spring house cleaning. We're giving a special introductory offer — the complete cleaning of your entire heating system, only $22.50. A complete furnace tune-up is only $11.50! Now, customers may obtain both these services . . . a $34.00 value . . . for only $29.50. A saving of $4.50. We believe in this furnace cleaner and we want as many people to take advantage of this offer as possible! And, it's good to remember that the cleaning and tune-up are available separately if only one is needed."

Call CA. 8-6543 now and arrange for an appointment to the famous Bogen Power-Vac. have your furnace cleaned by Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, Central Ohio's most reliable total comfort specialists, are located at 490 North High Street.

Humane Society—

Like other residents, Mrs. James Reade, 2256 Taylor-av, Linden, finds it hard to believe that the society is, indeed, preventing cruelty to animals.

She lost her Beagle Tuesday, Mar. 22, and called the Society on Thursday — two days later.

They told her they had "been bringing in a lot of Beagles" and invited the Reades down to look for their animal. Mr. Reade went down Friday and couldn't find the dog.

On Saturday — the next day — Mrs. Reade received a telephone call from a woman who claimed she had got the license number off a Beagle in the runway. The woman caller said it was Mrs. Reade's Beagle and Mrs. Reade confirmed the description.

The Reades went down again that Saturday and couldn't find their dog.

The Reades — like other families the past week — telephoned The Spectator with their plea. They immediately assumed that their dogs were being sold.

Humane society officials poo-hooed the reports, dismissing them to a Spectator reporter as "merely the work of a handful of trouble-makers."

One of the Society wardens claims they operate under Ohio law which says they must keep the animal for a scant three days . . . that they can "legally" throw them into an on-the-premises gas chamber after the three days expire.

Moreover, the animal must have a current license or the Society shows little mercy. "If the license is a 1966 one, we try to find the owners," a Society employe said. "If it's a 1965 license, the dog is in violation of the law and handled like any other stray."

He added that the majority of the strays picked up are sold "as pets" or put to sleep . . not much comfort to pet owners in this county who are wondering this week to whom to turn to look deeper into the society's operations.

Marketing Group Honors Rhodes

Governor James A. Rhodes has been named Marketing Man of the Year by the American Marketing Association's Central Ohio Chapter.

Rhodes will be honored at a dinner May 4 at the Sheraton-Columbus Hotel.

Dr. Alton F. Doody, president of the chapter, said the governor was chosen for the award because of his leadership in expanding the markets for Ohio products and his efforts to bring new industry and investment into the state.

The award dinner, which starts at 7:30 p.m., is expected to attract about 500 guests. Doody said reservations can be made by writing the chapter's vice president, William Jamieson, at Battelle Memorial Institute, 505 King-av.

Central Savings Has Certificates Paying 4¾%

Walter F. Heer, Sr., president of Central Savings and Loan Company, announced that 4¾ one-year certificates as low as $3,000 in multiples of $1,000 are available to Central savers.

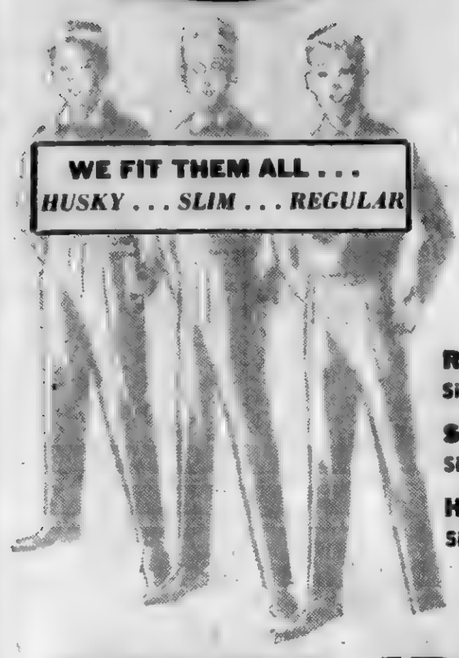
Present holders of three-year certificates will automatically receive the 4¾ interest rate at the end of one year. This is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1966, for all holders of three-year certificates.

As usual, certificates earn from date of issue, rather than standard quarterly periods, allowing for staggered income for retirees and college students.

If held less than one year, certificates will earn Central's regular passbook savings interest rate of 4¼% paid quarterly.

Central has three branch offices at 4258 N. High-st, 4200 Shoppers-ln, and 2793 Winchester-pk, as well as the Main Office at 46 E. Gay-st.

'Labor Costs Up' Newsletter Says



Labor costs are pushing upward as unemployment levels drop, with some 2 million workers subject to upward adjustments this year because of cost-of-living escalator clauses, according to the April issue of Nation Wide News & Trends monthly newsletter distributed as a public service to business leaders in the Central Ohio area by Nation Wide Employment Service.

'Space Race' On In East Area

IN THE NEWS THIS WEEK...

From Spectator Area News Sources

Ad Sales Up, Up, Up!

Advertising sales for The Spectator newspapers hit a record high in March, Publisher Robert Burdock announced today. "Sales for March were the highest of any month since The Spectator newspapers were acquired nearly a year ago," Burdock stated. Eight zoned editions of The Spectator enable advertisers to buy only the circulation they need to reach their particular market areas at rates which cannot be duplicated elsewhere, he added. "The Spectator management appreciates the growing acceptance by both its advertisers and its readers," Burdock said.

Tenenbaum Joins Staff

Robert C. Tenenbaum, 24, assumes duties this week as City Hall and State House correspondent for all Spectator newspapers. Tenenbaum brings to The Spectator an extensive background in news reporting in this newspaper's efforts to upgrade its political coverage in the greater Columbus area. A graduate of Ohio University, Tenenbaum served for three years as a legislative correspondent here for United Press International. A native of Brooklyn, N.Y., Tenenbaum has lived most of his life in Cleveland Heights, O. He and his wife, Judy, a teacher in the Gahanna public schools, reside at 1139 S. James-rd.

ROBERT C. TENEBRAUM

Two Spectator staffers, Betty Daft and Tom Sealar, have resigned to accept offers by The Columbus Dispatch editorial department.

Ensminger Top NCO

A/1c George H. Ensminger, 1923 Fleming-rd, of the 40th Troop Carrier Squadron, was the winner of both of the top awards presented at commencement exercises of the Lockbourne AFB Noncommissioned Officers' Leadership School. Ensminger won both the honor graduate award and the academic achievement award for outstanding performance during the 28-day course. The awards were presented by Col. John W. Pauly, deputy commander of the 317th Troop Carrier Wing.

Needs Landfill Site

No formal meeting has been held yet between the mayors of Reynoldsburg, Gahanna, Bexley and Whitehall concerning the proposed cooperative refuse-disposal program, as described in a front-page story in the Mar. 16 edition of The Spectator. Whitehall Service Director James C. Polzer, who was to have set up the meeting, said the delay is due to the fact that possible centrally-located landfill sites have not been lined up for presentation to the mayors.

Slogan Judged Best

"Drive Safe — The Price of Your Life Is Out of Sight," submitted by James Ferment of 1166 Simpson-dr in the 1966 traffic safety slogan-essay contest has been judged best entry from Franklin County. Fermenti received a certificate signed by Gov. James A. Rhodes and Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson. Grand prize winner was Sherman L. Roney of Massillon with the slogan, "Fasten Your Seat Belts — Heaven Can Wait." He won Ohio's No. 1 license plate and a 1966 car.

Concert Is Apr. 17

The North American Aviation Concert Band and Chorus will present a Spring Concert Apr. 17 at Gahanna Lincoln High School at 8 p.m. The concert is presented for the benefit of NAA employes, their families and friends. Musical director for both chorus and band is Robert F. Kessler, also director of the Lincoln High School Band.

'Cappy' Is The Host

"Cappy," a huge white elephant, will be host at the antique, rummage and white elephant sale at 549 S. Sixth-st in German Village Saturday, Apr. 30. The day-long sale which will feature a bake goods concession at home of John Serrott and Don Chapham, is sponsored by the Capital City Young Republican Women. Anyone wishing to contribute merchandise may call 231-2166 for pick up.

"LAND RUSH" AREA — Map shows part of Eastern Franklin County involved in two major annexation moves in the past month. Petitions have been filed in the County Commissioners Office for annexation of 1270 acres of Jefferson Township to Columbus. The area lies north of Columbus limits and to the east of Gahanna. Gahanna officials will meet tonight with residents in the area northwest of the village to discuss annexation to Gahanna. That area is bound by Morse-rd on the north, Hamilton-rd on the east, the proposed outerbelt on the west and Alger-rd and the Gahanna limits on the south.

Columbus, Gahanna Comp ete

By The Spectator's
JIM BRUNEY

Franklin County Commissioners may soon find themselves the proud holders of several conflicting petitions — from those who don't want to become part of Gahanna and those who would rather not step inside the Columbus corporation line.

Residents of Mifflin and Jefferson Townships have been faced with the choice between Columbus and Gahanna.

It all started in early March when a group of Jefferson Township residents, dissatisfied with Gahanna's service to the area, began actively compaigning for annexation to Columbus. Their contention was that Columbus could provide fire and police protection and water and sewage services sooner than Gahanna.

At an open public meeting Mar. 21, Gahanna Village and school officials answered questions fired at them by a somewhat confus-

HAMILTON LIGHTS UP

WORKMEN are busy along Hamilton-rd installing a new system of street lights, which, according to Whitehall Service Director James C. Polzer, should be completed within the next two weeks. Polzer said the system contains twice as many lights and that the new lamps are 2,500 watts, as compared to 1,000 in the ones being replaced. He indicated that a switch-throwing ceremony will be held when the work is completed.

BEXLEY AVIATRIX AIN'T DOWN YET

Jerrie Eyes Other Marks

By The Spectator's
JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Weary and resting in her Bexley home following her non-stop distance record flight for women, Jerrie Mock hinted that she's far from through assaulting aviation record books.

The 40-year-old Bexley housewife (the Mocks live at 2490 Bexford-pl) says she's eying "a number of other records" but said she didn't want to "tip her hand" as to which record she'd attack next.

"The engineering of a new record takes a good deal of time," she says. "It takes planning to install special equipment in the aircraft and we have to take every aspect of the record (weight, electronics, mechanics, fuel, power) into consideration."

Although down on the ground now, Jerrie is still flying high with television appearances and lectures. She left Columbus Tuesday to make a guest appearance on a television program in Toronto, Canada.

Next week she plans to resume her normal lecture schedule in Indianapolis at the Indiana Association of Phi Mu alumni (that's her sorority).

What does it take to be a record-setting aviatrix? Jerrie claims that her size is the secret of her success.

During this last distance record, she sat cramped on a gas tank in the cockpit — a cockpit so crowded that Mrs. Mock's husband, Russ, can't squeeze in himself.

Jerrie's 5-feet tall and weights "about 100 pounds."

Jerrie related that just before the flight she had to have her compasses "swung" (justified for metal gas tanks) and Cessna had to comb their Wichita, Kan., plant for a knowledgeable man small enough to handle the task.

And, in Honolulu, Hawaii, where Jerrie spent ten days waiting out unfavorable weather, she had to scan the island for a man small enough to perform a radio check.

It's tough for Jerrie to keep her weight down," husband Russ said. "She's a wonderful cook."

And that brings us to another chapter in the famous housewife's life. She's planning to publish a gourmet cookbook in addition to her already busy schedule.

"Oh, that's still up in the air," she smiled.

JERRIE MOCK

Secret of record-breaker's success is "size"

JULIA BROWN HITS KING NAACP

By The Spectator's
JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Her throat straining, Mrs. Julia Brown stood on the stage in the North High School auditorium in front of a roster that said "Let Freedom Ring — 263-1881" and she shouted that Martin Luther King is the "biggest liar in the United States" and "oh," she said, "he's the greatest enemy of the Negro people."

She spit the words out, this woman who says she worked for the FBI for nine years in the Communist party in Cleveland, O., and she had about 800 people clapping and believing her, and she said the John Birch Society is the greatest organization in the world. Her Columbus appearance was sponsored here by a man named William Ohiney who is the promoter of the local "Let Freedom Ring" telephone message.

"I'd call Martin Luther King a Communist," she said, "if it didn't mean a million-dollar law suit. He's using my people (Mrs. Brown is a Negro) as dopes . . . he's using them and the Communist party is using them and they should wake up and organize and get the Communists out of the NAACP."

The verbal explosion came during a question-and-answer period following a polite talk about her activities as an FBI undercover agent. The explosion came and Mrs. Brown's eyes were afire now.

"The Communists are grooming Martin Luther King . . . they're grooming him and I predict that he'll run for vice-president in 1968."

And as Mrs. Brown talked about Communists she mentioned the name of Eleanor Roosevelt in the same breath and a handful of pickets who had walked back and forth in front of North High School in the rain got up and left.

They had been relatively quiet in the auditorium. They shouted things like "You don't know what you're talking about, Baby," and when a question was asked of Mrs. Brown as to whether or not the John Birch Society is a Communist front one of the protestors raised his voice and said "Yes it is . . . I'm a member."

The little agitation bounced off Mrs. Brown. The group was largely made up of Columbus NAACP members, a few members of the Spartacists Party here which professes Communism and members of a group that calls itself the Columbus Committee for Community Action.

And wherever the questions led Mrs. Brown she'd find her way back to emphasize the fact that she knows that Communists have "infiltrated the NAACP . . . they've infiltrated it and I know they've infiltrated it because I recruited more Communists in that organization than I have fingers and toes."

Mrs. Brown was talking to people who want so much to be patriotic Americans. She talked and a young girl who is a student at Ohio State University and who had paid to hear Mrs. Brown because she honestly wanted to be informed reached into her purse and pulled out a page of literature from the Columbus NAACP which protested Julia Brown's appearance.

And on that piece of paper was a mimeographed line that said: "Communists have tried unsuccessfully for many years to infiltrate Civil Rights groups. They have not succeeded." The line was marked by an asterick and at the bottom of the page was a footnote saying: "J. Edgar Hoover, MASTERS OF DECEIT, p. 247."

And this young girl had just heard Mrs. Brown say that J. Edgar Hoover is a "truly great American" and now her mind clouded because she thought she was believing in two truths that called each other lies and she knew — like many knew there Monday night — that she would have to look deep into her own heart and mind for the answer.

WILLIAM S. WHITE: Dominican Republic: Red Target

WHITE

WASHINGTON — The Communists are preparing to have another go at the Dominican Republic in the hope of sabotaging the free elections scheduled there for June 1.

The Tri-continental Congress, a Communist and front outfit formed in Castro Cuba, has called for "worldwide demonstrations" for Apr. 24. This will be the first anniversary of a deeply Communist-infiltrated revolt designed to destroy the republic and would have but for quick military intervention by the United States.

The central aim of the new "demonstrations" is to create in the Dominican Republic enough chaos to foul up the elections.

But a Communist success is another question. In the first place, the Inter-American Peace Force, commanded by Brazilians, still stands in the republic.

In the second place, the hard-core Communists on the ground are still shaken from what two of their leaders have publicly conceded, in the World Marxist Review, was a punishing defeat a year ago.

The estimate of good diplomatic and intelligence sources, though possibly too hopeful, is this: While Apr. 24 will bring much screeching from Communist cells everywhere, the ultimate Communist party goal in the Dominican Republic itself is not likely to be attained.

The intermediate Communist objective is to drive the Inter-American Peace Force out of the republic. Here, the outlook is altogether favorable for us. The moderate candidate for president, Joaquin Balaguer, if elected, would certainly support the maintenance there of the IAPF shield so long as the ability of his government to suppress subversive assaults should be in the slightest question.

And if the leftist but still not Communist candidate, Juan Bosch, should win, the assumption is that he, too, would privately welcome the IAPF so long as his regime might be imperiled.

In short, the intervention first of the United States and then of Latin America collectively in the Dominican Republic has been proved to Latin America itself to have been sound and necessary. Even those Latins who still criticize it in public do not talk the same way in private.

The only people who are really fooled any more are a few American Senators who proclaim that their thinking is "new" but are in truth buying a dusty old stereotype from a very long yesterday.

Their attitude reflects an enduring tragedy of our time. Because more than a dozen years ago the forces associated with the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy conducted howlingly unfair "Communist" witchhunts against men who were nothing of the sort, the new left here still supposes that men who are incontestably both Communist and dangerous are not really either. — Copyright, 1966, by United Features.

BARRY GOLDWATER: Johnson Has Proved Me Right

GOLDWATER

President Johnson's most outrageous attack on economic good sense is his telephone crusade to convince American businessmen to cut back their capital spending.

The idea of a President secretly phoning all over the country, as it has now been announced he did, to cajole businessmen into standing pat, rather than enlarging their plants and creating new jobs, is an insult to every concept of the Presidency familiar to me.

There seems to be no end to this use of Presidential power for behind-the-scenes pressure on Americans and their private affairs. It is a blot on fundamental civil liberties and privacy, an inexcusable passing of the buck, shifting the blame for inflationary pressures from government policy, where it belongs.

Consider what this Rule by Telephone means to every American who works for his living or has investments or insurance to safeguard his old age.

There is no question that inflation is an economic thief that robs us all — the poor particularly, the aged most cruelly, the future most insidiously. As an example of the inflationary signs in our economy, the cost of living has gone up significantly under this administration.

But it is the cost of government that has gone up most. This administration, which has failed to put any economic priorities on spending, despite our fighting a war, is spending more money than any government in recorded history. Your money.

Federal spending applies the greatest inflationary pressure to our economy.

The President of the United States is an officer who supposedly serves all the people rather than runs all the people. But he has actually asked that the American private economy shift into low gear so that the government spenders can keep going in overdrive.

The President has asked that capital spending be held down. But this spending is for new tools, new shops, new stores new factories, adding up to new jobs somewhere along the line, increasing the ability of working Americans to compete successfully with their overseas counterparts. This means economic common sense and solid growth.

But the President wants that growth stunted so that he will not have to cut a single penny from the political spending programs he has rammed through the recent rubber-stamp sessions of Congress.

I have long predicted that, if President Johnson ever had to choose between expansion of the private economy, where most of us make our living and through which we pay all the government bills, and his political spending, he would choose politics all the way.

"An Informed Citizen Is The Cornerstone Of Democracy"

Robert Burdock, Publisher — Don R. Buckman, Advertising Director — John Auble, Jr., Managing Editor — R. B. Rogers, Business Manager

Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday, April 13, 1966

On The Line

A Columbus housewife answers her phone and is stunned by the voice on the other end of the line uttering a steady stream of obscenities.

Misuses of the telephone is a growing problem. Ohio Bell answered more than 84,000 complaints about annoyance calls last year.

What do you do with annoying phone calls?

The Spectator suggests these steps: Call the police if a threat is made; Know to whom you are talking; If someone calls and asks "What number is this?" don't answer the question; Instruct children and babysitters not to give out information indiscriminately; If a caller makes an indecent remark, hang up quickly — but softly since people who make such calls are looking for a reaction.

It's your telephone. Use it on your terms.

We Still Pay

This being an election year, we are going to hear a great deal about the highly-touted policy of "no new taxes." From a political standpoint, it is very appealing. Individuals and industries alike love to bask in the warm glow of a "hold-the-tax-line" philosophy and they are inclined to reward its creators at the ballot box.

But behind this impressive facade the termites are at work. Whatever the temporary advantages, there is going to be a day of reckoning. Ohio is able to maintain its status quo tax structure only by neglecting social services, and eventually the problems created by this neglect are going to worsen to a point where they constitute a pressing and expensive emergency. Some have already reached that point. Others are close on their heels.

Consider the present situation in Ohio. We have just been told, in a 262-page citizens' report, that the state's mental health program is substandard. Welfare clients in Ohio exist on grossly inadequate allotments, condemned to the prison of poverty by governmental penny-pinching and public apathy. Our juvenile institutions are overcrowded and understaffed and their programs sapped by financial starvation. The state's proportionate contribution to the public school system has declined and local property taxpayers are rebelling. Our support of higher education is lagging. In short, when it comes to public services, the word for Ohio is "inadequate."

When we reach the point where these problems can no longer be swept under the rug or covered with a coat of fresh paint, the citizens and industries of Ohio are going to pay dearly in terms of tax dollars. It is always more costly when problems are permitted to deteriorate and you have to buy your way out of a crisis.

Nor will higher prices be the only negative factor. In the process of confronting these crises, Ohio and other states with similar tax philosophies are going to lose more of their sovereignty, because the solutions will come from outside their borders.

Eventually, we will have adequate welfare, mental health, juvenile rehabilitation and educational systems. These are national necessities and they can no longer be left to the not-so-tender mercies of states like Ohio, which measure achievement in terms of dollars not spent for social services. In the absence of state responsibility the federal government is going to take over more and more programs. This process is under way now and there is every indication that its momentum will steadily increase. Washington is filling the vacuum created by state apathy and inaction.

It follows that as the federal government continues to involve itself in poorly-run state programs it will be seeking more tax revenue. And Washington will be able to get that revenue because of its pre-eminent position as a tax-collector. Corporations with a retarded sense of social responsibility can leave a state that insists on a tax level high enough to maintain adequate social service programs. But they cannot escape the federal government and the taxes it may levy for the same programs.

Thus, individuals and industries are really deluding themselves when they applaud a policy of "no new taxes" on the state level. The programs that are reduced to impotence because of this policy invite Federal intervention and with it, higher levels of Federal taxation. In the long run, nothing is gained. Indeed, it can be argued that a great deal is lost.

For one thing, it costs more. As noted, it is more expensive to buy your way out of a crisis and it is usually at the crisis stage that the Federal government enters the picture. Washington has to spend more because, in the past, the states have spent so little. It is also true that expenses rise when the money has to be sent first to Washington and then returned to the states. But, in the absence of state initiative, this is the only viable procedure.

With these higher costs goes a corresponding decline in state authority. What Washington pays for, it will also supervise, either directly or indirectly. Federal standards for mental health, welfare, juvenile rehabilitation and education will be established and the deadline for action is moved up each time Washington has to intervent to pull the state out of the fire. After all, if the Federal government is going to have to provide the money to assure adequate programs, then it might just as well run them, too.

One could wrangle interminably about the rightness or wrongness of this trend, but the argument would be academic. By neglecting social service programs to maintain politically expedient tax structures, Ohio and other states have abdicated the responsibility; they have said in effect: "Washington, take over." The pattern has been set and it is not likely to change. The Federal government will continue to increase its power; the states, largely by choice, will continue to surrender theirs. And the new taxes that aren't paid at the state level will be paid in Washington. — DICK COMPTON, WRFD "Commentator"

They Said It

"Retraining of workers whose skills are no longer needed is a fine thing. Education for the children of poor families is also needed. Federal aid, if accompanied by complete local freedom, is acceptable. When it comes to the point of having to guarantee every family an annual income, then something has happened to this great nation."—Rochester (N.H.) Courier.

"The Washington Word On Identified Flying Objects Is To Wait For 'Em To Come Down"

MARQUIS CHILDS: Sun-Tanned Good Guy

SAN JOSE, CALIF. — In the scrambled politics of this fantastically growing state, Ronald Reagan, the actor turned politician, gives a smooth, professional performance. He is straight out of Central Casting, a crusader seeking to put idealism into government — the kind of role played in another time by Jimmy Stewart in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington."

"I am not a politician," he tells every audience as he barnstorms through the San Francisco Bay area and this news seems to please his listeners.

CHILDS

What he says with the skill of the professional — the pause for the laugh at the wisecrack gently dropped in, the timing for the applause — seems to have almost no relevance to what is happening in this crowded, complex society on the Pacific slope. The acrid smog, polluted waters, highway deaths on the freeways, the omnipresent threat of violence in the Negro ghettos of which Watts is only one — these have no place in Reagan's view of the political scene. His is the standard conservative line, cut taxes, cut back government spending, return to the virtues of the past, but blandly homogenized with the help of the public relations firm of Spencer, Roberts Associates, Inc.

Reagan seems likely to win the nomination for Governor in the primary on June 7. His principal rival, former Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, is close to the middle-of-the-road Republicanism of the past embodied in Earl Warren who left the governorship only 12 years ago to become Chief Justice of the United States. But no television audience would ever take Christopher for the sun-tanned good guy out to demolish greed and corruption in government.

The chaos in the Democratic party is such that if Reagan gets the nomination it is conceivable he will defeat Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, who is running for a third term.

Reagan faces a large order of chaos in his own party. Unreconstructed Goldwaterites, whom the candidate confronted in the California Republican Assembly here, control most party organizations. Given his allotted time to speak to the Assembly, Reagan blithely chose to call for questions and answers. Up from the audience rose a dark-haired young woman to put in the tones of a junior Miss Savonarola this query:

If some dark crime out of his past had been suddenly brought to light the composure of the candidate could not have for the moment been more visibly shattered. In the hush that fell over the Assembly a man roared from the audience, "Wasn't that when you were a Democrat?" Here was another heresy.

But Reagan rose manfully to the occasion. When he got out of uniform in 1946 he was very naive. He had really believed that war could be prevented. Yes, he had belonged to the United World Federalists. But as soon as he learned the bitter truths of Communist perfidy at home and abroad he resigned. 1963?

The young woman persisted. It must have been earlier than that.

"Yes, I was naive," he said with his boyish grin. "I was a Democrat." And the audience applauded long and loud, loving him again.

But applause and cheers are not the main object of the candidate's speeches. He wants his audiences to be reassured, to believe that if only Republicans can unite and unhappy Democrats jolted out their naivete can join them, all will be well again. — Copyright 1966, United Features.

Letters To The Editor

Says Solution's Obvious

To The Spectator:

Regarding the light at Highland-dr ("Freeway Woes Worsen," Apr. 6 Spectator), the fact is that even with the Olentangy freeway all traffic generated from Bethel-rd to N. Broadway is doomed to travel the present road into town.

No freeway entrance is provided to the south over this section. The undeveloped areas (all to the west) will increase this traffic and the congestion of the crosstown roads as they develop.

The solution is obvious. Highway design must be an integral part of city planning and cannot be done by highway engineers alone. Major highways must be spaced to provide the least travel distance for the average traveler and pre-planned to encourage the orderly development of the city.

Let's turn the Olentangy Freeway over to the qualified city planners. Vote against ordinance No. 144-66.

Inviting Washington Here

To The Spectator:

The longer our state administration, with voter support, avoids its social services responsibilities in order to present the false image of no necessity for further taxes, the sooner Washington will be moving into Ohio to meet the inevitable emergency of human suffering in our rich state.

Ohioans will have to buy their way out of a financial crisis with higher taxes.

The surest and quickest way to surrender state power to Washington is to repeat the grievous error of 1962 or re-electing this publicity-seeking political opportunist who is jestingly mentioned for President of the United States.

Defends Dismissals

To The Spectator:

Reference is made to your lead editorial entitled "Politics and Booze" (Apr. 6 Spectator).

The editorial makes reference to a 63-year-old unnamed man who gave nine years to the Liquor Department as a store manager, and that he was then reduced to a clerk and finally was asked to resign.

The personnel file of this 63-year-old man (his identity is well-known to this department)—as well as the personnel file of any other store employe who claims to have been dismissed without just cause—is available for examination by any representative of your publication.

The result was that the pro-Columbus movement decreased in number, in the face of promises by Gahanna to service the area immediately, if annexed to the village.

But the petition was filed, involving some 1270 acres east of the Gahanna limits and north of the Columbus line. The hearing on the petition will be June 29, and Gahanna officials have indicated they will be in attendance to "fight it."

The conflict will be intensified by the filing of another petition, seeking annexation of some 1,922 acres in Jefferson Township to Gahanna. Some of the land involved is included in the Columbus petition.

Most recent development in the city-or-village contest is the meeting which has been called as a result of interest expressed by some Mifflin Township residents to annex to Gahanna.

The meeting, set up in the same manner as the one held Mar. 21, will be at 8 p.m. tonight, Apr. 13, at the Royal Manor Elementary School.

Territory in question includes approximately 2,000 acres—bound on the north by Morse-rd, east by Hamilton-rd, south by Agler-rd and the Gahanna limits and west by the proposed outerbelt.

The movement is believed to be inspired by the annexation of 285 acres of the township to Columbus last week, with 403 more acres to be annexed within a month.

The controversy will eventually boil down to a contest — between the metropolis that doesn't want to be stunted in its growth and the community that doesn't want to be an island.

The winner will be decided in the commissioners' hearing room in the County Court House this summer.

PROCLAMATION
ELECTION NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that in pursuance of an ordinance of the Council of the City of Whitehall, Ohio, passed on the 15th day of February, 1966, there will be submitted to the qualified electors of said City at the next regular municipal election to be held on Tuesday, the 3rd day of May, 1966, at the regular place or places of voting in said City between the hours of 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. the question "SHALL A COMMISSION BE CHOSEN TO FRAME A CHARTER?"

To the left of such wording shall appear the words "YES" and "NO" and each voter shall indicate his vote accordingly.

At the same election fifteen persons with no party designation will be chosen as members of this "COMMISSION TO FRAME A CHARTER," in accordance with the provisions of Article XVIII, Sec. 8 of the Constitution of Ohio.

Lucky for you it's always the guy next door.

This is a way many of us think about cancer: as if it only strikes the guy next door. And because you're you, avoids you. Perhaps you're lucky. But in 1965 cancer killed 805 guys next door every day. About 295,000 during the year.

Now it's impossible for it to always be the other guy all the time, for all of us. One day it may be someone in your own family. It may be a dear friend. It's not always going to be the guy next door.

What are you going to do about it? Simply live in fear and hope that it will never be you? It needn't be that way. There is something you can do about cancer.

You can have a health checkup every year. Many cancers are curable if detected early and treated promptly. Over 90,000 Americans die of cancer each year who might have been saved. But they delay seeing their doctors until it's too late. Remember: many cancers can be cured. But they must be discovered in time.

There are cancers that science does not yet know how to cure. It's to gain this knowledge that money is needed. To continue the constant attack on cancer's resisting secrets. Is it caused by a virus? Can drugs be developed to cure cancer? Why do some people get cancer while others don't? Money to continue support of the many research projects well underway at medical centers throughout the country will help provide some answers.

By fighting cancer with a checkup and a check, someday it won't have to be the guy next door. Or you. Or anyone.

Dramatic View From Stouffers

The beautiful skyhigh showplace restaurant which the Stouffer Foods Corporation of Cleveland has designed and brought to Columbus is now open for dining pleasure. Joining a distinguished group — the Stouffer Top restaurants — (nine in America's most cosmopolitan cities) Columbus' Top of the Center crowns this city's new Columbus Center building at 100 E. Broad-st.

Lucille Lights Lincoln Lodge

The Lucille Linwood Trio is playing your favorite songs in the cocktail lounge at Lincoln Lodge Motel. Featured with Lucille is Richard Frye, one of the best pianists I have had the pleasure to hear for some time. With good styling and a fine feeling for music, you can almost hear a pin drop when this man does his solos on the 88's.

Of course, everyone knows Lucille's vocal ability. She is as good as ever. Her personality and showmanship are as entertaining as her voice. Filling out the trio is Bernie Dugo on bass. This man's talents are way above average. He fits in well. Music to enjoy should be the motto of the Lucille Linwood Trio.

Carson Appears For Cancer

Robert Carson, TV and Movie actor, will make several appearances in Columbus Thursday, Apr. 14, in behalf of the American Cancer Society. He will attend a neighborhood "coffee" at the home of Mrs. Watson Walker, 1801 Oak-st, at 10:30 a.m. and be honored guest at a tea in the home of Mrs. Walter Dewey, 1616 Tremont-rd at 3 p.m. He will also appear at the dinner which will precede the Press Club's annual Gridiron Show, which "roasts" politicians. The dinner is at the Southern Hotel and the show at the Southern Theatre. Carson, whose first wife, and brother Jack, died of cancer, has appeared in many movies, including "Wall of Noise," "How to Murder Your Wife," and "The Great Race," the latter currently showing at the Palace Theatre.

Music At Knave's Cave

I won't say the Betty Saint Duo plays angelic music, but, for two people, they do produce lots of pretty sounds. Working in the Knave's Cave at the Arlington Arms Motel, this group has been packing them in for over three years. Al Evans is the other half of the duo. He is an excellent drummer as well as being a pleasant, enjoyable singer. Betty is a pianist's pianist. Having great feeling for music, her keyboard stylings are creative and interesting. The duo is fun to hear. The musical moods are as relaxing as the intimate decor of the Knave's Cave. The candlelight atmosphere is very romantic. The melodious songs of the Betty Saint duo are also very romantic. Add to this combination the fact that the Knave's Cave is just about the only place in town where one can "trip the light fantastic."

FOOTBALL All-Americans Ike Kelley and Howard "Hopalong" Cassady piloted the oil-can racers in last year's Columbus Soap Box Derby. Boys 11 through 15 can learn how to build regulation racers much faster than these two oil-cans by watching the series of instructional programs that began last Sunday at 5:45 p.m. on TV-4.

Soap Box Derby Plans Are Started

Columbus Soap Box Derby preparations are underway, and boys 11 through 15 should be registering and getting their rule books and wheel kits for the 1966 running of the downhill race.

This year's sponsors are WLW-C TV-4, Chevrolet dealers of Columbus and the Columbus Jaycees. Don L. Collins is chairman of the Derby Committee for the Jaycees.

The Spectator Newspapers are working with the sponsors in order to provide better information to the boys taking part in the derby.

TV-4 has started a series of instructional programs, broadcast every Sunday at 5:45 p.m., to help boys learn how to build racers for the July race. Boys living outside the Columbus Derby area, whose community is also having a Soap Box Derby, are welcome to watch these programs for helpful building tips.

These Sunday afternoon "Soap Box Derby Workshops" will be hosted by TV-4 sportscaster Dave Collins. With diagrams and sample cars, instructors will show the boys the best tips on building and driving a racer.

The TV-4 Sunday 5:45 p.m. workshop subject for the month of April are: Apr. 17 — color film of the '65 Derby, and Apr. 24 — outline of derby events.

Sun Tones Shine

The Sun Tones from Miami, Fla., are the featured quartet in this year's annual SPEBSQSA barbershop song fest. International champions in 1961, and organized since 1958, the group offers smooth song styling and a rich blend of harmonious music. Also appearing on the same bill are the Roaring 20's from Cincinnati and the Wayfarers from Columbus. Another highlight of this show is the appearance of the Continental Chorus, directed by George Steadman. Considered as one of the most outstanding choruses in the country, it is wholly composed of members of the local singing society.

Proceeds from the barbershop show help support an institute fighting speech defects of children. Besides bringing together people who love to sing, the SPEBSQSA's main purpose and motto is "We sing that they shall speak."

For an evening that promises to be entertaining, be sure to attend this parade of quartets, Apr. 23 at Veterans' memorial.

RETURNS

JAYLENE GRAY, a singer with a smile, is celebrating an extended returned engagement at the popular Everglades Restaurant, 4250 W. Broad-st. Her boss, Tony Deiweese, is also celebrating . . . the birth of grandson No. 2, born Apr. 8. Sharing the stage nightly with Jaylene are the Jet Set Go-Go Girls.

ARE HOSTS

EVEN Bob Hope and Lana Turner agree that top star billing belongs to "Oscar" at Academy Awards time. The 38th Annual Presentation of the Academy of Motion Pictures Arts and Sciences is scheduled for Monday, Apr. 18, and will be televised in color for the first time on WTVN-TV 6. Bob will emcee for the twelfth time and Lana is also on the list of stellar personalities to appear.

'Simple Simon' Dated Apr. 30

The Columbus Junior Theatre of the Arts will present "Simple Simon" for its Spring production.

Two performances are scheduled to be given on Saturday, Apr. 30, in Mohawk School at 2 and 4 p.m.

This will be the first show from the Junior Theatre's new location at 115 West Main-st.

Music Recital Set For Apr. 17

Munson Music, 1148 Neil-av, will present students of Ray Whitmer and Gene Pugh in a musical program Sunday, Apr. 17, 3:30 p.m. at Graves' Recital Hall, 383 E. Broad-st. Students participating are: Paulette Austin, Tom Blamble, Chuck Campbell, Neil Caudill, Thearesa Coursey, Karen Ford, Mark Manship, Deborah Melby, Marsha Meredith.

Scott McIntosh, Hope Parks, Robin Reed, Carla Robinson, Danny Rogers, Chuck Southall, Luther Steele, Barbara Waldman and John Sndenire.

The public is invited.

Track Plums Ripen At W-R, Newark, Mansfield, Central

By Jack Wittenmeier

Four top track meets — two inside the city, two outside — highlight cinder "spectaculars" this week for area thins.

Two top state attractions—the Mansfield and Newark Relays—are scheduled Saturday while Central's annual Riverside Relays and the first annual Walnut Ridge Invitational are set for Tuesday.

MANSFIELD RELAYS

..FOUR AREA squads — Worthington, South, Eastmoor and Bishop Ready — list visits to the prestigious Mansfield Relays on their spring schedules.

Like the Rose Bowl, the Mansfield event has become the "granddaddy of them all" for state cinder squads each spring.

As South coach Bob Bateman puts it, "you can expect the top teams from three states (Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania) to be in attendance Saturday."

ONE EVENT — the running of the four-mile — actually kicks off action Friday at 3:30 p.m. But most schools will be checking in Saturday for prelims at 10 a.m.

Finals should get under way at 1:30 p.m.

Exactly one-half (nine) of the events saw records established last spring as Cleveland Glenville nosed out East Tech for the team title.

LONGEST standing, however, of Mansfield Relay records are two (100 and 220) belonging to the immortal Jesse Owens — both wearing well since Owens' set them in 1933.

If victory hardware is any yardstick for the prestige of a major track meet, few can measure up to Mansfield.

The winning team will cart home a 36 inch trophy. Top scoring teams in field and track events (not relay events) get a trophy as do top ten overall team finishers. Schools who win relay events will also get trophies.

ON AN individual basis, individual and each member of winning relay team get gold medals with silver medals going to runnerups.

Third, fourth and fifth place finishers also are awarded medals.

Individuals and relay quartets must also meet minimum standards to compete in each event.

EXISTING RECORDS

FOUR MILE RELAY — State College Pennsylvania (18:28.4, 1965); MILE RELAY — State College Pennsy. (3:21, '45); 880 RELAY — Cleveland East Tech (1:30.2, '65); TWO MILE RELAY — State College Pennsy. (7:35, '65); SHUTTLE RELAY — Mansfield Senior (:56.2, '51); DISTANCE MEDLEY — Cleveland John Marshall (7:40.3, '65); 100 — Jesse Owens (:10.5, '33); HIGH HURDLES — Warren Caully ('39) and Clint Jones ('63) — :14.3; MILE — Tom Kearney, Bloomhill Hills, Mich. (4:19.4, '65); DISCUS — Bob Middleton, Marion (182' 4 1/2", '59); SHOT PUT — Marty Binner, Cleveland Hgts. (59' 3 1/4", '63); 220 — Jesse Owens (:21.5, '33); POLE VAULT — John Linton, Mansfield Malibar (14' 1/2", '64); HIGH JUMP — Stan Albright, Cleveland Glenville (6' 7", '61); BROAD JUMP — Bill Prewitt, Willow Run, Mich. (24' 3 3/4", '57); 440—Emmitt Taylor, Akron East (:48.7, '65); 880 — Dave Roberts, Southgate, Mich. (1:53.1, '65) and LOW HURDLES — Warren Caully, Fairington, Mich. ('59) and Henry Weaver, Mansfield Senior ('61) — :19.8

W-R INVITATIONAL

ALL WINNING times and distances will be records at Walnut Ridge Tuesday at the Scotties' Invitational.

Host coach Harry McKnight lists South, North, West, Marion-Franklin and Linden as guests of his Scot thins when field events get under way at 5 p.m.

Running events begin 30 minutes later.

RELAY EVENTS include: two-mile, mile, shuttle hurdle, 880 and 440 (score double points). Regular running events (one man from each school) will be the high hurdles, 100, 220, 440 and 880.

The W-R Invitational will also include all five regular field events.

McKnight lists West, South and Marion-Franklin as co-favorites.

RIVERSIDE RELAYS

UPPER ARLINGTON, also defending champ at the Riverside Relays, is regarded as the favorite again this spring by Central's John Biltz — host coach for the event.

Biltz, who had 24 teams battling for honors last spring, expects about half that number this Tuesday, listing East, Eastmoor and Ready among local entries with Springfield South, Newark and Zanesville likely from out of town.

Field events are scheduled for Tuesday with running competition following the next day. Action gets under way both days at 4 p.m.

ONLY RIVERSIDE record which didn't tumble at the '65 running was the shot put, set in 1956 by a trio from Columbus North.

First and second place teams will receive trophies at the Riverside running with ribbons going to the first four winning individuals.

The host Pirates set the record - breaking pace last year, erasing existing marks in the 440 and 880 relays and sprint medley.

EXISTING RECORDS

LONG JUMP — South (Thompson, Wright, Lawthern), 62' 10", 1965; SHOT PUT — North (Mitchell, Allen, Grim), 180' 6 1/2", 1956; HIGH JUMP — South (Wilson, Latham, Rose), 10' 6", 1965; DISCUS — Brookhaven (Blevens, Thomas, McKennel), 619' 4 1/2", 1965; POLE VAULT — Arlington (Watkins, Knowlton, Trainer), 30' 6", 1965; SHUTTLES — Springfield South (Stinson, McCammbas, Wilkerson, Biles, 1965) and East (Martin, McClendon, Schofield, Godfrey, 1962); DISTANCE MEDLEY — Walnut Ridge (Mattie, Waller, Barber, Schwartz), 7:49.5, 1965; 440 RELAY — Central (Lyons, Pendorson, White, Winton), :44.1, 1965; MILE RELAY — Arlington (Fithel, Richter, Hopkins, Walker), 3:27.5 1965; SPRINT MEDLEY — Central (Pendorson, Winton, Johnson, Lyons), 1:35.2, 1965; TWO MILE RELAY — Walnut Ridge (Schwartz, Barber, Waller, Mattie), 8:21.8, 1965; 880 RELAY — Central (Pendorson, Winton, White, Lyons), 1:31.5, 1965.

Pfeifer Wants Your Vote

QUESTION:
I appreciate your sincerity, but how do you expect to win over a well oiled political machine which refuses to endorse you?
PARTY WORKER

Herbert J. Pfeifer

ANSWER:
Dear Party Worker:
I have been fighting the odds all my life. As the tenth child in a Catholic family of sixteen, I had to assert myself during the normal family competition, especially when money was a problem and needed items a luxury.
But I learned that people won't be pushed around and that everyone appreciates the honest approach. You appreciate my sincerity because I am being honestly sincere.
I want to represent the people, not the special interests. That is why I am taking my case to the grass roots voter. I need their help just as I need your help.
The people of this district deserve honest representation. I want them to give me the opportunity to provide that honest representation in the Senate of Ohio.
HERBERT J. PFEIFER,
SENATOR FOR THE 15TH DISTRICT

Baseballers Try Again To Get Into Weatherman's Good Graces

By BOB WHITMAN

In weather more suitable for a forward pass than a pitched ball, county baseballers were at the mercy of sleet and winds that were without mercy last week as little of the heavy action slated was completed.

Now, Eastmoor, Hartley, East and Gahanna head the Eastern area's 25 game card this week as schoolboy diamondmen attempt to vault the weatherman again.

EASTMOOR travels to Worthing tonight to meet the Cardinals in a non - league bout and hosts north-ender Watterson Thursday. The Warriors then pick up league action with a game at Brookhaven (Friday) and a home date against West (Tuesday).

Jack Ryan's Hawks start on the Central Catholic League trail next Tuesday at Watterson after meeting Groveport (Wednesday), Gahanna (Friday) and Mifflin (Monday).

Gahanna and East, likewise, have heavy four game cards. The Lions tackle Westerville (twice) on Saturday and host Bexley Tuesday besides facing the Hawks. East has City dates with North (Friday) and Whetstone (Tuesday) plus a double dip date against Bexley Saturday.

Academy goes to Canal Winchester Tuesday to meet Bob Miller's Indians, and Whitehall has a pair in the newly formed Metro League; Reynoldsburg (Friday) and Hamilton Township (Tuesday).

MOE CORDLE'S Scotties meet at Worthington (Tuesday) and face Central in a City war Friday.

In the action that made it through the storm last week, Walnut Ridge nipped Bexley, 5-4 on Charley Crook's two run producing single in the sixth.

The Scots got a big lift from relief thrower Jim Kinser, who fanned nine in the last five innings of play.

Hartley fell to South last Tuesday then went 10 innings with the Bulldogs Thursday, ending in a 0-0 tie.

Scotty French lost the Tuesday battle, yielding six hits (one a costly home run to South shortstop Dan Kauffman).

Cotner Joins Spectator's No-Hit Club

With the '66 campaign barely uncorked, Cotner twirled the first no-hitter of the season Saturday, mowing down Gahanna, 10-1.

Cotner thus becomes the ninth member of The Spectator's "No-Hit Club" and will receive a certificate commemorating the occasion.

ST. ALBANS SALE

The Women's Guild of St. Albans Episcopal Church, 333 S. Drexel - av, Bexley, will have a rummage sale Tuesday and Wednesday, Apr. 19 and 20 in the educational building. The sale is planned from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on both days. Clothing and household goods will be featured.

BR. 4-1155

In 1694 the Frenchman Charles Perrault published the first book in which the term "Mother Goose" was used. Some believe the stories used at that time heralded back to "Goose-Footed Bertha," the mother of the French ruler Charlemagne.

Is it true that they now have a birth control pill that determines the sex of babies?—R. S., Columbus.

LIVE WIRE believes that we may have a contradiction in terms in the popular usage of the term "birth control," R.S. "Birth control" pills are used to prevent conception — not to influence the future sex of the child. Perhaps you are thinking of recent studies which noted that women, after using birth control pills for some time and then quitting them, were prone to have multiple births. Some researchers also tell LIVE WIRE that stopping the use of the pills tends to increase fertility.

We've heard so much complaining lately about Puppy City in Reynoldsburg. Why doesn't the Better Business Bureau check into it? — Sally, Whitehall.

LIVE WIRE learns that representatives of the BBB have conferred with the Columbus Academy of Veterinary Medicine in regard to Puppy City complaints. A BBB spokesman tells LIVE WIRE that answers to complaints by PUPPY CITY owners, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rosen were not "satisfactory," however they gave no indication on what BBB's next step may be.

What is the cost of living in Hawaii, compared with that of Ohio?—Larry, West Jefferson.

Well, Larry, the cost-of-living index for Honolulu is 102.3 compared with indexes for Cincinnati and Cleveland where they list a figure of 107.1. Sydney Clark, in his book "All The Best In Hawaii," feels that overall costs for short-time visitors are about the same as the mainland. He did note, however, that natives compained prices were 25 per cent higher than the mainland. In short, take some money, Larry, if you plan to stay.

What was the first brand of toothpaste?—Mrs. H. B., Hilliard.

As far as LIVE WIRE can determine, the first brand of ribbon tooth-paste originated in Chillicothe, O., in 1906. It was called "Chief White Eagle." Colgate came out in ribbon form in 1907.

The Print Explosion Hits In Columbus

"Holy Firecrackers, Batman! Prints are exploding!"

Evidence of the print explosion is seen in every area of women's apparel — most every time of the day or night—and for most every woman.

The new prints fall into two groups. One style for "Young Moderns" and another for "Sophisticates." Thus when a woman wears a style intended for her age, figure and personality, her clothes have the custom look.

Sophisticates choose a very large-scale dramatic and colorful abstract print. These, too, may be floral designs but are very big and very bold.

Popular again this season is the print-lined coat with its matching print dress. Surely a leading fashion for day or night, you'll find it in every price range.

Tattersall checks are back, too. The wide spaced, racy checks are seen extensively in coats, suits, dresses as well as accessories.

And, of course, there is the most dramatic fashion change this year — the "sleeved look." This year sleeves are eye-catching and dramatic. Styling includes full, puffs, bells, flares, ruffles, pleats and cuffed sleeves.

Have yourself a print explosion! They're fun.

BRIDGE QUICKIE

By The Spectator's
ROSE NAFZGER

"Bridge-work sounds so very DENTAL!
Well, it just BRIDGE IS MENTAL!"

But, it can be so much FUN too! I'm talking about an average group of players, who get together every week or so, get to know each other's foibles and form, each expect no more and no less from each other and therefore can relax and have a wonderful time at a marvelous game! As for bridge being mental, isn't just about everything? There ARE two vital factors, to begin with, in bidding: You must know the true value of your cards and you must understand your partner's language, in exchanging information about each other's holdings. Language, in bridge, refers to which author's method you are using—not the kind you utter under your breath!

Dumb Animals?

The adjective dumb has been used so often in connection with animals that "dumb animal" has almost become one word.

But, lately, scientists are discovering that animals are far from dumb. In fact, some of them seem about as smart as we are.

BEARDSHEAR

The Navy has been conducting experiments for some time with dolphins. Convinced they can communicate, capable scientists are trying to record sounds and decipher "dolphin talk."

It is not beyond the realm of possibility that dolphins can be trained to search out lost objects in the sea . . . such as the bomb that was recently lost off the coast of Spain.

More close to home is the search of Dr. Ernest E. Good, an associate professor of zoology at Ohio State University.

Dr. Good is attempting to learn about the role of learned behavior in the life of two frisky river otters.

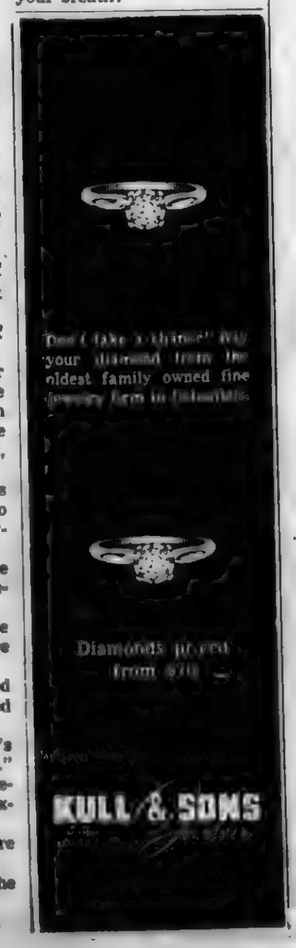
And he has turned up some incredible things. For example, the otters, a two-year-old male and female, are given to frequent wanderlust. Not content with their pen and a fish-stocked 5000-gallon pool on campus, they are becoming an all-too-familiar sight on OSU's sidewalks, parking lots and playfields.

"Our facilities certainly aren't escape proof as far as otters are concerned," reported Good, who was called to the campus three times in one week to round up his wayward research subjects.

But the wanderlust and the escaping would not be significant in themselves if the otters hadn't shown a remarkable capacity.

Placed in the bottom of a dry swimming pool, the male otter was encased by five foot high walls which were thought to be sufficient to bar his escape.

However, Good said, the animal set up an overturned laboratory stool which happened to be in the pool, pushed it against the wall and climbed out without trouble.



"This actually is tool-using," Good explained. "It's something one might expect of a monkey, not an otter."

As with the dolphins, Dr. Good's study includes recording the otters' "language," which he reports is "extensive."

I once knew a dog which could parlay bringing in the paper with sharing his master's martini.

Dumb animals, my eye.

PROPOSAL FOR SCHOOL EQUIPMENT

Sealed proposals will be received by the Board of Education of the Madison Local School District, Groveport, Franklin County, State of Ohio, at the Office of the Clerk of said School Board, Groveport, Ohio, until 12:00 noon, May 9, 1966, for the purchase of equipmen and furniture to be delivered and installed at the Groveport-Madison Junior High School, Hamilton Road, Groveport, Ohio and the Asbury Elementary School, 5127 Harbor Blvd., Columbus, Ohio. The bids will be opened and read aloud on the above named date at 12:00 o'clock P.M. Purchase of equipment will be made within two weeks after bids are opened.

Specifications are on file at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools. Copies of said specifications may be obtained from either office.

Equipment for which proposals are to be received includes library furniture and miscellaneous loose equipment.

Separate proposals shall be received for the two library groups and for the total equipment as noted on the bid form, which will be provided.

All proposals shall be made in conformity with the General Code of Ohio, and on blanks furnished by the Board of Education and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope and addressed to the Board of Education, Madison Local School District, Groveport, Franklin County, State of Ohio, and endorsed Proposal for Equipment Contract showing date and hour of opening on the outside of the envelope.

Each bid must contain the name of each and every person interested therein, and shall be accompanied by a bid bond with corporate surety thereon, authorized to do business in the State of Ohio and satisfactory to the Board of Education, or by certified check on a solvent bank located in the State of Ohio, in an amount equal to ten per cent (10%) of the total amount of the bid, conditioned that if the bid be accepted, a contract will be entered into, and the performance thereof properly secured by a performance bond in accordance with the law.

Said bonds or certified check shall be made in favor of the Board of Education of Madison Local School District, Franklin County, State of Ohio, and shall be made payable to Charles I. Dean, Clerk-Treasurer of said Board.

The bond or certified check shall be forfeited if said bidder fails to enter into a contract and secure the performance thereof, within ten (10) days after notice of acceptance of the bid. A performance bond, with corporate surety thereon satisfactory to said Board in an amount equal to one hundred per cent (100%) of the aggregate bid price, conditioned in accordance with law will be required

By order of the Board of Education of Madison Local School District, Franklin County, State of Ohio.

BE GLAD YOU'RE COOKING WITH GAS!

Some days it just doesn't pay a lady to get up. From the first jingle of the alarm (you turned it off and slept through) to the jangle of the phone at a quarter to five (it's Dad announcing he's bringing somebody to the dinner you haven't even thought about yet), everything is absolutely the wrongest.

But if you're cooking with Gas, lady, you can relax. Gas ranges understand women—especially on Those Days.

Because Gas cooks faster than electricity, Gas ranges stretch your time. Automatic heat controls on Gas ranges keep a master chef's eye on dinner while you repair your face. And the true low-heat ability of Gas lets you hold dinner serving-hot until you're ready.

Get a modern Gas range. Then, even on one of Those Days, you can count on something going right.

LET'S KNIT

An Eye-Catching Ensemble

By The Spectator's
URSULA duBOIS

An eyecatching ensemble for any time of the day is modeled by Cynthia Lynn of CBS Television's "Hogan's Heroes."

The sleeveless dress No. 50 uses a set of large needles and a set of small needles. These needles, combined with a 1 rop stitch method, make for a fast completion of the dress. The URSULA pattern also gives instructions for a variety of shells. Illustrated instructions are written in sizes eight through 18. All sizes are included on one pattern.

Casually thrown over Miss Lynn's shoulder is bangle box jacket No. 72. This jacket has three-quarter length sleeves with a slight ball effect and white iridescent bangles. These are held in place with a loop stitch method which the pattern explains in detail.

We used a lilac worsted to fashion the dress and jacket. Approximate total cost for this outfit is $10.

Illustrated instructions for the bangle jacket are written in sizes 10 through 20. All sizes are included on one pattern.

To obtain pattern No. 50 or No. 72, send 50 cents for EACH pattern in coin, check, or money order to:

Send 15 cents extra for first class mail and special handling.

Please print plainly your name, address pattern number and zip code.

Want To Ride Like A King For A Commoner's Price?

By The Spectator's
JANE ROBINSON

Does he or doesn't he?

Only his dealer knows . . . whether the chartreuse Cadillac your neighbor drives is his own or one of the 4,000 leased cars in Franklin County.

Local agencies believe those leasing low and medium-priced automobiles regard it as a status symbol and are as quick to flash their lease as a newly-engaged girl her diamond.

But it's a different story when a man signs a contract for a "prestige chariot."

The aura of presumed ownership of a $7,500 car is even sweeter than that coming from the impeccable credit rating associated with car leasing — and the man in the gray flannel suit knows it.

The ball was started rolling more than a decade ago when the president of United States Steel declared, "We're in the steel business, not the automobile business," and made arrangements to lease rather than own its vast fleet of company cars and trucks.

Other corporations, quick to see the tax advantages and eager to part with maintenance and trade-in headaches, soon gave impetus to this new facet of the automobile industry.

And now Mr. Individual is clamoring to go for the joy-ride. (The fact that 96 percent of those who lease cars renew their contract indicates it is indeed a joyride.)

But it's a seller's market.

As one dealer put it, "The man to whom we lease a car becomes our partner, and we're pretty particular about whom we're in business with."

Actually, it is easier to buy a home than lease a car. Lessors prefer their "partners" to be homeowners — certainly not a prerequisite for the mortgage shopper.

He stressed that his firm is looking for the "cream of the crop" and statistics prove that is exactly what lessors are skimming off the transportation market.

While 10 percent delinquency is considered normal on the financing of privately-owned vehicles, the delinquency rate among car lessees is an amazingly low one percent.

Just what are the advantages of car-leasing over those of car-ownership?

The usual contract provides the lessee with a brand-new car to be driven two years for a monthly payment slightly lower than those involved in financing a like model.

At the expiration of the lease (unless he exercises an option-to-buy agreement), he will turn the car in and receive another brand new model.

With most warranties outliving the contract, the lessee is assured of little expense other than normal maintenance, he is able to write off his rental as a business expense, and he has conserved both his capital and his borrowing power.

And at the end of the two years he knows he won't be running around town trying to ferret out a dealer who will give him a liberal trade-in allowance. He is out of the used-car business.

The car lessee will be expected to carry insurance (usually $100,000 - $300,000 liability, $100 deductible and fire and theft) which may be higher than that which he would customarily buy, but this is not a serious deterrent. (Inclusion of insurance in the monthly payment is optional.)

For example, a compact currently tagged at $52 a month is a "stripped-down" model without the automatic transmission, power steering and brakes and radio most customers demand.

By the time car specifications have been boosted to meet individual requirements and tastes, the monthly tab is most often in the $70-$80 range.

However, at least one white luxury convertible was delivered this week to the tune of $168 a month.

And the classified section of the New York Times is carrying an ad that might solve the problem of a man Valentine shopping for "the woman who has everything."

If he's willing to part with a $1,000 bill on the 15th of each month he can rent for her a 1966 Rolls Royce.

The dealer will accept your collect call for further details, but before you waste your breath—

Are you considered a "Substantial Citizen?"

That's the $64 question that must have an affirmative answer before you can rent a Rolls — or a Volkswagen.

National Symphony To Perform At Vets

The National Symphony of Washington is known as the orchestra of the presidents because it is so frequently called upon for programs at state dinners and other occasions honoring visiting dignitaries.

Since its founding in 1931, it has enjoyed the favor and support of all official Washington. Under the direction of Howard Mitchell, it will be heard at Veterans Memorial Monday evening, Apr. 18, in the last of the season's Symphony Club concerts.

The most familiar and popular of all symphonies, Beethoven's Fifth, is to be the feature of the program. Other works scheduled will be by Wagner, Sibelius and Vaughn Williams.

Howard Mitchell, conductor of the Washington National Orchestra, believes in "music for everyone," and because of this policy the orchestra has become the most widely supported of any in the country. More than 25,000 individuals and business firms contribute to its sustaining fund.

NEW SINGER CENTER OPENS

Ohio Northern To Hold Annual Dinner

The Ohio Northern University Alumni Association of Franklin County will hold its annual dinner honoring Dr. Henry S. Lehr, founder of Ohio Northern University, Apr. 20, at 6:30 p.m. in the dining hall of the Worthington Methodist Church, 600 N. High-st, Worthington.

Lewis Meyer, recently inaugurated president of Ohio Northern University, will speak.

Dr. Harold H. Eibling, superintendent of the Columbus schools will be toastmaster.

Dr. Karl A. Roeder, head of the Department of Music, Ohio Northern University, will bring a chorus-choir to sing.

When Students Ask About The 'Dark Mysteries' . . .

By ADRIENNE BOSWORTH
(Excerpt of story printed in the Mar. 4 edition of the WRFD-Radio "Commentator")

"Sex education cannot prevent illegitimate pregnancy and venereal disease the way driver education can prevent automobile accidents."

Dan Spivey, former health science teacher and now vice principal of Westhaven Junior High School, leaned back in his chair and explained his point: "In driver education we teach a skill. The skilled driver is less likely to have an accident. In sex education we present facts. We dispel misinformation. We try to get the kids over the bugaboo of talking about sex. We try to help them develop a wholesome attitude toward sex. But it does not influence promiscuity one way or another."

Then why bother?

"We teach about the circulatory system and we teach about the digestive system and the respiratory system. The reproductive system is no more or no less important. It is part of the total concept of health education," replies Mrs. Ina Singleton, a trained nurse and 11th-grade health teacher at Brookhaven High School.

These are two examples of opening up the Columbus classroom as an arena for formal instruction on a topic that is loosely tossed about these days from billboards to soda counters, from theater marquees to shaving lotions. But, according to Lester W. Huber, assistant superintendent for instruction, there is no "frontal attack" on sex education in the Columbus public school system. Rather, such instruction is permissive. If it is taught, it is part of the health course in 8th and 11th grades.

At this stage, Columbus' attitude toward sex education falls somewhere in the middle of the national scholastic spectrum. Some school systems forbid it entirely. Others, such as those in Chicago and Washington, have approved pilot projects.

Whether sex education is included in a health course in Columbus depends upon the attitude of the school principal and the individual health teacher. The 8th grade textbook, Your Health, Today and Tomorrow, touches only fringes of reproduction in its material on the endocrine system. The source material for sex education is in the supplement to the textbook, For Youth to Know.

Whether sex education is taught in a particular school also hinges on community attitudes. "And it is not taught where a particular community would resist," says Spivey.

The students obviously are aware of the divergence in curricula around town. Mrs. Singleton, who does deal with the subject in her classes, relates: "My students come to me and say, 'They don't teach sex education at such-and-such a school.' They think the other kids are missing something."

Most of the students who have received sex education in the classroom champion the course.

"Children," observes Mrs. Singleton, "ask questions — and need to have them answered."

Mrs. Singleton broaches the subject by telling her class: "Some of you might be embarrassed by the subject we are going to discuss. Some of your parents may not want you to receive this information here. If this is the case, you may go to the library." If a parent objects to his child receiving sex education in school, the student is excused from class when it is discussed. Mrs. Singleton has never lost a student. But Spivey recalls one student whose mother objected on religious grounds.

The 8th grade health science course, if it includes a sex education unit, begins with social adjustment, including dating and boy-girl relationships. It then advances from human growth and physiological changes to the reproductive system and venereal disease.

The sex education unit is started far enough into the term to give the teacher time to build up the necessary rapport with the class. The teacher discusses dating first as the avenue into the subject of sex. "It is better to have sex creep into the discussion than to hit the class with it," says Spivey.

Available to the 8th grade teacher is a film, Human Growth, that deals with reproduction and is geared to the grade level. The 8th grade course is coeducational.

The 11th grade course is run on a team-teaching basis at Brookhaven. Boys and girls are together for some classes and separated for others, with Mrs. Singleton instructing the girls and her male colleague, the boys.

At the 11th grade level, says Mrs. Singleton, "We hit reproduction and venereal disease pretty hard." The course also covers male and female anatomy, sexual intercourse, pre-natal care and birth.

The biggest problem with sex education in Columbus schools, insist some teachers and students, is that it begins too late, thus allowing many wrong notions to sprout in the youngsters' concept of sex. Mrs. Singleton says she is "astonished" by the misinformation harbored by her high school students: "These youngsters think they know so much, but they don't know. Those who really know, probably because they have good relationships with their mothers and fathers, are in the minority."

The fact that most youngsters are allowed to stumble on sex "information" rather than getting it through authoritative instruction is supported by studies showing that more than 90 percent of young boys get their information from other boys and 40 to 50 percent of the girls from their girl-friends.

The students also sense the need for earlier instruction. Says a high school junior: "I think it should be taught, but earlier. Too many have already made mistakes."

Spivey admits there is "no magic time" to begin sex education. However, he believes the 8th grade is not early enough: "It should be started in the 4th, 5th or 6th grade, depending upon the community."

So, why isn't it taught earlier?

Mrs. Edna Lamber, head of health and physical education for the city school system, claims that a foundation for sex education is being created in the lower grades. She adds, however, that a variety of circumstances can prevent a child from being exposed to basic birds-and-bees instruction in elementary grades.

One reason, she says, is the high mobility rate of Columbus families. "I can see that a child transferring from one school to another can miss out on this subject," she says. Also a problem, she says, is the fact that many students come to Columbus schools from other states where the foundation for more sophisticated instruction was never laid.

Mrs. Lambert further maintains that elementary level sex education might not make as great an "impact" as a film such as Human Growth, and in some cases "the pupil wouldn't absorb what is being taught. We teach reading in the early grades, but there are always some students who get to junior high and can't read well."

The health teacher who complains about lack of preparation for sex education, Mrs. Lambert contends, probably feels there isn't enough emphasis on the subject in the lower grades. However, she says: "The math teachers also think we ought to teach more math in elementary school."

Some teachers and administrators don't feel as strongly about early introduction to sex education in the classroom, acknowledging the delicate nature of the topic. For example, one elementary school principal, who noted that her school avoided the subject, said:

"We have to be pretty careful in elementary school. If we find a need for such information, we contact the parents." At the high school level, however, Spivey and Mrs. Singleton say most parents are happy to have the school's assistance in providing sex information. "I've had parents call me at home and come to me at PTA meetings to say thank you," Mrs. Singleton says.

A clear distinction is draw between sex education and sexual morality. The latter is not a hard and fast issue in the classroom. "We talk about the implications of intercourse," Spivey says, "but it is not the school's job to dictate a moral tone. That's the job of home and church."

Press Club Women To Show Petticoats

A demonstration will be held at the Southern Hotel tonight as the "Gang From ANTI" arrives to protest just about everything.

Members of the "gang" are the women of the Press Club of Ohio who are presenting the sixth annual Petticoat Preview, the gals' counterpart to the stag Gridiron Show which is slated for tomorrow evening.

Opening with an espresso hour, this evening's activities will continue with a "sit-in" dinner and the "demonstration," a singing satire on local, state and federal politics. Thes women will then preview the 1966 Gridiron Show, "The Boys From UNCLE."

The men's show was started by the Press Club 10 years ago. After four years of being left out of this annual event, the women persuaded the men to open their dress rehearsal for a "petticoat preview." The women added a dinner and a show of their own.

General chairman of the Petticoat Preview is Mrs. Bea Green. Miss Mary McGarey is script chairman. Other aides are Mrs. Ruth Flavin, reservations; Mrs. Marianne Tomlinson, decorations; Mrs. Vanessa St. Clair, hostesses and Miss Martha Brian, props.

Beta Alumni To Have Spring Roundup Apr. 14

The Rev. Dr. Seth R. Brooks, general president of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, will be honored guest and featured speaker at the Spring Roundup of Betas, sponsored by the Central Ohio Beta Theta Pi Alumni, Apr. 14, at 7 p.m. at the Neil House.

Accompanying Dr. Brooks will be most of the other general officers and trustees of the national fraternity.

Brooks has been minister of Universalist National Memorial Church, Washington, D.C., since 1939, according to Charles F. Glander, president of the local Beta alumni and chairman of this year's Spring Roundup. He has been general president of Beta Theta Pi since 1960. He is a 1922 graduate of St. Lawrence College.

Glander indicated that the program for the evening will include a social hour at 6 p.m. at the Neil House, preceding the banquet at 7 p.m. He also said that "Fraternal Fifties" cards will be presented to those Beta alumni living in the Central Ohio area who have been active members for fifty years.

Concluding the evening will be the traditional "Loving Cup" ceremony, using the John Riley Knox Loving Cup which will be brought here from Oxford, Ohio, for this occasion. Knox was the founder of Beta Theta Phi on Aug. 6, 1839, while a student at Miami University.

Reservations for the Spring Roundup can be made by contacting Glander at CA. 4-4125 or HU. 6-4423.

The National Board of Trustees of Beta Theta Pi will meet in Columbus all day Friday, Apr. 15, and will go to Athens, O., on Apr. 16 to join in the celebration of the 125th anniversary of the founding of the Beta chapter at Ohio University.

Society Slates Speakers

A handicapped couple, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert E. Shelley, 653 S. Brinker-av, will be the guest speakers at the April meeting of the Parents' Group of the Franklin County Society for Crippled Children Wednesday, Apr. 20, at the Treatment Center, 555 S. Monroe-av.

A potluck dinner is scheduled for 6 p.m. A short business meeting and the speakers will follow the meal.

APPLICATIONS READY

Between Apr. 3 and 28 applications for absent and disabled voters' ballots may be filed with the boards of elections in each of the 88 counties.

Tuition-Free Education Advocated At Confab

Tuition-free college educations for all qualified applicants were advocated by two speakers at a college cost conference sponsored by the Ohio AFL-CIO in cooperation with Kent State University.

Speaking for free public college education at the recent conference were Dr. M. M. Chambers of Indiana University and Emery Bacon, assistant to the president of West Virginia University.

Dr. Chambers, a ranking expert on college financing, said elimination of college tuition fees would be an extension of the U. S. system of free high school education which he called "the marvel of the world."

Bacon said that the Labor movement advances five proposals to the problems of higher education: Expanding free public education to 14 years and eventually to 16, giving state universities adequate support, continuing federal support of higher education, consideration of compulsory attendance laws to meet manpower needs and broadening of both graduate programs and general studies for adults.

Dr. John Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents, told the 240 Labor, business and education representatives that Ohio has made significant gains in recent years in dealing with the problems of higher education. Millett was challenged by Ohio AFL-CIO President Frank W. King, who charged that tuition at state schools is rising faster than state support. Said King, "We are losing the battle."

Conference chairman Robert D. Bollard, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio AFL-CIO, said that statistics indicate 72 percent of the population of the state have family incomes of less than $7,500. "It would appear from university profiles," he said, "that students from these families comprise less than 20 percent of the student body at our state universities and land grant colleges. And these families bear a proportionately larger share of the high cost of education."

Dr. James H. Pelley, professor of education at Miami University, told the group that college education in Ohio is "becoming the prerogative of the rich and working class students are being priced out."

'Discussion Leadership' Is Topic At Seminar

The Columbus Chapter of the Administrative Management Society in conjunction with the local chapter of the Systems and Procedures Association, will hold a seminar on the subject of "Discussion Leadership," 9 a.m. Apr. 16, at the office of the Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc., 95 W. Long-st.

All members of the association, as well as any other person, are invited to attend. A nominal fee of $1 is being charged for course materials.

PAYMENTS UP

Ohio's subsidy payments for financing the dependent children program may exceed the expenditures of last year, State Auditor Roger Cloud said.

8-Million Families Equipped With Automatic Dishwashers

BUILT-IN MODEL
Slide-Out Racks

Are you a modern homemaker? Not if you're still washing dishes by hand.

Eight million American women already have switched to doing dishes automatically.

Engineering and design advances have made today's automatic dishwashers the most efficient time-and-labor-saving kitchen appliance available. A housewife who still clings to the dreary three-times-a-day washing-dishes-by-hand routine is not only behind the times, she's also squandering hours that could be spent in more satisfying family pursuits.

Studies show that electric dishwashers free the average homemaker of about 90 minutes of messy cleanups daily — more if she has a large family or entertains a great deal.

Tableware that would ordinarily be stacked on the counters or sink, or washed after every meal, can be placed right in the dishwasher and washed all at once at the end of the day. New models handle large capacities, require no pre-rinsing of dishes and deliver tableware that's hygenically clean, bone-dry and ready to be stacked away on the shelves. There's no kitchen clutter and no extra dishcloths to add to washday chores.

Modern dishwashers are also easier than ever to operate and load, and are equipped with a host of automatic features.

Most models have pushbutton controls and a variety of cycles that can handle anything from fragile glassware to heavily-soiled cooking utensils. Big glide-out racks permit random loading, and you even load odd-sized platters and large pans with ease. Automatic dispensers release detergents and rinsing agents during the proper washing cycle. Many models have hot water boosters to assure the correct water temperature to provide sanitation and effective washing action.

There are several types of dishwashers from which to choose depending on the size and style of your kitchen, your need for countertop space and your preference for top-or front-loading.

Free-standing models are separate cabinet units that can be permanently installed at the end of a counter or anywhere in the kitchen. These front-loaders are available in a variety of countertops including wood cutting blocks and laminated plastic to match kitchen counters.

Undercounter models, also known as built-ins, are front-loaders that are permanently installed under a counter.

IN 30 YEARS

Nary A Foreclosure For First Federal

When it comes to the pointing with pride department, First Federal Savings and Loan Association points proudly to a record that is never reflected in its annual report.

That record shows that in 30 years of making mortgage loans, that total millions of dollars, First Federal has yet to file its first foreclosure.

RICHARD EIDSON
"We're proud . . ."

"We're proud of that record because it shows we know how to help people become homeowners through the type of mortgage loan that fits easily into a family budget," said Richard I. Eidson, president.

Eidson pointed out that in addition to maintaining low interest rates, First Federal provides other mortgage loan services that have helped it grow to one of the largest saving and loan associations in Ohio.

These services include holding closing costs to a minimum, reducing the red tape of closing and permitting prepayment of all or part of a mortgage loan without penalty. Thus if a homeowner earns extra money or receives a bonus, he can reduce his indebtedness and save on interest.

Eidson also commented First Federal has an historic right to use of First in its name. He said First Federal was the first savings and loan association in Columbus to be granted a Federal charter, to have insurance of savings accounts and to open a branch office.

First Federal has three offices, downtown at 65 E. State-st, 2680 W Broad-st and 2450 E. Main-st. Total assets are now in excess of $80-million.

Sun, Water, Wind, Fire Present Biggest Danger

Sunlight, moisture, wind and fire are the four deadly horsemen that prey on houses.

Each year thousands of homes are damaged or destroyed by the elements. In many cases, premature deterioration could have been averted in the design stage.

1. Sunlight causes paint to fade and dries out building materials.

Building products manufacturers devise many ways to defeat the sun's destructive rays. One method used successfully is to coat the material wtih mineral granules that absorb the rays.

Another method is to filter out harmful rays. An example of a filter-type finish is the acrylic plastic coatings used on mineral fiber sidings.

2. Moisture from leaks and condensation can damage gypsum wallboard, plaster and woodwork and cause paint to peel.

You can prevent this type of damage by repairing leaks promptly and caulking joints where leaks are likely to occur, such as around windows, doors and sills.

Provision for adequate ventilation for the attic, insulation of water pipes, use of effective storm sash or insulating glass on windows and use of "breather-type" exterior materials are some ways to prevent damage by condensation or trapped moisture.

3. Wind damages homes by hurling debris, knocking over trees, blowing off shingles and putting tremendous pressure on building materials.

Will City National loan young couple $11,300 to buy a house and then loan them another $2,800 to remodel the kitchen?

Yep—that's why we're the LOANINGest Bank in Town.

Being willing to help people get the home they want is our business. Sometimes it means making the mortgage loan and then another loan on the side. Surprising enough-we call it a side loan. Our mortgage loan plan has other equally clever terms, like a monthly reduction feature which means more of the payment goes to reducing the principal and less each month is charged as interest. Or the no escalator clause, which means the interest rate can't be raised during the life of the loan. It really has nothing to do with escalators.

If you're buying or building a house—find a willing banker to help you—see the Loaningest Bank in Town. And if you really want to remodel the kitchen—great.

CREATE YOUR OWN LAYOUT WITH DIVIDER

GENTLE WIPE

HARD-BOARD walls, perfect for room dividers, can be wiped clean with a minimum of effort using a damp cloth. Here the homemaker makes play of this one-time chore by doing her wall cleaning wearing a going-out dress.

If hunting for a house or apartment has you frazzled because you can't find one with a good room layout, don't be discouraged. Room dividers may solve the problem perfectly.

Walls can be "shortened" or "lengthened," jutting columns concealed, and windows beautified by new see-through dividers that you can put up with just a screwdriver.

"Dividers in effect let you create your own layout," said interior designer Mary Ann Wills, who advises Galway, Inc., Chicago manufacturer of decorative space dividers.

Ideal for those who move often and, therefore, must rent living quarters, this type of easy-to-assemble "wall" is a practical long-range investment.

Screw-on panels are supported by floor-to-ceiling tension poles in a choice of traditional or modern designs and in several finishes. Extensions are available to cope with high ceilings.

"And when it's time to move in another year or so, your 'wall' goes right along, without leaving any holes for landlords to complain about," Miss Wills added.

She mentioned numerous ways in which decorative dividers can aid in solving furniture arrangement problems and saving money, too.

For example, suppose you have a long sofa and a short wall due to a badly placed dining "L." With a single divider section, you can lengthen the wall and, at the same time, give the dining area a feeling of greater privacy.

If you run into an arrangement of windows that defies the use of standard draperies, as is the case in some older buildings, consider using decorative dividers instead to create a dramatic effect.

Galway screw-on panels, which are detailed reproductions of hard-carved original designs, may be found in a variety of styles.

WHY BOTHER WITH ONE-ROOM AIR CONDITIONERS WHEN-

WHOLE-HOUSE GAS AIR CONDITIONING COSTS $14.00 A MONTH TO OWN!

Probably the reason some people are still going for those roaring wind-tunnels called window air conditioners is that they haven't heard how little it costs to own whole-house Gas air conditioning.

Hear it now: Fourteen dollars a month— or less—not only buys a powerful three-ton capacity Gas central air conditioning system, but installs it, too. And there's no down payment.

Does the low price surprise you? It shouldn't, when you consider that a compact Gas air conditioner attaches to your present Gas furnace, converting it instantly into a matched heating-cooling team. Gas air conditioning is the quietest, longest-lived and most trouble-free of any central home-cooling system. And economical Gas can cool your whole house, every room, for a fraction of the cost of keeping a flock of noisy one-room air conditioners in electricity.

Send in the no-obligation coupon today, and enjoy summer with cool, healthful air in every room in your home.

MAKE KITCHEN A SOCIAL CENTER

Etiquette experts have dealt little, if at all, with rules for entertaining in kitchens. Perhaps they should.

"Except for very formal occasions, the tendency has always been for the family and guests to gather in the kitchen," observed Henry O. Radloff, vice president of the dinette division of B. Brody Seating Company, Chicago.

This tendency is even stronger today, he said, with family rooms and kitchens built side-by-side.

"So why not be sure your kitchen is as attractive to guests as your living room?" he suggested.

"You'll be a happier hostess when you're not constantly apologizing for the way things look."

An authority on kitchen planning Radloff listed several ways you can make yours more sociable:

1. Begin with the dining furniture, checking to see whether it is scuffed, wobbly and worn.

If the finish is marred and the upholstery split, make a bright new set your first step toward a more attractive kitchen.

You'll find such a wide range of new styles, shapes, patterns, and colors to choose from, it may be hard to make up your mind.

2. Provide adequate lighting. Many kitchens have only a single overhead fixture, Radloff reported.

Other lights are needed above the sink and range so you don't cast a shadow as you work there.

3. Vent away kitchen odors. So many types of range hoods and fans are available, there's no excuse for odors to linger.

4. Check the flooring. Is the pattern worn through? Are tiles popping loose? Kitchen flooring takes constant abuse, so look for durability as well as good looks in new floor covering.

5. Dress up the windows. Try shutters instead of curtains for a change, or hang a bright valance across the top if there's a view.

6. Camouflage unattractive things like pipes under a sink (a fabric skirt perhaps), waste can (in a base cabinet or below sink), and unwashed dishes (with a folding screen or room divider).

7. Consider the wonders paint can do. Surfaces that accumulate grease soon become worn from frequent washing, so kitchen walls and cabinets may need painting more often than other rooms do.

For the eating area, look into washable wallpaper to complement the plastic table top and practical vinyl chair covers of that new metal dining set.

NEW FINISH ENDS SINK SMUDGING

Stainless steel sinks are now available in a florentine finish that requires no special polishing.

According to Gloria Lewis, home design consultant for Just Mfg. Co., Franklin Park, Ill., makers of stainless steel sinks, the finish utilizes a cross-grain effect that hides fingerprint smudging.

As a result, Miss Lewis said, the sink doesn't have to be polished. You treat it as you would an ordinary porcelain sink.

There has been some criticism of stainless steel for kitchen use in general because of its susceptibility to fingerprints, she said.

"Insofar as sinks are concerned, this problem only lasts until the special polishing compounds applied at the factory wear off," she said. "Then fingerprinting becomes almost entirely unnoticeable.

Miss Lewis pointed out that in addition to being functionable, the new finish is also highly attractive, and a complement to the kitchen.

THIS IS the powerful new furnace cleaner obtained by Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning. It's called the "Power-Vac" and uses gale-force cleaning power to remove dust, soot, dirt and even foreign objects from home heating units.

Bogen Adds Powerful Furnace Cleaner To Line Of Services

Arthur D. Bogen, general manager of Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, 490 N. High-st, announces the introduction of a powerful new furnace cleaner to their line of services.

The new cleaning unit is dubbed Power-Vac. Bogen reports that his firm has been looking for a satisfactory furnace cleaner for 45 years. They've inspected many types from many different manufacturers. In their opinion, Power-Vac is the first unit they've found that is good enough to do a thorough cleaning job. The Bogen firm's reputation for superior quality workmanship is known and respected throughout Central Ohio.

In describing the Power-Vac equipment, Bogen stated that the unit produces gale force cleaning power. A suction force, equivalent to 70 miles per hour, removes all dirt, dust, soot and even foreign objects from the furnace and ducts. The controlled force generated by the Power-Vac is strong enough to move an object the size and weight of a building brick.

"If you've ever seen what a 70 mile per hour gale does to trees in Florida, you can better visualize the cleaning strength of this new Power-Vac furnace cleaning equipment," he added. Of course, this tremendous power is completely controlled during the operation.

Completing his description of the useful Power-Vac furnace cleaner, Bogen stated that 12,000 cubic feet of air-per-minute is sucked through the flexible pipe attached to the home owner's heating system. To better understand the tremendous volume of air involved, Bogen suggested that a person might bear in mind the fact that the average size home 12,000 cubic feet of space. contains approximately 12,000 cubic feet of space.

"This Power-Vac furnace cleaner," continued Bogen, "is definitely superior to any we've found on the market so far. From the customer's point of view, it incorporates three important and desirable features. Power-Vac is powerful, efficient and economical.

On the average, a homeowner's heating unit operates eight months of the year. Unless a furnace has an electronic air cleaner, it should be cleaned thoroughly at least once a year."

To introduce the benefits of Power-Vac furnace cleaning to Central Ohio home owners, the Bogen firm is extending a special "get-acquainted" offer. A complete cleaning of a gas, oil or coal fired furnace may be obtained for only $22.50. A thorough furnace tune-up is available for $11.50. For a limited time, customers may obtain both the "tune-up" and the furnace cleaning—a $34.00 value — for just $29.50.

Customers may call the Bogen firm at CA. 8-6543 for an appointment.

Roof Is Low Cost Item

A roof may be at the top of your house, but it's way down on your list of home expenses.

Considering the area it covers, and the fact that it services and protects the entire house, a roof is actually one of the lowest expense items for the homeowner.

An average ranch or split-level house requires from 1800 to 2000 square feet of roofing, while an average two-story house needs only about 1000 square feet.

Even a high-grade roofing material like heavyweight asphalt shingles represents less than three percent of the building expense in a $20,000 house. And since heavyweight shingles can be expected to last up to 25 years or more, the cost is amortized over a long period.

LOCATE APPLIANCES WITH CARE

When planning your kitchen, place major appliances in areas where they can operate at maximum efficiency.

Don't, for instance, locate a refrigerator-freezer next to a clothes dryer or where it will be hit by direct sunlight for long periods of time. By exposing it to heat, you may be forcing the appliance to work extra hard to keep foods at their prescribed degree of coldness.

In the days before no-frost refrigerator-freezers, other efficiency drains could occur. Excess frost on manually-defrosted units often made the appliance work hard to stay cold. With no-frost models, which do not permit frost to form in either the freezer or refrigerator compartments, this is never a problem.

Absence of frost, together with precise temperature controls and improved thin-wall foam insulation, make it easier for modern refrigerator-freezers to operate at peak efficiency. Ease of operation means that power consumption — and costs — are also kept down.

HOUSE TOO NOISY? TRY THIS BOOK

Although household noise is a common fixture in many homes, it needn't be a permanent one. In a 16-page color booklet entitled, "The Quiet Home," the Armstrong Cork Company outlines the major causes of noise and explains what homeowners can do to make their homes quieter places to live.

Outdated Drafty House Windows Are Replaced By Low-Cost Nu-Sash

Doing something about those old-fashioned, drafty, hard-to-wash house windows that cause high heating bills has been a vexing and costly problem for homeowners who want to modernize. However, a handsome new product now provides an easy, inexpensive solution.

The product — Nu-Sash — is an aluminum double-hung unit specifically designed to replace old house windows. What's more, the cost, including installation, is approximately 40% less than any other method of updating old windows. They can be purchased with no down payment and modest monthly installments.

Despite the low cost, Nu-Sash windows are packed with outstanding features not found in windows used in many new homes being built. For example:

Stretching and straining on tipsy ladders or sills to wash outside window glass is completely eliminated. Nu-Sash lift out easily for convenient cleaning inside the home.

Eye-catching, modern design updates the appearance of the home, inside as well as out.

Painting, puttying and almost all other maintenance is completely eliminated, since Nu-Sash are constructed entirely of aluminum and rigid vinyl. An anodized protective coating keeps the aluminum finish bright and new-looking indefinitely.

Coil spring balances raise and lower the sash smoothly, effortlessly, without binding or sticking. Sash cords and weights are eliminated.

One of the reasons Nu-Sash is much less expensive than other methods of replacing old windows is the unique manner in which they are installed. There is no costly construction work. Inside plaster and woodwork is never disturbed.

Expert mechanics merely remove the old sash, insert jamb liners and snap the Nu-Sash into place. The usual window can be converted in just 20 minutes.

The product can be used to replace all types of house windows — oriel, double-hung, casement, stationary, and in-swinging French type. A picture window model also is available to replace single-pane fixed windows, as well as double and triple units found in older homes. The picture window features a large center section flanked by double-hung or sliding sash for ventilation.

Nu-Sash has been tested under rigid laboratory conditions. Results show it is superior to standards for air leakage set by FHA for new house windows. Savings in heat alone should pay a large share of Nu-Sash cost.

A heavy-duty model window also has been designed for schools, apartments, factories, and commercial buildings at a comparably low cost. Detail drawings and estimates available.

Homeowners Are Demanding Bigger Kitchen Areas

• • •

REMODELING (above) arranges work center in compact area behind counter, uses free space for snack area.

• • •

Home owners are getting ready to launch their own space program — and the favored site is the kitchen.

A recent survey conducted for the National Home Improvement Council reveals that the kitchen is the center of attraction for most families planning home improvements. It's the room they would most like to do something about — and "more space" is the head of the most-wanted list.

While the survey brings out the need for more electrical outlets, better lighting, new sinks and new floor coverings, greater priority goes to improvements aimed at providing more cabinet and counter space, more space for better working arrangements, more space for built-ins, more space for eating, more space for activities such as kitchen deskwork and ironing.

Whether the kitchen space program calls for an all-out, all-over remodeling job or step-by-step changes within the framework of the existing floor plan, major appliances are likely to play a large part in the modernization.

Logically, kitchen remodeling time is an appropriate time to make needed replacements of major appliances—and to take advantage of some of the new developments in these appliances. Even though appliances are not outworn, they may be outdated.

Refrigerator-freezers, now frost-free for "no defrosting ever" convenience, provide increased food storage capacity yet take up less floor space.

Ranges, along with self-cleaning features and more automatic cooking controls, offer flexibility in design aimed at solving space problems. There are, for example, ranges that provide a built-in look without the cost of installing built-ins. For flexibility, too, are built-in wall ovens and separate surface-cooking units.

Dishwashers come in a wide range of designs calculated to fit in with any space-making kitchen plan—over-counter, under-counter, under-sink, free-standing, portable.

COLUMBIA STARTS FINANCING PROGRAM

Whole house natural gas air conditioning now is within the reach of every Columbus homeowner, thanks to a financing program provided by Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc.

Elden H. Davis, Columbus, Central District manager for Columbia of Ohio, said that the cost of purchasing and installing home air conditioning now may be financed through the gas company by customers in Columbia of Ohio's 61-county territory.

Cost of a typical 3-ton, gas-fueled whole-house air conditioner for an average-size-home, including normal installation, will be $14 per month under the new program, Davis said. Units for larger homes, or where special duct work is required would be slightly higher. Terms may be arranged with monthly payments over a 10-year period.

"For anyone considering air conditioning, the first step is to have a survey made of the existing warm air system. Columbia of Ohio experts make these surveys and there is no charge for the service," Davis said.

A survey will establish: (1) the effectiveness of the present duct system for cooling use, (2) what, if any, duct work, air intakes, and circuit connections need be added and (3) the size of the gas air conditioning unit needed to cool the house.

If the present forced air furnace is in good operating condition, there is no need to replace it in order to enjoy year-around air conditioning. All that is necessary is to install an air cooling unit outside the home, Davis said.

Columbia of Ohio also provides service and maintenance on gas air conditioning equipment after it is installed and has service policies available for all units purchased under the new program, Davis added.

ELDEN DAVIS

The gas industry and gas appliance manufacturers have led in the development of whole-house air conditioning systems to a point where natural gas central gas air conditioning now is competitive with units using other fuel, Davis pointed out.

"This, coupled with the principle of quiet operation and dependable maintenance-free service, is an important reason why natural gas — long established as the favorite fuel for all types of space heating in Ohio — is increasing so rapidly in popularity as the preferred fuel for air conditioning area homes, commercial establishments and industries," Davis said.

Natural gas air conditioning installations increased 61 percent in Columbia of Ohio territory in 1965 over the preceding year, Davis said.

Another important reason for the steady increase in gas air conditioning installations, Davis said, is the fact that homes equipped with whole-house air conditioning will be worth more in the years ahead.

Recently the Federal Housing Administration issued a statement encouraging inclusion of air conditioning systems in new homes, observing that "within a few years any house not air conditioned will be obsolescent."

Where formerly only one manufacturer was producing gas-fueled home-air conditioning models, now four — Bryant, Arkla, Whirlpool and Janitrol — have models in production.

One manufacturer's model has become a standard of efficient and dependable operation. It is a single unit, fueled by natural gas, and produces either warm or cool air as needed throughout the house. One thermostat, located in the main part of the house, controls its operation.

This same manufacturer has developed a chilled water-hot water unit that also provides year-around air conditioning — and the unit may be placed outside the house as a space-saver, or inside if desired, Davis said.

Another manufacturer now is in production with a simple-design gas-fired air conditioner that is particularly suitable as an add-on to the heating system in existing homes.

One leading gas furnace manufacturer recently completed a new three-million dollar factory with plans to produce 30,000 to 40,000 home air conditioning units a year, Davis said. As the demand for gas air conditioning continues to increase, others are expected to follow suit.

LINCOLN HOMES:

They Ask Customer Preference

When Lincoln Homes decided to design a new housing series, they went about it with the customer's wants foremost in their minds. They called on the owners of the more than 16,000 houses they have sold in 18 years and asked, "What do you look for in a new home?"

This is what they found:

Distinctive exterior stylings.

Lincoln went to work and came up with the Mary Todd series of ranches . . . the "perfect home" in three distinct designs: A California with double-door entrance, a Provincial with a distinct Norman look and a Colonial with fieldstone combining with wood for an Early American flavor. All emphasize the "total use" concept.

All exterior treatments have the same floor plan—a sheltered entry into a large traffic-directing foyer, three spacious, well-buffered bedrooms plus powder room and main bath. Straight ahead is the dramatic living room with high beamed ceiling and an imposing stone fireplace wall. Here, too, is the formal dining room and kitchen-family room area of 11 by 14 feet. Two-car garage has a large workshop area and could become a three-car garage.

The lower level continues the "total use" theme—with a 14 by 22 foot game room with snack bar area, separate laundry and utility areas and two additional bedrooms and bath.

Clothes closets and storage rooms seem to be within arm's reach everywhere.

A prime feature of the Mary Todd is that the owner-builder can complete only as much of the design as his present family requires. The lower level can be finished right away — or later.

This means that 1,400 feet of original construction becomes 2,800 feet of house. The basic house can be expanded to five bedrooms and three baths at very little extra cost.

DRAMATIC ROOF of this contemporary-style home was created with heavyweight asphalt shingles, special application techniques. Horizontal effect is achieved by using a triple or double course of light-colored shingles.

Eagle Did Sentinel Duty

That symbolic American bird — the eagle — had a practical use in late 19th century architecture. It's also found occasionally on roofs today.

The roofs of many houses and barns built in snowy regions of New York and New England sported cast iron sculptures of eagles. Called snow eagles, these figures were set at intervals around the roof's lower edge, or in staggered patterns along its lower quarter.

In addition to being decorative, their purpose was to keep snow that had heaped on the roof from clogging roof gutters or falling on the heads of passersby. A blanket of snow kept on the roof in this fashion also helped to insulate the house.

Snow eagles from old homes are valued today mainly as collectors' items and are found not infrequently in antique shops. For protection against heat loss and for decorative impact, modern homemakers usually rely on effective insulation and heavyweight asphalt shingles instead of snow eagles, although snow birds are still used with some types of roofs today.

'Designed Roofs' Are Home's Crowning Glory

One of the ways homeowners can achieve individuality for their homes is to give special attention to the roof. The roof is the largest exterior surface of a home, yet it is often taken for granted in the development of the structure's esthetics.

Four out of five homes are roofed with asphalt shingles, but the design possibilities of this versatile material are often overlooked. An important step toward making the roof ttruly the "crowning achievement" of a home is the new trend of "designed roofs."

These special effects can take the form of extra-heavy shadow lines, vertical and horizontal stripes, bordered effects and even silhouettes. The simplest and most common approaches to designed roofs are listed below:

1. Ribbon course application. This method was pioneered by the famed architect Frank Lloyd Wright. It involves the use of a triple-thick butt line at the eaves and at every fifth course of shingles.

Adaptations of this method include a double course instead of a triple course of shingles where a slightly less emphatic horizontal line is desired.

The spacing between the extra-heavy courses may also be varied. The ribbon course may be every sixth or seventh course. Doubling or tripling every third or fourth course will give the roof a more pronounced parallel emphasis.

Another variation of the ribbon course application is the use of the black starter strip on a white or light colored roof in place of the double or triple course of shingles. A one-inch exposure of the starter strip is usually sufficient to give the roof the effect of a strong shadow line.

Depending on local conditions and the type of ribbon course, the additional cost for 15 squares of a ribbon course roof will be only ten to 15 dollars for material and five dollars for extra labor.

2. Complementary-color shingles of different colors. Alternating courses of different but complementary colors of asphalt shingles will give a roof a striped effect. This approach may involve no extra cost for materials, but the labor cost may be slightly higher for the extra time required to distribute the different colors.

3. Horizontal panels. The shingles are applied in the usual way, except that a given number of courses have shingles of different colors.

COMPLETE LANDSCAPING SERVICE

TRIM THOSE hard-to-get-at-places, where the mower won't fit, with grass shears. Clip stragglers, for neatness around rocks, trees, steps, walk.

REMEMBER that hedges should be wider at the base than up top and clip accordingly. Quality hedge shears with scissor-sharp blades help.

SHAPE TOP and sides of hedge — and keep an eye out for stray shoots at front and rear. Light-weight "ladies' model" shears ease the chore.

Regular Schedule Can Lighten Garden Chores

"Putting off" garden-care chores means the work load mounts up until it's truly awesome. The garden suffers, too—never quite looks its best, and some favored, but neglected, plantings may die out altogether.

With the wiser course of frequent attention, at regular intervals, to lawn and garden needs, gardening is no longer a chore but a joy. And the results are more rewarding.

As a part of the schedule, protect health and appearance of the garden by proper pruning. Learn pruning rules, and follow them.

Know that certain flowering bushes must be pruned after flowering — including forsythia, honeysuckle, climbing roses, shrub roses, camellia, poinciana. Others may be pruned while the plant is still dormant, in winter weather. They include holly, red fruited barberry, dogwood, lilac, hydrangea.

Spring into summer pruning is recommended for rose of Sharon, boxwood, dogwood (shrub), everblooming roses, azaleas.

The clipping of hedges should be scheduled once monthly. Use hedge shears with superior balance and "cushion-comfort" grips to avoid back strain and callouses.

Lawn care plays a vital role in the maintenance schedule. How often to water depends to a great extent on geographical location. But the general rule is from seven to 10 days, if no rainfall has occurred.

Keep in mind that overwatering can be at least as harmful as under-watering.

With an established lawn, the rule is "water deep"—from six to eight inches. Helpful might be a Water Timer, "set- table" at either Light, Average or Heavy, to be certain sufficient penetration is achieved. The Timer may be attached to either faucet or sprinkler.

Where a new lawn is being nurtured, water lightly.

For Financing

Anyone who owns a home can finance landscaping of the grounds by applying for a loan at a bank. Under Title I, of the Federal Housing Act, government-insured loans can be made up to $3500 for landscaping.

Most large nurserymen will arrange for financing at local banks if the home owner desires it.

The best procedure is to find out how much the cost of landscaping will be from a nurseryman or landscape architect, then apply to a bank for a loan.

It is preferable to have a plan for the landscaping, if any considerable sum is to be spent.

As a rule of thumb, a first-rate landscaping job should not cost less than five percent of the value of the home.

Landscaping costs can be added to a mortgage in many cases if the same bank handles both the loan and the mortgage. This holds true generally for Savings and Loan Associations as well.

Landscaping Today More Open, Simpler

Gone are the days when landscaping was a pile-up of plants at the foundation and elsewhere about the property. Today landscaping is more open, so one can see the individual characteristics and beauty of each plant and its flowers coordinated in the general planting scheme to provide a magnificent look to the whole property.

According to the American Association of Nurserymen, no landscaping is suitable unless it pleases the home owner and adds to the family's pleasure in living. Landscaping is not just to look at, but should be functional contributing to family living.

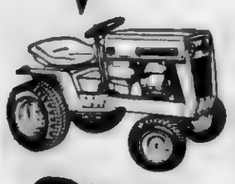
Centered around the patio, there are three things landscaping should achieve. The first of these is color. Plants should be set out to provide year-round color — flowers in the spring and summer, deep green that provides a summer look even in winter. Secondly, landscaping should achieve good living. It need not be costly to have continuous flowering to brighten spring, summer and fall outdoor living. Nurserymen can offer advice on plants with long season blooming, such as roses, or with typical seasonal blooming like crabapples and cherries and azaleas in spring, followed by rhododendrons or other plants to bring on the results wanted. Every patio for example, needs annual flowering plants in the summer months.

Third, every property should have certain outstanding flowers in their season. The north without forsythia, etc., in the springtime would be desolate. Camelias and azaleas in the south, add the spark that is typical of the area.

Flowering trees should combine shade and beauty wherever possible. Home fruit, too, is part of the general picture of abundance. In the fall, of course, one wants foliage colors in areas where they occur most vividly. The delight of a brilliant foliage tree warms the family's heart and grows in value with the passing years.

Landscaping is not a set affair, like the Japanese Garden, or the English formal garden, but a thing of beauty which pleases the family throughout the year. People at times have rages for gardens like the Japanese, English, French, Italian or similar gardens, but this is ridiculous if one has to sacrifice his own idea of beauty for the imported idea which may not fit into the American scheme of beauty in any sense of the word. It's like wearing sandals on a rough and tumble trip into the Rocky Mountains.

On The Lawn



Keep your credit green. Readers of a trade paper were recently advised by a top official of one of our biggest store chains: "All you have to do to check customers' credit is to cruise the streets. Those who keep up their homes are the best risks." (Excuse me while I mow the front lawn!)

* * *

Darn that Dog. A man from Scotts, the lawn people, tells me that the vast majority of all so-called "brown spots" are caused by dogs. And apart from training Fido to go behind the bushes, there really isn't any effective preventative or cure. Instead of trying to reseed an unsightly brown spot, replace it with a plug of good sod from the edge of the lawn.

Fuel Oil Damage. The grass around a fuel oil intake pipe is soon killed by spillage. Before replanting, dig out all saturated soil and replace. And if the oil man won't mend his ways, put a 8-12" circle of loose stones or sand around the pipe to catch the drippings.

Wise Gardener Protects Hands

Gloves are now textured for non-slip gripping, have curved fingers for better fit, and are made of weather, oil and chemicals-resisting neoprene processed to be soft and flexible for more comfort.

Beautiful Plantings Transform Home

What does your home look like to your neighbors? In a recent survey of areas where homes are well landscaped, most residents felt that even one neglected home could spoil a whole neighborhood.

It is not difficult to landscape the entrance to a home, providing the homeowner will continuously look at it from the curb and see what needs to be planted, in accordance with his own creative instincts, or what other neighbors have done in the area.

In some areas, a homeowner will have a lawn facing the street, perhaps a low hedge along the sidewalk and a driveway to the garage.

In such an "average planting," one should stand on the sidewalk in the exact middle of the property and face his house.

All large trees should be planted outside of imaginary lines to the corners of the house. This prevents the house from being dwarfed or obscured by large trees.

Smaller trees such as dogwood or crape myrtle may be planted inside such lines, close to the house.

Shrubs usually are planted in curved beds close to the house, with taller shrubs at house corners. Flowering and evergreen shrubs should be intermingled to provide contrast.

Foliages likewise should provide contrast. Taxus, or yew, is the deepest green of all coniferous evergreen shrubs; junifers may have a bluish cast, while arbor vitae may be lighter green or golden.

Some excellent flowering evergreens for entrance plantings include the rhododendrons and azaleas, although there are many more such as the hollies and pyracanthias and coloneasters.

Beds of annual plants often are used near entrances. These include the pelargoniums, or geraniums, petunias, dwarf snapdragon, marigolds, and numerous other plants.

As with all landscaping, good taste is required. It is recommended by the American Association of Nurserymen that a plan be prepared to make the home entrance most attractive.

THERE'S A rose for every purpose — climbers to beautify a fence; floribundas for rose hedges; hybrid tea roses for quality blooms; tree roses to dignify gardens.

Ever-Blooming Roses Serve Every Purpose

There are roses for every purpose — from the "living fence" to the lovely exhibition roses and climbers that beautify porches, garages and arbors.

All modern roses are "ever blooming," that is they have a burst of bloom in spring, quite a few blooms all summer and then a big bursting of bloom again in the fall until heavy frost.

The different types of roses include:

1. Hybrid teas. These generally offer the most perfectly formed blooms for the formal garden or for cut flowers to decorate the home. The colors are magnificent.

2. Floribunda roses offer many blooms on a single plant. If you are most interested in the quantity of blooms, many of which also are of good quality, these plants are for you. They are excellent as living fences and landscape decoration.

3. Climbing roses grow vigorously against a post, fence, arbor, porch, garage, and similar supporting structure.

4. Polyanthas are known as ramblers. They bear clusters of small flowers and they bloom profusely. They are colorful when massed in beds.

5. Tree roses are usually specimen plants used to set off a walk, porch, or some particular spot on the home grounds that may need a little "dressing up." They usually are around four to five feet in height, giving the effect of bouquets of lovely roses as guests walk between them.

6. Grandiflora rose is named because of its large size and wealth of blooms. It makes a fine accent plant, either in gardens or singly to add color where needed.

Whence Came Grass?

During your life you have learned to recognize the following as the first words in the Bible, Chap. 1 — first three verses of Genesis.

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters. And God said 'Let there be light and there was light."

In verse 11: "And God said 'Let the Earth bring forth grass'." It was the first mentioned of all plants. One can assume that in His great wisdom, He recognized the importance of grass.

For Gardening

Helpful tips for indoor and outdoor gardening are offered in the booklet, "How Does Your Garden Grow?" by Lucile Bush, consumer education director of Johnson Wax. Suggestions concerning safe and proper use of sprays and other garden chemicals are included.

HOMEMAKERS:

It's About Time You Saved Some

"If only I had more time . . ." Heard that line before? More likely it's a favorite of your own, often muttered as you watch your neighbor or fellow worker accomplish all that you do — and then some! The real reason you never have time for the "and then some" is that something's probably askew in your timetable.

Actually, it isn't more time we need, but less waste of it. There are exactly 1440 minutes a day, no more, no less. Start whittling down the ones you waste until they add up to something significant.

What better place to begin than when you first peek out of sleep-filled eyes in the morning. Rule number one: Get up when scheduled to wake up! Or if you're not the bound-out-of-bed type, you can try to learn to be a successful stay-in-bed like Sir Winston Churchill who dictated letters, went through mail and otherwise worked in bed until noon. If you can use this time to schedule your day, or solve a family problem, you may make a success of the extra 20 minutes or so you steal in bed in the morning.

GET ON A SCHEDULE

Above all, put yourself on schedule. This may sound regimented, but sitting down every morning, perhaps over that second cup of coffee, and writing out the day's activities can mean the difference between that satisfying sense of accomplishment at day's end versus the I-ran-around-all-day-and-didn't-accomplish-a-thing syndrome. It may even be a good idea to "diet" your schedule if it's overweight with too many household errands and civic and social activities outside the home.

Women with families should limit themselves to no more than three outside activities. Once they sign up for PTA, Symphony Association and Church Bazaar, for instance, that's enough.

When you make your list of activities, post it where you can keep an eye on it. Ideal spots are the kitchen bulletin board or on the dresser mirror. Now consider these time-saving tips:

A breakfast table set the night before saves time in morning's usually frantic pace. And, speaking of serving meals, use a tray when setting or clearing the table of dishes, silverware or condiments.

JOT DOWN CHORES

If you're spending the day around the house, have a pad and pencil handy for on-the-spot recordings of chores that need doing and items that need buying. Also a clock in every room — is important especially in the kitchen, bedroom, and bathroom.

Particularly useful are timers. Keep a couple in strategic places around the house, and you'll be saved by the bell many times — when the school bus arrives, children's bedtime, study time, when dinner's ready. In the kitchen, gadgets like onion choppers, egg slicers, strawberry hullers and apple corers are indispensible when preparing meals and snacks. Stock up on them. Blender cooking is a new gourmet art, but it's also time saving for the cook.

Instead of storing leftover foods in containers or on plates which need washing, store them in seal-proof plastic bags which you simply throw away. As for washing dishes, you're two steps ahead of the game if you own a dishwasher. If you don't, let the dishes dry themselves on the drainboard. And have you ever tried cooking double or triple recipes for meals all at once — then freezing the extra for quick dinners in the future?

ORGANIZATION IS KEY

When cleaning, avoid frustration and back-tracking by organizing equipment in advance. A piece of plywood mounted on casters makes a good cart for moving around pails of water, or other heavy items. A basket is handy for carrying small cleaning accessories from room to room. As a matter of fact, keep these supplies stored right in the basket.

If you're elected window washer, avoid the frantic running back and forth to find which side of the window the stubborn streak is on. You'll know at first glance if you clean with vertical strokes on the inside, horizontal strokes on the outside.

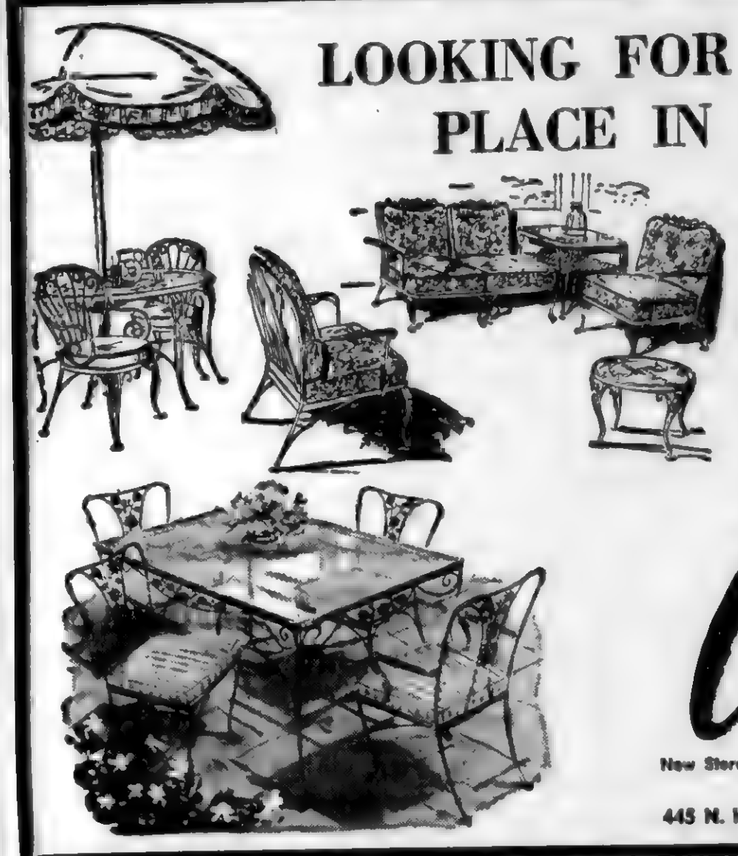
NEW SIDING, guttering can make an attractive difference in a home. Minimum-maintenance plastic siding and rain carrying systems used are of rigid vinyl. Before picture is above and after at left.

Here's Check List For Storm-Screens

One home improvement that adds considerably to both living comfort and the sales potential of a house is the installation of self-storing combination storm-and-screen windows and doors.

Since aluminum storm-and-screen windows and doors should be capable of withstanding all kinds of weather for many years with little or no maintenance, they should be chosen with care. The Insect Wire Screen Bureau suggests that home owners use the following checklist when choosing storms-and-screens.

1. Examine cutaway sections of the frames in the dealer's showroom to be sure construction is sturdy.



2. Look out for poor fits, open mitres and dirt-catching corners. Glass in storm panels should seal tightly all around and should be heavy, with no distorting flaws.

3. Since the screening must stand up for years in all kinds of weather, choose it carefully. Aluminum screening doesn't rust, rot, fade or sag and is made under U. S. Commerce Department standards.

4. Choose a design and color that blends well with the exterior of the house.

5. Test display models to make sure self-storing panels open and close easily.

Paneling Is Inspiration For Your Remodeling Ventures

PANELING adhesives speed-up panel installation.

Popularity of paneling as a practical and convenient way to redecorate and remodel is finding its counterpart in a variety of panel adhesives in cartridge form, designed for use with a caulking gun. Application of paneling to dry-wall and solid plaster, as well as to studs and furring strips, is facilitated with the new adhesives.

On the market now, for do-it-yourself paneling projects and other home improvement uses, are:

Non-Flammable Weldwood Panel Adhesive, by U.S. Plywood.

Royalcote General Purpose Adhesive, by Masonite Corp.

Glu-On Paneling Adhesives, by Wilhold Glues.

Fiberglas:

Polyplastex Decorative Fiberglas sheeting, previously available only to architects and interior designers, is now sold by the yard through retail lumber yards and department stores.

The translucent sheeting, from Polyplastex United, Inc., comes in a variety of patterns. Uses include window treatments, room dividers, indirect lighting, lamp shades and luminous ceilings.

Shower:

A shower in the round is an innovation from The Swan Corporation. The Swan Circle Shower is a fiber glass reinforced plastic cylinder which occupies no more than nine square feet. Capable of installation by do-it-yourselfers, the shower may be framed with any desired thin-wall construction.

Hobbies:

For hobbycrafters is Woodhill Chemical Corporation's new "Gook," a plastic that can be molded to any surface. Non-toxic, non-staining and non-flammable, it is said to cement, bond and coat any surface, including glass, metal, cardboard, styrofoam, leather, wood, fabrics and most plastics.

Guaranteed:

"Acrypolyrene House Paint," new exterior paint from Luminall Products, Inc., carries the manufacturer's five-year guarantee for all-weather performance, on all new or previously painted exterior sidings.

Noise:

Adding a room? Finishing an attic? Noise through floors can be reduced by installing a sound deadening insulation board below the rough or sub-flooring, prior to the tile installation.

This product, available from the manufacturer-members of the Insulation Board Institute, absorbs noise and results in a much quieter floor.

Ceilings:

Mineral ceiling products, once available only through special contractors, can now be purchased by homeowners from their local lumber dealers.

The principal feature of mineral ceilings is that they are incombustible and comply with building codes when such products are required in hazardous occupancies or exitways.

New "Power-Vac" From Bogens Gives Gale-Force Furnace Cleaning

Arthur D. Bogen, general manager of Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, announced today the arrival of their brand new furnace cleaner — Power-Vac.

"In 45 years we have seen and tested many furnace cleaners," Mr. Bogen said, "But this is the first one we believe in; the one we have approved! This cleaner is definitely superior, and never before have we seen anything so efficient, economical and powerful as Power-Vac!"

Mr. Bogen continued. "Power-Vac, for the first time, cleans the entire heating system . . . cleans places never before reached, including all piping as well as the vent pipe and chimney. This machine produces a 70 mile per hour gale force cleaning power, and sucks in 12,000 cubic feet of air per minute through a line attached to the home heating system."

Mr. Bogen explained that the main spreader of dirt in the home is the furnace. He pointed out the fact that the average furnace works 8 months out of the year. For greater heating efficiency, as well as a cleaner home, every furnace, unless it has an electronic air filter, should be [illegible] thoroughly once a year. He said Power-Vac challenges embedded dirt, dust, pollen and air pollution in the home. This is the very first really complete furnace cleaner that actually makes Spring cleaning worth while, he added.

"The best time to have your furnace cleaned is now, after the long, hard heating season," said Mr. Bogen, "and right before Spring house cleaning. We're giving a special introductory offer — the complete cleaning of your entire heating system, only $22.50. A complete furnace tune-up is only $11.50! Now, customers may obtain both these services . . . a $34.00 value . . . for only $29.50. A saving of $4.50. We believe in this furnace cleaner and we want as many people to take advantage of this offer as possible! And, it's good to remember that the cleaning and tune-up are available separately if only one is needed."

Call CA. 8-6543 now and arrange for an appointment to the famous Bogen Power-Vac. have your furnace cleaned by Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning. Central Ohio's most reliable total comfort specialists, are located at 499 North High Street.

WHAT ABOUT THE PRICE OF AIR CONDITIONING?

Well, we can talk about only one room, this costs the least.

Or, we can talk about a flat price for a certain size central conditioner.

But, if we are going to consider what to do about warm ceilings, sun exposure, duct sizes, register locations, kitchen heat, etc., etc., then we find that your house is not the same as your neighbors.

If you are interested in results, then you must do some planning. Otherwise it's difficult to get your money's worth in results.

LOOK INTO AMERICAN-Standard WHOLE-HOUSE AIR CONDITIONING AND SAVE MONEY NOW!

You can do the job properly for less than $20.00 per month. No money down.

Call for our free planning service. You'll have to agree that the price is right up to this point! It's up to us then to make the price right for the installation that is best for your home.

Lighting Fixtures Bring Look That's Flexible And Functional

"A new look' 'in the home can be achieved merely by replacing old lighting fixtures. It can be done quickly, easily and often at less cost than other methods of redecorating.

Well-planned installed lighting is fundamental to modern living, points out the American Home Lighting Institute. It provides flexible, functional illumination for family work or play in comfort and safety. Increasingly lighting fixtures are being used by interior designers for beauty and drama.

Whether the furnishing scheme of a room is rustic or modern, formal or casual, properly selected lighting fixtures help provide definition.

Adequate illumination helps enrich colors and bring to life the patterns and textures of furniture, furnishings and floor and wall coverings. Balanced lighting eliminates harsh shadows or glare, which, at night, can defeat the intended effect of a beautifully furnished and decorated room.

Interior designers are taking a leaf from theatrical lighting technicians, who artfully use light of different intensities and from different directions to alter moods.

Actually, when you have enough lighting in your home, you can do pretty much the same things, says the Institute. For relaxed conversation or listening to music, you can set a subdued mood with a low level of light.

But if there is a party taking place and you want to create a gay atmosphere, you will want more light. Drab light is bad enough. But people absorb light. So when there is plenty of company, you should increase the lighting wattage to offset the loss.

The Institute has excellent guidelines to help the homemaker plan a lighting system and solve the mystery of "proper lighting." The Institute's "Minimum Light" for Living Standards," widely used by electric utility lighting specialists, and the "Guide to Advanced Light for Living" for more elaborate installations are now available in one publication.

To obtain a copy, send ten cents in coin and a stamped, self addressed envelope to "Lighting Standards," American Home Lighting Institute, 360 N. Michigan-av, Chicago, Ill. 60601.

Now It's Easier To Air Condition

The cost of home air conditioning has been reduced substantially with the recent introduction of new types of equipment that can be installed quickly and more efficiently.

Some authorities in the field say that these costs have been cut by as much as a third to a half.

One of the biggest improvements has been the introduction of systems that are charged with refrigerant at the factory instead of at the place of installation.

There was a time—and it wasn't very long ago—that the contractor had to perform this operation at the site. It was a time consuming chore and therefore a costly one.

While field charging is still necessary with certain installations, more and more factory charged units are being used.

This one factor—probably more than any other—has brought the cost of whole-house air conditioning within the means of thousands of families who would not have been able to afford it a few years ago.

Meanwhile, new devices have become available that combine heating and cooling in a single compact cabinet.

These devices, which utilize all the popular heating fuels, can be mounted completely outdoors on a slab or even on the roof—a valuable saving of indoor space normally taken up with heating equipment and the chimney.

There is also air conditioning equipment that can be quickly connected with existing warm air furnaces, employing the same ducts that carry warm air during the winter to carry cool air in the summer.

The reverse cycle air conditioner, more commonly known as the heat pump, has become an increasingly popular way to supply heating and cooling.

The advantage of these devices is that they provide air conditioning during the warm months and heating during the winter without the need for any other form of heating equipment.

Plushness Is In For Smart Set

For the smart set, sitting on plush chairs is "in." Sitting on the floor is "out."

That's the word from the Howard - Parlor Furniture Company, Chicago, manufacturer of upholstered furniture.

Howard Niederman, executive vice-president and designer for the company, suggests that a plush chair or two will spark up any living room decor.

For example, a swivel arm chair in a showy boucle textured matelasse will fit into almost any decor while adding new form and color interest.

He noted that today's well-furnished home has a wealth of cushiony seating, replacing much of the bare floor space in vogue in recent years.

ONE END of the family room makes space for this home laundry, and shuttered bifold doors conceal the automatic equipment when not in use.

Making Room For The Home Laundry

Sometimes in the hustle for living and working space, it's difficult to add that complete home laundry, particularly when so much room is needed for the young family and its many activities.

One solution to this problem is a laundry center that can be closed off by shuttered bifold doors added at the end of a family room. With this arrangement, Mother can join in the family fun while doing the laundry.

This type of laundry not only saves on space, but may be easy on the budget, too. It can be finished with a minimum of expense if the man of the house can complete most of the carpentry work himself.

One plan of this type calls for shuttered doors that close off the work area when not in use, providing an attractive wall.

When open, however, the bifold doors reveal a compact center equipped to handle everything from sorting and stain removal to clean clothes storage.

A small sink should be provided convenient to the automatic washer and dryer for pretreating heavily soiled areas on clothes, starching and removing stains. The sink will come in handy, too, for such activities as washing any dishes used in the family room or removing fingerpaint from small hands.

Another space saving feature of the plan is a cabinet that holds the sink and provides a tilt-out bin with three sections for sorting soiled laundry. Though one load of clothes is laundered at a time, such bins will come in handy for storing future wash loads — all pre-sorted.

The wall space above the sink and laundry equipment may be utilized as storage space by the addition of a pegboard and attached shelves. The shelves come in handy for holding detergent, bleach and other laundry aids, as well as a complete stain removal kit well out of the reach of small children.

Enough shelf room can be provided, too, for temporary storage of the folded clean clothes and linens after they come from the dryer. This type of storage space saves many extra trips to the linen closet and bedrooms.

Folding Doors Add Beauty

Folding doors, which are often used for closets, can also turn an awkwardly located doorway into a graceful passage.

Because these doors fold back against themselves, they require a minimum of floor clearance. Where standard single or double doors would be unwieldy or impractical, folding doors leave floor and wall areas free for more flexible furniture arrangement.

Modern folding panel doors of ponderosa pine also add a decorative touch to a doorway. Available in stock sizes and in a variety of elegant designs, they can be installed as single or double units for doorways, or hung in a series to form an entire closet wall.

Folding doors can be used to good advantage in corner entrances and hallways where floor space is restricted, to close off studio-type kitchens, and as connecting doors between kitchens and dining rooms or dressing rooms and bathrooms.

In addition to being decorative, panel doors reduce the passage of sound. In areas where ventilation is important, folding louvered doors are often used because they provide free circulation of air as well as privacy.

Twyford Names Rose

Columbus attorney Clayton W. Rose has been named general chairman of the committee backing Reynoldsburg Mayor George Twyford for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the 12th District. Clifford A. Tyree, chairman of East Central Community Organization (ECCO), was named secretary-treasurer of the Twyford For Congress Committee and Benson Wolman was named treasurer. Other committee members include Columbus Councilmen William P. Hoermle, M. D. Portman, James L. Bauman and Donald L. Woodland, Utilities Director William Brooks, Safety Director Frederick J. Simon, City Treasurer Hugh Dorrian and City Clerk John Gordon. A suburban subcommittee is headed by Whitehall Mayor Paul Haytcher. Secretary is Gahanna Mayor B. N. Murray and treasurer is Canal Winchester Mayor K. L. "Mike" Miller.

Merchants Aid Youth

A "bold new economic education program" designed to help youngsters understand the importance of a free enterprise system was launched this week by the Great Eastern Business Association. The 38 merchant-members from the Great Eastern Shopping Center instructed their personnel to "work as closely as possible with our schools and youth and civic groups in building opportunities for our future adults to learn the heritage and dynamic future of our American economy." Business' story will be presented to Whitehall area youth through discussions, educational brochures and individual counseling.

Signup Dates Given

Registration of children eligible for kindergarten (five years of age on or before Nov. 30, 1966) in the Bexley school system will be held on the following dates: Tuesday and Wednesday, May 3-4, at Montrose School; Tuesday and Wednesday, May 10-11, at Maryland School and Tuesday and Wednesday, May 17-18, at Cassingham School. Any time during the school day, parents are to come to the school office of their district to register and complete pertinent forms required for school admittance. Parents are requested to bring a copy of the child's birth certificate.

Drive Ends Apr. 23

Mrs. Robert Seeds, chairman of the Gahanna Heritage Civic Association book drive, said the drive to collect books for the Gahanna Public School libraries is going "very well." She said she is pleased at the high quality of the some 1,000 books collected so far, but hopes to get "considerably more" by the close of the drive, Apr. 23. Books may be donated at Martin's, Lemmon's, or Rogers drug stores or Harward Cleaners, all in Gahanna.

Israeli Fete Planned

The Columbus Jewish Center will stage its Israeli Independence Day celebration on Sunday, Apr. 24, at the Shelter House. The community-wide celebration begins at 1:30 p.m. and will include Israeli folk dancing, singing and gymnastics. On Monday, Apr. 25, the Institute of Family Relations series presents "Strictly For Parents—Discipline: Its Privileges and Limitations" at the center, 1125 College-av, at 8 p.m. The Public Affairs Forum, on Tuesday, Apr. 26, will be on "How Well Does the News Media Serve Columbus?" Panel members will be Dale Frazier Sr., executive editor of the Columbus Dispatch; Nick Basso, news editor of WTVN-TV and Les Spencer, producer, WBNS radio.

Gets Ad Club Award

Mrs. J. Noel Lamb, 2379 Country Club-rd, has been named Advertising Woman of the Year by the Advertising Club of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Lamb, a native of Columbus, is a partner in Kelly & Lamb advertising agency. She is also chairman of the board of the Central Ohio chapter of the Arthritis Foundation and treasurer of the Mutual Advertising Agency Network. Mrs. Lamb was one-time advertising manager of the old Hilltop Record. She is listed in Who's Who of American Women, Who's Who in Advertising and Who's Who in the Midwest.

WFD Does It Again

Inspector Jim Soteriades, Whitehall Fire Department, announced this week that the department has received another award for its fire safety program—this one a Certificate of Merit from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Washington, D.C. in the 1965 National Inter-Chamber Fire Safety Contest. The department recently won first honorable mention in Ohio in the National Fire Protection Association contest.

Charter Will Be Aired 'On Air'

By The Spectator's
JIM BRUNEY

Residents of Whitehall who have "always been meaning" to get down to city council chambers will have no excuse for not keeping up with the local charter issue.

It will be as easy as turning a dial.

"Whitehall Charters Its Future" will be presented on WTVN Radio at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Apr. 24. The program is designed to reach the greatest number of residents possible with information concerning the proposed charter.

Whitehall voters will decide May 3 whether or not a charter commission will be formed, and (if they vote FOR the formation of a commission) will elect 15 from the 17 commission candidates.

The program will be held in city council chambers and is open to the public. Members of a four-man panel will speak briefly on the charter, after which the audience will be permitted to ask questions.

The panel includes Mayor Paul Haytcher, Council President Walter Siemer, former councilman and safety director Darrell Todd (a candidate for election to the charter commission) and John Coleman, director of the Ohio Municipal League, considered an authority on municipal operations in the state. Coleman, a Worthington resident, was selected in order to provide an "outside" point of view.

Panel moderator will be WTVN Program Director Bill Patterson. When asked about the program, Patterson commented, "To my knowledge, this is the first time a radio station in the area has become this involved in reporting suburban affairs."

WTVN is providing the air-time for the broadcast free of charge.

Mayor Haytcher, one of the leading proponents of Whitehall's third attempt to frame a charter, said the program "offers residents a chance to become informed."

"The only thing we're asking the public to do is to give 15 men the chance to study our government. This is not a 'blank check'—the final decision will still be up to voters after the commission has had the chance to do its work."

Educate To Save Lives, Goodloe Says

By The Spectator's
BOB TENENBAUM

"At least some" of the nearly 200 babies who die each year in Columbus before they are a month old could be saved by a massive educational campaign, according to city Health Commissioner Dr. O. M. Goodloe.

All it would take, Goodloe tells The Spectator, would be a drive in the city's low-income neighborhoods to convince mothers they are risking their babies' lives by not bothering to take advantage of pre-natal care.

"We're educating some people, but apparently not enough and not very well," Goodloe says.

The statistics bear him out. Last year, 260 babies died in Columbus before they reached the age of one year. Of those, 182, or 16.4 out of every 1,000 born, died in the first month of life.

"In many cases, inborn defects cause the deaths," Goodloe says, "These can't be helped."

"But there are many, many cases where pre-natal care would definitely save a baby's life."

Pre-natal clinics, open to anyone who can't afford private care, are operating at University, Mt. Carmel, St. Anns, Riverside and Grant hospitals—but the people who need them most don't know about them.

"Our visiting nurses try to find these people and steer them to the clinics," Goodloe says, "But many of them either don't bother to attend or go once or twice and then give up."

The answer, Goodloe feels, is a community effort in the city's "target areas," the lower income areas where care during pregnancy is most needed and least often taken care of.

Some of the work could be done through the federal

Paugh Claims Fines, Boycott Could Help Stop Pollution

Richard L. Paugh, a Republican candidate for the nomination from the new 59th District, says that heavy fines, public exposure and boycotting are the keys to launching an all-out war on water pollution in Ohio.

"For a long time, we have been watching the demise of Lake Erie," Paugh said. "Now, we know for a fact there is not one clean stream left in Ohio."

Paugh said that, if elected, he will "strive for a complete appraisal of the state agencies charged with the job of keeping our streams clean." He said the Board of Health, the Water Pollution Control Board and the Division of Wildlife are not functioning effectively.

He also promised to seek legislation stopping the state from dealing financially with businesses and municipalities which do not have good pollution records.

"Just last month," Paugh said, "a Central Ohio contractor was fined for polluting Alum Creek — and 90 percent of his business is for the state of Ohio."

Paugh said that "76 percent of the pollution recorded by the Division of Wildlife in 1965 was caused by under-treated sewage from municipalities."

Paugh also claimed that "of over $200,000 in assessments for pollution by the Division of Wildlife in 1965, only $10 has been collected to date."

"We all stand up and cheer when Ohio gets a new industry," Paugh said. "But has anyone thought to check and see if they have had a bad pollution record where they come from or, more important, will they have ample sewage treatment facilities in Ohio?"

Vocational School Curriculum Offers Varied Bill Of Fare

There is no pigeon hole in which to file the ability of the teenagers who will be trained through the proposed Joint Vocational School facilities proposed by the Eastern Franklin County Joint Vocational School District.

Educators backing the bond issue and levy which will appear on the ballot in Canal Winchester, Madison, Whitehall, Reynoldsburg and Jefferson School Districts concede that it will take a lot of brains to get through some of the highly technical courses that will be offered.

However, the curriculum has not ignored the need of the student who frankly realizes he is not "college material" or that of the boy or girl, who is already having trouble keeping pace with his classmates, is a potential drop out.

Thus, according to Phil Williams, Madison superintendent, the affirmative vote at the polls is a vote for youth — and not merely a vote for either a privileged or underprivileged group.

Backing this up, he pointed out that the 40 vocational units will provide employment opportunities in approximately 160 occupations.

The four agricultural units include those of horticulture, landscape and grounds keeping, equipment and mechanics related to horticulture and preparation for non-agricultural occupations.

A young man completing these courses might, for example, enter the labor market as a tree surgeon, a landscape gardener, a 'greenskeeper, a farm equipment salesman, mechanic, or a salesman of farm supplies such as feed and fertilizer.

Office skills to be offered include training in operation of all types of office machines, including use, programming and repair of data processing, the high skills demanded by an employer who wants a stenographer or

BAUMANN TO REVIEW HUMANE SOCIETY HERE

By The Spectator's
JOHN AUBLE, JR.

City Councilman James Baumann says he is taking a look into the activities of the county's Humane Society to determine the validity of a recent rash of complaints about the Groveport-pk operation.

An animal lover himself, Baumann says he plans to meet with Society Director Tom Justice next Tuesday in efforts to iron out any problems that may exist.

"Perhaps a review of the situation may lead to a need for the state legislature to take another look at the operation. If any upgrading needs to be done in this state, I'd like to help," Baumann says.

Mayor assistant Richard Sensenbrenner had told The Spectator that "numerous" complaints have been telephoned into city hall. Few officials in the state — or county—seem to know, however, if the Society's operation is answerable to any governmental authority.

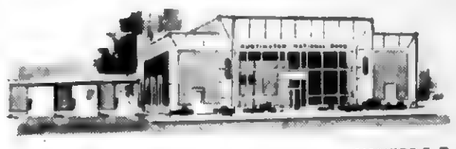
The majority of the complaints deal with the public having trouble locating lost dogs. A Humane Society spokesman dismissed the complaint two weeks ago by saying they have no way of keeping tabs on the huge number of dogs picked up everyday.

A leading kennel owner in the area, Mrs. Robert Alexander, proprietor of the Kingswood Collie Kennels, 4000 Scioto-Darby Creek-rd, termed the excuse "ridiculous."

Mrs. Alexander says that her kennels can handle some 100 dogs a day (the approximate amount the Humane Society claims it picks up) with "two or three people."

As Mrs. Alexander sees it, the biggest problem with the animal shelter is having employes who know enough about dogs. "They don't seem to know a thing about any breed of dog," she says.

"No one down there seems to want to be bothered with families who lose animals. They demonstrate a great lack of cooperation and blame it on the fact that they have too many dogs to control."



She suggested that the society devise some sort of code system to keep closer tabs on animals picked-up and speed-up the process of getting them back to their

State To Finance Layout, Lynch Says

Democratic lieutenant governor candidate Paul J. Lynch is charging that Ohio businesses are being "sandbagged" by the Rhodes administration to finance a 20-page Ohio section in Fortune magazine.

Lynch, who will oppose Democratic State Chairman William L. Coleman in the May 3 primary, said the section would cost $1-million and that various areas of the state have been given advertising quotas to fill by the Department of Development.

"This is an all-out promotion of the Rhodes administration," Lynch charged. He called the section in Fortune "a paid political ad supported by the tax-paying public."

In letters to Henry Luce, publisher of Time - Life, Inc., and John McElroy, top aide to Gov. James A. Rhodes, Lynch asked for details of the agreement between the Development Department and the magazine for publication of the section.

Lynch hinted he feared the article might be reprinted and used as campaign literature by the Republicans prior to the November election.

"While the special magazine section will have all of the appearances of straight reporting, it actually will be prepared by a Columbus advertising agency under the complete supervision of the Department of Development," Lynch charged.

"Businesses regulated by the present administration seem very receptive to suggestions that they advertise," he said. "Banks, utilities, insurance firms and trucking companies have been among the first to sign up."

Lynch said several businesses approached for advertising wanted to include sections on their own cities.

"Their civic initiative was quickly squelched when they were apparently told to play ball because the Fortune-Development Department pitch was designed to promote Gov. Rhodes," he said.

Lynch specifically asked Luce whether Rhodes' picture or name would appear on the cover of Fortune as part of the "deal" and whether Fortune or the state would repay the Columbus ad agency handling the section.

His letter to McElroy urged that Rhodes call a news conference to explain the administration's side of the question.

Licensing Act Asked

Jerry Weiner, candidate for the Republican nomination from the new 60th House District, called this week for legislation requiring state licensing of all firms involved in the field of home remodeling.

"By licensing, we would be able to eliminate the undesirables who are not qualified because they would have to pass stringent tests in all phases of building," Weiner said.

He also urged that, once licensed, the firms be bonded to cover all bills "including labor and material used on their jobs."

"This would protect the individual home owner from being confronted with mechanics' liens, and, in a great many cases, eliminate the necessity of the home owner paying twice for the same job."

Blasts Carpetbagging

Democratic House candidate Philip Q. Zauderer, seeking the nomination in the new 60th District, lashed out this week at Republican candidate Roger W. Tracy, Jr., repeating the charge that Tracy is a "carpetbagger."

"Tracy's claim to fame is a name that even Gov. James A. Rhodes would not support," Zauderer said, referring to the fact that Rhodes did not support Tracy's father, the late State Auditor Roger W. Tracy, when he ran for auditor in 1963.

"Carpetbagging for personal gain should be condemned and Tracy returned from whence he came by giving him the sound trouncing at the polls he so richly deserves," Zauderer said.

Zauderer also criticized the Rhodes administration for its handling of problems at the Fairfield School for Boys at Lancaster and urged the state to set up a series of junior colleges so that "the majority of our youth may receive at least two years of college training, which is the bare minimum necessary in this day and age."

Pfeifer Seeks Jobs

Herbert J. Pfeifer, seeking the Democratic nomination for Ohio Senate from the new 15th District, charged this week that "there is an abhoring lack of interest on the part of state officials toward the employment picture" in the district.

"No one in the state's official family appears interested in whether the people of the 15th District work or not," Pfeifer said, noting that the unemployment rate is high in much of the district, which includes parts of the "inner city."

"The era of special interest candidates is ended," he said. "The people are demanding and should get honest representation."

Pfeifer said the state should "help train the people without training; provide the funds for primary and secondary education and create an atmosphere which will help all persons get a job in which they can earn a living wage."

Grange Mutual President Clarifies State Relationship

Edward C. Haaf, president of the Grange Mutual Casualty Company, is clarifying the relationship between the Insurance Department of Ohio and the Grange Mutual Casualty Company, which has been brought into question by recent publicity.

He states that due to the company's rapid growth and difficulty of securing sufficient competent help to operate the company, he discussed the matter with William Morris, director of insurance, who agreed to recommend employes who could assist in resolving company problems. As a result, the company was able to secure the services of four competent people who were mutually agreeable to the company and the insurance department.

Since the employment of these four persons, the company has made progress in solving its problems and the company feels that the arrangement has been advantageous to it; and, further, that the arrangement is temporary until the problems of the company have been completely solved.

The director of insurance has indicated that these problems are being rapidly solved and the temporary employes are being released by the company as the problem areas are eliminated.

Haaf further desires to point out that there has been the best of cooperation between the insurance department and the company and that it has been a mutually agreeable arrangement, working to the benefit of the many Grange policyholders.

Gold Calls For State GI Aid

Martin H. Gold, candidate for the Democratic nomination from the new 60th House District, has urged that the state provide greatly increased benefits to GI's to supplement the new Federal Cold War GI Bill of Rights.

Gold, in remarks prepared for delivery at an appearance at the East Side home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Brown, called for state legislation "which will provide greater incentive for veterans to explore the educational opportunities intended in the Federal legislation."

He praised the new Federal law but added, "The Federal benefits for education are too limited due to the tremendous increase in the cost of higher education and the cost of living.

"Subsistence allowances bearly adequate 10 years ago certainly aren't very realistic today," Gold said.

WHITE

WASHINGTON — The Republicans nationally are moving into the morning-after phase of recovery from their uncharacteristic intoxication with what is elegantly called "the youth kick."

More and more it now appears that their brief vision of putting up a 1968 Presidential ticket of young, unscarred and "modern-minded" men is to join all the other transient dreams of middle age.

More and more it now appears that in the G.O.P. convention of the summer after next they will turn instead to the older, seasoned politicians as their field of choice for the Presidential nomination. The betting is now on some such veteran as Richard Nixon, rather than on a John Lindsay, a Mark Hatfield, or a Charles Percy.

Though Lindsay's victory of last November did, indeed, put a more-or-less Republican into New York's City Hall over the massed hosts of Democrats, it is becoming a hollow triumph. For Lindsay as Mayor is finding it increasingly difficult either to run the city or to keep in any kind of array the odd coalition of wildly liberal maverick Democrats and reluctant Republicans which brought about his election.

The other Republican "new faces" are also going down and not up, Charles Percy in Illinois can never even win his immediate test — his race for the Senate against the Democratic incumbent, Paul Douglas — without giving IOUSs to violently anti-Viet Nam war far-liberals who are simply anathema to the Republican party generally.

Mark Hatfield of Oregon is apparently favored to win a Senate seat there, from what one can hear from afar. But even if he does, he, too, will be tarred with the same kind of ultra-liberal, highly non-Republican brush.

So it is that the Republicans are perforce — and on the whole gladly — turning back to their more tried and experienced politicians. And it is not a moment too soon. For though the theory that the voters are simply mad for youth may well be sound where relatively minor offices are involved, it has always been a most doubtful one as applied to the great and terrible office of the Presidency.

Public awareness of the unique and frightful demands of that office has never been so high as now. And coupled with this is the now sharply-renewed awareness of the Republican professionals as a class that glittering public images of happy and confident youth on the march and all that can overnight turn into sour public disillusionment when the hard, unglamorous test of performance under fire is reached.

In politics, as in most everything else, it is experience that at last separates the men from the boys. —Copyright 1966, United Features.

BARRY GOLDWATER: Recognize Red China? Absurd!

GOLDWATER

Russia is the worst possible case to cite in arguing for U.S recognition of Red China.

Our recognition of the Soviet Union by President Roosevelt 33 years ago didn't move Stalin one inch from his ruthless path of personal and national aggrandizement. After one-third of a century, Russian treaties are still made to be broken at Soviet convenience.

Every so-called period of sweetness and light in our Soviet relations was preceded and followed by acts of treachery. Stalin and his people were our "gallant allies" in World War II, but only after Russia double-crossed international decency by making a pact with Hitler and was itself double-crossed.

America went all out for her Soviet ally, pouring tons of armaments, materials and food over the perilous supply route to Murmansk. Stalin wanted and got a second front. He demanded and got unreasonable concessions at Potsdam and Yalta.

U.S. recognition and the war greatly increased Russian contacts with the West—in the fashion advocated today by Sen. J. William Fulbright and others who think we are "isolating" Red China — and whetted the Soviet appetite for world domination.

Any mellowing on the part of Russia is not from U.S. recognition or the broadening effects of social, cultural and economic contact with the West, but from such hard-headed moves as the Greek-Turkish aid program, the Berlin airlift, the dispatching of the Seventh Fleet to Quemoy and Matsu, the Marines to Lebanon, the blockade of Cuba.

The Khrushchev era, mild and affable compared to the Stalin period, was studded with treachery. While the fat premier was laughing and drinking his way around the western world his countrymen were building the Berlin Wall, plotting the subversion of Latin America, threatening the Middle East, playing anti-American power politics in Africa and erecting long-range missiles in Cuba 90 miles off our coast. They also broke the voluntary test ban agreement.

Today's liberals in the drive to recognize Red China deride as "absurd self-righteousness" the arguments presented by American statesmen in the 1920's who demanded that Russia earn the right of recognition. But anyone who can read history knows that they were right and President Roosevelt was wrong, that the arguments they presented are applicable today to Red China. As Secretary of State Charles Evans Hughes put it on July 19, 1923:

"There cannot be intercourse among nations any more than among individuals except upon a general assumption of good faith. We would welcome convincing evidence of a desire of the Russian authorities to observe the fundamental conditions of international intercourse and abandonment of persistent attempts to subvert the institutions of democracy . . ."— Copyright 1966, Los Angeles Times.

"An Informed Citizen Is The Cornerstone Of Democracy"

Robert Burdock, Publisher — Don R. Buckham, Advertising Director — John Auble, Jr., Managing Editor — R. H. Rogers, Business Manager

Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday, April 20, 1966

Labor's Love Lost

City Hall Democrats in Columbus obviously worry more about their enemies than they do about their friends. This, of course, explains to some degree why Democrats have trouble rounding up many friends when elections roll around.

A case in point is the anti-strikebreaking ordinance which is being "studied" into oblivion by city council. The ordinance would make it unlawful for a struck firm to employ professional strikebreakers.

Labor, apparently, feels it has a commitment from Democratic members of council to pass such a piece of legislation. Labor's friends in council appear to be more wary of what their enemies think about the proposal than they are of their friends' reaction to the stall.

Regardless of the merits of the proposal, here is a bit of poetic advice to those who would keep their feet planted on both sides of the fence.

If you kiss the foot that kicks you
You'll find it kicks you more
Than the foot whose toes are stepped upon
Until they're good and sore.

Let Truth Ring, Too

Let a Herbert Aptheker set his left foot on tax-supported Ohio State's campus and the local cannons open up full bore.

But when the Birchers stake out tax-supported North High School for a right-wing rally, nary a B-B is fired in anger.

Such was the case here when Julia Brown was trotted into town to address the "Community Lecture Series" flying the colors of an ex-FBI undercover agent. Mrs. Brown, more correctly, is an undercover agent for the John Birch Society and her appearance here was arranged by William Ohliney, promoter of the local Birch-oriented canned hate "Let Freedom Ring" telephone messages.

But the ranters should be properly labeled. Aptheker, at least, did not try to pass himself off as a spokesman for the National Association of Manufacturers.

Monkey See

By The Spectator's
TED BEARDSHEAR

Men and women who seemed to have made it are heroes to the slum child.

Heroes in the ghetto are the racketeer, the prostitute, the gambler and the con artist.

Middle class children usually look to their parents for models. But the slum child wants to escape the world into which his parents have brought him. And he'll do anything.

One young man explained his problem this way. "I got tired 'a lookin' at things in windows and askin' for 'em only to be told pop had to pay rent; so I got it th e best way I knew how." It started with purse snatching. He was incarcerated for stealing cars.

"Man, on the street you see but you don't see, know? You hear but you don't hear."

The explanation is if one is on the street and one sees a crime committed, one keeps one's mouth shut. The same with what is heard.

"If you don't keep quiet, you may be next."

Dropping out of school early, youths in the slums gather in gangs. The gang is the social vehicle for the acceptance these youths, like all others, crave. But gangs mold an anti-social personality which is unused to work and its rewards. Frequently, the youths become known to the law. And if the offense is serious enough, they are sent from the community to an institution where care is mostly custodial, rather than rehabilitative.

The method of attacking the problem is to substitute better models.

This has been started in the larger cities by using indigenous case workers. These are men who have been the route, are street-wise, and are able to cope with the problems of the youth with whom they work.

If they are effective enough, they themselves become the model to which the youngsters aspire. Nothing is more effective than to see the living model of one's hopes.

They Said It

"It is discouraging and dangerous for a village to be taken by surprise at apartment pressures. If village planning is adequate, this will not happen. Suburban municipal officials should examine their laws and policies to make sure they can maintain a firm grip on the reins and guide growth in the direction their citizens wish." — Arlington Heights (Ill.) Herald.

"No Fooling, Men — Let's Try To Avoid Losing Any More Of Them"

MARQUIS CHILDS: Fulbright The Man

WASHINGTON — He sits hunched over his big desk, stacks of books at either end, his glasses slipping down the bridge of his nose. Sen. J. William Fulbright, looking rather like a bemused college professor, is the least likely candidate one could imagine for embattled leader of the opposition on the highly emotional issue of Viet Nam.

Whatever the public image, and from time to time Fulbright has managed to arouse the ire of almost every organized group in the country, this is not how the Senator sees himself. He believes in a sober examination of the realities, which is what, as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, he considers the goal of the hearings on Viet Nam and Red China.

CHILDS

The hearings were widely reported but Fulbright, who can never be charged with being a cheery optimist, shakes his head sadly as he says that he cannot see that they had much effect on public opinion.

Fulbright is frank to admit that at this stage he sees no way to check the forces set in such seemingly unrelenting motion. The one court of appeal is the President. So far as Johnson and the Senator are concerned it looks like the irresistible force meeting the immovable object.

They have talked together, the President in their last meeting urging the Senator to meet with Secretary of State Dean Rusk. For Fulbright this sounds like a prescription to agree with Rusk. That is, of course, the great divide, with the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee differing more sharply over Rusk's definition of America's worldwide responsibility to contain communism than on Viet Nam.

The weakness of the position of those who, like Fulbright, seek a de-escalation of the war is their alternative. They are not for scuttle and run despite the calculated campaign to pin that label on them. This leaves the enclave strategy of Generals Matthew Ridgeway and James L. Gavin, a holding operation meaning eventual disengagement. It would not necessarily be a static operation, since Vietnamese-American units could move out from the coastal cities to keep the Viet Cong off balance.

With this as his alternative Fulbright realizes that the President is the court of last appeal. He wants to talk with him again. But he is aware of how time is running out as the pressure to bomb Hanoi and Haiphong builds up.

When Karl Meyer in 1963 brought out an impressive collection of Fulbright's speeches and statements, with the subtitle "The Public Positions of a Private Thinker," the consistency of his stand in his more than 20 years in Congress was clear. In his memorandum on the Bay of Pigs invasion he raised the only major voice against that hapless Cuban misadventure. Later in 1961 in a speech on Southeast Asia he said:

"What these voices (opposing any political settlement in Laos) are saying is that the United States is the strongest country in the world and should not hesitate to commit its strength to the active defense of its policies anywhere outside the Communist empire. This is dangerous doctrine; nothing would please Communist leaders more than to draw the United States into costly commitments of its resources in peripheral struggles in which the principal Communist powers are not themselves involved."

It is hard to put a charge of ambition against Fulbright. Liberals invariably fault him for failing to take a stand on civil rights, which is one reason he could never be Secretary of State. Yet as a private thinker he promises to go on taking public positions. — Copyright 1966, United Features.

Letters To The Editor

Confusing Smoke Screen

To The Spectator:

Service Director Warren Cremean's statement is just another smoke screen to confuse the voters of the city. There are no funds allocated or plans drawn at present to implement the acquisition of park lands, just as there are no funds allocated for the building of the expressway at present.

Mr. Cremean is simply stating that if the referendum is defeated in the May 3 election, the city might ask the state to ask the Federal Government for funds for parkways.

According to our interpretation of Title 3 of the 1965 Highway Beautification Act, Federal funds must be involved in the construction of the roadway. There are no Federal funds allocated to the Olentangy Expressway.

Even if the proposed parks were to be created, they would be but a cheap substitute for the age-long natural beauty which the highwaymen propose to destroy.

Vote 'Yes,' He Says

To The Spectator:

What a pity it would be if Columbus is cheated out of a beautiful new scenic Olentangy freeway along the river where all the people could enjoy it. Should a few private property owners prevent the public enjoyment of this lovely river? Besides, Columbus needs this north freeway.

The propaganda carried on against this needed freeway by a northside neighborhood publicity medium does not express the wishes of thousands of north end residents who want the Olentangy freeway built, with miles of riverside parks just like the Scioto River.

A "yes" vote is needed May 3 in Columbus on the special ballot. Be sure to vote "yes" for the highway as an important part of our freeway system.

A Tribute

To The Spectator:

Oscar L. Fleckner, who passed away Apr. 9, was well-known in Democratic Party circles in Ohio.

Oscar belonged to that small minority of Americans who are in politics, raising funds, helping other candidates, etc., primarily because of their profound belief in our political system and, secondarily, because they sought public office.

To Oscar Fleckner, being a politician was a Badge of Honor.

Oscar Fleckner once expressed his political faith when he said, in effect, that for good or for ill, everybody is affected by government so everybody should be interested in government.

It was this capacity for poise and equanimity amidst political conflict that made Oscar L. Fleckner the affable and attractive person that he was and made him popular with political people, newspaper reporters and others.

BR. 4-1155

I live on Thomas-av and we're concerned about the freeway and haven't heard anything about it. How soon will they come around and let us know something?—Mrs. Mary McCann, 873 Thomas-av.

Live Wire checked with Rick Madachy, area engineer in the Highway Department's urban projects office, who indicated it may be as long as a year before residents of the Thomas-av area hear about the freeway. However, since you live on the south side of Thomas there is a good chance you may be affected. Madachy says many residents have already discussed the situation with him and he will be glad to discuss your particular case. Call him at 469-2345.

My neighbor burns trash in his yard next to me. The smoke and ashes come over on my lawn and when the bottles break they splatter over my property. What can I do?—Mrs. S. L., Columbus.

If your neighbor is burning bottles, he's wrong from the start. City ordinance permits burning only dry leaves, cardboard, paper and wood during daylight hours with someone attending the fire. All containers must be of an approved type. If you think your neighbor is violating the law call the Fire Prevention Bureau at 469-6044 and an inspector will come to your neighbor's house to inspect his container and advise him of the law.

Can you please explain why the garbage men never collect the garbage the same time each week, and when they do, they only take half of it?—Lawrence Myers, Columbus.

Live Wire forwarded your complaint to Jim Yoder, assistant city chief of sanitation, who said that each street in the city should have a set garbage pickup day. These days are sometimes delayed due to holidays and breakdowns. However, if you're not bundling your garbage properly or if you are not setting it in front of your house, the pickup men are required to ignore it. Yoder suggests you call the department to determine your pickup day, then make sure your trash is in front of the house and properly bundled. On those breakdowns, the city is expecting 40 new trucks this week. That should eliminate the problem.

Dog Show Readied For Vets Apr. 24

The 29th annual all-breed dog show and obedience trial sponsored by the Central Ohio Kennel Club will be Sunday, Apr. 24, at Veterans Memorial from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

More than 900 dogs in six classes, sporting, non-sporting, working, terrier, toy and hound, will be judged with American Kennel Club rules in force.

The unbenched show, one of the largest in the midwest, will benefit the American Cancer Crusade.

A junior showmanship competition for boys and girls from 8 to 16 years will also highlight the benefit event.

Supporting groups include the Scottish Terrier Club of Northern Ohio, the Columbus Collie Club, the Westhighland White Terrier Club of Northern Ohio, and the Columbus Boxer Club.

Robert Miller is show chairman. Tickets will be available at the door.

A PRETTIER YOU

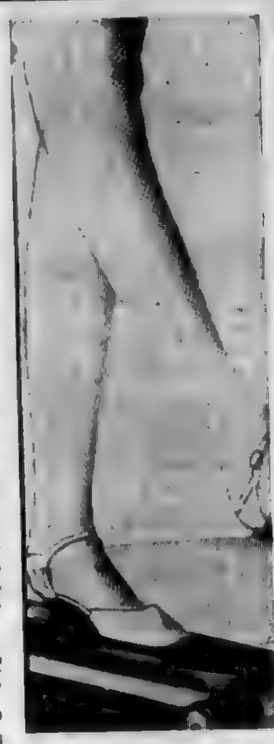
By MARIANNE TOMLINSON
Spectator Fashion Editor

What Is Fashion?

Do you ever wonder what this fashion business is all about?

"To some, fashion is a hemline, a shape, a topless swimsuit. To others it is a gimmick, a racket, a madness. But fashion is also an art . . . and a very big business," So says Phyllis Lee Levin in her current book "The Wheels of Fashion." To my knowledge this is the newest writing on the subject and if you'd like a look behind the scenes of this "rag" business pick up a copy at your local library like I did. I'm sure you'll find it interesting.

Another writer, Oliver Wendell Holmes is quoted regarding fashion. He said, "Fashion is the only attempt to realize art in living forms." Both authors, a century apart, agree on one point, that fashion is an art form. Beyond that, fashion can be whimsical, fashion can be practical and we can pick and choose to suit our moods.



Sometimes it's a combination of the two . . . like the new shoe stylings. The lowered many shaped heels and the softened rounded toes . . . the straps and buckles that blend beautifully with the new stocking looks . . . the textures, the fishnet and the pale, pale tones.

Speaking of pale tones, I learned recently of a new line of nail polish colors coming from Revlon. I tried to buy (or at least look at) some of them and found they were not available here yet. It was interesting to find, a couple of days later, they they were available in Florida. This may be due to the fact they are light, summery colors and better suited to a southern climate at this time of year. At any rate the colors are pretty and pale . . . but not too pale. They are called Chrystalline and have a pearly quality that is not as frosted as their previous shades.

It's always amazing to me to note, in spite of widespread advertising and editorial fashion writing, women still wearing dark, harsh colors of nail polish. Try one of the lighter shades if you haven't before now. They are much more flattering to your skin tones plus they don't show every chip. Of course the new lighter formulas are more resistant to flaking and chipping and they are also easier to apply because within each bottle there are little blender beads to thoroughly mix the color with just a flick of the wrist.

Something else is new in nails . . . square ones . . . honestly . . . new squared off filing has replaced the oval shape we're used to seeing. This bizarre idea was born in Paris and in addition to being gimmicky, it is supposed to have less breakage-tendency. That may be true but it would seem to this reporter to be adaptable only if you have long slender nails.

But isn't that true of many new fashion looks? It's up to each one of us to decide what is right for us . . . for our size, our shape, our way of life.

Gahanna, Springfield, Ohio Relays Pace Cinder Card

By JACK WITTENMEIER

With some league meets only two weeks distant, area cinder squads dig deeper into preparations for same by participating in several major track events this weekend.

TWO MORE seasonal gems are slated Saturday — the Ohio Relays (at OSU) and the Springfield (South) Relays (at Evans Stadium in Springfield).

GAHANNA RELAYS

Defending champion Gahanna looks like the early favorite to retain its own Relay title Friday.

Last spring the Lions dueled Hilliard to the wire to emerge victorious but the Wildcats are passing up their invitation this season.

EACH SCHOOL snapped three marks apiece in '65 when seven of the Relays' 13 records went tumbling.

Besides the host Lions, the field includes Bexley, Delaware, Franklin Heights, Grandview, Hamilton Township, London, Mifflin, Reynoldsburg, DeSales, Utica, Westerville, Whitehall and Carroll.

Oldest standing mark belongs to Whitehall's 1961 pole vault trio who accumulated 34 feet that year.

AFTER A 5 p.m. coaches' meeting, action gets under way at 5:30 when field events (pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot put and discus) begin.

First running event — the four mile — starts at 6 p.m.

After flag raising and introduction of Relay Queens at 6:45, the remainder of the track events get under way.

THE OTHER relay events include shuttle hurdles (7 p.m.), 440 (7:15), distance medley (7:30), mile (7:45), sprint medley (8 p.m.), two-mile (8:15) and 880 (8:30).

EXISTING RECORDS

880 Relay — Hilliard (Burleson, Humes, McAllister, Weaver), 1:34.9, '65; pole vault — Whitehall (Neutzling, Beery, Dersham) 34', '61; two mile — Gahanna (Hern, Miller, Strickling, Heninger), 8:38.8, '65; shot put — Gahanna (Shaffer, Beely, Mathews), 162' 4", '65; 440 relay — Hilliard (Kenney, Humes, McAllister, Weaver), :45.1, '65; discus — Hilliard (Miller, Adams, McCoskey), 418' 3", '66; four mile — Gahanna (Hern, Strickling, Heninger, Miller), 19:37, '65; shuttle hurdles — Gahanna (Bokros, Strehm, Glover, Robb), :59.1, '65; broad jump — Eastmoor (Smith, Eliand, Fleming), 21' 11 1/2", '64; distance medley — Utica (Weaver, Stanley, Brewbaw, Buckberger), 8:08.1, '65; high jump — Eastmoor (Clark, Eliand, Koetz, 17' 3", '63; mile relay — Gahanna (Glover, Barth, Martin, Mulconery), 3:38.4, '65; sprint medley — Westerville (O'Brien, Williams, Thomas, McCalla), 1:37.4, '64.

SPRINGFIELD RELAYS

Five of the area's top cinder squads — Upper Arlington, East, Hilliard, South and Central — will be hoping for a better shake from the weatherman at Saturday's 18th annual Springfield Relays.

Saturday's running would have been the 19th annual if a quantity of raindrops hadn't washed out competition last spring.

PRELIMS in the 440 relay event opens track action at 9:30 a.m. at Evans Stadium. Qualifying rounds for the shuttle hurdles (10 a.m.), sprint medley (10:30) and 880 relay (11 p.m.) follow. (All other running events will be run on best times).

Field events (three-man teams) begin prelims at 9 a.m. with finals slated for 1 p.m.

Other relay events and starting times include distance medley (2 p.m.), shuttle hurdles (3 p.m.), mile relay (3:15), sprint medley (3:45), two-mile (4 p.m.) and 880 (4:40).

"A" and "AA" competition will be separate and only Relay standards will be in the pole vault (9 ft.) and high jump (5'2").

DAYTON Dunbar is defending champ.

EXISTING RECORDS

440 R — Dayton Dunbar (:44.1, '64); distance medley — Dayton Chaminade (7:48.5, '64); shuttle hurdles — Springfield South (57.1, '63); mile R — Dayton Dunbar (3:24, '62); sprint medley — Cols. Central (1:33.2, '64); two-mile R — Dayton Chaminade (8:13.5, '64); 880 R — Springfield South (1:30.3, '62); broad jump — Dayton Dunbar 59' 3", '62); pole vault — Marion Harding (36' 10", '63); shot put — Dayton Dunbar (157' 8 1/2", '63); high jump — Dayton Dunbar ('62) and Cols. Central ('64) — 17'1"; discus — Cols. South (Jim Walker, Joe Cook, Lloyd Pete) — 416' 3 1/2" ('64).

OHIO RELAYS

Eastmoor, Worthington, North, Walnut Ridge, Academy and Brookhaven will be included in an anticipated lineup of 15 high schools at Saturday's 15th annual Ohio Relays.

The program is predominantly collegiate with 14 running and six field events on tap in that division.

BUT THE high school cindermen will open and close the day's activities, participating in six events.

Action opens at 10 a.m. with prelims in the high 880 relay. Other schoolboy events include high hurdle prelims (10:40), two-mile finals (12:45), high hurdle finals (1 p.m), mile run finals 2:05), 100 finals (2:25), 880 relay finals (3:50) and mile relay (4:30).

The 100-yd. dash event is by invitation only and will pit eight of the state's top high school dash men. Missing, however, will be East's Sol Espie (tied mark at 9.8 last spring).

High school awards at the Relays will include lapel pins for firsts and ribbons (second through fifth place).

OSU host Fred Beekman sees a fine field of college entrants at the Relays, including Michigan, Michigan State, OSU, Indiana, Purdue, Illinois, Northwestern and possibly Wisconsin from the Big Ten, Miami and Bowling Green from the Mid-American plus such top teams as Central State, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Ashland, Butler, Kentucky, Chicago U. and both the Chicago and Detroit track clubs.

SOME OF the top college division individuals participating will be: 100 — Steve Goldstein (has done 9.5), Trenton Jackson (ex-Illinois and Olympic standout), Central State's Zackory Harris; 3000 meter (steeplechase)— Al Carius (currently owns best time in country); 880— Kent Bernard (ex-Michigan great), Fran Smith (B-G frosh, 1:47.7), Jose Steele of Chicago Track Club; mile— Chicago Club's Jerry Stormer (4:15) and Kentucky's Jim Gallagher; hurdles — Purdue's Don Wolfe, Ashland's Don Tidwell (ex-West standout) and Michigan State's Gene Washington.

Admission for the Ohio Relays will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students.

EXISTING RECORDS
(High School)

100 — 9.8 (Craig, Wallace, '64, and Sol Espie, Cols. East, '65); high hurdles — :14.2, (R. Garrett, Dayton Dunbar); mile — 4:24.6 (Jeff Eckart, Worthington, '62, and Rick Poole, Dayton Jefferson, '64); 880 relay — 1:30.7 (Dayton Dunbar '62, and Cols. Central, '64); mile relay—3:23.8 (Cleveland John Adams, '65); two mile relay—8:02.3 (Dayton Chaminade, '64); 440 relay — :43.3 (Springfield South, '63).

Youth Is '66 Accent On Bexley Diamond

By JACK WITTENMEIER

With only four returning lettermen back this spring (two of them sophomores), Bexley diamond boss Perry Smith will be largely rebuilding this season.

Only seniors on the Lion ball club are captain Cam Orr, an outfielder who slugged a .347 clip last spring, and first basemen-pitcher Wayne Smith, Bexley's top slugger this spring (.375).

Battling for the starting outfield spots (besides left field where Orr patrols) are senior Mike Noles (transfer from Aquinas), junior Mike Erlandson (transfer from Eastmoor) and sophs Len Tieman and Dennis Daniels.

STEVE BENEDICT, a junior, takes over first base duties when Smith pitches while freshman Jack Kanaur moves in at shortstop when Moriarty toes the rubber.

Coach Smith sees Grandview as the team to beat in the Buckeye Athletic Conference flag drive this spring.

THE LIONS were defeated in their first three diamond outings this spring, losing 5-4 to Walnut Ridge and dropping a twin-bill to Lancaster.

Chances 'R' Wins League

Chances "R" downed Bubba Sitta, 58-45, behind Ken Maxwell's 23 points to win the second round of Whitehall's Young Adult Basketball League.

The team went undefeated in both rounds.

The league All-Star team was scheduled to play Chances "R" last night. Comprising the All-Star team were: Coach Hale, Freidlender from Silent Woman, Fultz from Ohio State Bank, Hartman, Catalina and Winship from Bubba Sitta, Meldrum and Nash from the Bombers, McLever from the Fire Department, and Morris and Gornall from Hales' All-Stars.

Team	W	L
Hale's Stars	10	4
Bombers	10	4
Bubba Sitta	8	6
Silent Woman	7	7
Ohio State Bank	3	11
Rinehart	3	11
Fire Dept.	2	12

Pony-Grad Registration Now Open

Registration is open now for all Reynoldsburg boys (15-16 years old) who are interested in playing baseball in the Eastern Pony-Grad League.

Registration will be held this Saturday and next Saturday (Apr. 30) from noon till 1 p.m. at the Junior High baseball field.

Boys registering must also submit their $5 fee at that time.

Sponsors are also needed to purchase uniforms. Any business interested in uniforming one or two boys (business names on back of jersey) should call coach Bob DiPietro (866-0055) or Jay Woodward (866-4384) after 7 p.m.

Beveridge Signs

Walnut Ridge's All-City basketball standout Pat Beveridge has signed an athletic scholarship to play football and basketball at Memphis State University the school announced this week.

Bexley's Weber, E-M's Rodibaugh Underwrite Area Success Stories

Bexley and Eastmoor — a pair of big cinder surprises this spring—continued to set the pace on area ovals last week.

Russ Owen's Lions dumped Hartley in the rain, 79⅔ to 47⅓, and topped (68) Whitehall (62) and Franklin Heights (28) in a triangular while Vince Cahill's Warriors downed Walnut Ridge (82½ to 42½) before speeding past (67) Central (54) and Linden (38).

OWEN, who commented that Bexley's sprinters would "have to do the job" this spring, got winning efforts from Rick Weber (100, 220, broad jump), Paul Davis (440), Pat Leach (discus), Mac McCloy (highs), Brent Blackshaw (shot), A. J. Myers (mile) and both mile and 880 relay quartets.

Weber, Davis, McCloy, Leach and both relay foursomes turned in identical performances in the triangular meet.

IS LONG HAIR TABOO
Not by a jug full it isn't! If hair shimmering down your back does something for you or for your beau don't let anyone talk you into cutting it. But do be sure it does do something nice, and go to a good hairstylist who can help you plan becoming ways to wear it. Even if you decide to wear it in a simple fall, it will have to be cut and shaped to lie becomingly. One has to be so careful about long hair. If you don't have it shaped and designed by an expert you may end up looking like someone from weirdsville. We'd love to take care of it for you.

ARE YOU TWO FACED?
I expect you are if you have learned anything at all about the miracle of makeup. There are times when you want to use every trick — sail out with every flag flying — and there are other times when a good healthy glow is all you need. In any event, for any occasion, it is always wise to help nature a little. It takes a special kind of makeup and a mastery of special secrets to be sure of getting the perfect effect. We can help you with both.

ON POLISHING HAIRS
Out in Los Angeles there is a group of scientists who spend all their time watching single hairs under their microscopes. They have developed a hair treatment which they swear will repair hair that has been dulled and frazzled by color operations, improper permanent waving, or just plain living. They say that it (their treatment product) is absorbed directly into the cell structure. So you believe it? We do. We use it. If you have dull do-nothing-for-you hair, come in and try it.

A STATE OF MIND
There is a feeling in the air of a happy home. I'm sure you have experienced it. It comes from the state of mind of the homemaker. If she is tired and her spirit is pinched and absurdly self-sacrificing, her children will more than likely be ill-behaved, her husband irritable and morose, and there'll be few if any visitors to that home except bill-collectors.
On the other hand, the woman who indulges herself a little is apt to be more understanding and indulgent to her whole family. She'll find ways for little happy surprises and they will joyfully enter into the game looking for the precious little things that will please their adored lady of the house.
We have a wonderful patron like that. She visits us only once a month because there is very little money for personal things. In her house beauty salon day has become part of a ritual that keeps living fun for the whole family. It is always topped off with a particularly nice dinner with candlelight, the good silver — and everyone is permitted to invite a guest if they want to. Isn't that a charming idea?

HEARD UNDER THE DRYER
Once you get a mouthful of very hot coffee whatever you do next is going to be wrong.

Father - Son Basketball

In a sudden death overtime game, the junior boys squeezed out a victory over their fathers. Little Kurt Anders sank a shot in the last minute to tie the game and Kim Nichols won the game with a long jump shot. Mr. Courtney, Eastmoor's basketball coach, showed his prowess by leading all scorers with 20 points.

Staff All-Star Game

The leaders at Barnett Center, led by Jeff Forster (28 points), scored an easy victory, 82-60, over the Senior Boys All-Stars.

Bob Milner and Don Sapp contributed 18 and 14 points and Rick Cermelj accounted for many rebounds.

Reaction Good, Junk Reports

Bennett W. Junk, a Republican candidate from the new 17th Senatorial District, says he has experienced "very favorable reaction" to his candidacy.

Junk, a Ross County farmer, has served as a school board member, a county commissioner and elections director in Ross County. A native of Pickaway County, he attended Ohio State University.

The district includes parts of eight Columbus wards; Hamilton, Madison and Truro townships in Franklin County and all of Fairfield, Hocking, Ross and Vinton counties.

Paugh Charges Parties Ignore Northeast Area

Richard L. Paugh, Republican candidate for the nomination from the new 59th Ohio House District, charges that both parties are ignoring the heavily-populated sections of Northeast Columbus in their endorsements.

Paugh said both parties have endorsed Westerville residents — Democrat James Tressler and Republican Alan Norris.

Paugh said that only he "hails from the heavily-populated area of Columbus."

"It would seem that both parties would be a bit more intelligent in choosing their favorite sons from where the votes are," he said.

isher (:14.8) at Saturday's Mansfield Relays, set the pace in both Eastmoor wins. Rodabaugh won both hurdle events against Walnut Ridge and again in the Warriors' winning triangular effort.

AGAINST the Scotties, Wyman Hawkins (broad, high jumps) and Dwight Cartier (100, 220) were double winners while Jack Parry (discus) and Gutridge (shot) added other first.

W-R, exhibiting its usual distance strength, took firsts in the 440 (Roy Barber) 880 (Rick Defourney), mile (Ion Sancho) and two-mile (Bob Hickey).

Defourney (mile) and Jeff Shipman (880) got W-R's only firsts in a 93½ to 33½ dual setback to Brookhaven.

East won the 440, shuttle hurdles, mile, sprint medley and 880 relays at Cincinnati but was disqualified in the latter two.

"Although we scored no points in the field events, we totaled 30 in the running (before disqualification calls). Twenty-six points (Arlington) won it and we placed third instead," Williams commented.

* * *

DAVE Burroughs scored two firsts (220, discus) but Mifflin downed Reynoldsburg, 72-52, in a dual meet.

Bill Davis (100), Irvin Christenson (two-mile), Rick Jago (440) and Gary Bussey (high jump) took other Raider firsts.

Although idle this week, Gahanna stands 5-0 in dual and triangular competition this spring (plus third at recent Cavalier Relays).

Good-Hit, No-Field Raiders Befuddle Coach Thompson

By JACK WITTENMEIER

John Thompson doesn't think stories about Dick Stuart and his fumbling fielding are too funny these days.

With 10 errors credited to his Raiders in a still early season, John isn't too happy with Reynoldsburg's showing defensively (John calls it "pathetic").

Reynoldsburg looks pretty solid in that department with 27 bingles collected in three games.

After last week's loss to Whitehall, the Raiders now hold a one-game deficit in the new Metropolitan League with Hamilton Township tomorrow's opponent and Teays Valley invading Tuesday in that loop.

THINGS ARE brighter over in the FCL where the Raiders stand 2-0 with West Jefferson arriving Friday to either fatten or cut down that mark.

BOB HELSEL'S single, a double by Donnie Woods and Bob Britt's single added another pair in the fourth for a 5-0 Raider pad.

But a pair of walks, an error, a hit batsman and four of C-W's total of five hits made it a new ball game after four.

Roger Wilson's clutch single (after two outs) and two errors got Reynoldsburg back up in the sixth but the Indians tied it up again.

THAT SET the stage for another two-out rally — this one in the extra-frame eighth — as Britt singled, Wilson drove him in with a double and Gary Shade singled to plate the second run in an 8-6 win.

Britt, Wilson and Shade collected half of the Raiders' hits with two-for-five performances.

Pitching nod went to returnee Greg Murphy who allowed only one hit in 4 1/3 innings, the only run off him unearned.

"WE OUTHIT them (9-7) but couldn't outpitch them," was Thompson's comment on the 8-4 Whitehall loss.

The Rams did it with a four-run fifth which featured a walk, two singles, a double and a costly balk.

Raider hitting stars were Shade (three-for-three, including a pair of doubles), Denny Spires (two-for-four) and Kevin Turner (a two-RBI triple).

THOMPSON listed no base running stars, another department with which the Raider mentor isn't too well pleased this spring.

Dave Herrmann, who took the Whitehall loss, is the likely starter against Hamilton with Shade probably facing West Jeff Friday.

Pfeifer Wants Your Vote

QUESTION:

I appreciate your sincerity, but how do you expect to win over a well oiled political machine which refuses to endorse you?

PARTY WORKER

Herbert J. Pfeifer

ANSWER:

Dear Party Worker:

I have been fighting the odds all my life. As the tenth child in a Catholic family of sixteen, I had to assert myself during the normal family competition, especially when money was a problem and needed items a luxury.

But I learned that people won't be pushed around and that everyone appreciates the honest approach. You appreciate my sincerity because I am being honestly sincere.

I want to represent the people, not the special interests. That is why I am taking my case to the grass roots voter. I need their help just as I need your help.

The people of this district deserve honest representation. I want them to give me the opportunity to provide that honest representation in the Senate of Ohio.

HERBERT J. PFEIFER,
SENATOR FOR THE 15TH DISTRICT

Hawk, Ram Loop Play Top Heavy Area Card

By BOB WHITMAN

A couple of top area baseball clubs . . . Hartley and Whitehall . . . face heavy league play in the Catholic and Metro loops respectively this week as they head an 18-game Eastern area card.

The Hawks will carry the bulk of the 18 games with a Friday assignment at De-Sales, another league date with defending Catholic king Ready Tuesday, and a Saturday doubleheader with Lancaster's Golden Gales.

THE OTHER area squads each have a pair of battles with. Whitehall's league meetings against Teays Vallay (Friday) and Franklin Heights (Tuesday) both on home soil.

The Scotties of Moe Cordle meet Catholic entrant Ready (Thursday) and league partner Eastmoor (Friday). The Warriors have a Tuesday game against north-ender Whetstone.

Academy goes against Dublin in FCL play as the Vikings try to stay atop the County circuit.

BEXLEY HAS a conference bout with Grandview (Friday) and a Tuesday date with neighbor Academy. Gahanna meets Mid-Eight leader Hilliard (2-0) Saturday two times.

That leaves Paul Pennell's East Tigers (2-6 with dates against Worthington (Tuesday) and a City match with Brookhaven (Friday).

Thus far, Paul sees his Bengals' improvement as steady. "We do one thing well each time and then something else lets down. One of these days we should put it altogether."

Jane Stimmel Tops Swimmers

Four Swimland swimmers represented Columbus well last weekend at the Huntington (W. Va.) YMCA sixth annual Spring Invitational Meet, held at Marshall U.

A pair of Swimland eight-year-olds — Jane Stimmel and Charlie Heaton — paced the locals at the meet which attracted 17 swim teams from five states.

Jane took first in the butterfly and thirds in both the backstroke and breaststroke to assume high point honors in the eight-and-under division.

Charlie got a first in the breaststroke, third in the freestyle and fourth in backstroke.

Other top Swimland point-getters were Cynthia Lape (first in breaststroke, fourth in freestyle, sixth in individual medley in 11-12 division) and Marie Stimmel (second in breaststroke, fourth in butterfly, fifth in freestyle in 15-7 division.

PROPOSAL FOR SCHOOL EQUIPMENT

[redacted] proposals will be received by the Board of Education of the Madison Local School District, Groveport, Franklin County, State of Ohio, at the Office of the Clerk of said School Board, Groveport, Ohio, until 12:00 noon, May 9, 1966, for the purchase of equipmen and furniture to be delivered and installed at the Groveport-Madison Junior High School, Hamilton Road, Groveport, Ohio and the Asbury Elementary School, 5127 Harbor Blvd., Columbus, Ohio. The bids will be opened and read aloud on the above named date at 12:00 o'clock P.M. Purchase of equipment will be made within two weeks after bids are opened.

Specifications are on file at the office of the Clerk of the Board of Education and Superintendent of Schools. Copies of said specifications may be obtained from either office.

Equipment for which proposals are to be received includes library furniture and miscellaneous loose equipment.

Separate proposals shall be received for the two library groups and for the total equipment as noted on the bid form, which will be provided.

All proposals shall be made in conformity with the General Code of Ohio, and on blanks furnished by the Board of Education and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope and addressed to the Board of Education, Madison Local School District, Groveport, Franklin County, State of Ohio, and endorsed Proposal for Equipment Contract showing date and hour of opening on the outside of the envelope.

Each bid must contain the name of each and every person interested therein, and shall be accompanied by a bid bond with corporate surety thereon, authorized to do business in the State of Ohio and satisfactory to the Board of Education, or by certified check on a solvent bank located in the State of Ohio, in an amount equal to ten per cent (10%) of the total amount of the bid, conditioned that if the bid be accepted, a contract will be entered into, and the performance thereof properly secured by a performance bond in accordance with the law.

Said bonds or certified check shall be made in favor of the Board of Education of Madison Local School District, Franklin County, State of Ohio, and shall be made payable to Charles I. Dean, Clerk-Treasurer of said Board.

The bond or certified check shall be forfeited if said bidder fails to enter into a contract and secure the performance thereof, within ten (10) days after notice of acceptance of the bid. A performance bond, with corporate surety thereon satisfactory to said Board in an amount equal to one hundred per cent (100%) of the aggregate bid price, conditioned in accordance with law will be required.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any part of any, or all bids.

By order of the Board of Education of Madison Local School District, Franklin County, State of Ohio.

They like the pay — top rates according to your skills.

They like the respect and recognition that Manpower "White Gloves" bring them.

They like the assignments — top firms in the city use Manpower "White Glove Girls" — 96% of all qualified applicants in the past 90 days were working within 1 week of coming in.

They like the FREE CTP Program — a brush-up course designed to sharpen their office skills.

If you want Temporary Office Work—join up with the group that wants you!

Clean, flameless electric ranges are preferred 2 to 1 for better baking.

Women do prefer electric ranges for baking. That's a fact. The reasons are very simple. Best baking results depend on accurate heat control. And electric ovens give perfect heat control because they are precise, electronic instruments. Set the dial at the temperature you want and that is the exact temperature you'll get! Another thing, electric ovens are completely insulated. This keeps the heat in the oven where it belongs. Bakes better, keeps kitchens cooler . . . two thoughtful reasons for going flameless. For more information on the merits of clean, flameless electric ranges . . . call the ELECTRIC company.

A lot of publicity has been given to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's love of bowling, that she's a novice "and likes it that way." Articles say that she bowls three or four times a week. If that rate continues she'll soon leave the novice class.

Yes, posing is still a problem! This is when the bowler takes his stance, holds it for a long time, and in the meantime bowlers on adjacent lanes have to wait. This not only slows up bowling but causes a few shattered nerves!

CLINTON LANES is inaugurating its first annual 20-game Marathon. Total guaranteed prize fund is $2,300 and is limited to the first 100 entries. Bob Davison (formerly at Fiesta) is the new manager.

We don't hear too much about high team series. The Main (Lanes) Classic League had four teams crack the 3000 barrier: Blendon Home Improvement, Sokol Bros., Van Dyne-Crotty and Village Packing.

Stop and think what it takes in individual achievement to average 1000 per team per game — an average of 200 per man-game.

CHICAGO'S Peterson classic continues to return those oily balls but pays out good money. Herschel Begley of Detroit, Mich., still holds the $32,000 value lead. No central Ohioans are "on the board" yet, although many have bowled in this season's 56-year-old competition.

The new Madison Square Gardens will have 48 AMP lanes so there will always be "knockdowns" going on although "knockouts" may not be as common since fewer boxing matches will be featured.

Women's records in Columbus are made to be broken. Marcia Crego slammed a 280 game (one pin up over Jackie Kendall and Nita Ditrick) in the Ladies' All Star at 3C's.

AMOS starts its sixth annual mixed team tournament on May 21, continuing on weekends through June 12.

In the ABC tournament there have been 17 perfect games rolled, but not one of them in the team event. In the 62 years of this event only four men have averaged 200 for 20 years and one man for 25 years. Two men have bowled in 49 consecutive tournaments.

A "miss" is exactly what it says — failure to make a spare, except when a split is left up. This situation may also be called an "error" or "blow."

WHEN THIS occurs in the tenth frame by the anchor it is called "curtain." When it loses the game it is referred to as "lights out."

Bowling lingo is a distinct language and varies by locality in usage. For instance, ever hear of a "sandwich game" in Columbus? On the West Coast it means the same as a Dutch 200.

Mat Coaches Miffed At OHSAA Verdict

By JACK WITTENMEIER

"Disappointment" was the word to describe the consensus of feeling of area wrestling coaches last week when they learned that the Ohio High School Athletic Association had turned down a request to move back the date of the 1967 state mat tourney.

The announcement came at the annual post-season meeting of the Central Ohio Wrestling Coaches Association at Yarnell's Party House.

THE STATE tourney has been set for Feb. 17-18 at St. John Arena — three full weeks prior to its normal mid-March scheduling.

The '66-'67 season thus will open with practice on Nov. 1, regular season on Nov. 28 with Sectionals planned for Feb. 3-4 and District meets set for Feb. 10-11.

League Meets (City, Metropolitan, Mid-Eight and Catholic) will be on Jan. 27-28.

"COACHES are really howling in the northern part of the state," one local mentor remarked. "They draw very well and like a dual meet season. The shorter season will cut down on weekend meets when they can pack their gymnasiums full."

The coaches were told by the OHSAA that basketball, perennial "breadwinner" of high school athletic programs, had to be given the first consideration in statewide scheduling.

OSU mat coach Casey Fredericks presented his annual coaches' trophy to East's Chuck Deyo, mentor of the '66 District championship squad.

Other newly-elected officers included: Brookhaven's Gary Allen, first vice-president; P-V's Mowery, second vice-president; Westerville's Chuck Burner, secretary-treasurer and West's John Butler, historian.

Fredericks announced that the state wrestling clinic would be held Nov. 12 and that he would conduct another program for 10 evenings in July (7 to 8 p.m.) at Whetstone.

MAT NOTES — Dick Fryman's Arlington Bears will play host to the annual Top Eight tourney next season.

Only new mat tourney planned for the '66-'67 season will come off at Groveport when Pete Nix hosts an eight-team tourney.

Busiest mentors at the scheduling session last week were Groveport's Nix, Hartley's Jim Kennedy and Watterson's Dick Bliss. All three completed their upcoming skeds.

GAHANNA will join the ever-increasing number of Central Ohio schools adopting wrestling next next season.

Casey Fredericks' guest at the banquet-meeting was Dave Reinbolt, OSU's NCAA champ at 167 last season.

Reinbolt, seated immediately to our right, paced the speakers' table in all eating departments, commenting, "I never have any weight problems."

THE COWCA was formed in 1958 and consisted of 12 schools which sent two boys to the state tourney. The association now contains 38 schools which sent 22 boys to the state tourney last month.

Only remaining charter members of the association still coaching wrestling are P-V's Mowery, West's Butler and Hilliard's Tom Lamb.

Area Athletes Starting Nods

Area athletes are generously sprinkled on sports rosters at Capital University this spring.

The Crusaders' '66 cinder season gets under way this afternoon at Kenyon while baseball, golf and tennis campaigns began last week.

SOME OF track coach Jack Landrum's top cindermen include: Bob Lewis (Eastmoor), Cap record holder in the mile, two mile and four mile, Bill Johnson (Central, weights), Bob Peck (Arlington, middle distances), Rick Mettle (Walnut Ridge, middle distances), Wendell Bond (Canal Winchester, middle distances), pole vaulter Dick Lewis and high and broad jumpers Dave Shultz, and Jim Doughty, the latter a Cap record holder in the high jump (6' 5¼").

Other Spectator-area athletes bucking for a starting spot are soph Bob Neely (catcher from Pleasant View), frosh Bob Klise (outfielder from Hilliard) and frosh Bryan Campbell (infielder from Carroll).

JUNIOR Dean Ishida (Eastmoor) is captaining the golf team this spring.

TAX CHANGE

Under the Tax Adjustment Act of 1966, a new method of withholding Federal Income tax from wages becomes effective May 1. The present flat 14 percent withholding rate is superseded by graduated rates ranging from 14 percent to 30 percent in order to more closely approximate the actual year-end tax liability.

New "Power-Vac" From Bogens Gives Gale-Force Furnace Cleaning

Arthur D. Bogen, general manager of Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, announced today the arrival of their brand new furnace cleaner — Power-Vac.

"In 45 years we have seen and tested many furnace cleaners," Mr. Bogen said, "But this is the first one we believe in; the one we have approved! This cleaner is definitely superior, and never before have we seen anything so efficient, economical and powerful as Power-Vac!"

Mr. Bogen continued. "Power-Vac, for the first time, cleans the entire heating system . . . cleans places never before reached, including all piping as well as the vent pipe and chimney. This machine produces a 70 mile per hour gale force cleaning power, and sucks in 12,000 cubic feet of air per minute through a line attached to the home heating system."

Mr. Bogen explained that the main spreader of dirt in the home is the furnace. He pointed out the fact that the average furnace works 8 months out of the year. For greater heating efficiency, as well as a cleaner home, every furnace, unless it has an electronic air filter, should be cleaned thoroughly once a year. He said Power-Vac challenges embedded dirt, dust, pollen and air pollution in the home. This is the very first really complete furnace cleaner that actually makes Spring cleaning worth while, he added.

"The best time to have your furnace cleaned is now, after the long, hard heating season," said Mr. Bogen, "and right before Spring house cleaning. We're giving a special introductory offer — the complete cleaning of your entire heating system, only $22.50. A complete furnace tune-up is only $11.50! Now, customers may obtain both these services . . . a $34.00 value . . . for only $29.50. A saving of $4.50. We believe in this furnace cleaner and we want as many people to take advantage of this offer as possible! And, it's good to remember that the cleaning and tune-up are available separately if only one is needed."

Call CA. 8-6543 now and arrange for an appointment to the famous Bogen Power-Vac. have your furnace cleaned by Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, Central Ohio's most reliable total comfort specialists, are located at 490 North High Street.

Lazarus Empire: 115 Years Later...

Charles

The largest department store in Ohio—the F&R Lazarus Co.—will be 115 years old tomorrow. This is the story of the Lazarus organization from its conception in 1851. It is a proud story of a proud family which grew to be a household word in this city:

Columbus was a plank sidewalk town of 17,000 people in 1851 when Simon Lazarus and his wife, Amelia, opened a one-room men's clothing store on South High-st, three doors south of Town-st. Tomorrow, Lazarus begins celebrating 115 years of growth in Columbus.

Now the largest department store in Ohio, Lazarus is still headed by descendants of Simon Lazarus. Robert Lazarus, grandson of the store's founder, is chairman of the board. Charles Y. Lazarus, great-grandson of the founder is president.

Simon's sons, Fred and Ralph Lazarus, entered the family business at early ages and as they became active, the store grew rapidly. By the 1890's the store had taken on rooms on either side and had become a large street-floor emporium. It was famous for its large clock tower beaded with electric lights and for a steam whistle which tooted weather forecasts daily. Columbus had a population of over 30,000 and was known nationwide for the electrically lighted arches that spanned High-st.

Ralph, who died in 1903, never married but Fred Lazarus had four sons. His elder boys, Simon and Fred, Jr., talked their father into building a new store. In 1909 the new store opened on the northwest corner of Town and High, the present location.

Simon succeeded his father as president of the company in 1917. His younger brother, Robert Lazarus, had entered the store in 1912 and his brother, Jeffrey, joined the family business after World War I.

Jeffrey Lazarus moved to Shillito's in Cincinnati in 1931. He became president and later chairman. Shillito's and Lazarus are both divisions of Federated Department Stores, Inc.

Fred Lazarus, Jr., was secretary of the Lazarus store until 1944 when he became president of Federated. Federated is now the largest affiliation of major department stores in America.

Lazarus has continued to grow at a rapid rate. In 1926, when the Town-Front building was completed, assortments were expanded to include home furnishings, housewares and appliances. The store had previously been known for its slogan, "Everything Ready-to-Wear."

The State-st building of the store was completed in 1939. Seven years later a commercial auditorium at Front and Town-st was converted into the Lazarus Annex. The first Parking Garage was ready for service in 1947 and the Bulk Service Building at 568 W. Whittier-st was opened in 1949.

Lazarus West, the department store's first branch, opened in 1962. It is currently being doubled in size. Lazarus Northland opened in 1964. In 1967, the Eastland Shopping Center Store will open.

WOMEN'S HOBBIES BENEFIT FAMILY, OFTEN THE COMMUNITY, SURVEY SHOWS

April is National Hobby Month.

With this in mind The Spectator inquired as to the hobbies of five of Columbus' leading women.

• Mildred (Mrs. M. E.) Sensenbrenner states that long before her husband took office as the city's mayor, her hobby was traveling and updating old homes.

She and her husband have had lots of opportunity to indulge the first hobby during the past several years—since Mayor Sensenbrenner likes to take her along on most convention trips (on her own money) . . . but she hopes that eventually they'll be able to travel "just for fun."

Their home at 335 Guernsey-av is an excellent example of her second hobby. She is mainly responsible for the complete replanning of its interior and the old-new addition.

• Hattie (Mrs. Robert) Lazarus' hobby has been working . . . and working hard (from their home at 2075 Fair) since 1932 when she was one of several women in the city who established what is now the Planned Parenthood Clinics.

Her efforts have saved the city thousands of dollars since the cost of clinic care is only $10 per year per person, whereas the cost of a child on welfare is about $1500 to $1800 a year and continues for 18 years, she points out.

• Jeanne (Mrs. Walter) Cummins of 1220 Georgesville-rd, loves to sew, especially formal attire, and finds that in her work (she's a singer and TV personality in case you didn't know) it pays an extra dividend. She never appears in a gown similar to anyone else's at a function.

What's her other hobby? Besides six children — she likes refinishing furniture, and many items around her home prove the fact. At the moment she's refinishing shelves from their old bakery on W. Broad-st and making them bright and gay for a new family room that is under way.

• Jerrie (Mrs. Russell) Mock of 2490 Bedford-pl brought fame to Columbus through her love of flying—which originally started out as a hobby.

Now she's experimenting with new recipes — ideas which she gleaned during her visit to Hawaii.

One of her most prized possessions is a silver bain-marit (soup tureen) from the Deshler-Cole estate. Another is a beautiful Aubusson tapestry, circa 1810.

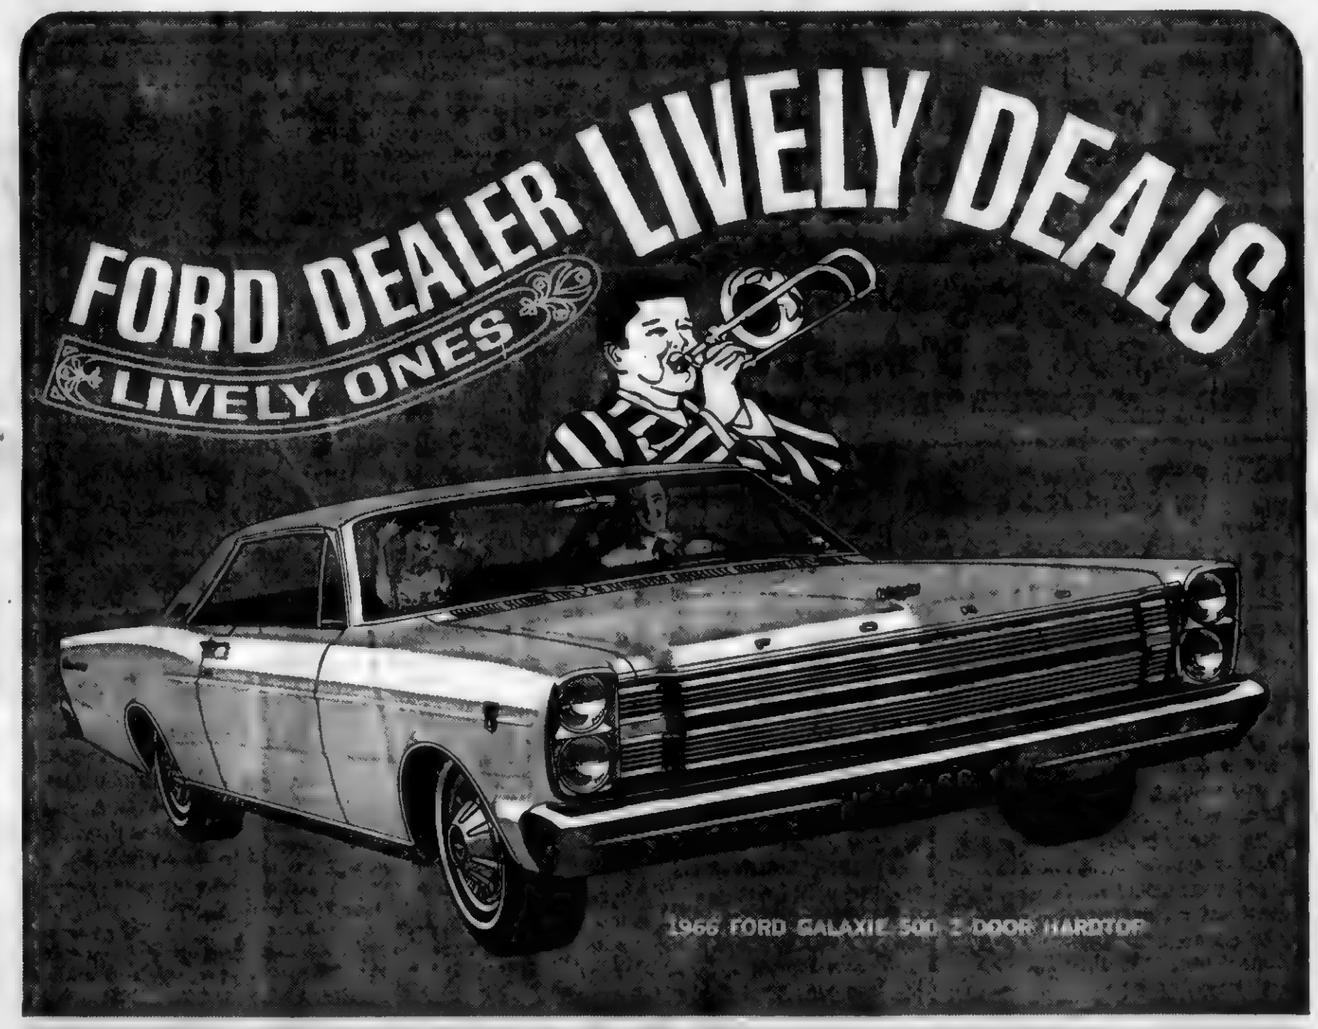
BBB Investigates Complaints: Finds No Sales Pressure

The Better Business Bureau of Central Ohio, Inc. has investigated the complaints reported by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rivera against the Sisson-Stern and Company, Realtors, and Estate Equity Corporation pertaining to their purchase of a house located at 435 Mithoff-st, last December.

The bureau has found there was no high pressure salesmanship involved in the transaction.

The Sisson-Stern and Company secured the house for Estate Equity Corporation and some remodeling work was performed prior to the sale to Mr. and Mrs. Rivera.

However, this is an old house and some of the defects were not apparent at the time the firm acquired possession of the house, nor at the time it was sold to the Riveras.



Although the Better Business Bureau generally does not enter into the investigation of profit, this subject has been publicized and the cost of the house to Estate Equity Corporation has been reported at $5,000.

The firm has provided a detailed list of their expenses including "acquisition, rehabilitation, cost to carry and expenses of sale" totaling $8,086.13. The selling price to the Riveras was $8,950, reflecting a "net profit" of $863.87.

Unfortunately, several problems developed after the Riveras moved into this house. The bureau believes that their difficulties were most unusual and upon complaint the sellers did make further repairs. However, at this point a problem of communication developed and the Riveras sought legal advice.

This did not solve their problem but tended to further restrict communication between the seller and buyers. Thereafter, Mrs. Rivera wrote several letters of complaint which resulted in this investigation.

The Better Business Bureau sincerely believes that Mr. and Mrs. Rivera are honest, reasonable people and should be respected for their efforts in protecting their interest. However, they also believe that Sisson-Stern and Company recognized their responsibility and acted properly in attempting to adjust the early controversies.

SERVICE DIRECTOR James C. Polzer gets in the act beside one of the city trucks which will make trips through Whitehall during Cleanup Week. The trucks will make two complete "sweeps" of the city during the week, starting at Maplewood-av and moving east. Residents are asked to place all unwanted items at the curb (or in the usual pickup location). This is a good time to clean out those attics and basements," Polzer said, "and please remember to weight down or place in a container any loose refuse that might be blown around by the wind." He added, "If any complaints are received concerning junked autos during this time the owners will be contacted and ordered to move them. If they fail to do so, the city will tow them away."

LIST 'MISSING PERSONS'

With the Apr. 30 reservation deadline only a week away, the committee for the silver anniversary reunion of South High School's Class of 1941 is still unable to locate 38 of its members.

These "missing persons" are Mildred Heil, Rosemary Schumacker, Doris Strauss, Marion Reichert, Vesta Lee McCoy, Harold Morris, Dorothy Fleck, Herman Rosin, and Joseph Topson, all of the January Class.

Those with news of the whereabouts of these members of the classes or who want to make reservations for the dinner at 6:30 p.m. Friday, May 6, are asked to call Mr. and Mrs. John Metzger, 718 Grandon-av, or Mr. and Mrs. Richard Arnold, 850 Montrose-av.

secretary, not just a typewriter jockey, and accounting, the "language of business."

The unit of distributive education readies the student for jobs in selling and merchandising. The work-study program offers not only sales, experience, but the principle of advertising, display and pricing techniques which are behind a successful retailing operation.

Of particular interest to young women are the units enabling one to become a dental assistant who can do anything for a dentist except actually working on the patients' teeth; the courses in cosmetology which fulfill the requirements demanded in Ohio before the state boards may be taken and chemical lab assistant's training, a field where supply is not keeping up with demand.

Those deft at a sketchboard can further their native skills in the course in commercial art. Although ordinary salaries range from $50-$85 a week, the top-flight artist can earn $150 a week, and those who attain a reputation draw in excess of $15,000 annually.

Auto mechanics and body work are only two of the wide choice of studies in the industrial and trade area which offers experience in sheet metal, welding, electronics, drafting and machine trades. These skills which are especially marketable bring in wages considarably over the minimum wage scale and often up to $5 an hour.

Carpentry and electrical know-how qualifies the student to a variety of activities, including self-employment.

The occupational work experience program is designed to put the student to work immediately for on-the-job training in occupation requiring less book-work and more actual experience.

A point made by Williams includes the fact that attending vocational school does not cut off the road to college for the enrollee.

Although most of those now planning on college, will remain in academic courses, the vocational curriculum will include conventional courses in English, American history and American democracy that will provide a standard diploma necessary for college entrance.

Recent support of the issues came from Governor James Rhodes who hails vocational education as a major step toward improving the climate for industrial growth.

He cited as an example the location of a new Chrysler plant adjacent to the Penta-County joint vocational school near Toledo.

He also stated the members of his Department of Development would encourage representatives of business and industry to support the proposal.

anti-poverty program under the Economic Opportunity Act, Goodloe feels what is needed is an army of "door-knockers" who could go through the target neighborhoods and spread the gospel of pre-natal care.

"We've got to get these people early and get them to a facility that's near at hand," he says.

There is a stortage of doctors for pre-natal clinics, and that can't be helped. Goodloe says most doctors naturally are reluctant to give up part of their private practice to devote time to the clinics.

"But there are other things we can do something about," he says. "New York City has done a good job in establishing pre-natal facilities close to home. Why can't we?"

Surprisingly, the United States has a higher infant mortality rate than such countries as New Zealand, Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries.

"Obviously, something can be done," Goodloe says. "We haven't reached the irreducable minimum. If they can do it, why can't we?"

IN & AROUND TOWN

EDITED BY ROLAND SUNKER

A guide to performers and performances in the Columbus area this week

Granville Inn At Daffodil Time

This weekend visit the 24th annual Daffodil Show in the College Town House in Granville and see over 400 varieties on display covering a theme of "Holiday In The Spring." It will be open from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Saturday and 12:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday. After the show, stop in next door at the Granville Inn. Relax and enjoy the most delicious meal you have ever tasted. This is what I did last Sunday. Dining in the warm, comfortable old English atmosphere was certainly a pleasure.

Known for years as one of the best eating establishments in Central Ohio, the Granville still maintains this reputation. Owned and operated by Sally Jones Sexton, the inn is one of the few places to age their own steaks. Succulent, juicy and served sizzling hot, their T bones are a delight. Included with the dinner I had were whipped potatoes floating in melted butter, garden crisp green beans, tossed salad, oven fresh rolls and ice cream with cherry topping. The Granville Inn with its guest rooms, and golf course close by make for a wonderful weekend of rest and relaxation.

Skateland Is Modern

Skateland, Columbus' newest and most modern skating facility, is the only air-conditioned roller rink in the Mid-West. Opened since Sept. 1965, Skateland has the largest single-poured terrazzo floor in Franklin County. Boasting a complete skate repair shop, as well as a sales room with the latest skating equipment, the rink is available for private skate and dance parties with special rates to churches, schools, clubs and scout organizations.

A variety of skating programs is offered, including private or group instructions. The teachers are Marca and Maurine Murthum. Both are national champions and are members of the Rollerskating Rink Operators' Association.

Last Saturday, with a large crowd of skaters on the floor, the entire program was completely organized. Several supervisors were on the floor for the welfare and safety of the skaters. The ages of the roller fans ranged from wee-tots to teenagers. Skating is fun, good old-fashioned fun, and you could tell by watching that everyone was enjoying it.

One hint, if you are one who doesn't care for roller-skating, go to Skateland anyway and hear their $8,000 theatre organ. Mike Williams is the talented organist. He plays music that reminds one of the good old days at the movies when organ music was part of the program.

Symphonic Choir Presents

The OSU Symphonic Choir, under the direction of Louis H. Diercks, presents its annual home concert at 3 p.m. Sunday, Apr. 24, in Mershon Auditorium. George R. Haddad and Richard Tetley-Kardos, concert pianists and School of Music faculty members will join the choir in a featured performance of Brahms' "Love Song Waltzes." Admission is free and the public is invited.

A Master At Del Matto's

Bill Vlasak has been pleasing patrons at Del Matto's Restaurant for over two and a half years with his musical ability on piano and organ. Playing standards and popular show tunes in a sophisticated and richly styled manner, Bill's music has magnetism for Del Matto's customers. He is no showman but his phrasing and interpretation shows the touch of a master. This is Bill Vlasak, a real musician. He blends in well with the pleasant, intimate atmosphere of the cocktail lounge, located in one of the finest Italian restaurants in Central Ohio.

HARRY GRAHAM, JEAN SMITH

VLT Play Cast Chosen

Harry Graham, 3252 Stephen-dr, S., has been cast as Samuel Savage and Mrs. Jean Smith, 696 Island-ct, has been chosen as Lily Belle in Village Little Theatre's production of "The Curious Savage," to be presented Apr. 28, 29 and 30 in Brownlee Hall of First Community Church at 8:30 p.m.

"The Curious Savage," was written by John Patrick and is being directed by Bud Lane.

Graham has appeared in many community theatre productions in the city for VLT, Player's Club and Stadium Theatre. Jean Smith is also well-known on the community stage having acted in plays for Playhouse-on-the Green, VLT and Players' Club.

Tickets may be obtained at the door on show nights or by calling 486-5330.

Local TV Color Range Near High In Nation

This means that 15 percent of all the television homes in the Columbus market have color TV. Only Munice, Ind., with 16 percent boasts a higher total.

DANCERS FROM BIG D

IN PLAY

CARL WALKER plays "Oscar" in the Prairie Players Spring production "Mary, Mary" scheduled Apr. 29-30 at 8 p.m. in the Prairie Norton Elementary School, 117 Norton-rd. Other cast members include Linda Haydock, Norma Dillon, Jack Kessler and Joe Spivak.

Tryouts Are Slated

Youth Orchestra Marks 10th Year

The Columbus Symphony Youth Orchestra will celebrate its 10th anniversary in concert Sunday, Apr. 24, at 4 p.m. in Mees Hall, Capital University, under the direction of George H. Wilson, conductor, and N. Laurence Burkhalter, associate conductor.

The program will feature such works as Symphony No. 3, Opus 90 by Johannes Brahms and Concerto in D Major by Joseph Haydn.

anti-poverty program under the Economic Opportunity Act. Goodloe feels what is needed is an army of "door-knockers" who could go through the target neighborhoods and spread the gospel of pre-natal care.

"We've got to get these people early and get them to a facility that's near at hand," he says.

There is a stortage of doctors for pre-natal clinics, and that can't be helped. Goodloe says most doctors naturally are reluctant to give up part of their private practice to devote time to the clinics.

"But there are other things we can do something about," he says, "New York City has done a good job in establishing pre-natal facilities close to home. Why can't we?"

Surprisingly, the United States has a higher infant mortality rate than such countries as New Zealand, Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries.

"Obviously, something can be done," Goodloe says. "We haven't reached the irreducable minimum. If they can do it, why can't we?"

Granville Inn At Daffodil Time

This weekend visit the 24th annual Daffodil Show in the College Town House in Granville and see over 400 varieties on display covering a theme of "Holiday In The Spring." It will be open from 2 p.m. until 9 p.m. on Saturday and 12:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sunday. After the show, stop in next door at the Granville Inn. Relax and enjoy the most delicious meal you have ever tasted. This is what I did last Sunday. Dining in the warm, comfortable old English atmosphere was certainly a pleasure.

Known for years as one of the best eating establishments in Central Ohio, the Granville still maintains this reputation. Owned and operated by Sally Jones Sexton, the inn is one of the few places to age their own steaks. Succulent, juicy and served sizzling hot, their T bones are a delight. Included with the dinner I had were whipped potatoes floating in melted butter, garden crisp green beans, tossed salad, oven fresh rolls and ice cream with cherry topping. The Granville Inn with its guest rooms, and golf course close by make for a wonderful weekend of rest and relaxation.

A Master At Del Matto's

Bill Vlasak has been pleasing patrons at Del Matto's Restaurant for over two and a half years with his musical ability on piano and organ. Playing standards and popular show tunes in a sophisticated and richly styled manner, Bill's music has magnetism for Del Matto's customers. He is no showman but his phrasing and interpretation shows the touch of a master. This is Bill Vlasak, a real musician. He blends in well with the pleasant, intimate atmosphere of the cocktail lounge, located in one of the finest Italian restaurants in Central Ohio.

IN PLAY

CARL WALKER plays "Oscar" in the Prairie Players Spring production "Mary, Mary" scheduled Apr. 29-30 at 8 p.m. in the Prairie Norton Elementary School, 117 Norton-rd. Other cast members include Linda Haydock, Norma Dillon, Jack Kessler and Joe Spivak.

Skateland Is Modern

Skateland, Columbus' newest and most modern skating facility, is the only air-conditioned roller rink in the Mid-West. Opened since Sept. 1965, Skateland has the largest single-poured terrazzo floor in Franklin County. Boasting a complete skate repair shop, as well as a sales room with the latest skating equipment, the rink is available for private skate and dance parties with special rates to churches, schools, clubs and scout organizations.

A variety of skating programs is offered, including private or group instructions. The teachers are Marca and Maurine Murthum. Both are national champions and are members of the Rollerskating Rink Operators' Association.

Last Saturday, with a large crowd of skaters on the floor, the entire program was completely organized. Several supervisors were on the floor for the welfare and safety of the skaters. The ages of the roller fans ranged from wee-tots to teenagers. Skating is fun, good old-fashioned fun, and you could tell by watching that everyone was enjoying it.

One hint, if you are one who doesn't care for roller-skating, go to Skateland anyway and hear their $8,000 theatre organ. Mike Williams is the talented organist. He plays music that reminds one of the good old days at the movies when organ music was part of the program.

HARRY GRAHAM, JEAN SMITH

VLT Play Cast Chosen

Harry Graham, 3252 Stephen-dr, S., has been cast as Samuel Savage and Mrs. Jean Smith, 696 Island-ct, has been chosen as Lily Belle in Village Little Theatre's production of "The Curious Savage," to be presented Apr. 28, 29 and 30 in Brownlee Hall of First Community Church at 8:30 p.m.

"The Curious Savage," was written by John Patrick and is being directed by Bud Lane.

Graham has appeared in many community theatre productions in the city for VLT, Player's Club and Stadium Theatre. Jean Smith is also well-known on the community stage having acted in plays for Playhouse-on-the Green, VLT and Players' Club.

Celebrates Founding

Sorority history and a forthcoming Centennial Celebration set the mood for the Pi Beta Pi Alumnae Club's annual Founder's Day Banquet Monday, Apr. 25.

The Banquet, set for 6 p.m. at Green Meadows Country Inn, will also honor members of the Ohio State Pi Phi Chapter who have achieved outstanding scholarships and women who are observing their 50th year as members of the national sorority.

In keeping with the evening's theme, Mrs. Claude C. Shortz, of Chesterfield-rd, will discuss "The Cookie Shine," one of Pi Phi's most popular traditions.

The Centennial Celebration, which will begin on a national scale this summer, will also play a part in the evening's activities. Founded in 1867 at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., Pi Phi will be the first national college sorority to hold its Centennial Celebration.

To commemorate the 100th year of the founding of Pi Phi, members throughout North America are donating funds to expand an existing craft center in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

The center now offering a summer workshop to those interested in American crafts will become a year 'round craft center in conjunction with the University of Tennessee.

Already under construction, the center will attract teachers, therapists and artists from throughout the United States. They will receive professional training as well as college credit through the University of Tennessee.

Reservations for the Founder's Day Banquet may be made by contacting Mrs. James K. Alexander of Dublin-rd, chairman.

SPECIAL ELECTION ISSUE:

CHARTER IS BEST FOR WHITEHALL FUTURE

AN EDITORIAL

Whitehall voters will be faced May 3 with the choice of setting up a commission to frame a charter or continuing indefinitely the present statutory form of municipal government.

The Spectator urges the people of Whitehall to vote for the formation of the charter commission, and choose the 15 men of their choice from the 17 candidates. Their motives in seeking election are the same as the reason for a charter — the good of Whitehall.

It should be mentioned that once the charter commission is set up, the public has not finished its part in the framing of a charter. No one is asking that you give a select group permission to do as it pleases with the administration of YOUR city.

The public will be invited and needed to participate in hearings held periodically by the commission, in order to get an idea of the fairness of commission proposals to the whole community.

Whitehall is an island community — it cannot grow any larger in area.

Therefore, the municipal operation that exists must be an efficient one. Lack of speed and accuracy in dealing with city affairs could some day mean the difference between permanency and deterioration.

Whitehall will, however, grow in population. The government of the future will have to be adjusted to meet the needs of a great number of people in as little time as possible.

That is why The Spectator urges that you vote "Yes" on the formation of a charter commission— it will be for the good of you and your neighbors, and for the many who will follow you.

IN THE NEWS THIS WEEK...

From Spectator Area News Sources

C Of C Says 'Yes'

The Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce has come through with its endorsement for the proposed Eastland Vocational School. This endorsement was withheld when sought before election last fall, possibly because of pressures exerted by the City of Columbus and Columbus City Schools who were accused by a jealous attitude toward improved facilities in the county system. In the resolution unanimously adopted by the Chamber's executive committee, widespread recognition was noted of the need "to provide salable skills for the thousands of young people who do not continue into colleges and universities." Gov. James Rhodes gave his stamp of approval earlier this month to the school which will serve the Whitehall, Reynoldsburg, Jefferson, Madison and Canal Winchester School districts.

Lions To Sell Bulbs

The East Columbus Lions Club will conduct a fund-raising campaign during the evening hours from May 2 to May 4 to sell electric lightbulbs to residents of East Columbus. The money will benefit many projects for the blind. The light bulbs will be sold in "Thank You Packs," each containing an assortment of eight bulbs at the regular retail price of $2.

Will Conduct Survey

Twenty-five percent of all Gahanna homes will be contacted in the Gahanna Jaycees' "Community Attitude Survey," to be conducted May 3 through 5 between 7 and 9 p.m. A questionnaire containing some 50 questions on various community issues will be left at each home for 30 minutes, and will be picked up by a local Jaycee. Results from the survey will supplement Jaycees' community development program, and will be available to interested residents two weeks after completion. A spokesman for the group said the questionnaire can be filled out in about 15 minutes. Persons desiring further information are asked to call Ed Robinson at 471-7463.

Pine Hills Meet Set

The Pine Hills Civic Association will hold its next meeting Wednesday, May 4, at 8 p.m. at Woodcrest Elementary School, 5321 E. Livingston-av, to discuss proposed widening of Woodcrest-rd. Featured speakers will be Donald I. Craven, area engineer for the State Highway Department, and Michael Mileusnich of the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission. All Pine Hills homeowners and present association members are invited to attend.

Sponsor DE Trip

Several groups and individuals have contributed to the paying of traveling expenses for the Whitehall High School Distributive Education club's trip to Chicago Apr. 27 (today). They are: Bill Swad Chrysler-Plymouth; Eastern Kiwanis; Todd Tibbles, owner of Parklawn Manor, Whitehall Kiwanis; Dick Hyatt Realtors; James C. Polzer, Whitehall service director and Al Isner Insurance. The group took first-place honors in state DE competition recently, and will be in Chicago for the national contest until May 1.

Contest Deadline Near

Time waits for no man — or Spectator carrier. That's our subtle way to remind Spectator carriers that the May 15 deadline is drawing near in the "Take Your Dad to the Ball Game" subscription contest. Remember, five new, paid-in-advance subscriptions earn one ticket (plus meal and transportation) to the Cincinnati-New York doubleheader on Father's Day. Ten new subscriptions allow carriers to bring along Dad.

Board Wants Charter

The Board of Recreation of the City of Whitehall wholeheartedly supports the principles of a charter form of government. The board also supports and recommends the election of a charter commission for the City of Whitehall on May 3.

Exhibit Starts Sunday

The Bexley Area Art Guild will hold its every-member art exhibit May 1 through 7 at Jeffrey Mansion. Judge for the annual event will be Sister Eugene, of St. Mary of the Springs College.

Minnie Haenszel Is Wed

MRS. KENNETH GREEN

St. Johns Evangelical Lutheran Church was the setting Saturday, Feb. 26 for the wedding of Miss Minnie M. Haenszel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Haenszel, 5192 Alkire-rd, and Mr. Kenneth A. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick N. Green, 4900 Georgesville-Wrightsville-rd.

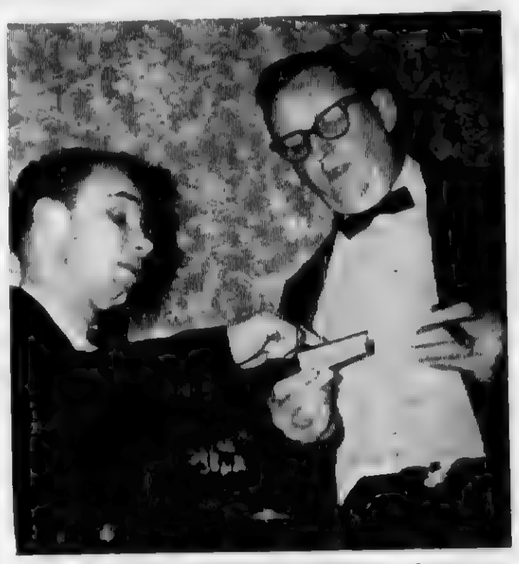
The Rev. Paul M. Meuser officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white slipper satin. The fitted bodice was overlaid with embroidered Alencon lace and featured a crescent neckline and lily point sleeves. The pleated controlled skirt featured an Edwardian back and swept into a chapel train. Her silk illusion shoulder-length veil was held by a headpiece of sequins and crystal beads and she carried a cascade of white glamellias.

Mrs. Raymond Funk was matron of honor and Miss Ruth Ott, Mrs. Gary Allwine and Mrs. Victoria Baer, the bridegroom's sister, were bridesmaids.

Mr. Harry Jahn was best man and Mr. Richard Jahn, Mr. Glen Stoll and Mr. Jack Haenszel, the bride's brother, ushered.

Following a honeymoon at Cumberland Falls, Ky., the couple are residing at 4688 Hilton-av. Mrs. Green is employed by the Nationwide Insurance Co., and Mr. Green is associated with the Columbus Fire Department.



HONORED

LINDA GOCKENBACH, 1510 Aven-dr, graduated with highest honors from Nationwide Beauty Academy. An "Award of Distinction" was presented to Miss Gockenbach during the graduation luncheon. Miss Gockenbach will take the examination given by the State Board of Cosmetology the latter part of May and will then receive her Operator's License. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Gockenbach.

WILLIAM S. WHITE: Lest We Forget What's-His-Name

WHITE

WASHINGTON — The question commonly asked when extreme human pettiness is being met is put in five words: "How little can you get?"

Just conceivably, you can get as little as President Charles de Gaulle of France. In formal history, de Gaulle will no doubt be remembered for international policies designed to assert a French "grandeur" that is a pompous myth, a vast French power that is in fact a non-power, and a French dominance of Europe that exists only in the dreams of this embittered old man.

His official role is that of the rule-or-ruiner. But whatever else it may be called, this role cannot be termed a small one. If it is irresponsibility, it is irresponsibility upon a vast scale. De Gaulle's tireless attempts are to destroy the Western alliance because he cannot lead it; to discredit the resistance of his American ally to shooting communism in Viet Nam because Viet Nam was long since lost by France itself; to exercise an imperious dictatorship over the Common Market. All these are not only realities, but large realities, at that.

Though time may not forgive the large trespasses of large men, it will recall them with wry acknowledgement that their faults were appropriately large. But time will not give respect to a current French regime capable of such microscopically small acts as is that of Charles de Gaulle.

The smallest of them all has now come. For the first time in 20 years the de Gaulle government has refused to permit a memorial ceremony for American soldiers killed in the liberation of Paris from the Nazis.

Somehow, this is even worse than de Gaulle's cold boycott in 1964 of an American mission which went to France with hands outstretched to help commemorate the 20th anniversary of the D-Day landings — landings from which American and British troops fought forward to the rescue of all France.

It is men who make history and not history that makes men. So it may be that this miniscule example of envious ingratitude may yet condemn Charles de Gaulle in harsher human terms than will all his infinitely more important schemes to make the West pay and pay for the crime of saving a France which had supinely submitted to Nazi invasion.

From across the years, thousands here and in England will remember this spring — on June 6, to be precise — all those other thousands who also landed from bobbing little boats and still lie upon the beaches or inland in the harsh hedgerow country. It would be right and good, all international politics aside, if these memories of destiny and death could also be memories of comradeship in the long, lost yesterdays.

But who now, knowing the full smallness of de Gaulle France, can have memories which are altogether clean, and free of this little, little thing he has thrust among them? — Copyright, 1966—by United Features.

BARRY GOLDWATER: Charge! With Bold Caution

GOLDWATER

"The weight of the attack of the B-52s is almost beyond comprehension."

This statement might seem excessive to American laymen, but not to military men who watched the action on Mar. 27 when 100,000 pounds of explosives were dropped by B-52s on the thick mangrove swamps of Viet Nam in support of a Marine offensive.

Observers who watched this and subsequent raids which originated in Guam describe them variously as "awesome" and "devastating."

The first quoted statement in this column is especially important in light of current Defense Department policies.

It is not mine, although I strongly advocate the manned bomber and greatly admire the B-52. Nor does it belong to Gen. Curtis LeMay, former Air Force Chief of Staff, who more than any other man is responsible for the use of our B-52 fleet in Viet Nam.

The glowing tribute came from Defense Secretary Robert McNamara, the same McNamara who has decided to do away with the B-52 and refuses to give the go-ahead for the construction of a more advanced manned bomber to replace it.

McNamara apparently was carried away in his discussion of the B-52 during hearings before the Senate Armed Services Committee. When he described the plane's performance in Asia as "almost beyond comprehension," committee chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) interrupted:

"After that very eloquent defense of the B-52, Mr. Secretary, are you ready to change your mind about phasing them out?"

"No, Sir," he shot back. "I think that we should proceed just as we have proposed."

Viet Nam is providing dramatic evidence that we cannot rest our entire defense structure on ICBMs and guided missiles. But apparently it is not yet sufficient to prompt the self-confident McNamara to admit to a tactical error of great and fundamental importance.

I wish I could believe that personal considerations play no part in a decision of such vital importance to our future defense. But this becomes difficult in the light of exchanges like the one between McNamara and Sen. Russell.

McNamara is not one to question his own judgment. Nor is he inclined to admit that he might have made a mistake or two in the many thousands of decisions he has handed down as Secretary of Defense.

Only once in my memory has he made such an admission, and when he did it caused headlines. "McNamara Admits Error" bannered the Washington Evening Star.

The error, however, was so obvious on its face that not even McNamara could dream up a chart to refute it. It involved his decision to cut back the military helicopter program in 1965, thereby creating a serious shortage in Viet Nam.

"It was an error," McNamara told the Russell committee. "I made a mistake." — Copyright 1966, Los Angeles Times.

Parkway Is MUST

The Nature lovers of the Columbus Area must surely have appreciated the artistic picture which was so prominently displayed on the front page of the Columbus morning newspaper last week. They should indeed be grateful because only a very privileged few (such as news cameramen, developers, landowners, etc.) have ever had an opportunity to see this bit of unmolested natural beauty . . . even though it is near a designated scenic highway and will remain undisturbed by the proposed parkway construction.

The proposed parkway extends from Goodale-bl to I-270—The Outerbelt. The beautiful river and the scenic highway north of I-270 will not be disturbed by the proposed parkway. However, "No Trespassing" signs currently barricade most such areas from public enjoyment, awaiting the most profitable future development.

Local motorists are fully aware of the PRESENT need for an additional traffic artery connecting the downtown area of Columbus with the heavily populated area to the North. The costly congestion that motorists must tolerate every morning and evening on the presently overloaded Olentangy River-rd as well as the North Freeway is convincing evidence that the present critical need for an additional traffic facility is north and would not be satisfied by the construction of a northwest artery.

It has been correctly stated that ". . . we already have Routes 23 and I-71." But is is incorrect to say "Running a freeway up the Olentangy Valley would add a third northern route without giving access to the northwest." Remember — the project under discussion connects the downtown area with the outer belt to the north. There is one existing freeway serving this important traffic band. However, north of the Outerbelt Route 23 is a four lane divided highway that has ample capacity for present and future traffic requirements.

Route 23 for several years has been under development as a major thoroughfare. The overall route improvement is nearing completion and will adequately provide for Toledo-Detroit traffic through Delaware, Marion and Upper Sandusky to connect with I-75 at Findlay. Northwest is the wrong direction.

The rapidly developing northwestern area has not been overlooked in the community planning. Development of Arterial routes such as Bethel and Fishingerds connecting with the west leg of the Outerbelt and the proposed Olentangy Parkway will adequately provide for the future development of this important area.

Moving the long planned Olentangy Parkway to the northwest will ignore an urgent present need and will surely stiffle the progress of our growing community. The existing congestion will be greatly increased with the completion of the Anheuser-Busch Development. Not many more vehicles can be crammed into I-71 during the morning and evening peak traffic flows. The capacity of any route will in fact be the maximum number of vehicles that will travel that route. The malignant traffic congestion that must surely follow such ill-advised delays in needed expressway construction will choke the extraordinary progress that this community tends to take gor granted.

Fortunately, it is now not necessary to forfeit natural beauty to provide the essential expressways. Just last year Mrs. Lyndon Johnson effectively sponsored (and Congress approved) a provision in the Highway Act of 1965 to preserve and enhance the potential beauty of areas affected by Highway Construction.

Notwithstanding the several misleading statements that have been made — the Proposed Olentangy project is eligible for the special beautification treatment under this new law.

Depriving the community of the urgently needed expressway will NOT insure the preservation of natural beauty along the river.

To support the project will make possible a well planned, serviceable and beautiful traffic artery which will not destroy but will enhance the natural beauty and place it on display for the daily enjoyment of thousands of motorists.

Don't be misled by those who would use "esthetics" as an emotional front for narrow, selfish interests.

Vote FOR the ordinance which will speed relief for the already critical traffic needs of Columbus and its suburbs.

Dr. Gumperson

By The Spectator's
TED BEARDSHEAR

The law of Dr. Gumperson states that vacant parking places are always on the other side of the street; that grass seed planted in rich soil, fertilized and kept moist, will refuse to grow while a few seeds will blow onto the sidewalk, find a crack and flourish.

BEARDSHEAR

More wordily stated, Gumperson's law has been codified by the magazine, "Changing Times." It states: "the contradictory of a welcome probability will assert itself whenever such an eventuality is likely to be most frustrating."

In other words, the outcome of a given desired probability will be inverse to the degree of desirability.

Note here the key word is "desirability." Without that, Dr. Gumperson's contribution might be just another fanciful dream.

But the law, like so many other scientific discoveries, has a wealth of corollaries.

For example, if desirability is the key, then the converse should also be true. The outcome of a given undesired probability will be directly proportional to the degree of indifference . . . or something.

Anyway, it works like this. Say you are an amateur gardener and your little patch of land needs water. Naturally, it is too big a chore to take a hose and water it. That would be work. So you hope for rain. That is when Gumperson's law comes into effect. Because you desire it, it will never rain.

The true thinker would remember the corollary. He would not wish it to rain. Instead, he would wash his car.

That way fate would immediately see that he was EXPECTING, yes, even desiring, clear weather, and the findings of Dr. Gumperson would dictate a cloudburst.

Very simple.

Olentangy River Valley: Save It For Whom?

MARQUIS CHILDS: Ol' Squeeze Play

WASHINGTON — Footsore and weary members of Congress have straggled back after the Easter recess. With the exception of Senators lucky enough to have two or four years more to go, most of their time has been spent canvassing prospects for re-election.

CHILDS

They return to a crisis in Viet Nam far more grave than when they left for home. The political upheaval jeopardizing the prosecution of the war presents the Johnson administration with some grim choices. For the first time, administration sources are saying in private that one of those choices may be a neutralist government that will negotiate an end of the war and a pull-out of American forces.

A strong conviction is that the facts have not been forthcoming from Washington. A poll ordered by NBC for a Viet Nam program reported that 59.6 per cent of those who responded said they did not believe they were getting the truth about Viet Nam. The poll was dropped for reasons of time, according to NBC executives. They pointed out that the question, "Are we getting the entire truth from the White House?" was in a sense loaded. Obviously the entire truth would include secret information that cannot be disclosed.

The striking contrast between the President of a year ago and the President today underscores the somber mood in which the legislators are returning to the capital. A year ago, buoyed by the record landslide of 1964, Johnson was at the floodtide of his capacity as a persuader and organizer. With the ebullient energy that is one phase of his temperament, he was helping to push through a great harvest of legislation. This included a broad new civil rights law and measures such as Medicare which had long been unfinished business.

Today the President concentrates almost entirely on Viet Nam. His closest advisers say he rarely thinks or talks about anything else. And as the growing pressure of the present dilemma bears down, he is increasingly irritable and impatient.

At mid-session this year the Congress has before it a comparatively small agenda. After the 1965 record smasher, Senate majority leader Mike Mansfield said he thought 1966 should be devoted to consolidation and assessment of new laws put on the statute books. While the President took issue with this statement, insisting there would be another big harvest, the current outlook does not support his optimism.

Mansfield is saying the 89th Congress will adjourn as early as August to give members time to build campaign fences. New civil rights proposals, delayed at the White House to take into account recent Supreme Court decisions, calling for Negro representation on Southern juries and protecting civil rights workers from attack, will stir debate. Truth in packaging and truth in lending are measures on which leading Senate Democrats put great stress.

But in predicting the August get-away date, Mansfield adds a great big if—if the war in Viet Nam and the political crisis it has provoked do not mean new legislation. High in the "if" category is the need for new taxes applied to personal and corporate income. The consumer price index for March to be released shortly may tell the tale.

If it reflects the relative stability of last month's wholesale prices, the administration is expected to decide that the immediate danger of inflation has abated and no tax increase will be necessary.

That would take the President off a very hot spot. The oldest political tradition is that nothing is so calculated to set the voter against the party in power as a tax increase in an election year. New taxes to support a war that has dubious support in the country would fly in the face of simple political prudence.

On the other hand, congressmen touring their home districts discovered that the resentment of organized labor toward administration guidelines which are holding down wages — and presumably also prices — has spread to the farmers. Farm spokesmen complain about a recent statement of Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman expressing satisfaction that farm prices had fallen from "cyclical high." Nothing could illustrate better the way the Administration is caught between the devil of taxes and the deep blue sea of rising prices. — Copyright 1966 by United Features.

Letters To The Editor

Transportation Is Necessity

To The Spectator:

In May Columbus voters will have an opportunity to decide the fate of the proposed Olentangy Parkway.

Two independent consulting engineering firms, the City Department of Engineering, the Ohio Department of Highways, and the Bureau of Public Roads have studied and approved the proposed Parkway location. Studies made by engineers of these organizations included the following: (1) the need for a new highway to serve present and future traffic, (2) the type of highway best suited to serve traffic, (3) the relative traffic service, cost, property damage, and feasibility of all practical solutions to the highway problems involved, and (4) the integration of the proposed project with both present and proposed streets and freeways.

In making a decision for or against the proposed Olentangy Parkway, it is suggested that the voter should completely ignore all aspects of the problem involving highway and traffic engineering. These problems have been thoroughly studied by competent engineers. The solution which has been recommended is qualified only by the present state of the science of highway and traffic engineering.

If we eliminate engineering decisions, the voter is left with three types of problems to consider: (1) esthetic problems, (2) financial problems, and (3) self-interest problems.

Letters for publication must bear the writer's name and address. The editors, at their discretion, may permit use of initials or pseudonyms if this is requested for a good reason. In general, preference will be given to writers willing to take responsibility for their views. Letters should be kept as short as possible. All letters are subject to editing.

Most of the esthetic virtues a parkway may have result from its suitability to the purpose and topography for which it is intended.

A parkway must serve the function of safely moving large volumes of high speed traffic. It cannot be a tree-lined boulevard. Trees within a right of way, except in protected locations, are disastrous to highway safety.

Many voters are worried that a parkway will destroy the scenic Olentangy River valley. Whether a parkway is, or is not built, it is a certainty that future development along the valley will change it.

Those with a sincere desire to preserve the beauty of the Olentangy River valley should unite in a demand that the City acquire suitable lands along the river to preserve and enhance its scenic value.

The wisdom of supporting public works depends on the value of the projects to the community. It is not an exaggeration to say that our present economic system would collapse without modern means of transportation. Rapid transportation has become a necessity, not a luxury.

The growth of a city is inseparable from the growth of its transportation system.

Planning and acquisition of our highway systems must keep pace with traffic growth. Delays can only result in stagnation of growth and greatly increased transportation costs.

Voters are urged to make a rational review of the problems involved before voting on the Olentangy Parkway issue.

ALTAR SOCIETY SCHEDULES 'THE QUESTION BOX' PROGRAM

The monthly meeting of the St. Pius X Rosary Altar Society, in Reynoldsburg, will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday, May 4, in the parish school.

The theme of the program is "The Question Box." Questions pertaining to the new changes in the liturgy of the mass will be answered by Msgr. James J. Carroll, pastor of St. Pius X Parish.

Prior to his assignment at St. Pius, Msgr. Carroll was Chancellor of the Diocese from 1956 until 1964. He is a native of Columbus and attended St. Charles Seminary.

A business session will precede the program. Principal business of the evening will be the election of officers for the coming year. Candidates include:

Mrs. Paul Jones and Mrs. Charles Deignan for president; Mrs. John P. King and Mrs. James E. Lloyd for vice-president; Mrs. Anthony Furgele, Mrs. Gary McCaw and Mrs. William Haight for secretary; Mrs. Donald Helm, Mrs. C. W. Smith, Jr. and Mrs. Robert Doherty for treasurer.

Mrs. C. W. Smith, Jr., and Mrs. Gary McCaw will be hostesses, assisted by the members of Team Two.

Monthly board meeting for all officers and committee chairmen of the society will be held Monday, May 2, at 8 p.m. in the parish school.

Sunday, May 22, women of the parish and their daughters will participate in an annual Mother-Daughter Breakfast. Joint communion at the 8:45 a.m. mass will be followed by breakfast at Howard Johnson's East, poolside. Reservations should be made by contacting Mrs. Edward Fry or Mrs. J. R. Flaherty.

Mrs. Lucien Skidmore, retreat chairman, has announced that the annual three day retreat for women of the parish will be held from Friday, June 3, through Sunday afternoon, June 5, at St. Therese Retreat House on E. Broad-st. Those interested in attending may contact Mrs. Skidmore for reservations.

The regular monthly bake sale sponsored by women of the parish is scheduled for Sunday, May 15, after all the masses. Mrs. Paul Jones and Mrs. Galird Ebright are co-chairmen of the project.

IT'S KIWANIS FESTIVAL TIME . . .

AN INVITATION to join the fun is extended to all area residents by, from left, Otto L. Meier, Southern Kiwanis Club special events chairman; Mrs. Doris Reiyea, executive secretary and Bud Sollenberger, unit manager, both of Gooding Amusement Co. The event is the Southern Kiwanis Club's annual Spring Festival, to be held May 2-7 at the corner of Livingston-av and Courtright-rd. Rides are provided by Gooding Amusement Co. at no cost to the club. A special children's matinee will be from 1 to 5 p.m., Saturday, May 7, at which time most rides will be available to high-school-and-younger students at 15 cents. Proceeds go to Kiwanis community service projects.

THE COMMUNITY BILLBOARD

THIS SQUAD TRUCK has been carrying a double message to area residents from the Whitehall Fire Department during recent weeks. One is a reminder of "Cleanup Week," which ends Apr. 30. The lower sign announces the Whitehall Firemen's Association annual auction, to be held at the firehouse May 7 at 10 a.m. Those who wish to donate unwanted items may drop them off at the firehouse or call 231-2073 for pickup service. Three used autos have been donated by Bill Swad, Lex Mayer and Kent, Inc., and will be on display at the firehouse. Proceeds from the auction will go to WFA civic projects.

Jewish Women Will Celebrate Fifth Birthday

The Evening Branch of Columbus Section, National Council of Jewish Women, will celebrate a fifth anniversary with an Installation Dessert-Tea at 8 p.m., Wednesday, May 4, in the Desert Inn, 3540 E. Broad-st.

Mrs. Henry Grinsfelder, past chairman, will install the following officers: chairman, Mrs. Robert Kean; vice-chairmen, Mrs. Richard Spiers and Mrs. Richard Gurevitz; financial and corresponding secretary, Mrs. Stanley Borenstein and recording secretary, Mrs. Marvin Pliskin.

Joe Vespi, director of Kenley Players, will present a "behind the scenes" view of such show business personalities as Zsa Zsa Gabor and Denise Darcell.

All council members are cordially invited. Reservations may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Jack Rubin, 222 Eastmoor-blvd.

TO HOLD POTLUCK

The Gahanna YW-Wives will hold a potluck lunch May 3 at Peace Lutheran Church from 10 a.m. to noon. Only admission fee is the donation of some item of food. The get-together marks the end of the year for the Gahanna organization.

EDITED BY ROLAND SUNKER

A guide to performers and performances in the Columbus area this week

Physicians, Heel Thyselves . . .

Paul Harvey, the self-proclaimed "news analyst" of ABC radio, paid one of the most expensive house calls in recent memory (a reported $2500) to the Ohio convention of osteopathic physicians last week at the Neil house.

Harvey, who greets some 60-million of his "Americans" several times a day locally over WTVN radio, calls himself a news analyst. I think, rather, that he's one of the greatest showmen to ever sing over the radio waves. Period.

The doctors (of all people) should've made Harvey take a kind of "hypocritic" oath before his talk. At the Neil House, the silver tongue and golden throat spoke out against urban re-development.

Yet, on his noon broadcast from Columbus, this "news analyst" raved about our great city and of our fine re-development program.

He told how Columbus, not like most American cities, is tearing down many of its old, unsightly buildings and even invited community leaders to visit here for a lesson or two.

With a sledge-hammer in one hand and a crow-bar in the other, Paul (Page 2) Harvey marches down Main-st, USA, tearing at the guts of this great country and its people. He believes, he says, that the biggest threat to America is not the "lousy communists," but the "lazy American."

He calls earth a "dis-orderly planet" with "too much dirt and problems."

Problems? Sure, we've got 'em. But no problem has ever been solved with a negative approach or by constantly criticizing a situation.

Paul Harvey seems to have lost faith in America and her people. How can he ever hope for a "good day?"

You Gotta Have Heart . . .

One of the most unusual and finest lounge acts in the city is currently entertainment at Stouffer's Top-of-the-Center, 100 E. Broad-st. Singer Kristen Kienzle and classic guitarist John McCormick present a wide variety of music including opera melodies, show tunes, folk music, old standards and popular songs. The duo is artistic, but not high brow. It's commercial enough to please all. Most pleasing is the fact that these two people, through their music, express strong feelings and vitality in their songs. You don't find these qualities in most of the lounge acts that come down the pike.

IPC Directors Set

Paul Morris and Bob Stegmiller have been chosen as directors for Independent Players Club's spring production of "The Most Happy Fella."

The club, which is in its 44th year, will present the Frank Loesser's award winning musical at Veterans Memorial, Apr. 29 and 30.

IPC is a non-profit organization composed of Columbus area people interested in the theatre. The club is without sponsorship, and depends entirely on box office support.

GENE GETS A HUG FROM SABRINA
In "Loving Couch" at Hartman

Gene Shane In Comedy

Gene Shane, well known to to television audiences for his numerous appearances on "The Munsters," "Naked City," "Combat" and "General Hospital," is seen in the stage comedy, "The Loving Couch," at the Hartman Theatre this week, with Virginia Mayo and Sabrina in the star roles.

Shane has also played numerous off-Broadway roles and has starred in one film to date, "The Gold Life," for Embassy Films. He is now signed with MGM and this film studio plans some important parts for him in their fall production schedule.

During the limited engagement of "The Loving Couch," performances will be presented evenings only with two shows on Friday and Saturday — 7 and 9:45 p.m. Curtain for the other evenings is 8:30.

Concert May 1

It will be given at Battelle Memorial Auditorium Sunday afternoon, May 1, at 3:30 p.m.

This is being given as part of the National Music Week activities.

'Hayride' Market Widening

"Hayride," the country-western variety color program produced by Avco Broadcasting Corporation in Cincinnati and syndicated by ABC Films, has been purchased in 13 markets since its availability was announced just prior to the NAB Convention in Chicago.

ABC Films president, Hal Golden and Avco Broadcasting president, John T. Murphy, made the announcement in a meeting following the NAB convention.

"The country and western trend is here to stay," Mr. Golden said, "and 'Hayride' has been broadcasting from stations coast to coast."

"Hayride" is being offered in hour and half-hour formats. To date 11 of the 13 markets will be telecasting the full hour version.

THREE'S A CHARM

Whitehall Will Host Central District PTA Conference

The Whitehall Council of PTA will be host to the Central District Parent-Teacher-Conference Apr. 28 at Whitehall-Yearling High School.

PTA leaders and members from a ten-county area will be attending the conference from 1:30 to 9 p.m. Mrs. M. D. Sheatsley, director of the district, is scheduling the conferences.

Mrs. Alfred Jones, first vice-president of the Ohio Congress, will speak at the general session on "Critical Issues-Critical Times," the theme of the conference.

Group conferences, from 3:15 to 4:15 and 4:30 to 5:30, will be offered to leaders in the Parent-Teacher Association for the purpose of giving information, instruction and inspiration in such areas as membership, program planning and program proficiency, parent responsibilities and education in a changing society.

At the evening session, beginning at 7:15, there will be a panel discussion, "What is an Effective PTA?", moderated by C. L. Dumaree, headquarters chairman of the Ohio Congress and assistant superintendent of Columbus Public Schools.

Mrs. Gene Shade, president of the Whitehall Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, will present her local chairman of the planning committee.

The Central District includes Delaware, Fairfield, Franklin, Knox, Licking, Madison, Marion, Morrow, Pickaway and Union Counties.

Sisterhood Dates Meet

Mrs. David Madison, 81 S. Merkle-rd, has been elected president of Temple Israel Sisterhood for the biennial period beginning May 6.

Consecration services for new officers and board will be held at Sisterhood Sabbath at Temple Israel on that date.

Dr. Jerome D. Folkman will speak on "The Best Years." Participants will be Mrs. Sidney Blatt, outgoing president; Mrs. Madison, Mrs. Walter Robinson, Mrs. Sidney Putchat and Mrs. Edward D. Kiner.

Mayor Points Proudly To City's Recreation Program

Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner pointed with pride this week to what he calls "two years of dynamic progress" in recreation programs.

Sensenbrenner singled out the new 18-hole golf course on S. Hamilton-rd near Port Columbus as "the center jewel of the expanding city recreation program."

The course, built on land acquired by the Recreation Department in the 1940s, cost the city an estimated $320,000. It will be the second municipal golf course, joining Raymond Memorial on the West Side.

Eight new tennis courts will dot the city this summer. Two, at Whetstone Park, cost $8,000. The other six, at Woodward Park, cost $12,000.

Also new for this summer is a $100,000 renovation and lighting project to permit night baseball at Southview Park. Southview is also the site of the new scenic cycling trail, which runs along the Scioto River from Frank-rd to Greenlawn-av.

In addition to the three new recreation centers opened during the past year, the city has spent $85,000 for renovations at Glenwood and Sunshine recreation centers. And ground will be broken by the end of the month for the new $200,000 senior citizens' recreation center at Second-av and Summit-st.

The city's 90 supervised playgrounds will open for the summer on or about June 10.

"This is a big program, and an expensive one, but a first class city needs good, clean recreational facilities," the mayor says.

"If our modern, up-to-date organized recreation program keeps even one child from drowning in a river because of lack of swimming facilities or a teen-ager from wrapping an auto around a tree because of boredom due to lack of an available golf course or tennis court, then the expense is well worth it," Sensenbrenner says.

Weiner Seeks Upgrading Of Mental Hospitals

Jerry Weiner, candidate for the Republican nomination from the new 60th House District, called this week for "a complete upgrading of state mental installations.

"It is about time we employ people in our institutions who are highly qualified, and, if necessary, pay them commensura with their ability."

Weiner said mental illness was on the rise and said, "It must be curbed and it can only be done by qualified people.

"We spend millions on b solute waste and if we are to continue to progress we must recognize the fact that there are those who cannot keep up the pace, but crack. They need help to take their place again in society," Weiner said.

Weiner also urged the establishment of a complete vocational school in every major school district in Ohio.

"All children are not capable of higher education, and we must realize this," he said.

THEY ARE LOOKING FOR YOU

OVER 8,000 SOUTH HIGH alums exist somewhere in this world, but according to Mrs. Robert Weis, 1136 Oakwood-av, who is association secretary, it is like playing hide and seek to find them. Many of the letters inviting them to the important meeting at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 6, have been returned, stamped "Address Unknown." Whether annual meetings will be continued is a red-hot issue which will be voted upon next Friday. Busy trying to round up the crowd are, from left, Mrs. Robert Smoke, 1600 E. Gates-st; Mrs. James Cameron, 1169 Lockwood-rd, and Mrs. Weis. Those who have the addresses of any "missing persons" are asked to call Mrs. Weis at HI. 4-1651.

--REYNOLDSBURG VOTERS--

CAN WE STAND ANY MORE SCHOOL TAXES?

Last Dec. a 4 mill school levy was defeated at a Special Election, which cost the taxpayers extra. Now it's on the ballot again for May 3 but is increased to 5.8 mills, that would cost $5.80 per thousand tax valuation. How soon will they ask for more? There's an organization which calls itself Citizens Association for Reynoldsburg Education. They have business and professional people who say they're for all levies. Several of them are not. Their ad appeared in the Little Weekly. The first name on the ad was George W. Twyford, the mayor. He has changed his tune since Jan. 25, 1966 when he said $128,000 was needed to cover up apparent poor administration; now he's a good politician in favor of everything.

The School Board has a school teacher from Columbus and a retired teacher on their staff. If they insist on keeping Mr. Heischman at the head of the schools, they had better elect some good businessmen on the School Board.

With this 5.8 mill levy on the May 3 ballot there is also a 1.4 mill vocational levy and .6 mill bond issue. Combine all three and your taxes will cost almost $8.00 per thousand. Vote "No" on all issues.

Committee Says Reed Can Win For Demos

The Reed for Representative Committee urged this week that Robert E. Reed be chosen Democratic candidate from the new 60th House District "to assure the district of being represented by a Democrat."

Reed, a member of the Columbus Sales Commission, lives at 1320 Brookwood-pl with his wife and daughter. He is a member of the board of trustees of the Berwick Civic Association.

Reed has been active in Democratic politics for many years and was chosen Outstanding Young Democrat of Franklin County in 1961.

GARDEN SALE SET

The Eastmoor South Garden Club will meet May 3 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Henry MacRoberts, Pataskala. The club will hold its annual plant sale. Mrs. Florence Hauser and Mrs. Helen Whitlatch are co-hostesses. A floral arrangement will be furnished by Mrs. Michael J. Orzano.

Candidate Acton Says Education Campaign Issue

J. Michael Acton, seeking the Democratic nomination for state senator from the new 17th District, said this week that "education of Ohio's children" will be the chief campaign issue of 1966.

Acton, a Columbus attorney, said he would urge "that the state pay its fair share of the cost of education as required by the Ohio Constitution."

Acton said the state is now paying only 27 percent of the cost of public education and should be paying 50 percent.

"The burden of quality education is therefore necessarily shifted to the overburdened local taxpayer," Acton said.

Murphy Claims Acton Advocates 'Sectionalism'

Joseph J. Murphy, Democratic candidate for state senate from the 17th District, charged this week that one of his opponents, J. Michael Acton of Lancaster, is advocating "sectionalism" in the upcoming primary.

Murphy cited an advertisement in a Chillicothe newspaper urging Ross County residents to vote for Acton because he is the only candidate who does not live in Columbus.

"Sectionalism has no place in American politics," Murphy said. "There is no north, south, east or west. They went out with the Civil War. We are one country — America — and one state—Ohio—and we are all Ohioans and Americans in the 17th District working for all the people.

"This attempt to turn one section of the district against the other seems completely un-American," he said.

Will Study Ohio's Pollution Woes

A Legislative Service Commission study committee plans to look into statewide problems of air and water pollution with an eye toward recommendating legislation to fight the problem.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore Gray of Piqua named State Rep. David Albritton of Dayton, a Republican, to chair the committee.

The committee plans to study laws of other states and determine the desirability of creating a state air pollution control board. Ohio already has a water pollution control board.

Goldman Seeks Demo Nod For Supreme Court

Ben J. Goldman of Springfield, a common pleas court judge in Clark County, is seeking the Democratic nomination for judge of the Ohio Supreme Court in Tuesday's primary.

Goldman, 61, has the endorsement of several Ohio newspapers and the Citizens League of Greater Cleveland in his campaign for the nomination.

A veteran jurist, Goldman says, "I like to think that my service on the bench has been marked by compassion and understanding.

"I have a high regard and respect for the dignity of others, and I hope my service on the bench has always reflected this," he says.

STOP THE TRAFFIC JAMS!

ATTENTION CITY OF COLUMBUS VOTERS!

SPECIAL ELECTION HELD ON THE DAY OF PRIMARY ELECTION MAY 3, 1966

GO FORWARD WITH COLUMBUS!

- Let's end traffic jams on Olentangy River Road!
- Let's end overcrowding on I-71, High St. and Indianola!
- Let's open up new areas for public parks, recreation, fishing, and boating!
- Let's Get Started NOW!

WHAT TO LOOK FOR:

REFERENDUM ON ORDINANCE NO. 144-66

VOTE BALLOT WITH AN "X"

An ordinance giving consent of the City of Columbus to the construction of State Route 315, from Kinnear Road to Interstate Route 270, as a limited access highway under the supervision of the Director of Highways of the State of Ohio, and proposing to cooperate with said Director in certain matters incident thereto.

FOR THE ORDINANCE	X
AGAINST THE ORDINANCE

EVERYBODY BENEFITS!

The Olentangy Freeway is important to YOU wherever you live in Columbus. The freeway is needed now so that Columbus residents have a safer, smoother route to jobs, schools, shopping and recreation.

Columbus voters — by an overwhelming majority — approved the State Bond issue for the proposed freeway in 1964. Ohio and Columbus officials approve the route. Columbus City Council approves the route. Our neighbors in Worthington approved their section of the route by Council action.

Now it's time to stand up and be counted FOR Columbus! Vote "For" Ordinance 144-66!

VOTE "FOR" ORDINANCE No. 144-66!

ENDORSED: THE SPECTATOR, Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce, Columbus-Franklin County AFL-CIO, Development Committee for Greater Columbus, Retail Merchants Association and many civic groups.

BOTH SIDES: Development Committee Reaffirms Pledge; Save The Scenic Group To Unveil Plan

In This Corner:

The Steering Committee of the Development Committee for Greater Columbus has reaffirmed its support for Plan 2B, the approved route of the Olentangy Parkway.

The Steering Committee is the policy-making body of the Development Committee. Its action followed action last week by the Transportation Committee of the Development Committee when it also reaffirmed its support of the approved route.

The question of the alignment of the Olentangy Parkway will be on the ballot of the May 3 primary election. It will appear as Ordinance 144-66. The Steering Committee, in its action Wednesday, urged voters all over the city to go to the polls and vote FOR,the ordinance.

After a thorough discussion of the controversial Parkway plan, the Steering Committee voted to endorse the approved route for several reasons.

They are:

• The approved route is the result of seven years of work and study. It has the approval of city, state and federal planners and engineers. They agree unanimously that the approved route for the Parkway offers the best possible service to the public for the least amount of tax money.

• Construction of the Parkway without delay will relieve pressure on the already overcrowded North Freeway. It will afford a safe, limited access, high speed route from the downtown area to the north and northwest.

• If the voters of the city of Columbus reject the approved route in the election it will mean another long delay in a vitally-needed facility that has already been delay unnecessarily for several years.

• Construction of the Olentangy Parkway will open up an entirely new area for development as public parks and recreation areas. Most of the property between the west bank of the Olentangy River and the approved route of the Parkway now is privately owned. The public now cannot enjoy or, in most cases, even see the river without trespassing on private property.

• Both city and state officials have pledged that the land between the river and the approved route of the Parkway will be developed as public parks and recreation areas.

The Steering Committee noted that the city has not kept pace with national standards in the development of parks and recreation areas. The committee also noted that there is a distinct possibility that some of the land between the river and the road will be developed commercially if the Parkway is not built along the approved route. This would mean the loss of much land ideally suited for use as public parks.

The committee also noted that the issue as it appears on the ballot will not mention the Olentangy Parkway by name. It will include the ordinance number — 144-66 and it will mention State Rt. 315.

The commitee considers approval of the ordinance by the voters as a vital step in the process of obtaining better, safer, more economical transportation and more adequate recreational facilities for the benefit of every member of the community.

In That Corner:

City Service Director Warren Cremean is organizing a "super lobby" of major road-building interests in his endeavor to sell the Olentangy Parkway to Columbus voters, Charles A. Jones, chairman of the Save the Scenic Valley Committee, charged today.

Jones' group is sponsoring a citywide referendum on May 3 to determine if the Olentangy River should be moved to make way for the expressway.

"With the help of executives of the Columbus Area Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, Mr. Cremean assembled a super-lobby of highwaymen and people they hope will help them," Mr. Jones said. "The principal topic at this meeting was how to add frills to Mr. Cremean's widely-publicized Parkway Plan to make it more palatable to the public. Colorful drawings and descriptions of this so-called plan are now being prepared and will soon be unveiled with much fanfare.

"However, it was admitted before and during the meeting that no funds are on hand for this parkway project and none have been promised. It developed that any plans considered were merely in embryo form and that desperate efforts would have to be made to make them appear more complete before a press conference is called.

"When the plan discussed Tuesday is released, the public will agree that highway egnineers should leave park planning to someone else.

"The Tuesday gathering was announced as a meeting of the Chamber's Highway Committee but only a handful of committee members were invited. Also present were two former state highway directors, a number of representatives of road-building interests including the Portland Cement Association, Werner Nethero of the Home Owners for the Freeway Committee and leaders of the Allied Conservation Clubs of Franklin County.

"In addition to polishing up the parkway plan, the group discussed activities of the Homeowners' organization and a huge direct-mail campaign to the voters. A spokesman for the Allied Conservation Club was urged to turn over his group's mailing list. Naturally, he refused. On this point, the Save the Scenic Valley Committee has never sought or been offered the Allied Conservation list; In fact, we do not have the funds to finance such a mailing even if it were proper.

"After learning details of the meeting from those present, we regret we were not invited. We could have contributed considerable data on the differences between the natural, unspoiled recreation land now found along the Olentangy River and the man-built parkway discussed at the meeting."

Hookey Players Menaced By 'The Visiting Teacher'

By The Spectator's MARY BILDERBACK

It's almost impossible for a student to skip school these days and get away with it.

Even with spring fever in the air, listless students who find it difficult to concentrate in the warm classroom better think twice about playing hooky.

Truancy officers have been replaced by an even more capable group . . . visiting teachers.

They are a special breed of instructors who are skilled in psychology and sociology. Their aim is not only to see that a truant child attends school regularly, but to discover why he cut classes in the first place. Their next step is helping the child.

Visiting teachers have been a fairly new concept in education. The program was established by the Columbus School Board and has been in operation for ten years. Presently there are 35 visiting teachers working throughout the Columbus area.

Each has several schools. They divide their time. A morning is spent at one school, the afternoon at another.

"Actually we serve as a liaison between the home and school," said Al Crawford, former Ohio State football player. Crawford has been a visiting teacher for four years.

"If a child has a problem with school attendance we discuss the situation with the student and his parents. Then we go through various channels accessible to us and try to help the child," said Crawford. "This usually involves setting up some sort of program. Whether it is just some extra help in school work from the parents during the evening or getting the child to attend a Central Community House where special study tables are set up."

If a child hasn't the shoes or clothing to wear to school the visiting teacher will make provisions for him through a Welfare Agency or the Salvation Army.

Usually it is the 13 to 17 year-old age group which is most guilty of truancy. These are the students who are mainly behind their classmates or who have failed.

"Most of the parents have never gotten through high school," said Crawford. "And motivation in the home is practically non-existent."

Crawford also said that one can talk until one is blue in the face to a student who doesn't wish to finish school and he still won't change his mind.

What sort of jobs do they have to look forward to? "Low salary positions such as car-hops and gas station attendants," said Crawford.

"My own personal view is that we should try to help the child get one or two grades further than his parents. Often this is a struggle."

Many of the homes are unclean, there are no books and the child is underfed. "Obviously this makes for poor study conditions," he said. "One girl was frail and undernourished. She had been absent from school a great deal. We placed her in a hospital where it was discovered she was severely anemic. After proper medication, she began to recover and we set up a study program for her. Last time I saw her she was preparing to graduate."

Where do students go when they cut classes? "Some walk the streets or go to a classmate's home. Others will hunt or fish," said Crawford.

"A boy once told me he was going to have a surprise for me. He hadn't attended classes for a day or so. Shortly he came strolling in with a pheasant for me."

If a child is absent from school, the home is contacted immediately, either by telephone or a visit.

A child must have a written excuse from his parents to be admitted to school again. Visiting teachers make it difficult for those who are experts at forging their parent's signature on excuses. Files are kept with the parent's signature contained in them. Comparison is relatively simple.

According to the Board of Education, absences are much higher during the mid-winter than the warm spring months.

Beulah Park Memorial Handicap Purse Raised

Off to a good start on its 25-day spring meeting, Beulah Park is looking forward to its top attractions. Chief of these is the seventh running of the Robert J. Dienst Memorial Handicap which is scheduled for May 7.

Nominations for the $7,000 added race at a mile and a sixteenth close this week and weights will be announced five days prior to the event. Last year's Dienst Memorial was won by Claude Bachelor's Deacon David.

Because business has been good, the minimum purse for the meeting has been raised from $1,200 to $1,300.

One of the side features of the meeting is a campaign by Jockey Paul A. Ward to reach 500 victories at Beulah before the spring meeting ends. As the session started, Ward had 477 winners and he added to this total right from the start. Indications have it that he is very likely to reach his goal before closing day, May 14.

Closing day will bring a renewal of the Beulah Park Special at six furlongs. This race was put on a few years back to give the $1,500 platers on the grounds a chance to run for important money. It is run at the six furlong distance in the spring and at a mile and a sixteenth in the fall.

LET'S KNIT
A RAINDROP JACKET

By The Spectator's URSULA duBOIS

Some time ago I was intrigued by the graceful flowing pattern formed by raindrops on a window pane. This inspired the design of this one - needle jacket No. 117 with raindrop panels.

URSULA

The entire sweater is knitted from the neck down on one needle which eliminates practically all finishing. The purl side is the outside of the garment to show off the raindrop pattern to its best advantage.

As the raindrop pattern (which is, by the way, extremely easy to do) gives such a feminine appearance to a garment, I also designed the cap sleeves shell No. 115 to accompany the sweater in case you wish to make a sweater and shell outfit.

And for the knitters who wish to make a complete suit ensemble, we have also straight skirt pattern No. 90 available.

Patterns No. 117, 116 and 90 are written for teens and adults in sizes 8 through 22.

If you wish to obtain patterns No. 117, 116 or 90 send 50 cents for EACH pattern in coin, check or money order to: Ursula duBois Pattern Dept., 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus, O. Send 15 cents extra for first-class mail and special handling.

Golden Age Village Finally Underway—Four Years Later

By The Spectator's
BOB TENENBAUM

Ohio's first Golden Age Village, promised by Gov. James A. Rhodes months before the 1962 election, is finally under construction — just months before the 1966 election.

Rhodes, wielding a shovel shaped like the state of Ohio, broke ground for the village on a site on Central-av just south of W. Broad-st and predicted the idea would mushroom "into one of the finest projects in the nation."

It was back in 1962, when Rhodes was campaigning for the governorship, that he proposed centers to house elderly persons who did not need confinement in mental institutions but had nowhere else to live.

The project moved slowly as negotiations dragged on between the state, the Federal government and the various Metropolitan Housing authorities throughout the state.

Columbus' center is the first. Toledo is next in line and plans are under way for Golden Age Villages in Cleveland and Cincinnati.

It will house, for the most part, elderly patients now in state mental hospitals who are classed as "non-psychotic" and are able to take care of themselves. But it will be open to any elderly person with limited income.

Living in the village will cost an estimated $110 per month. That will include meals, rent, utilities, health services, beauty and barber shops and recreation. Each unit will have a kitchen but residents will be urged to eat in the central dining facility.

The Columbus Metropolitan Housing Authority (CMHA) will be responsible for construction and maintenance. The state will provide meals and health and recreational services.

Rhodes, in breaking ground, called the ceremony "not a groundbreaking, but a breakthrough." He said the village would erase the stigma attached to aging" and predicted it would "help older persons find a way to restore their dignity and decency."

Aiding the governor at the ceremony were Russell Taylor, director of the CMHA; Maurice Hoffman, CMHA assistant director; Donald Tishman, chairman of the CMHA board of trustees; Martin A. Janis, director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, and Mrs. Rose Papier, coordinator of the state Administration on Aging.

FBI Agent Dates Talk For Ladies

The Insurance Women of Columbus will meet May 5 at the Ohio Stater Inn to hear Robert Payne, special agent for the FBI. Dinner begins at 6:15 p.m. with the program at 7:15 p.m.

Selection of officers will follow. Arrangements are being made by Chairman Marsha Cline who will take reservations until May 3 at the Ohio Farmers' Insurance Co.

Jewish Women Slate Installation Lunch

The Columbus section of the National Council of Jewish Women will hold an installation luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday, May 3, at Stoney Creek Country Club.

Officers to be installed include:

President, Mrs. George N. Ornstein; vice-presidents, Mrs. Jules H. Vogel, Mrs. Martin Adler, Mrs. I. David Cohen and Mrs. Maurice Zox; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Robert A. Levenson; recording secretary, Mrs. Donald Katz.

Treasurer, Mrs. L. L. Pravder; assistant treasurer, Helen Nutis; financial secretary, Mrs. Leon Dillion, and historian, Mrs. Meyer Mellman.

A program, the original script of "The Making of a President 1966," will be presented. Reservations can be made by calling Mrs. Vogel at 235-7459.

Local Women To Attend Confab

Five Columbus women will attend the Ohio Department Reserve Officers' Association Ladies' Club convention Apr. 29-30 and May 1 in Mansfield, O.

They include Mrs. Maurice D. Levine, Mrs. Charles Fisher, Mrs. Frank McDowell, Mrs. John Woerner and Mrs. James Larva. Mrs. Levine, 176 N. Merkle-rd, is the Ohio Department president and Mrs. Fisher serves as president of the Columbus club.

OMEGAS TO MEET

The Alpha Tau Omega Mothers and Wives Club will hold a Spring meeting Tuesday, May 3, at 12:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Robert B. Amos, 3182 Kenyon-rd. New officers will be elected.

LADIES THROUGHOUT the county are getting ready for the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts' antique sale Friday, Apr. 29. In picture at left, Mrs. Robert Boehnke (left) and Mrs. W. Frank Morris — both of Gahanna —admire two bronze urns which will go on sale Friday from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. In the center, Mrs. Avery Robbins (left) and Mrs. Philip Stoltz — of Upper Arlington — look over a Venetian bow-front chest and Italian upholstered beige silk chair. At right, Mrs. Wilbur A. Smith, 431 S. Drexel, shows off a marble bust of a young girl and an ornately-carved chair.

Like Antiques? Then This Art Gallery Sale Is For You

Do you enjoy poking around in attics or haunting antique shops looking for the unusual? Are you dreaming of something a little old-fashioned to add charm to your contemporary living room? — then the Art Gallery Sale is for you.

On Friday, Apr. 29, from 1 a.m. to 6 p.m. the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts 480 E. Broad-st, will welcome 1500 housewives, art lovers and antique enthusiasts who come to examine (and buy) the "treasure" which has been collecting in the Gallery basement since the last sale.

A few of the things are old friends to the annual sale, like the 18th century French sedan chair (know anyone who wants a $1250 telephone booth?). The rest of the items, however, are new, having been donated by individuals and business concerns during the past two years. The price range varies from 50 cents to $700. Proceeds are used for Gallery maintenance.

This year's sale features a large selection of original oil paintings, watercolors, prints, lithographs, etchings, and drawings, and picture frames of all sizes, and also to be found are rare leather bound books, linens, glass, silver, pewter, china, porcelain, pottery and even a diamond ring. This year's collection of antique furniture and lamps is one of the largest and most varied containing everything from a painted bed and dressing table to a massive Lincolnesque bed.

It can be seen that the sale offers just about everything under the sun, including walking sticks inlayed with mother of pearl and delicate china figurines. A word of advise is to get there early to get the best buy. No preview showings or advanced sales are permitted. So it's first come, first serve.

A $2 donation is asked at the door from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. and $1 thereafter.

VET GROUP TO MEET

The Capital City Auxiliary, Veterans of World War One Barracks 461, will meet at Veterans' Memorial Sunday, May 1, at 2 p.m. in room 203.

LIVE WIRE

LIVE WIRE solves problems and cuts red tape. It gets answers, investigates, complains and stands up for your rights. Call LIVE WIRE at BR. 4-1155 from 1 to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Or, write LIVE WIRE, The Spectator, 2465 W. Broad-st, Columbus, O.

BR. 4-1155

I just called the time and temperature number in the phone book. How do they make that recording and keep it up-to-date as the times and temperatures change? — Jake Greenlee, 49 N. Virginia Lee-rd.

According to Bernie Floyd of Ohio Bell, Jake, two machines, like players, have three drums. The first drum delivers the commercial. This is constant. The second drum delivers the time. It is cycled to run accurately for 12 hours, giving the change each minute. The third drum is connected to a thermometer which is at the top of the Ohio Bell Building. Each time this thermometer records a change of one degree, the third drum is electronically changed to rotate to deliver that temperature. Incidentally, Jake, that number is called some 80,000 times a day and the machine can handle 100 calls every ten seconds.

Could you please tell me what happened to the excise tax refund on automobiles? We purchased our 1965 Chevrolet in June 1965 (in Michigan where we were residing at that time) and paid the full amount of the tax. Shortly after, the President signed the bill repealing excise taxes on automobiles. At that time General Motors announced they would refund the tax directly to the purchasers. Could you tell me what happened? — Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Sykes, 315 Sturbridge-rd.

Ed Solomon of the Internal Revenue Service told LIVE WIRE that June 22 was the crucial date. If you bought your car after this date, you are entitled to the refund. If you bought it before, you aren't. Incidentally, the effective date of purchase is determined by the time your title passes.

My son is 18. He joined the Navy and is having trouble getting car insurance for his wife here in Columbus. The government says they won't insure him until he's 21. What should he do? — Mrs. Robert Martin, Columbus.

LIVE WIRE talked with one of the city's largest insurance companies and a spokesman said he couldn't understand why your son was having trouble. Servicemen can get insurance although their rates may be considerably higher. If his wife is the principal driver of the car, there should be no problem. His suggestion is that you contact several insurance companies until you find one that offers insurance to servicemen — and that shouldn't be too hard.

Some time ago, when S. Hamilton-rd was undergoing extensive repairs, a woman in our neighborhood put up a rope and a "No Trespassing" sign. This forced the children on their way to school to walk through the muddy road, in the path of oncoming traffic. We complained to her, but to no avail. Who was right? — Interested, Whitehall.

You were, Interested, but you apparently weren't interested enough to go to the city, which would have aided your plight. Law Director James Toomey tells LIVE WIRE that no property owner owns the land all the way to the street. Even if there is no sidewalk, the city has the right to use the land where the sidewalk would go for a thoroughfare. If it happens again, notify the service department or your councilman. They will take it from there.

A PRETTIER YOU

By MARIANNE TOMLINSON
Spectator Fashion Editor

Sometimes the ol' mail-bag divulges some better goodies than usual. Such was the case this week when I heard from my special spy friend at Ship'n Shore . . . you know, the blouse people.

Well, it seems that some pretty sneaky things are going on there and MSSF (My Special Spy Friend) couldn't wait to tell us all the fashion secrets she has stolen. Of course you must realize this is strictly confidential . . . Don't tell a soul.

This season you're going to have plenty of smashing weapons from Ship'n Shore. Take Mother's Day for instance. There's lots of high calibre fashion ammunition for gifts . . . to mothers . . . friends . . . or yourself, if you think you deserve a treat too.

After that, summer fashions, travel fashions, fun fashions for the long summer season until at least Labor Day. To give you a clue, all of the new looks are young . . . young . . . young. But that doesn't mean they are only for sweet sixteen spies.

There are luscious looks for housewife-spies . . . schoolgirl-spies . . . career girl-spies. Everything is marvelously proportioned to give you a crisp slim kind of chic regardless of size. There are scads of whirly shift ideas that are as good on a sophisticated gal as on a teenager.

Then there are very high fashion inspirations . . . cropped to snappy new lengths and tailored in novel new ways to flatter you. Sleeves go from "no" sleeves to brief length . . . to straight-cut and flowing to long sleeves. Necklines square off or frame your face or make a point of shoulder interest with tucking and embroidery.

All of which leads to the point that you don't need a spyglass to see that some of the greatest looks for Summer '66 will be found in blouses, shirts and shifts by Ship'n Shore. That's my special spy report for today.

To start off . . . the silhouettes are definitely dashing. Fresh and cool, beautifully in tune with the busy life you're going to lead in the summer weeks ahead.

Let me tell you about a few styles you might like. Let's begin with the "Shells." The newest ones are squared off . . . high at the waistline . . . cut to make the most of the new shorter skirt lengths. They're smashing with any of the summer skirt looks from the shortened sport skirt to the long patio kind.

Then there's a great new "Man-Shirt" look. This is a shirt tailored very much like a man's work shirt but slimmed down to girly proportions and styled in feminine fabrics and colors. Take, for instance, the denim-y shades or bright calico. One style in sheer voile would add a dainty touch to your costume for luncheon in town . . . for at-home entertaining with maybe cocktail pants or if you're so inclined you might pop it on over your swim suit (after your dip).

Next . . . the "Fun Tops." These include the shirt stylings that do double duty as little sporty jackets . . . some of them with front zippers . . . some with hipline pockets for sunglasses and lipstick and what-have-you.

Then be sure to check into the knits . . . softer than ever. Hottest item in this group is the "Poor Girl" rib-knit. It looks like a boy's tee-shirt only more fashion wise. It fits the new fashion looks best when it is worn skimpy and fitted.

Finally, the shifts. They're cool, straight cut, often with a skinny string belt to loop around your waist if you like and gayest of all with bold embroidery.

And that, Fellow Fashion Spies, is only a hint of what's available. Why don't you go snooping yourself?

Drive Under Way To Cut Down VD Cases

This statistic was revealed recently by William F. Schwartz, educational consultant of the Public Health Service, Venereal Disease Branch. The Public Health Service estimates that 12,000 Americans die annually as a direct result of this infection.

The trend of venereal infections in Columbus follows the pattern of infections reported nationally. Locally, more than 2,000 victims were stricken with a venereal disease during 1965 and the number of infections has risen steadily each year since 1960.

In 1963 alone, syphilis increased 918 per cent over the previous year. Nationally, venereal disease has been on the increase since 1957, and alarmingly, 50 percent of the reported infections are found in young people under 24 years old.

Mindful of these facts, Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner has designated May as VD Awareness Month.

Venereal Disease Awareness Month will culminate with a "For Mothers Only" conference May 5 at the Youth Building, State Fairgrounds. The program, from 8-10 p.m. will be free of charge. Schwartz will be the keynote speaker, discussing "VD — Its Friends and Its Foes."

Nine 'Blue Ribbons' Await Area Runners

By JACK WITTENMEIER

One Invitational, five Relays and the '66 season's first two league meets combine to keep area cindermen really coming and going this week.

The Invitational is Hilliard's eighth annual running and that event — plus Relays at Whitehall, Brookhaven and Dayton — attract a big chunk of area thin squads Friday.

BELLAIRE'S Relays are slated Saturday with Tuesday bending to a Relay gem at West (20th annual Hilltop Relays) plus the annual Central Catholic League Meet to be run on Hartley's oval.

The Franklin County League Meet which offered last season's most thrilling dogfight, and Mifflin's Relays wrap up the week's crowded schedule a week from today.

FCL MEET

Cinder fans who thought last spring's Franklin County League Meet verged on the edge of a coronary better stay home this time.

FOR THE record Canal Winchester won the title on the basis of a mile relay victory (meet's last event) edging runnerup Reynoldsburg and third-place St. Mary, 51 to 49½ to 49.

Things don't appear to be much less frantic this running with the same trio looking like prime candidates again for the '66 laurels.

100 — edge to Winchester's Jim Burke (already has equalled existing record this spring). Teammate Randy Beaty not far behind as are St. Mary's Vic Perdue and Reynoldsburg's John Manifold.

440 — looks like Burke all the way.

880—St. Mary forte with Mark Sheaf (2:06) and Dick Gischel (2:09) likely frontrunners. Pair finished one-two in event vs. both C-W and Reynoldsburg.

Mile relay — should be either Reynoldsburg or Canal Winchester.

Low hurdles — try Hodge again (:20.4). Winchester and Reynoldsburg also contenders.

Two mile — should be interesting dual between Reynoldsburg's Irvin Christenson and Academy's George Lipovich.

Pole vault — both Raiders' Larry Rainwater and C-W's Dave Cook have gone over 10 feet.

Discus — edge to C-W over Reynoldsburg and St. Mary.

TIME—Wednesday (May 4), field events and running prelims begin at 4 p.m.
EVENTS — All regular track and field events with the addition of the two-mile run this year.
ENTRIES — Canal Winchester, St. Mary, Reynoldsburg, Dublin, University, Academy, West Jefferson and New Albany (Rosary will not compete this year).
DEFENDING CHAMP — Canal Winchester.
FAVORITE — Winchester, St. Mary, Reynoldsburg.
EXISTING RECORDS — HIGH JUMP — Rice (W-J), 6' 3/4", '64; POLE VAULT — Saylor (C-W), 11' 7 1/2", '39; DISCUS — Peters (Hamilton Twp.), 141' 10", '64; SHOT PUT — Peters (H-T), 50'7", '64; LOW HURDLES — Rice (W-J), :19.9, '64; HIGH HURDLES — Binns (Gahanna), :14.7, '56; 100 — Draudt (Academy, '61) and Skeen (H-T, '63) — :10.1; 220 Donaldson (C-W, '43) and Miller (Groveport, '42)— :22.5; 440 — Kleinmeyer (Reynoldsburg), :51.9, '48; 880 — Alspach (C-W), 2:03.2, '43; MILE — Doran (New Albany), 4:41, '61; 880 RELAY — Academy (Schoene, Kirk, Shepard, J. Larrimer), 1:35.2, '64; MILE RELAY—Academy (Schoene, Kirk, Shepard, J. Larrimer), 3:37.2, '64; BROAD JUMP — Moore (Marion-Franklin), 22' 4 1/2", '56; TWO MILE — new event.

HILLTOP RELAYS

RECORDS have proven to be pretty stable over the years at the Hilltop Relays.

Only three marks fell last year — in the 880 (Walnut Ridge's Rick Mettle, 1:58.3), the two-mile relay (Walnut Ridge, 8:13.8) and mile relay (Whetstone, 3:28.1).

Besides all five regular field events, the Hilltop event will include: 100, 220, 440, 880 and high hurdles plus relays in the 440, 880, mile, two-mile and shuttle hurdles.

FIELD TEAMS will be comprised of two men while only one boy per school is eligible to run in each track event. (Every running event will be a final.)

The 1947 West High team will be the honored guests of the Cowboy athletic department. Admission is 50 cents and tickets will be available from the field.

TIME — Tuesday, field events begin at 4 p.m., running events begin one hour later (latter run at five minute intervals with final event beginning at 8:40).
ENTRIES — West, Marion-Franklin, Eastmoor, Brookhaven, Walnut Ridge and Whetstone.
AWARDS — trophies to winner and runnerup school and to top individual point scorer, ribbons to top five individuals in each event.
HISTORY — 20th annual running.
DEFENDING CHAMP — Whetstone.
FAVORITE — West and Eastmoor.

CCL MEET
(at Hartley)

ALL BUT three marks went down at last spring's CCL Meet and standards which could tumble again this time look most likely in the 220, 440 and low hurdles.

Top individuals to keep an eye on are DeSales' Steve Greene (100, 220, 440), Hartley's Mike Owens (880), Reedy's Bill Mastriani and Hartley's Craig Wingo (hurdles) and DeSales' Dave Bownes (two-mile).

TIME — Tuesday, field and running events (all finals) begin at 4:30 p.m.
ENTRIES — Hartley, DeSales and Reedy.
AWARDS — Trophy to winning team.
DEFENDING CHAMP — Hartley.
FAVORITE — DeSales.
EVENTS (AND EXISTING RECORDS) — BROAD JUMP — Dave Thomas (H), 19' 11 1/2", '65; 100 — Mike Senty (H), 10.4, '65; MILE — Rick Lannon (DeS), 4:47.3, '65; 880 RELAY — St. Charles, 1:30, '64; 440 — Steve Greene (DeS), :53.6, '65; LOW HURDLES — Dick Hoffman (St. C.), :22.4, '64; 880 — Rick Lannon (DeS), 2:10.1, '65; 220 — Jack Lathamer (St.C.), :23.1, '64; MILE RELAY — Hartley, 3:44.3, '65; SHOT PUT — Bill Kearns (DeS), 49' 4", '65; DISCUS — Bill Kearns (DeS), 129' 4", '65; POLE VAULT — Vic Martinson (R), 12', '65; HIGH JUMP — Dave Thomas (H), 6'2", '65; HIGH HURDLES — John O'Neil (R), :16.0, '65; TWO MILE — New event.

HILLIARD INVITATIONAL

TIME — Friday, running prelims, field events begin at 6 p.m. Finals set for 8 p.m.
EVENTS — all regular track and field events with the addition of the two-mile.
ENTRIES — Hilliard, Grove City, Pleasant View, Franklin Heights, Delaware and Walnut Ridge.

The City Recreation horseshoe League will start May 9, at Sunshine Park.

Garland Equipment, defending City Champs and runner-ups for the Ohio League Title, will again field a strong team made up of captain Clarence Handon, Edward Jones, Clinton Hodges, Edward Lomax, John Keller, Judge Draper, Sam Conley, Ted Harris, Don Peterson along with newcomers Mirt Wood and Bus Payne.

Little "Midge" Johnson as finally hung his shoes up for good. He will be missed by the veteran pitchers.

Caskey Cleaners, a charter member of the league will again field a team composed of mostly Hilltop pitchers lead by the Rev. Alonzo Shavers, Josh Roberts Jr., Byrd Prillerman, Mathey Hill, Julian Harris, Phil Kinzer, Calvin Patterson, James Thomas and Robert Johnson are also on the roster.

New Rome I considered one of the best teams in the state will also be a strong contender for the title.

PACE RAIDER PITCHING STAFF

SPIRES, SHADE PACE HITTERS

Raider Nine Tops FCL Ladder But F-H Win Needed For Metro 'Life'

By JACK WITTENMEIER

A "life" for John Thompson's Raider nine in the current Metropolitan League flag race is spelled "Franklin Heights."

That is, of course, presuming that Reynoldsburg was successful last night (too late for deadline) against Teays Valley.

EIGHT fat errors ("we've been giving them away like they're goin' out of style") spelled defeat vs. Pleasant View last week and a subsequent win over Hamilton Township still leaves the Raiders at 1-2 in Metro standing.

Ed Lewis' Falcons come calling Friday and F-H is also scheduled for a makeup game of an earlier washout before the week runs out.

The Raiders are sure to face Mickey Pless in one of those encounters and Mr. Pless is the only man who's been able to shackle P-V, pre-season pick for the first Metro pennant.

DENNY SPIRES' double plus a run-producing error provided a 3-0 Raider bulge against the Panthers last week.

Gary Shade's double and another single by Spires still had Reynoldsburg up, 5-4, with two frames left but the roof fell in before three more P-V outs could be recorded.

The Panthers scored four big runs in the sixth with run-producing singles by Carl Salyers and winning pitcher Jim Geddes putting it on ice at 8-5.

BUT THOSE safeties came after three Raider bobbles which helped keep Reynoldsburg booting them along at a just under four-per game average.

Such an average cut Thompson short after the Raider field boss proclaimed his satisfaction with Reynoldsburg hitting and the admission that "our pitching is getting better."

Shade and Spires (both pacing Raider hitting at .455 clip) were the hitting stars again against H-T's Rangers.

DENNY WENT three-for-four at the plate while Gary whacked out a pair of homers which rang up five big RBIs in the 9-2 Raider victory.

Dave Herrmann allowed but four Ranger hits in gaining the win with some no-hit aid from Kevin Turner in the final two frames.

Meanwhile — over in the Franklin County League — the Raiders remained flying high with their third straight loop win — 6-1 over West Jefferson.

THE WIN left the Raiders 3-0 in FCL standing.

Shade went all the way on a five-hitter for the victory.

The junior hurler got all the runs he needed in a four-run first.

Hermann then doubled in the third run and walks to Donnie Woods, Bob Helsel and Jerry Milliron produced the fourth tally.

Tourney Play Opens

By BOB WHITMAN

The Eastern area baseballers take off on an abbreviated 10 game card this week as the regular season chores take a back seat to the Class AA Central District Baseball Tournament starting Monday.

And of the ten games listed, the tourney dates will take preference.

This season the Central District Board of Control has divided the 43 team "AA" field into four sections with the majority of the area teams being shuffled into Sections Three and Four.

SECTION THREE is made up of Whitehall, Walnut Ridge, Reynoldsburg, Hartley, Fairfield Union, Newark, Lakewood, Groveport, Hamilton and Marion Franklin.

Section Four consists of Brookhaven, Linden, DeSales, Mifflin, East, Gahanna, Mt. Vernon, Westerville, Eastmoor, Bexley and Utica.

The Class A District baseball meet gets under way Friday afternoon, and the lone area single A school—Academy—has been dealt into Section Four.

Of the regularly slated 10 games, Hartley has four games and Bill Day's Gahanna bunch has three, including a double dip with Marysville Saturday.

The other Lion battle is with Walnut Ridge (tonight).

Jack Ryan's Hawks travel to Hilliard (today), East (Thursday) and North (Monday) with a Friday Central Catholic date against rival Watterson. The Eagles had Hartley's number last week as Gene Rogers outduelled cousin Dave Rogers, 4-1.

SCOTT FRENCH fell the next time out to DeSales, 1-0 on a spiffy three-hitter.

Metro League contender Whitehall hosts Joe Stora's Pleasant View Panthers Friday as that newly formed conference continues to offer one of the more exciting flag battles this season.

The City League flag race involving area contenders East, Eastmoor and Walnut Ridge will have a lay-off Friday and Tuesday due to the tournament.

Eastmoor's slick thrower Tommy Cooper continued to impress with a 2-0 win over neighbor Walnut Ridge Friday, and Brookhaven handled East 9-2 also in City action.

Borland, James New Cage Duo At Reynoldsburg

Bill Borland and Ed James will provide Reynoldsburg Senior High with its 1966-'67 cage coaching duo.

Borland was named this week to fill the head varsity post recently vacated by Otterbein - bound Dick Fishbaugh.

James, who has served as head Junior High grid and cage coach, will take over assistant football and reserve basketball duties for Borland.

Borland will be excused from track duties after this present season so Reynoldsburg will be seeking both Junior High (football, basketball) and head track coaches for next year.

RECORDS TUMBLED AT GAHANNA RELAYS

Espie, Gahanna Cindermen Pace Area Assault On Oval Records

BEXLEY, again paced by Rick Weber, pushed aside Ready, 75½ to 51¼, while Ed Reary's Lions sidetracked cinder-wise Newark and Brookhaven in a triangular before setting a record-breaking pace and winning their own Relays last weekend.

In other dual tests, Whitehall overpowered Hartley, 78-49, and Zanesville sank Walnut Ridge, 109½ to 17½.

Sol Espie (100, 220) and Rod Jones (broad jump, high hurdles) were East's double winners in the win over West — Espie setting a new Hartley Field mark (9:9) in the 100. Top shot man Bobo missed action due to a broken finger.

COACH WILLIAMS expects his top flinger to be ready by May 1 and surely in time for City and District competition.

Weber nabbed the 100, 220 and 440 laurels against the Knights to pace Russ Owen's Lions. Tom Carr, Mac McCloy, Bob Curl and Pat Leach got other Bexley firsts.

Mike Bokros (high, low hurdles) and Ron Doran (100, 440) were double winners in Gahanna's tri-meet victory. Both also set new school marks, Bokros in the highs (:14.7), Doran in the 440 (:50.8).

BOKROS helped the Lions to three new records Friday as Gahanna won its own Relays while Doran assisted in two mark-smashings himself.

The Lions won seven events to easily outdistance runnerup Delaware, 52-30.

Gahanna relay records came in the mile (Doran, Bokros, Tim Steele, Dan Pullen, 3:29.6), shuttle hurdles (Bokros, Doran, Bruce Baker, Chuck Bosse, :57.0), two-mile (Bill Price, Tim Horn, Al Strickling, Mike Haninger, 8:26.8) and high jump (John Marsch, Boose, Bokros, 17' 8").

THE LIONS also took firsts in the shot put, discus and broad jump.

Bexley also nabbed a pair of records in the 440 (:44.8) and 880 (1:33.2) relays, the Lions placing fifth with 16 points.

Reynoldsburg was sixth (14½) while Whitehall (14) tied for seventh.

ROSEMORE Junior High (Whitehall) won all three junior high events (440, 880 and sprint medley relays).

Dave Mowrer (shot, discus) and Count Fuller (440, broad jump) were double winners for Whitehall in its win over Hartley.

RICK DEFOURNEY'S mile run first was Walnut Ridge's lone win against Zanesville.

East got three firsts — 440 relay (Jim Lake, Jim Taylor, Dale Allen, Sol Espie), mile relay (D. Cochran, Skip Hadden, Espie, Red Jones) and 880 relay (Cochran, Taylor, Espie, Tom Watson) — but took a third behind Arlington and runnerup Springfield South at the Riverside Relays.

Corbett, Hoopes Join No-Hit Club

St. Mary's Phil Corbett and Brookhaven's Jack Hoopes joined the ranks of the Spectator's expanding "No-Hit Club" last week.

Hoopes (5-0 whitewashing of Linden) and Corbett (hitless job on Rosary) are the second and third members of the club this spring and eighth and ninth over two years.

Both pitchers will receive certificates from the Spectator, recording their no-hit efforts.

Elk Convention Dated

The 68th annual convention of the Ohio Elks Association will be held in Columbus Apr. 28 through May 1.

Nearly 1,000 Elks and their ladies are expected to attend the four-day parley with headquarters in the Neil House.

Delegates will represent 97 lodges in the state.

CRD Sponsors Bowling Tourney

Columbus Recreation Department's Senior Citizens Bowling Tournament will be held Wednesday, May 4, at the New Olympic Bowling Lanes, 552 E. Broad-st. Anyone 60 years of age or over in Franklin County is eligible to participate.

Applications may be secured at the Senior Citizens Recreation Center, 275 McDowell-st, or at any bowling lane in the county, and they must be received at the Senior Center or New Olympic Lanes by Friday, Apr. 29.

Registration for those participating starts at 9:30 a.m. on May 4, and play begins at 10. This is a handicap tournament with three games rolled. Trophies will be awarded for first and second place winners in both men and women divisions. The fee is $1.05 for three games and shoes are furnished free.

Anyone having questions or desiring further information should contact Mrs. Ruth Marion, Recreation Leader, 469-6137.

COSTS UP

Cost of Ohio's aid for the aged program is running approximately $1 million ahead of last year, according to an audit of the first nine months' operation of the division, State Auditor Roger Cloud said recently.

Legislators Paying Up, Income Tax Chief Says

Officials are confident they'll find Columbus income tax returns from nearly all members of the General Assembly when they get through opening the thousands of returns still piled in City Hall.

Dustin S. Swisher, chief of the income tax division, told The Spectator that "we don't think there are many members who won't pay."

An Ohio Supreme Court ruling issued last summer ordered all present and former members of the legislature to pay the one percent tax retroactive to 1959.

Swisher said returns for back years "are coming in every day." No deadline has been set for past returns, but 1965 returns from legislators were due on Apr. 15 — the normal deadline.

This may be the last year the city has the problem to deal with. The legislators, in a fit of righteous indignation, passed a law exempting themselves from the Columbus tax.

Legislators were billed for 1965 on a per diem basis, based on the number of days the assembly actually met in Columbus.

Swisher said the biggest problem was explaining the tax to many members who didn't understand the Supreme Court ruling or had never been informed they owed back income taxes.

Reciprocity was handled with formal agreements with Dayton, Toledo and several smaller cities which also have city income taxes. In other cities, legislators were given tax credits for taxes paid to Columbus.

None of the legislators informed Swisher's office that they would not pay the tax—despite the fact that some of them were indignant when the Supreme Court ordered them to pay up.

When all the money for 1965 comes in, it should add about $3,000 to the city coffers. For the entire six-year period, the city stands to gain $12,069 — nearly $7,000 of which has already come in.

Franklin County legislators, incidentally, posed no problem. Swisher said all of them have always paid the Columbus income tax on their legislative earnings.

Columbus JC's Elect Officers, Directors

Other members of the executive committee are vice-president Dr. Harry Scott, Robert Nelson, and secretary-treasurer James Miller. Frederic Smith, attorney with Dunbar, Kienzle, and Murphey, will be legal advisor.

Directors for the coming year will be Don Bren, John A. Schoedinger, Edward Sander, Robert Kidwell, Robert Noble, William Hadley, James Obert, Donn Collins, Steve Girard, James Pidcock and Robert Conners.

David A. Leiser, immediate past president, will also serve as a director.

GROUND BROKEN FOR CENTER

Pfeifer Charges Party Bosses Control Primary

Herbert J. Pfeifer urged 15th Senatorial District Democratic voters this week to "reject political bossism and me-tooism" by nominating him in Tuesday's primary election.

"The issues of the Democratic Party primary campaign are clear," Pfeifer said. "The voters are being given their choice of selecting between the old do-nothing party hacks dominated by County Chairman Jerry Ryan or dynamic young leadership interested in serving all the people, regardless of economic circumstances."

Pfeifer charged that Ryan prevented an open primary because he "was afraid of losing control of the Democratic Party in Franklin County.

"I am sure the people of the 15th District want honest representation, not just representation in name only," he said. "'I am prepared and will provide that honest representation."

Zauderer Says Mental Program Lacks Support

Philip Q. Zauderer, candidate for the Democratic nomination from the new 60th House District, urged this week that the state initiate a community mental health program and seek a larger share of Federal mental health funds.

"Ohio is barely keeping abreast of inflation in terms of increased appropriations for mental hygiene, and thus there are little additional funds being provided for improving the level of patient treatment," Zauderer charged.

"Although there has been a recent attempt on the part of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction to correct present lacks, there is an insufficient amount of funds being provided."

Zauderer also urged increased governmental efficiency in spending to obtain additional funds for mental health services.

Cabana Club To Open May 28

The Aquamarine Cabana Club is making plans for the season's opener on May 28.

Many new features have been added this year, including new playground equipment for the children. Located in the spacious playground are animal rides, swings, and slides.

Handball, basketball and volleyball courts are available for adult members, as well as horseshoe pitching.

Of course the biggest attraction is the olympic size swimming pool. This is the largest pool in Ohio. Surrounding the pool are beautiful cabanas. For children, a special pool and lifeguards are offered for enjoyment and safety.

In the club house, a new and modern snack bar is open. The Aquamarine Club is always a good place to go for fun and relaxation. If you are interested in becoming a member and want to look over the club call the manager, Stewart Newpoff, and he will give you the grand tour.

O'Shaughnessy Seeks Nod For Senate Seat Try

Jerry O'Shaughnessy, Franklin County's only Democratic state representative in the 106th General Assembly, is turning his sights toward the state senate, seeking the nomination from the new 15th Senatorial District.

O'Shaughnessy, 405 E. Town-st, is endorsed by the Franklin County Democratic Committee. A graduate of Ohio State University, O'Shaughnessy operates the O'Shaughnessy Funeral Home.

O'Shaughnessy's brother, the late Thomas F. O'Shaughnessy, served in the Ohio Senate in the 103rd General Assembly in 1959-60.

Vote FOR The Parkway

James Jonard, will call. There will be refreshments and prizes. Donation will be $1.25 per person and all are welcome.

$3.5 BILLION PAID

Ohio motorists have paid more than $3.5 billion in gasoline taxes since the tax was enacted in 1925, according to a statistical report compiled by State Auditor Roger Cloud.

BACKS TWYFORD

WHITEHALL MAYOR Paul Haytcher met with Reynoldsburg Mayor George Twyford Saturday at Main Lanes Bowling Center, to accept his fair share of campaign literature and reaffirm his support of the Democratic party-endorsed candidate for 12th District Congressman in the May 3 primary. Haytcher, who heads the Twyford For Congress Suburban Subcommittee, was at Main Lanes to assist Columbus Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner in opening the national 16th annual Knights of St. John Bowling Tournament.

VOTE FOR THE EASTERN COUNTY VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

Vote in favor of the Eastern Franklin County Joint Vocational School levy May 3.

Condemning a school system's operation and then defeating it at the polls doesn't make sense. Franklin County educators KNOW that vocational training is important. If you don't then review the record:

- 80 per cent of our teen-agers are now taking college prep courses and only seven per cent of the workers in this state are in a career requiring a BA degree.
- 14 out of every 100 students entering the first grade will ever complete four years of college.
- Surveys in this county show that 50 per cent of all high school juniors and seniors are desirous of vocational training.
- A joint vocational effort costs a mere 10-cents on the dollar compared with much higher costs if the districts try to provide vocational training separately.

AN EDITORIAL

The Spectator is earnestly endorsing the Eastern Franklin County Vocational School. This newspaper knows the success of such a project in the Penta-County School System near Toledo, O.

This newspaper knows the work of competent educational leaders in this county who are striving to provide adequate vocational training for thousands of high school students.

It's work that must not go down the drain because of selfish tax interests. It's work that is as valuable as the future of this country.

More important, it's work that will mean the difference between a worthwhile life for your child — or a neighbor's child — who could spend that life in a welfare line.

Support the Eastern Franklin County Vocational School levy. Make an investment.

WINS GOLD PIECE

SUPPORTS ISSUES

IN RESPONSE to an appeal from Reynoldsburg Mayor George W. Twyford, Monsignor James Carroll of St. Pius X Church has given his personal endorsement to the local and district vocational school levies. From left are Twyford, Msgr. Carroll and William Stubbs, president of the Reynoldsburg Board of Education. Msgr. Carroll, meeting with the two men Saturday, said, "Even though the parish has its own responsibilities, when it comes to something of this nature, I believe everyone should be interested in the common good. It is a definite need which must be met."

NAMES SCHOOL

CINDA SUE SMITH, Reynoldsburg High senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gareth Smith, Rt. 3, Pataskala, was author of the name for the proposed Eastern Franklin County Vocational School. Her entry "Eastland Vocational," selected by the board, won her a $50 bond, presented Friday by James E. Dougan, assistant superintendent of Vocational Education at OSU. Cinda is a distributive education student and plans to enter the field of cosmetology.

THEY GO TOGETHER

VOTE FOR ALL THREE MAY 3

Like the spokes in these cogs, Reynoldsburg's three school issues go together to form a complete education package for Reynoldsburg youngsters. The 5.8 mill School Levy will provide critically-needed funds for the continuing operation of our schools; the 1.4 mill Vocational Levy and the .6 mill Vocational Bond Issue will provide money to construct, equip and operate the Eastern Franklin County Joint Vocational School. Each of these issues is needed so that Reynoldsburg children will have an opportunity to secure a quality education at all levels — whether it is preparation for college or for an immediate job.

HOW IS PROPERTY SELLING?
That's the question we are asked almost every day. Frankly the way property "MOVES" when it is offered for sale depends a great deal on how it is handled. For professional handling of your property, when you are buying or selling, we suggest you consult us.

THE ABOVE DISPLAY will be taken to the "For-Mothers-Only" conference planned as part of the "VD Awareness Month" proclaimed by Mayor M. E. "Jack" Sensenbrenner. Committee members shown are, from the left, Mrs. Billie Brown, Neighborhood House coordinator; Mrs. Edwina Erickson, president of Franklin County and Columbus Girl Scout Volunteer Organization; Mrs. T. J. Shepard, representative of the Central Ohio Deanery, and Mrs. Richard Hahn, president of the United Church Women.

Mothers Asked To Join V-D Fight

The lurking threat of venereal disease is becoming of increasing concern in Franklin County.

To alert their members to better protection of their families against this threat, the PTA's, United Church Women, Urban League, Girls and Mothers of the YMCA, YWCA and Girl Scouts have called an all-city "For-Mothers-Only" conference at the Youth Building at the Fairground from 8 to 10 p.m. Thursday, May 5.

William F. Schwartz, author of the only text book available on VD, and an associate with the U.S. Public Health Service, will speak. He has recently appeared on both the "Today" and "Mike Douglas" shows.

Panelists will include Dr. Ollie Goodloe, Columbus Public Health Commissioner, the Rev. G. W. Hartman, executive director of the Council of Churches; Mrs. Alfred Glascor of the United Church Women, and Bob Kean, president of the Jaycees who have been fighting a local battle against venereal disease for several years.

Expressing the hope that thousands of mothers will attend the conference (there is no charge), Dr. Goodloe stated that public knowledge and understanding is essential before health authorities can remedy the situation. He stressed that nearly 3,000 cases of VD were reported in 1965, a figure consistent with the fact that the rate has risen steadily during the past few years.

The Amos Imperial Doubles are runaway for high series this season. Add Jim Hern's 719 for Sokol Bros. made up of 267, 227 and 225.

Plan to participate in the seventh annual Charlie Hill Match Game open to run June 3, 4, 5 at Rainbow. Guaranteed prize fund is $2500 with first place $1,000, plus trophy and paid entry and expenses in the 1967 Masters at Miami. Curly Cunningham is tournament manager.

LOOK FOR a new game called "Carom Bowl" to be introduced next year by Brunswick. It's played on regular lanes, with the same ball and same pins and automatic pinsetters but, instead of rolling at the pins you roll your ball into the channel!

To make it all the more unusual, the channel won't be there. In its place will be a long rubber bumper down both sides of the lane and the ball will CAROM across the lane and into the pins.

A double carom will be worth extra pins on a bonus scoring system. A perfect game adds up to 600.

THEY SAY Carom Bowl combines the fun and appeal of both bowling and billiards. The lane will have convertible channels that can be raised or lowered by electric controls at the counter.

As a matter of fact, one will be able to bowl the old regular way and carom at the same time.

IT SHOULD be a stimulant to the youngster or beginner . . . something like the "trainer wheels" junior used when he was learning to ride his two-wheel bike. Never a "gutter" ball. That's for me!

After your sliding foot has come to a complete stop and the pendulum swing is coming forward, your ball has passed the ankle of your sliding foot and your hand is OVER the foul line.

THEN AT this point give the ball the necessary lift and continue to follow through. Never drop the ball behind the foul line.

The WIBC Championship Tournament opened in New Orleans with the largest spectator group in WIBC opening night history. "Monk" Simon, famed coach of everything but bowling, was M.C.

Twenty WIBC Columbus home office staff are in the Mardi-Gras city for the seven-week stint which will see 20,000 women bowling.

Jets Close StandTonight

The Jets will be on the road from Thursday until May 5 when they host the Rochester Red Wings at 8.

Academy Summer School In 25th Year

For the 25th consecutive year, The Columbus Academy will run a summer program for girls and boys of grades 5-12.

Opening Monday, June 27, the summer school will be held for seven weeks from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. five mornings each week.

MAVERICK

With Muddy Shoes

By RICHARD L. PAUGH

This was the first time several counties were clumped together instead of each county having its own hearings. The Section C meet was well attended by people from all five of the counties — Madison, Fayette, Franklin, Pickaway and Fairfield.

PAUGH

AN EXCELLENT job of chairing the meeting was done by Jim Biven of Columbus. This is a tough job to stop the floor fights, get as much information and as little propaganda out of the state people and keep everything rolling so we get home before morning.

Carl Wilt, 1966 President of the Fayette County Fish and Game Association, was elected sportsmen's representative to the State Hearings and yours truly (me) accepted for the second time the farmer representative position. (My little 30 acres sure puts a lot of miles on me).

I am of the opinion that the game hearings 'came of age' this year. The congregation finally figured out that here was a real chance to go on record with their beliefs. Items were brought up that were not on the agenda, items that have been bugging people for a long time.

FOR INSTANCE, a motion was made and seconded that the group go on record as wanting 500 deer each year trapped and transported off the Ravenna Arsenal to reseed public deer lands.

Biven, not wanting to see the group get into a controversy, questioned the propriety of a resolution.

It was brought to his attention from the floor that a Game Hearing is a legally constituted body, brought together by the State of Ohio to discuss game seasons and control. If the State didn't want to hear what the public wanted, they should stop holding game hearings.

THE RAVENNA resolution was voted on and passed by a four to one margin. Another new idea was made into a motion and passed — bowhunting for deer on Sundays.

It had been mentioned earlier that bowhunters took only ten deer in 1965 so there could be no added danger to the herd by allowing ten days to be added to the season.

There is no noise connected to bowhunting as a matter of fact, quite the opposite is true. In order to be effective, the bowhunter must not only be unheard but unseen also.

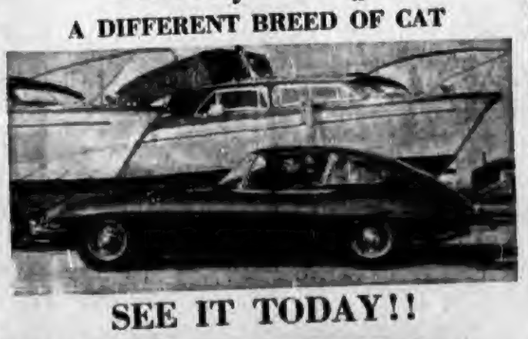
ANOTHER major improvement was made in the seasons. It was voted and passed that pheasant season on private lands run to Jan. 3, thereby allowing Ohio's schoolboy hunters a chance to hunt during the Christmas vacation.

Farm game biologist Bill Martin had already testified that an extended season would have no biological harm to the flock.

With the overwhelming lack of cover prevalent in our farmlands today, 90 percent of the ringnecks die from exposure during January and February.

I DOUBT that any of these innovations carry any further but they are not wasted. In future hearings and discussions, the fact is in the records that our sportsmen did favor such actions and anyone attempting to champion the subjects has a firm fact to point out.

It is next to impossible to get recognition of a lot of talk around the Coke cooler.



Bogen Named Region President

BOGEN

New "Power-Vac" From Bogens Gives Gale-Force Furnace Cleaning

Arthur D. Bogen, general manager of Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, announced today the arrival of their brand new furnace cleaner — Power-Vac.

"In 45 years we have seen and tested many furnace cleaners," Mr. Bogen said, "But this is the first one we believe in; the one we have approved! This cleaner is definitely superior, and never before have we seen anything so efficient, economical and powerful as Power-Vac!"

Mr. Bogen continued. "Power-Vac, for the first time, cleans the entire heating system . . . cleans places never before reached, including all piping as well as the vent pipe and chimney. This machine produces a 70 mile per hour gale force cleaning power, and sucks in 12,000 cubic feet of air per minute through a line attached to the home heating system."

Mr. Bogen explained that the main spreader of dirt in the home is the furnace. He pointed out the fact that the average furnace works 8 months out of the year. For greater heating efficiency, as well as a cleaner home, every furnace, unless it has an electronic air filter, should be cleaned thoroughly once a year. He said Power-Vac challenges embedded dirt, dust, pollen and air pollution in the home. This is the very first really complete furnace cleaner that actually makes Spring cleaning worth while, he added.

"The best time to have your furnace cleaned is now, after the long, hard heating season," said Mr. Bogen, "and right before Spring house cleaning. We're giving a special introductory offer — the complete cleaning of your entire heating system, only $22.50. A complete furnace tune-up is only $11.50! Now, customers may obtain both these services . . . a $34.00 value . . . for only $29.50. A saving of $4.50. We believe in this furnace cleaner and we want as many people to take advantage of this offer as possible! And, it's good to remember that the cleaning and tune-up are available separately if only one is needed."

Call CA. 8-6543 now and arrange for an appointment to the famous Bogen Power-Vac, have your furnace cleaned by Bogen Heating and Air Conditioning, Central Ohio's most reliable total comfort specialists, are located at 490 North High Street.

Many Finding Comfortable Living In Trailer Homes

By The Spectator's
MARY BILDERBACK

Over four million Americans now reside permanently in mobile homes. For some it has become a whole new way of life. In Columbus alone there are approximately 36 trailer parks.

Many of these "park dwellers" as they call themselves, live in landscaped mobile - home communities. They are laid out with winding, paved streets like miniature sub-divisions. Dannie's Mobile Homes, located near Columbus, is a perfect example of a community living on wheels.

Forsaking fixed houses and apartments, park-dwellers have chosen metal-sheathed vehicles.

Each lot comes with a concrete pad on which the mobile cottage rests, and complete with sewer, gas, electric, water and telephone connections.

Intensely loyal to their chosen mobile community, many often settle in for good, finding their way of life congenial with rents ranging from $45 to $95 per month.

On the East Side of Columbus, 17th Avenue Trailer Court charges only $30 per month and this includes garbage pick-up. There are also laundry facilities located in the park.

Here is a cross section of inhabitants which range from horse trainers to policemen. Many are elderly retired citizens, others college students who attend Ohio State. One coed travels back and forth from classes on a bicycle.

Mrs. Vivian Cox has been living here for nine years. She resides with her husband in a small blue and white trailer.

"One of the best advantages of mobile home living," said Mrs. Cox, "is that the wife's work is relatively easy. Housekeeping is a breeze. I can clean our home in an hour. With this type of living you can enjoy fewer nice things more than you did in a house full of possessions.

"You have to be neat in a trailer," she said. "You just can't let things accumulate. On the outside there is a minimum of work and little maintenance. We just hose it down.

"I also like the feeling of freedom, the no permanency aspect of living in a trailer."

The Cox's have a small patio and lawn for summer use that is surrounded by a white picket fence. The patio is shaded from the sun by a roof and screen.

"Of course trailers are warmer than houses in the summer," said Mrs. Cox. "But a small air conditioning unit cools all the rooms adequately, and cost of utilities is quite low."

Mrs. Cox has a small, birch-paneled living room and bedroom, and a tiled bath and kitchen. "Sometimes I refer to the trailer as my sardine can," she said laughingly. "It certainly limits your entertaining to a chosen few.

"The one thing I do miss is space and a basement for my husband's tools. We have a much smaller trailer in comparison to the newer ones, especially to the double - deckers or two - story ones.

"I have come to the conclusion that it takes a certain type of person to live in a trailer. I will say that I have met a lot of nice people and I still write to some of the students who attended the university."

The 17th Avenue Trailer Park has 200 mobile homes. People are not permitted to have animals and there is a two-child limit for each couple. Some parks will not allow children at all due to the crowded conditions and closeness of the homes.

Once regarded as a passing fad, mobile home living is now accepted as a permanent way of life. Three hundred manufacturers are producing over 150,000 trailers a year. Four out of five are mobile homes, the rest are travel trailers. All are metal-sheathed and insulated against heat and cold. One of the largest on the market is 70 feet long and costs around $17,000.

Living on wheels is a carry-over from World War II, when housing was so scarce around military bases, construction camps, and defense plants that employers rounded up all the trailers they could to shelter the workers.

Some liked trailer living so well that after the war they bought trailers instead of houses. Then parks began springing up in which trailer-dwellers could rent space.

AYH To Mark National Week With Dawn Ride

Members of Columbus Council of AYH will join with 30,000 hostelers across the nation in the observance of American Youth Hostel Week, May 1-8.

The celebration is designed to help alert Central Ohio citizens about the recreational opportunities available through hosteling.

Columbus Council AYH is planning a Dawn Cycle Ride Sunday, May 1, for the general public. The ride will begin in front of City Hall at 6 a.m. Columbus Safety Director Frederick J. Simon will ride with the group on the two-hour ride through downtown Columbus.

The American Youth Hostel Association is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization affiliated with the International Youth Hostel Association. Columbus Council AYH is located at 40 W. Long-st.

Seeks Pollution Control Funds

Mary C. Porter, the only woman running for state senator, called today for state aid for municipalities needing water pollution facilities.

Mrs. Porter, 2904 Crescent-dr, a candidate in the 16th senatorial district, termed Ohio's water pollution problem "critical" and says she'll work for a larger state budget for pollution control enforcement.

"We have an excellent pollution control board," she added; "but they are working without sufficient funds to get the job done."

Assigned New Number Plates

Col. Robert M. Chiaramonte, superintendent of the Ohio State Highway Patrol, announced that all school buses in Ohio are being assigned a new identification number as now required by law enacted by the last General Assembly.

The number will be displayed on the front and rear of all buses and will be black numerals not less than six inches in height.
